Red Guns Blast Marines As Humphrey Views War

Riot Police Guard Humphrey As He Arrives in Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR (CP) — Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in the Malaysian capital from Saigon today as hundreds of steel-helmeted riot police guarded against a repetition of the violence that broke out during President Johnson's visit last October.

Humphrey's effigy was hanged in Penang, a hotbed of leftist activity 180 miles to the north, a few hours before he arrived by military jet.

Shortly before Humphrey's arrival 100 young members of the left-wing opposition Labor party paraded along a main street with "Humphrey Get Out" banners but dropped their signs and walked away when a light drizzle started.

The Labor party has charged that Humphrey will try to involve Malaysia in the Vietnam war. However, Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman gave assurance Tuesday that the government would not send troops to Vietnam although it would continue to train South Vietnamese police officers.

Dairy Industry Must Pay Way

OTTAWA (CP)—Subsidies on milk products should only be continued if the dairy industry is becoming an economic operation, Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene said Tuesday.

He told a meeting of dairy industry representatives, federal and provincial officials:

"We serve neither the dairy industry nor the public if we perpetuate a continuing high level of subsidization where the goal of a sound dairy industry is not in sight. It is perfectly legitimate, however, for public funds to be used in effecting changes that will eventually lead to a rationalization of the industry."

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A stagnant weather pattern of overcast skies, widespread light rain or drizzle and fog prevails this morning from the Great Lakes southward to the Gulf of Mexico. In contrast, a storm centre over Hudson Bay is causing a more direct active pattern of weather over Northern Ontario. Mild windy weather and showers in north-eastern Ontario today will give way to colder weather and snowflurries tonight and Thursday. The northern storm is also likely to be the means eventually of ending the stagnant weather situation in southern Ontario.

Meantime mild unsettled weather is expected to persist for another day or two at least in southern Ontario.

Vice-president Visits Frontier

SAIGON (Reuters) — North Vietnamese artillery blasted the embattled U.S. marine base at Con Thien as Vice-President Hubert Humphrey flew within four miles of the hilltop post today.

An American spokesman said marine camps around the hill two miles south of the demilitarized zone also received several rounds of mortar fire as Humphrey made a whirlwind inspection tour of bases in the area.

In Saigon Tuesday night, guerrillas lobbed mortar shells at Independence Palace as Humphrey arrived to attend a reception after the inauguration of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

F-4C and A-6 Crusader jets flew cover for the plane which took Humphrey over South Vietnamese Highway One to within one mile of the buffer zone dividing the two Vietnams. He was accompanied by the American military commander in Vietnam, Gen. William Westmoreland, and the commander of U.S. marines in the northern provinces, Lt.-Gen. Robert Cushman.

Heavily armed helicopters, some carrying troops and doctors, also accompanied the vice-presidential plane which stayed at a height of 2,500 feet —too high to be affected by small-arms fire from the ground and too low for North Vietnamese missiles.

Humphrey left South Vietnam today for a four-day visit to Malaysia and then continue to Jakarta, Indonesia.

Viet Cong saboteurs penetrated a U.S. helicopter station near the marine base at Chu Lai a few hours before Humphrey flew out of the base for Malaysia.

Ten Americans were wounded and moderate damage to helicopters was reported after 30 to 40 Viet Cong armed with satchel charges and backed by a mortar barrage penetrated the perimeter of the station fives north of Chu Lai, which is 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

The vice-president was seen off on his northern trip from heavily-guarded Tan Son Nhut Airport by South Vietnamese Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Humphrey said before leaving the airport that American armed forces in Vietnam are "the finest troops this nation (the U.S.) has ever known."

But he also added a request that the 469,000 American troops in Vietnam "try to conduct themselves in a manner that will bring honor to your country."

'Just Temporary Thing'

Canada Cement Plans Point Anne Shutdown

By HARRY MULHALL
(Staff Reporter)

The Canada Cement Company Point Anne plant — employment centre of an entire community — is facing a shutdown of unknown duration.

firmed a production cutback A company official today confirmed being contemplated, due to uneasy market conditions.

The number of workers involved, the starting date and length of the shutdown at Point Anne are now being estimated by company experts.

"All we can say is that there will be a shutdown of all the operation with the exception of packing and shipping," plant superintendent J. M. Legate said this morning. "But the date and the duration is not known at the present time."

The company employs slightly more than 200 workers in all phases of its operation and is the sole economic hinge of the little company village of Point Anne.

Mr. Legate's statement confirmed a recent flow of rumors that the company planned layoffs, if not a permanent shutdown.

However, the plant superintendent was emphatic that the closedown would only be temporary.

"Definitely not," stressed Mr. Legate when asked if a permanent shutdown was planned. "This is just a very temporary thing."

Reason for the production cutback was "basically due to the uncertainty of market conditions — particularly in the Toronto area," explained the superintendent.

Much of the Point Anne plant's production is fed into the metropolitan region and local volume is sensitive to Toronto economic pressures.

The lack-lustre demand situation is compounded by an industry-wide construction lull and recent labor disputes.

Future market conditions are now being projected by Canada Cement economist at the company's Montreal head office. Their estimates will shape the extent of the shutdown at Point Anne, indicated Mr. Legate.

Robert Thompson Says Four Cubans Expelled

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert Thompson, former Social Credit leader, said Tuesday that at least four employees of the Cuban embassy here have been expelled for "inadmissible activities."

Mr. Trompson, expanding on earlier charges of Cuban subversive acts against Canada, said in an open letter to External Affairs Minister Martin that the activities included sale of arms and ammunition to separatists and distribution to university students of a handbook on guerrilla warfare by Che Guevara, the Cuban rebel leader recently reported slain in Bolivia.

Mr. Thompson gave no further details in his letter but in an interview he said all of the expulsions had occurred some time ago and he believed at least three had been previously reported.

An external affairs department spokesman said he could not confirm that the expulsions had occurred.

All Treat, Few Tricks

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

It was so quiet you might have heard a cauldron bubble.

In fact, about the only monstrous thing about Hallowe'en 1967 in the Quinte area was the appetite of the youngsters.

In other words; it was all treat — and few tricks.

Householders, who always approach the festival of friendly fearsomeness with misgivings, apparently were rarely victimized by pranksters.

Police throughout the Quinte district reported little ghoulishness in the glee of celebrations.

In urban areas, pranksters marked their high spirits with a trail of soaped shop windows and automobiles. However, cleaning firms started work two hours earlier in Belleville this morning, erasing the festival trail from store fronts before business hours.

In the countryside, provincial police said mail boxes were knocked over and some fences damaged. From Bloomfield, police received a complaint that teenagers were attempting to overturn a small Austin car.

At Foxboro a boy was accidentally struck by an air rifle pellet as a group of youngsters took pot shots at a stray cat and also a horse.

The boy was not injured and required no medical attention.

A few road signs were missing this morning.

Otherwise, the Hallowe'en scene seemed free of malicious hi-jinks.

In Belleville, it seemed one of the most colorful Hallowe'ens on record.

Thousands of youngsters — and scores of oldsters — swarmed the residential areas from suppertime, demanding the traditional shellout.

There were two local points

'Saucer' Bag of Gas

CALGARY (CP)—Dozens of Calgarians telephoned the weather office and radio stations Tuesday night to report a bright orange ball that hovered in the sky over the city.

Some said the ball had shot suddenly upward and disappeared. Most said they were convinced the object was a UFO.

They were wrong.

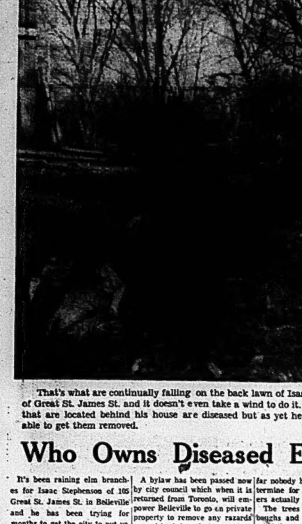
A young man, who did not give his name, phoned radio station CHOR and confessed. He and a friend had filled a 60-foot plastic bag with natural gas, tied on a six-foot length of rope, attached a yellow road flare and an aluminum reflector disc, and released the device to float into the sky.

The orange ball disappeared in the night when the flare went out.

A Devil of A Night!

Hallowe'en came to Belleville last night — and most of Belleville came to the home of Harold and Kay Crowe, whose exhibit has grown into a community project. Besides almosphere, the Crowes, aided by friends and neighbors, shelled out to more than 2,500 — many of them colorfully-costumed, like the little devil above.

Experts Join Cabinet



QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec cabinet today has a top financier as its new economic and constitutional adviser, a university dean as education minister and four new ministers in lesser portfolios.

The top - level shuffle in the government came in what Premier Daniel Johnson said was the first in a series of cabinet changes stressing youth and aimed at strengthening a planned push on economic development for Quebec.

Sworn in Tuesday night as members of the legislative council, Quebec's upper house, were Marcel Faribault, 59, president of the General Trust Co. of Canada—new adviser to the cabinet on economic and constitutional affairs—and Jean-Guy Cardinal, 42, dean of law at the University of Montreal, who is education minister.

The two men are long-time associates. Mr. Cardinal, a surprise appointment, was once associate director of General Trust and has a wide background in business matters.

The shuffle lightened the load on several cabinet ministers, who have been carrying more than one portfolio since the Union Nationale government took over in the summer of 1966.

That's what are continually falling on the back lawn of Isaac Stephenson of Great St. James St. and it doesn't even take a wind to do it. The elm trees that are located behind his house are diseased but as yet he has not been able to get them removed.

Who Owns Diseased Elms?

It's been raining elm branches for Isaac Stephenson of 105 Great St. James St. in Belleville and he has been trying for months to get the city to put up an umbrella — so far with no action.

It has not been the city's fault though, because the elm trees (stricken with Dutch Elm disease) are located on a strip hill on the far east side of Great St. James, which is private property.

A bylaw has been passed now by city council which when it is returned from Toronto, will empower Belleville to go on private property to remove any razards caused by infected elms.

The bylaw also stipulated that the cost of the removal will be covered by the winter works program so property owners will not be touched financially, but owners will have to request the city to remove the trees.

This is where Mr. Stephenson's problem lies because as far nobody has been able to determine for sure who the owners actually are.

The trees are so rotten that boughs and branches break off at 3-4 ft. and one was being hit by "Hurricane Elma". Mr. Stephenson has already been struck by one falling bough and he is quite concerned about the possibility of a high wind felling some of the trees themselves.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds said that "there is already a waiting list of private requests for the same problem" so Mr. Stephenson is not alone. The bylaw is sure to be returned approved so the city has already started work on some of the trees on that assumption.

Now all Mr. Stephenson has to do is find out who the owners are, of the property where his problem elms are located.

Interview Applicants

Applicants for the vacant position of city welfare administrator will be interviewed at city hall on Saturday.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds reports that about 15 applications were received for the position left vacant by the resignation of Daniel Aitken some months ago.

The applicants for the welfare position will be interviewed by Mr. Reynolds and city personel officer Gerald B. Hyde who hoped to have a recommendation for appointment ready for council on Monday evening.

Dobson Inquest

Driver Failed to Stop, Jury Verdict

BRIGHTON — A five-member coroner's jury has decided road signs and roadside bushes played a tragic role in the September 18 highway death of three members of a Trenton family.

Fred Dobson, 53, his wife, Anne, 51, and their daughter, Annette, 21, were killed when the car in which they were riding to a family wedding in nearby Wooler was rammed by a transport tractor and another car.

The scene of the mishap was the intersection of the Telephone Road and the New Development Road, about two miles northwest of Trenton.

Yesterday's Brighton inquest, convened by Coroner, W. O. Elliott, ruled death was caused by an accident "which happened when Mr. Dobson failed to stop at a stop sign."

Until a year before the fatality, the intersection had been protected by four stopsigns. When the paving of the Telephone Road was completed, the stopsigns at its crossing with the Development Road were removed and it became a thru-way connection to Highway 401.

At the time, Department of Highways engineers claimed the intersection was "designed perfectly for traffic movement."

Yesterday's inquest was concerned with the death of Mr. Dobson who was driving at the time of the crush.

The jury verdict said in part "we feel the truck driver and the driver of the second vehicle, having seen Mr. Dobson's car, should have approached the intersection with more caution."

The driver of the transport truck, Raymond Westlake, 24, of Toronto, was released from Trenton hospital after treatment for facial injuries. Although the second car involved was damaged, the driver, 69-year-old Joseph Hoke of Frankford was not injured.

The jury recommended (1) "that a red flashing stop sign be erected on the Telephone Road for stopping eastbound and westbound traffic"; (2) "that no further roads be opened until they are properly painted and intersections equipped with signs warning of crossings and stops ahead"; (3) "that any trees or bushes which in any way may interfere with motorists' view or, cause obstruction, be removed, and we feel that the bushes at the southeast corner of this intersection should be immediately removed."

The Dobsons lived at 129 Dundas Street E. in Trenton, where Mr. Dobson operated and established a sign-painting business for a number of years.

United Fund Campaign Extended for Two Weeks

Surgeons who are operating on the United Community Service in order to repair its muscular ailments have announced that the graph of its recuperation is rising steadily.

The campaign has been extended for two weeks but even if the goal is reached within three it would still set an all-time record for the campaign. It appears that the Fund has reached the law of diminishing returns for the drive has been completed proportionately in three months, two months, and now six weeks.

"Next year five weeks, then four and if it continues like that we'll really be in good shape," commented Bob Porter, executive director of United Community Services.

The campaign committee is now utilizing direct mail canvassing and most businesses seem to appreciate the confidence and to the point aspect of this form of canvassing. This is the first year that direct mail has been used although it was suggested by Mr. Porter last year.

More than $6,000 has been contributed by mail so far and by next year it should be over the $10,000 mark.

Although the directors and committee are tremendously pleased with support from the public there is still some difficulty in getting pledges from some out. Campaign chairman George Dainard said "and while we distance ourselves for lack of organization we do have tremendous support from our community".

Nobody has been found yet to head up the Selected Names Division of the Fund and so there people are going to be approached through direct mail. Mr. Porter hopes to follow up the mail with personal phone calls—there is no telephone organization and some group will have to be asked to do the job.

Mr. Dainard noted that it is a very difficult task to keep abreast of all the happenings and actions but communication within the organization are improving. Although Belleville's head drive has its serious problems when it is compared to other communities the situation here is not bad.

Kingston in one year reached 98 per cent of its goal in January—Belleville reached 102 per cent in the same time.

Organization is now beginning for next year but as Bob Porter pointed out "the community is an amorphous beast and you can never tell how much people are going to do."

Hallowe'en Howl Collections

Part of the gate receipts taken in at the youth dance, the Hallowe'en Howl, last night went to Unicef. The contribution was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Belleville Recreation Association. Last year Unicef received $140 from the dance. Here a few girls contribute to entry into the Armouries where the event was held.

Cancer Society Raises $22,000 In Campaign

Belleville and district units of the Canadian Cancer Society have raised $22,000 since the start of their annual campaign last spring.

The chairman of the campaign, Dr. Robert Bain, said this morning this figure would be about 125 per cent of the area's quota.

"We had about 700 volunteers working in Belleville, Deseronto, Tweed, Madoc, Marmora and Stirling," he said. "We contacted industries as well as placing a concerted effort on our door to door campaign."

Dr. Brain said the money will be used for cancer research, service to patients and education. "We spend about 35 per cent of our budget on research; 25 per cent on service to patients; and 13 per cent on education. The remainder is used to administer the operation."

"We're not in the United Appeal because they won't allow expenditure for capital investment," they hairman said "and this would be a major part of any research operation."

She was a member of St. Mark's Anglican Church and the Anglican Church Women.

Bearers were: Thomas Bowen, Eric Gustafsen, William Higgins, Alex Arverture, James Malone and James Waterhouse. Interment was in the family plot at Deseronto.

Million Comes Up

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Attendance figures at Newfoundland's provincial parks this summer topped the 1,000,000 mark. Agriculture Minister Max Lane said the million mark was not expected to be reached until 1970.

Dog Catcher's Role Defended

"There is only so much you can do with available material and Charlie is doing more than his best," said Mrs. Charles Thorne, wife of the Belleville dog catcher, speaking for her husband, who is in the hospital.

Everybody in the Thorne family is doing as much as they can, said Mrs. Thorne, who claimed both she and her children also work in the pound to help keep it up.

Mrs. Thorne said her husband agrees with the Humane Society that conditions at the Belleville dog pound are terrible, but he is indignant that they should criticize him directly. "The pound should be larger, we need more cages and even another man to help," are his feelings and Mrs. Thorne has told the city about his needs.

"There was an organized Humane Society here and it collapsed," said Mrs. Thorne. "I wonder how many of them have been out to the pound to look around or how many of them would come and do the dirty work — it's easy to sit back and criticize."

Mrs. Thorne also criticized the society for not coming and asking the people who are the most directly involved with the dog pound.

To demonstrate what she terms "the society's lack of interest" she pointed out that during the controversy about electrocuting animals the society (which called it inhumane) did not know that the method was prescribed as best by the head office of the Ontario Humane Society in Toronto.

District Shelter Possible

Belleville city council will be asked Monday to pass a motion expressing willingness to meet with area municipalities to discuss the possibility of a district animal shelter.

The idea of an area animal shelter as suggested by the Humane Society, was discussed last night by the Quinte Area Executive Committee, but following the meeting Mayor J. R. Ellis said that the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward did not wish to become involved in such a venture. The feeling was that it was the responsibility of the local municipalities.

Accordingly Mayor Ellis said he would bring a motion to city council Monday expressing willingness on the part of the city to meet with Trenton, and the townships of Sidney, Thurlow and Tyendinaga to discuss the matter.

If such a meeting was held, Thomas Hughes, general manager of the Dundas Humane Society would be asked to attend and preside over the discussion.

Who cares if ghosts exist or not. Hallowe'en night is a time for spirits — and the higher the spirits the better the fun. Dressing up is the most important part — as proved by these scenes in Belleville last night. Anyone without a costume didn't stand a ghost of a chance for joining the merriment.

Hallowe'en Quiet

of activity in the city which drew swarms.

At Belleville armory about 2,500 teenagers raised the roof at a Hallowe'en Howl organized by the city's Jaycees.

On William Street, traffic backed up through the evening as crowds flocked to the home of Harold and Kay Crowe, who, for the last year, held an open-house of spookiness.

Sightseers lined the sidewalk for nearly five hours to view the chilling exhibits, backed by fiercesome electronic sound effects, celebrating the Hallowe'en tradition.

By the time the doors closed shortly after 10 p.m., the Crowe's had organized the biggest shellout in the Quinte district. The couple estimated they had treated at least 2,600 visitors.

However, it was also a farewell gesture. The event has attracted such enthusiastic response in recent years, the Crowes now are passing the event over to a community organization for future Hallowe'ens.

The Timbrell Case

The findings of psychologists make revealing reading. Clinical in their exactitude, they frequently show a lack in other directions. For instance, they can display a simple lack of humanity or compassion.

A psychologist's report introduced in the Timbrell adoption inquiry described Mrs. Timbrell (whose refusal to return two foster children led to the inquiry) as a psychopathic personality.

The woman psychologist notes that on her first visit to the Timbrell home Mrs. Timbrell revealed a strong need for children and it appeared her "whole security is children."

That comes as no surprise. Motherhood and children after all are the fundamental strengths of womankind. Mrs. Timbrell's reaction to the possibility of her two foster children being taken away was surely the reaction of any woman in the circumstances.

The report continued: "There is no doubt in my mind that the basis for Mrs. Timbrell's reaction to the children leaving was not the obvious cry about their separation from each other but in terms of Mrs. Timbrell's own needs."

The psychologist went on to give her assessment of a newspaper article giving Mrs. Timbrell's version of the events at her home. She observed: "In assessing the newspaper article as compared with what in fact happened, I began to suspect psychopathic tendencies."

The report goes on to suggest the article was designed to impress the public with Mrs. Timbrell having all the time in the world for the two girls while skilfully reminding the public she has nine children of her own. Mrs. Timbrell is further accused in the report of "distortion of facts by twisting them to suit her own purposes."

All in all, the psychologist's report places Mrs. Timbrell in a poor light. It says nothing of the fact that Mrs. Timbrell apparently was a good mother. And the question may be asked, how many others would have reacted similarly when faced with the same battery of officials — case workers, psychologists and police?

Stark Contrast

One half of the world's population of about four billion people earns less than $200 a year, and an estimated one-third suffers from malnutrition.

The Western world on the other hand has only 20 per cent of the people of the earth, and yet is using 80 per cent of its resources.

In ten years the West will have 16 per cent of the people and will be consuming 90 per cent of the resources.

These figures by writer and broadcaster Larry Henderson were quoted recently in the Etobicoke Rotary Club's bulletin.

Mr. Henderson, who addressed the Canadian Club of Belleville recently, also reveals that 8,000 babies a day die of starvation. By the year 2,000, moreover, the world's population will have doubled.

Here we are reminded once again of the great need of new sources of food. The underdeveloped nations also need skilled people to help them husband their resources and raise their standard of living. It is a challenge that is as urgent as any facing mankind today.

New Canadians

Expo was a place for romance, as at least two happy couples can testify. A nephew of former finance minister Walter Gordon met a hostess from the Yugoslav pavilion and the other day they were married.

And two young Danes from the Scandinavian pavilion also tied the knot. Inevitably there were a few deaths among older visitors, but they were fewer in number than at past world fairs. And shortly before the final day a baby was born on the site.

Many of the pavilion hostesses plan to see more of Canada and the United States while they are here. A few have even acquired an accent, like the young Danish woman who found a husband. They the among several who plan to settle in Canada.

Canada has gained from such a great influx of visitors and will benefit even more from the fact that several will remain here and become citizens.

An Asian Pragmalist

U.S. Has Friendly Critic in Singapore's Young Leader

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore represents the new Asia —young, Socialist-minded and deeply interested in whether President Johnson really wants to "ride the tiger" in Southeast Asia.

Lee, 44 and a Cambridge University product, was warmly welcomed here this month by the U.S. president, who likes to call the roll of Asian allies actively backing the United States in Vietnam.

Lee and his small city state don't fall into the ally category. A more apt description would be friendly critic. Two years ago Lee charged—and the U.S. admitted—that the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency had offered bribes in Singapore.

The prime minister, who emphasizes his Chinese ancestry although he didn't learn to speak the language until adulthood, is an Asian pragmatist.

The departure of Britain, France, The Netherlands and others left a Western-presence vacuum in Asia. If the U.S. is going to fill the vacuum, it must mean what it says about protecting the independence of its Asian allies. If it doesn't, Asia will have to make other adjustments to cope with the influence of huge China.

Lee, in blunt talks here with the president and the press, did not envisage China as any great military threat. Rather, China's influence is psychological.

An implication left by Lee is that Singapore will not commit itself as a U.S. ally until at least after the U.S. presidential and congressional elections in November, 1968.

Singapore, one of the smallest states in Southeast Asia, remains on the sidelines just as do India, Japan and Monesia, three of the biggest.

Malaysia and even Indonesia have urged a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, the aim of the American operation in South Vietnam and Thailand is causing some shifting of opinion in the Asian states, U.S. officials claim.

The changing point of view can be attributed in part to Chinese hostility, including the deep freeze in Indonesia-China relations, but some of the new viewpoint undoubtedly comes from appreciation of the geopolitical realities as represented by billions of U.S. defence dollars and more than 500,000 troops assigned to the Asian trouble spot.

Lee has told Washington: "You are in a world full of dangerous dreamers," he will climb aboard the U.S. bandwagon only after he is satisfied the Americans are going to continue to "ride the tiger."

An Auto By Any Other Name

One of the compensations of growing old is the mild amusement that comes with watching the changes that take place in the language.

Words that were good enough in the old days have a habit of being replaced by others deemed more suitable. The new words are not always do much of an improvement of clarity, but they tell a lot about the changing sensitivities of society, or certain members thereof.

Thus the word "undertaker" has evolved through "mortician" and "funeral director" all the way to "bereavement counsellor." And, the Good Book notwithstanding, the "poor" no no longer have with us only the "underprivileged."

One of the latest examples has been connected by some automobile dealers. They no longer sell "used cars"; they handle "pre-owned" vehicles.

Bennett Not Interested

French Gets the Bird Out West

Montreal Le Devoir

The premier of British Columbia said Wednesday there never will be a French-language school system in his province, and his remarks naturally aroused fairly lively reaction in Ottawa. At a time when the Pearson government, and particularly federal cabinet ministers from Quebec, are advocating the insertion in the constitution of a bill of rights which would proclaim the linguistic rights of French-Canadians throughout Canada, especially in matters of education, this statement clearly shows that the Bennett government will never consent to such a reform.

Mr. Bennett said: "We have just one school system in this province and there will be no separate schools or private schools supported by the provincial treasury." He stressed that this policy was adopted before British Columbia entered Confederation and it was set up not as opposed to parochial schools or Roman Catholic schools against the English church — against making the Anglicans the state church.

The only concession Mr. Bennett accepts is that school communities will be free to establish French classes in individual cases. This is clearly fairly far from recognition of the right of French-Canadians to an education in their language, within the framework of the public school system.

The minister of justice, Mr. Trudeau, said Mr. Bennett's proposals showed how much education remains to be done in English Canada. It is true that the leaders of some of the English provinces understand the situation better and are disposed to important reforms, but with an acceptable compromise to be reached in time?

This incident should remind us that even in a federal system more favorable to our group, Quebec should retain sufficient federal autonomy to remain the master of its destiny and should not give up rights that are essential to its social and cultural development. Our federal ministers find themselves in a very difficult position; the compromises which they appear to went to offer us at the moment is not acceptable to our province, and they are not even assured the consent of other provinces.

Traffic Deaths

Canada Leads the World

Brockville Recorder and Times

The slaughter on the highways of Ontario during the year has yet to shock our government sufficiently to encourage legislators to study some new approach to the problem. Canada now leads the world in traffic deaths with a rate of 25.3 per 100,000 population and Ontario leads Canada. As a means of tackling the problem the use of breathalyzer tests is again being mooted, for three out of five accidents involve drinking and driving. This newspaper has opposed the breathalyzer test and from time to time has presented evidence to support the position that it is not an accurate enough test of a driver's ability to drive. And until the government legislates against drunken driving it shouldn't be used.

We have supported this position despite the fact that over half the highway traffic deaths can be traced to drinking and driving. British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan now use the breathalyzer test and Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and Quebec are considering it. Great Britain now uses it too. This is pretty stiff backing in favor of the tests but we still feel there has not been scientific evidence adduced to prove that the test is a true measure of a man's ability to drive. It only measures the alcoholic content of his breath.

Only a blood test reveals the alcoholic content in the blood stream and measures the extent of intoxication accurately. This test should be mandatory in all drunken driving or impaired driving cases.

We would suggest, however, that stiffer or newer types of penalties are in order for drinking and driving. Some countries now hand out life-time suspensions of driving licences. Others make it a penalty if a driver has a drink in a public place. Other countries put offenders to work building roads. Somewhere in the maze of methods of dealing with the problem there is an answer for Ontario. But it will require government action, action that should now be under study. The problem has become epidemic.

Forces Get Snowshoes

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Some enterprising salesman has sold the defence department $233,398 worth of snowshoes. It could be one of the more interesting snow jobs of the purchasing year in Ottawa.

Snowshoes in Kitchener cost anywhere from $15 to $40 a pair retail.

It should follow that large-scale purchases would be at a reduced price. For the sake of argument let's consider the snowshoes cost Ottawa $20 a pair.

On that basis it would appear the defence department has purchased some 12,000 pairs, use of which is restricted, to say the least.

Snowshoes, dealers say, are slow-trading articles and not many are stocked per store. Webbing has a tendency to deteriorate, a condition which presumably applies to those purchased by the defence department.

There is some limited training of Canadian Army troops in snowshoe use, and periodically small units from the British forces join us for similar instruction.

How long it will take these relatively small forces to use up 12,393 pairs of snowshoes is questionable.

For Canadians who might be interested in this form of winter exercise the wise word would seem to be, "keep an eye on those stores selling surplus service equipment."

Those Offshore Fishing Limits

Hamilton Spectator

The United States has objected to the 12-mile fishing limit Canada has begun to introduce in the east coast. It is not so much the extending of the historic three miles to 12 that the U.S. is opposed to as the method Canada has chosen.

The base line chosen for the new fisheries zone is drawn from headland to headland. On a rugged coast on which there are many inlets, bays, estuaries and islands a base line drawn in this way naturally includes vast expanses of water which might otherwise be considered as part of the high seas and therefore available to all nations for fishing and, incidentally naval vessels.

An alternative method of determining a base line is the low tide mark with a calculated line drawn across bays and inlets. This is not satisfactory for rugged coasts with many indentations.

The U.S. has been well warned about this. In June, 1963, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons that the government had decided on a "12-mile exclusive fisheries zone" along Canada's entire coastline, which is the longest in the world. The act was approved in July, 1964, Canada thus joined about 50 other nations which had extended their fishing zones to 12 miles among them Britain which, in 1952, engaged in a "cod-fish war" with Iceland when that country extended its zone line to 12 miles from three.

Involved in this are the Laws of the Sea. In two international conferences — the last at Geneva in 1960 — the nations have been unable to agree on fishing zones. When the act was passed in 1964, Canada hastened to reassure the U.S. that its historic fishing rights would not be affected.

The French have a certain treaty rights on the east coast which might have to be negotiated. If Canada continues to draw the base line in this way — and the government seems determined to do so — then not only the Bay of Fundy and the Gulf of St. Lawrence will become "national" waters, but, when the method is applied to the west coast, the Straits of Juan de Fuca too. The U.S. Navy particularly does not like this.

The government is acting wisely in the matter. It proposes not to hurry drawing its base line, and it has not done so. Canada's fishing industry needs protected. This is the best way of doing it.

Redevelopment

Edmonton's 15-year Plan

Peterborough Examiner

Every city has dreams of grandeur. Montreal has achieved it by the colossal expansion and development of its downtown area prior to having the seal of success put on it by Expo 67. Toronto has been flirting with revitalization schemes for some considerable time in an effort to rather bleak Victorian atmosphere. The Eaton Centre next to the new City Hall was to have started it on its way — alas only to fall through during the final stages of talks with the city. Peterborough is busy readying itself for a facelift too, under the urban renewal scheme. It is to be cited as one of the coming cities (particularly since the Hon. Paul Hellyer recently received from Time magazine).

Well, it looks as though Edmonton is about to beat us to the punch. Claims are being made that it will become Canada's model city. A 15-year plan is implemented. Edmonton's city planning department has prepared a 170-page booklet ("General Plan") outlining major policies for development based on social and economic goals. The policies outlined are intended as a guide to growth and development and are not considered to be rigid since continued surveys and analysis are needed to assure the document's validity. . .

The over-all objectives are "an efficient and enjoyable city; a sense of order with variety and contrast, visual unity, beauty and stress on trees and buildings and their relationship in open spaces; adequate regulation of billboards, store-front signs and other forms of street furniture; underground utility wires; elimination or redevelopment of blighted and offensive areas; preservation of some residential areas; establishment of an urban design panel and creation and enforcement of up-to-date building codes and zoning legislation."

Great plans. If the Edmonton planning department is able to convince the citizenry and councillors to support such sweeping changes they will be the envy of every city planner in the country. No doubt they will be flooded with requests wanting to know how they went about it — Toronto and Peterborough at the head of the line.

Miss Whitton No Case For Martyrdom

Ottawa Journal

There shouldn't be the whisper of a suggestion that the disqualification of Miss Charlotte Whitton as an alderman of Capital ward was the result of harassment or persecution by her political enemies. She was disqualified because of the action she herself freely chose to take in challenging in the courts the decision made by the council of which she was a member.

There is no case for martyrdom in this. The council, for it has only interpreted the law of the province. Miss Whitton in her political career has been City Council. She who has been such a stickler throughout her public career for the letter of the points, of procedure should be ready to submit gracefully when the law goes against her own actions.

The question of the wisdom of the clause of the Ontario Municipal Act which prohibits members of council from taking legal recourse against the decisions of their own councils is a separate matter. However, Miss Whitton, a lawyer of Mr. Justice Ferguson's statement:

"When the governing body has, by the vote of a majority of its members, decided on a course of action, that decision must be accepted by all members. Those who are not prepared to accept the result must resign. It is a rule enforced — at least up to the present time — ruthlessly in higher echelons of government everywhere.

The rule is necessary for action in courts, not to carrying on public argument against a decision approved by council. If elected officials were able to continue in the courts battles fought out in council, then the work of councils would be seriously disrupted; decisions would be delayed indefinitely.

Miss Whitton has not been gagged (as if she ever could be) she will undoubtedly fight again. But she must find ways of fighting within the law.

But it is quite wrong to assume, as some have already, that if Miss Whitton gets re-elected it will mean support of her stand against the CCEA lease. Councillors would want to see her remain in Council who would wholly disagree with her stand on the CCEA.

Fred Adsett Injured in Cobourg Crash

A Belleville area man, prominent in service club work for crippled children, is recovering in hospital from injuries received in a fatal car crash.

Fred Adsett, a veteran member of Belleville Rotary Club and one of its past presidents, suffered hip and leg injuries in the Macdonald - Cartier Freeway mishap west of Colborne Friday night.

Provincial police at Cobourg said Mr. Adsett apparently was heading for Belleville when his car crossed the median and collided with a westbound vehicle.

Killed in the second car was Myrna Prager, 31, of Toronto. Three other persons in the same vehicle were injured.

Mr. Adsett was later transferred for treatment from Cobourg to Belleville General Hospital.

As a Rotarian he was active in the club's projects for crippled children, largely known locally through its Easter Seals campaign.

Adult-Youth Conflict Inevitable Says Speaker

"In today's rapidly changing society, when the validity of the old answers is being questioned, conflict between adults and adolescents is inevitable," said Mrs. Marlene Castellano in addressing a group of parents and teenagers. She was guest speaker Monday night at the second meeting of the Canadian Mental Health Association series Youth in the Modern World.

She concentrated on the social development of a child which takes him from a totally dependent state, to the time when he establishes his own identity and finds his niche in society. The rapid pace of this development during adolescence creates a great deal of stress within the family.

Mrs. Castellano stated that the adolescent has become an adult when he:

Has freed himself from emotional dependence on parents and control by them.

Has made a vocational choice which will lead to economic independence.

When he has become comfortable in his sexual role (male or female).

It is very difficult for parents to allow their teenagers to gain emotional independence, she said. For 15 years the child has given the mother a reason for her being, or perhaps has provided a basis for the marriage. It can be very threatening for the parents when the child wants more independence and no longer needs the parents so much.

"In terms of vocational choice, youth should be a time of self-examination," said Mrs. Castellano. "A teenager must answer the question, who am I? before he can move on to where am I going? Although I cannot approve of the hippie who opts out of society, I would be equally concerned about a youth who showed an unquestioning acceptance of society as it is."

Establishing a sexual identity i.e. learning what it means to be a man or a woman, is one of the most important tasks of adolescence. In this area parents wield a tremendous influence, although mostly an unplanned one. The child sees the male and female roles constantly played out in the family. This will set the pattern for his future response in the male - female situation.

Mrs. Castellano noted that today's machine age with its education and changing status of women has diminished the difference between the sexes and has led to a blurring of the sexual roles. This makes it increasingly difficult for the adolescent to gain confidence in his sexual role.

Next week, Robert Henderson, guidance director of Moira Secondary School will act as moderator of a panel of young people. They will discuss Youth in the Community. Panelists are Jane Bailey, Henry Kafka, Barry Grills and Robert Reid.

Panel Tells Junior Chamber Foreign Control Too Extensive

TORONTO (CP)—A four-man panel discussion Tuesday at the world congress of junior chambers of commerce produced criticism of foreign control in Canada's economy and divergent views on capitalism and free enterprise.

Walter Gordon, president of the Privy Council, cited the impending shutdown of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. in Sydney, N.S., as an example of foreign decision affecting Canadian companies.

Mr. Gordon criticized Hawker Siddeley Group Ltd. of Britain, the parent company of Dosco, which plans to close its Sydney plant next April, putting 3,000 men out of work.

He told the delegates that "60 per cent of all manufacturing in Canada is controlled from abroad."

Mr. Gordon said big business and trade union leaders have too much power, but he defended direct government intervention in the economy through Crown corporations.

Vincent Bladen, professor of political science at the University of Toronto, told the panel that free enterprise and government intervention in the economy can be compatible.

Prof. Bladen is author of the royal commission report which led to the Canada-United States auto trade agreement.

He took issue with fellow panelist David Lewis, deputy national leader of the New Democratic Party, who said free enterprise is "a ghost which haunts and befuddles men's minds."

Quoting from the writings of American economist J. Kenneth Galbraith, Mr. Lewis argued that the proponents of free enterprise include capitalists who frequently ask governments to intervene on their behalf through tax write-offs and incentives.

Prof. Bladen said free enterprise is not dead and can be strengthened by appropriate government action.

The other panelist was Douglas Ambridge, board chairman of Abitibi Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were mixed in light morning activity on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Following Tuesday's 2.17-point tumble—sharpest daily loss in more than a year—the industrial index held virtually steady at 157.38, down .01.

Brokers say Tuesday's drop was caused by weakness in the New York market which also fell sharply Tuesday.

The brokers also blamed continued high interest rates in Canada resulting in a switch in investment to bonds from stocks.

At Toronto, Levy Industries, which reported sharply increased earnings last week, jumped 1¼ to 34½, after an increase of 2 Tuesday.

Dofasco and Texaco gained ¼ each to 20¾ and 30¼, Steico ¼ to 30¾ and Acklands and Alcon ¼ each to 14 and 25½.

Moore Corp. fell ¼ to 30¾ and CPR and Walkers ¼ each to 80¼ and 32¼.

In base metals, Rio Algom declined ¼ to 34¼ and Patino ¼ to 14. Roman Corp. declined ⅛ to 2¾.

Among western oils, Banff was down ¼ to 14¾ and Central-Del Rio and Husky Oil ¼ each to 17¼ and 21½.

On index, golds fell .43 to 125.52 and western oils .04 to 198.17. Base metals gained .06 to 106.05.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 873,000 compared with 708,000 at the same time Tuesday.

The industrial index dropped 217 to 139.39 on Tuesday.

The index fell 2.25 on Oct. 3, 1966. Tuesday's decline was the lowest level since Jan. 30, 1967, when it dipped to 157.11.

There was no panic selling as only a moderate 2,978,000 shares changed hands compared with 3,134,000 Monday.

Blue chips took it on the chin. Inco dropped 2 to 113 and Dofasco, which announced lower third-quarter earnings, 1¼ to 20. Algoma Steel fell ¾ to 20 and Steico ¼ to 29.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Yule Cake for Centennial

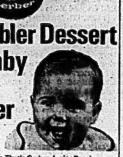
By MARY MOORE

This century - old fruit cake recipe matured on the family tree following the direct lineage of Great Grandmother Austin.

Austin descendants have tampered slightly with the fruit but Emem followed the present recipe to the ounce. It is a medium-dark fruity cake. It cannot be called moderate in cost for it calls for 16 eggs, but it fills to the brim the graduated set of three wedding or Christmas cake pans.

CENTURY CHRISTMAS FRUIT CAKE 1967

(NOTES: 1) There is no baking powder or baking soda in this cake. The eggs are the sole leavening agent.



2) Two of us made this cake in 80 min. If you are working alone allow yourself at least 2½ hrs.)

1¼ lbs. (2½ cups) butter (room temperature)
3 cups light brown sugar
13 large eggs — yolks and whites separated
2 2-3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1¼ tsps. nutmeg
2 tsps. cinnamon
2 lbs. currants (5¾ cups)
1 lb. muscatel seeded raisins
½ lb. citron peel
½ lb. cut mixed peel
1 lb. mixed green and red cherries
½ lb. whole blanched almonds
4 rings (8 oz.) candied pineapple (mixed colors are fine) — cut up
½ cup strong liquid coffee
½ cup sweetened bottled grape juice

In beater bowl cream together the butter and sugar until creamy. Add egg yolks and beat until pale and airy — on medium speed, about 5 min. (Egg whites should be set aside in large bowl for whipping later.)

Sift and measure flour and sift with spices. Measure all fruits and nuts into very large bowl. (We used a clean dishpan.) Add four mixture to fruits and mix in thoroughly so all fruit pieces are separated and floured. Add creamed butter-sugar-egg mixture and stir with strong wooden spoon with strong human arm until evenly mixed. Whip whites until stiff and stir in with coffee and fruit juice until mixture is thoroughly blended. Line 3 - tier graduated fruit cake pans (ours are: large, 8 x 8 x 3½"; medium, 5¾ x 5¾ x 3¼"; small, 4 x 4 x 2¼") with double thickness wax paper and butter generously. Fill pans to brim with batter. It does not rise enough to overflow so do not worry. Heat oven to 275 deg. Fahr. with water pan in bottom. (I used my broiler pan ¾ full of boiling water.) Put cakes on centre rack, sides not touching and bake. Large cake required 6 hrs.; med. cake, 5¼ hrs.; small cake, 4¼ hrs. Waterpan was replenished twice during baking time. After 4 hrs. cakes were rotated in oven for even baking all over.

Successful Living

Wife Plans for Idle Days

Dear Doris: My husband, who is a swell guy, will be on unemployment benefits for the winter months and he will be easily angered. What can I do to help him? I have 150 in the bank and I was wondering if I could use some to get plywood for him to make things out of.

He is very good at carpenter work. Everything has to go together perfectly or it isn't good enough.

I want ours to be the happiest family in the world. I have not always been proud of the things I have done but I think when two people talk things over and admit their mistakes they have a better understanding of each other. — Thinking Ahead

Dear Thinking: Score for you! Tempers do get thin when an idle breadwinner is around the house for long. And managing on a smaller income doesn't help our dispositions any.

Yet this could be a time for your husband to make his carpentry skill mean something.

Talk it over with him. Let him do the planning and ordering. If he makes something he can sell, your capital should come back to you — with his compliments. Write again and let's hear how he gets on.

Dear Doris: What can be done about being so dark around the eyes all the time? I get plenty of rest. — Dark Circles.

Dear Dark Circles: Plenty of rest? How much is plenty? And do your eyes get the rest?

Get the right food: Vitamins A and B2, found in green and yellow vegetables, fish, meat, eggs, cheese, milk, mean eye health.

Eye exercises help. And when you can take a little time out, stretch out. Place little cotton pads saturated in witch hazel over closed lids. Relax. Frequent short letdowns like this can help you all over.

If the dark circles persist, no amount of home remedies can take the place of a visit to your doctor. Eyes are precious.

Confidential to Married to An Immigrant: No need to settle for TV and the movies as a steady diet. If your friends aren't his type and he has no friends, why not make a new batch?

Tfy: (1) a talk with the "Y" counsellor about hobby groups; (2) a dance record with instructions for stumbling around at home until you get the hang of dancing; (3) an enquiry about local clubs made up of your husband's fellow countrymen.

Church isn't a bad spot when you need an outstretch-ed friendly hand. Had you thought of that?

We now have some understanding of why people act as they do. Write to Doris about your particular human problem, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope for private reply.

Certificates Presented at Girl Guide Leaders' Dinner

One of the highlights of the year for Quinte Area Girl Guide and Brownie Leaders took place at Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, on Saturday when close to 250 leaders assembled for the annual dinner. Quinte Area leaders came from Peterborough, Picton, Trenton and Napanee.

Mrs. A. M. Haig, Acting Area Commissioner was chairman for the day. Warden Shannon of Marmora spoke briefly to the girls.

The secretary Mrs. G. Brennan read a report from each of the seven Divisions in the area outlining the special events, good turns, services and special trips that Girl Guides and Brownies take part in for the year ranging from Centennial tree and bulb planting to the annual "Cookie Day."

Girls travelling to special events during the summer had chosen a spokesman for their group and the interesting tales of the girls constituted the program for the afternoon.

Ranger Cathy Alkenbrack from Lennox and Addington Division represented the girls who along with 2000 others attended the Heritage Camp at Morrison and Nairn Islands in the St. Lawrence. There were many Guides from other countries at this camp which was based on a Canadian Centennial theme. The highlight at this time was the visit of the Chief Commissioner Lady Baden-Powell.

Doe Lake International camp was reported on by Anne Morrowvile also of Lennox and Addington who told of the interesting time at that camp with the Girl Scouts.

Guide Pat Challs of Havelock was the leader for the group from the area that was privileged to take the Confederation Trail bus trip from Toronto through the Maritimes. Their experiences during the four week trip were both interesting and amusing, as well as an addition to their education and knowledge of Canada.

Susan Payne of Prince Edward Division was one of a patrol of eight Guides attending the Cadet Encampment at Rock Creek, Ohio, where there were 400 American Girl Scouts and Canadian Guides.

Ranger Gillian Roulet of Belleville and Wendy Crews of Trenton each gave most interesting illustrated lectures on their trip to Sweden to a World Camp, while Guider Mrs. E. Fielding of Trenton showed slides of the Brownie Guider conference at Aurora.

A folk-singing group of Rangers from Marmora entertained between talks by the various speakers.

Gold Cord Certificates were presented to 13 Guides and Rangers by Mrs. A. Haig who spoke briefly to the girls on "Living is Giving." Alice Skurat and Sandra Caniff of Belleville both received their certificates.

Area Commissioner elect, Miss Eva Bakre of Trenton presented 16 all round Cord certificates to Guides Susanne Foster and Dorothy Maddocks of Belleville.

Mom Scares Daughter With Stories of Labor

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is 22, in excellent health and is expecting our first child in about six months. Everything was fine until he mother began to scare her to death with stories about labor. She told my wife that her own labor was so excruciating that she lost her voice for two days because she screamed so much. She also told her she had bitten her lips so hard that the cuts didn't heal for three weeks.

Last night my mother-in-law talked my wife into having a caesarean instead of a natural birth. My own mother says my mother-in-law is crazy and that she should stop filling my wife's head with rubbish. My wife says if she can escape the agonies of labor by having a caesarean, why not? I don't know what to say. — EXPECTANT FATHER.

DEAR EX.: A caesarean is a major operation and no obstetrician will perform it unless there is a medical reason. Merely to escape labor is not a medical reason.

Mother-in-law is a generation or two behind the times. Ask your wife's doctor to tell her about the help that will be available during labor. She needs reassurance, not horror stories.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago, when I was 12, I wrote you a letter and asked how to be popular. I felt like the ugliest and dumbest person in the whole world. When I received your answer I was really mad at you. Your reply was so cornball that I wanted to write again and ask you to send me a nickel because I felt I had wasted the stamp.

Two weeks later I found your letter stuck in a book. (I thought I had thrown it out.) I read it again. You wrote, "The way to have a friend is to be one. If you want to be interesting to others you must be interested in others — and show it." Suddenly I wasn't mad any more. It made sense. I decided to try it.

I forced myself to smile and speak to people I had ignored for years. I discovered a lot of nifty kids all over the place. I thought, "Gee, they have changed." But I came to realize that I was the one who had changed. Pretty soon I wasn't thinking about my ugliness and my dumbness any more. I was thinking about how neat it was to be friendly. After a while I didn't feel ugly or dumb anymore.

So now, I am writing to say "thank you" and ask you to print my letter. M. K. worked for me it can work for others. When I get a few dollars ahead I am going to send you a nice gift to show my appreciation. You changed my life. — THE NEW ME.

* * *

DEAR NEW YOU: Your letter was a beautiful expression of appreciation and I am grateful. As for a gift — I never discourage giving because I know that giving does as much for the giver as for the receiver. So, if you want to do something nice for me, put a couple of dollars in an envelope and send it to your local Heart Fund.

* * *

Confidential to TOO MUCH ME: A diet may solve part of the problem but don't expect miracles. Bone structure is sometimes a factor.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Tommy, for goodness sake, wipe that snot off your face. I'm tired of your bad temper."

Father: "Can't we ever have any peace around here?"

Mother: "Maybe Tommy is bad-tempered because we are. I know I've been cross and nervous with him."

Father: "I suppose I have too. I'll try to be more pleasant even if I am tired."

Children usually respond in kind to the manners and moods of their parents.

Lord Thomson Cheated Declares George Brown

LONDON (CP)—The British press today raised fresh questions about Foreign Secretary George Brown's future in the wake of a storm in which he accused Canadian-born publisher Lord Thomson of "cheating" and charged that the British press was "the most prostituted" in the world.

The erratic and volatile Brown, whose public antics have made him a favorite target of the press, accused Thomson with printing material that gave the Russians "half a start on what we are doing." He demanded that Thomson, as proprietor of The Sunday Times, exercise more control and said "it is about time you shut up."

The public outburst occurred Tuesday night at the swank Savoy Hotel where Thomson entertained about 17 leading United States industrialists at a dinner where Brown was the guest speaker.

Thomson, who decided today that the best policy is to say nothing more, introduced Brown with a few light remarks, including a joke about fictitious Georgs Brown whose longevity might have been boringly prolonged if he stayed away from wine and women.

For some unknown reason the foreign secretary took this as a personal affront and laced into Thomson and said his Sunday Times was doing "a great disservice" to Britain.

The Sunday Times as well as The Observer have been running a series of stories on how Kim Philby, a top British agent, had in fact spied for the Russians for some 30 years before he detected.

Brown said later he did not have the Philby stories in mind when he made his remarks but Denis Hamilton, executive editor of The Times and Sunday Times suggested that Brown did.

Following Thomson's introduction, the foreign secretary made clear he was not amused and said the only response he could make to Thomson is "that you are the only man I have ever known who actually cheated me."

Brown added that he was not making a joke. He was absolutely serious.

"You actually once gave me your bond and broke it. My dear Roy, I think everybody here who has heard the joke you have presumed to tell about me should know you broke your word."

Brown did not elaborate on this point but there were rumors when Thomson won control of The Times a year ago that the newspaper would continue to support British foreign policy in its editorial columns.

Brown said the aggressive news and editorial policies of The Times and Sunday Times—increasing their attempts to beat its competitors—was "a very great disservice to this country and a very great disservice to the affairs which we ought to control."

"I am your guest, but I must make this quite clear: I think it is time you stopped. Your business is to fight the other papers off. . . . Some of us think it is about time we stopped giving the Russians half a start on what we are doing and, my dear Roy, I ask you and The Sunday Times to take this into account and for God's sake, stop."

Some of the guests applauded Brown's remark. Others did not. Brown then remarked that some of the British industrialists present included men who got as much as £50,000 (150,000) a year. He questioned whether they should get that much.

Brown suggested Thomson was trying to do "a Cyrus Eaton"—a reference to the Canadian-born industrialist, now living in the U.S., who is on friendly terms with Soviet leaders.

"You are ruining a lot of things," Brown said to Thomson.

At times Thomson tried to interject, but Brown brushed him off.

After Brown continued with a prepared speech on European policy, Thomson said in thanking him:

"We don't always take George very seriously and now you have a very good picture of the man who is foreign secretary of this great country, the Right Honorable George Brown."

Smallwood Takes Hand

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)— Liberal Premier Joseff Smallwood entered the campaign for Monday's federal byelection in Bonavista-Twillingate Tuesday night, with the statement that the only way a Progressive Conservative could get elected would be "if Liberals elect him."

J. W. Pickersgill, whose resignation in September led to the byelection, defeated his Conservative opponent by more than 6,000 votes in the 1965 general election.

Robert Stanfield, the national PC leader, campaigned in Bonavista-Twillingate Monday and Tuesday before heading for Nova Scotia where he is running against two independents in a federal byelection Monday in Colchester-Hants.

Ottawa Scraps Building Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The government in its retrenchment program has scrapped plans for a 1968 start on a new $100,000,000 defence headquarters, informed sources said Tuesday.

The three-tower building in a former downtown slum area would have been some 60 feet higher than the 302½-foot Peace Tower of the Parliament buildings. The defence department will continue to occupy a group of Second World War "temporary" wooden buildings.

Cancellation of the new building, designed to accommodate more than 6,000, is only one facet of reductions in the department.

Already announced was a cut of 6,000 personnel in the armed forces to a strength of some 100,000 by April, 1969.

Informants said the number of CF-5 fighter-bombers to be acquired for the RCAF may be cut below the original figure of 115.

This program was estimated originally at $215,000,000 for 115 planes. But $23,000,000 has since been added for new armament and about $50,000,000 will have to be added for the four aerial refuelling tankers to be purchased in the U.S.

The short-range CF-5 cannot be deployed overseas unless it is refuelled in the air. Though the CF-5 is scheduled to start coming off the Canadair Ltd. assembly line in Montreal in December, the C-141 refuelling tankers will not be purchased until 1970.

CF-5 production was supposed to have started last August but delays have resulted from transfer of technical knowledge from the U.S. designer to the Canadian manufacturers.

Kiwanians Sponsor Concert

PICTON (Staff) — The Picton Kiwanis Club last night sponsored for the third time a concert performed by the Eastern Ontario Concert Orchestra. The crowd was only a little better than fair but the program was conducted in a superb manner and enjoyed by everyone. There was loud applause for the soloist of the orchestra. Marion Stratton, and the voices of Robert and Hanalianne Reid thrilled the Picton crowd once again. In past years the Reids have been most popular with Prince Edward County audiences.

Since the formation of the orchestra just three short years ago the organization has enjoyed a rapid success. Members of the orchestra come from Trenton, Belleville, Brighton, Colborne, Wellington, Campbellford, Frankford, Havelock, Baiawa and Stirling.

The concert orchestra is under the direction of Stephen Chorna of Belleville.

St. Mark's Guild Holds Tea, Bazaar

DESERONTO—In spite of inclement weather, Deseronto women and some gentlemen, turned out in large numbers to enjoy a cup of tea and purchase the attractive articles on sale on the bazaar tables for this annual event of St. Mark's Anglican Church Guild. The setting was the Lions' hall, as the church hall is being used as school room this year.

Hallowe'en was the theme for the event, with Mrs. Dowdell and her helpers responsible for the decorations. Large Jack o' lanterns, witches and black cats cavorted about the walls, and smaller ones decorated the sale tables. Orange and black streamers were used to good effect. Large containers of bronze and yellow 'mums placed in strategic positions lighted the eerie atmosphere.

Mrs. Robert Tucker, the president, and Mrs. Dowdell, wife of the rector, welcomed the guests. Mrs. C. A. Sergeant took admissions.

The tea table, which was in the centre of the hall, was in charge of Mrs. Charles Gray and Mrs. Harold Topping. It was centred by an arrangement of 'mums in bronze, yellow and white, which was flanked by amber candles in silver candelabra. Presiding over the two silver tea services were those representing the women's organization of the other churches in town: Mrs. Rockwell Hanley, United Church; Mrs. Felix O'Coin, Pentecostal Church; Mrs. Kay Hood, Presbyterian Church of the Redeemer; and Mrs. Stafford Clean, St. Salvation Army; and Mrs. Mervin Sherman, St. Vincent de Paul Roman Catholic Church.

Guests sat at small tables on each side of the tea table, each small table with an orange candle on a flat orange and black holder at its centre. They were served by Guild members, assisted by Guild members of St. Jude's Anglican Church in Kingsford.

Mrs. Bert Coles, in charge of the fancy work table, found that doll clothes, and such practical things as mittens found ready buyers. All the tables featuring foods were cleared off by four o'clock. Mrs. Lindsay and Mrs. Grant Venton sold candy; Mrs. Jack Spence and Mrs. M. I. Lyons were in charge of the sale of the delectable baked goods, and of the parcel post items; and Mrs. Harry Oliver and Mrs. Rogers had no trouble selling produce, consisting of vegetables, fruits, and canned goods. Mrs. Arthur Bird sold church calendars for 1968.

The group is happy at the success of their venture and gratified at the financial returns. They are grateful, too, to all their helpers, and to all who braved the rain to enjoy a pleasant afternoon with them.

No wonder. His pee-wee hockey team just won their first game of the season. Now they're talking about going all the way. Right to the league championship. The guys on the team think their Coach is "the greatest". Dave enjoys coaching in his spare time... teaching his boys the importance of teamwork... watching them play together as a team. Dave knows a lot about teamwork. As a Dominion store manager, he's part of one of Canada's largest, coast-to-coast, food merchandising teams. He often takes an opportunity after closing to explain some of the basic fundamentals of merchandising to the younger "store team" members... his student part-timers. They too are learning the importance of teamwork... as well as many important business techniques. Dave is genuinely interested in them and in how they serve you. It's no wonder our Dave is big with the Boys. He's typical of Dominion Store Managers everywhere! Oh, one other thing about men like Dave Slater... they're really big with shoppers too. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: We are travelling south to Brownsville, Texas in November, pulling a trailer. Are there speed restrictions when pulling a trailer on the highway? Also please give us a good November route by-passing cities for the trip down and a February route for our trip home and campgrounds on the way.

ANSWER: Unfortunately the speed regulations for towing trailers are not the same in each State. Speed limit is 30 mph in Ontario, Michigan, Illinois, Oklahoma, Tennessee and New York states; Missouri — 70 mph on divided highway and 65 mph on undivided highway; Texas, daytime 65 mph in excess of 4,500 lbs., 60 mph in daytime and 55 mph at night if under 4,500 lbs.; Arkansas 45 mph; Mississippi 65 mph; Kentucky and Ohio daytime 60 mph, night 50 mph.

Campgrounds: There are too many to mention here. If you are a member of the Ontario Motor League, we have camping books free for our members for all over Canada and the United States. The campgrounds in these books have all been checked by our inspectors.

Our suggested route down in November: 401 to Detroit, No. 94 to New Buffalo, Michigan: No. 30 to Northern Indiana Toll, or No. 80; No. 80 and 294 bypassing Chicago to route 65; route 65 to Springfield, Missouri; No. 44 and Will Rogers Turnpike to No. 69; No. 69 and 75 south to Dallas, Texas: No. 77 to Brownsville, Texas.

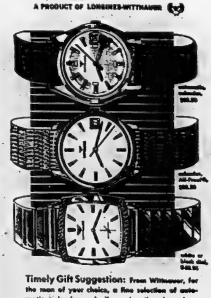
Our February return route: No. 77 and 59 to Texarkana: No. 67 to Little Rock, Arkansas: No. 40 and 79 to Memphis, Tennessee: No. 40 to Nashville, Tennessee: No. 81W and 65 to Blue Grass Parkway: No. 60 to Lexington, Kentucky: No. 75 to Cincinnati, Ohio: No. 71, 224 and 21 to Ohio Turnpike: No. 271 bypassing Cleveland, Ohio: No. 90 to Syracuse, N.Y.: No. 81 to Ivy Lea Bridge.

QUESTION: I am 65 years old, recently retired and have never driven a car. Now I want to buy an automobile and learn to drive. Would my age mean I would have trouble getting a licence?

ANSWER: Not if you can successfully pass the required tests. But you may find it a bit difficult to get insurance. You should try several companies and then take the best offer.

Father Charged In Poison Deaths

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP)—The parents of seven small children who died last week of parathion poisoning were in jail today after taking lie detector tests that Judge Gordon Hays said showed the father had "guilty knowledge of the poisoning."



James Richardson, 32, was originally sent to jail Tuesday night on a charge of first-degree murder but later warrants were issued charging him and his wife, Annie Mae, 29, with child neglect.

Judge Hays said murder warrants will be issued today. The judge said he decided to wait until Charlie Smith, a Richardson neighbor, could undergo a lie detector test this morning.

Richardson and his wife voluntarily took the lie detector tests Tuesday while interviews were conducted by Sheriff Frank E. Cline, State Attorney Frank Schaub and investigator James Fey.

"The polygraph tests showed Richardson had guilty knowledge of the poisoning of the seven children," Hays said.

Abortion Law Changes Sought

'We Have Been Breaking Law Long Enough' Declares Doctor

OTTAWA (CP)—Four doctors rejected the idea Tuesday that Canada follow Britain and permit a family's social and economic condition to be considered in deciding whether a legal abortion may be performed on a woman.

But they urged the Commons health committee to recommend changes in Canada's abortion laws to widen the grounds for terminating pregnancies legally, as proposed by the Canadian Medical Association.

"My colleagues and I have been breaking the law long enough," said Dr. Douglas Cannell, chief of obstetrics at Toronto General Hospital.

At one point, he conceded that he had terminated a pregnancy in a case involving a sexual offence, one of the additional grounds proposed by the CMA.

The other grounds proposed by the CMA:

—Danger to the life or health of the pregnant woman.

—Substantial risk that the child may be born with a grave mental or physical disability.

Dr. Cannell said he would prefer the emphasis be placed on preventing conception than on terminating a pregnancy.

Dr. Donald Low, retired professor of obstetrics at University of Toronto, said a better way to deal with the social problem would be lifting legal barriers to dissemination of birth control devices and information, greater use of birth control pills and making legal sterilization procedures, which were less dangerous than abortion.

Questioned by Robert Stanbury (L—York-Scarborough), Dr. Cannell said pregnancies have been terminated in some hospitals for some time on compassionate grounds. These included risk to the health of the pregnant woman and risk that the child may be physically or mentally disabled.

Dr. Gray told Dr. Harry Harley (L—Hastings), committee chairman, he is aware of no prosecutions of doctors who perform therapeutic abortions openly in proper hospital condition.

Back-room abortions would not necessarily be reduced by making it easier to obtain a therapeutic abortion legally in hospitals, the Commons health committee was told by Dr. D. M. Aitken, Toronto, assistant secretary of the Canadian Medical Association.

This view was shared by Dr. Gregg Tompkins, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at the Halifax Infirmary.

A&P what kind of coffeemaker do you use?

It really doesn't matter.
Any coffeemaker can give you a good cup of coffee, providing you use a fine fresh coffee that is ground exactly right for your coffeemaker.

We've always known that the correct grind is important to coffee flavour.
That's why, years ago, we developed Custom-Grinding.
That's why we don't have just one or two grinds but seven different grinds... to fit any coffeemaker, including electric percolators, of course.
(Ask for medium-fine grind for electrics.)

Custom-Grinding means a little extra work for us and a little extra time for you.
(It takes 15 seconds to grind a pound.)
But what a difference in flavour those few seconds make.

You know, there's only one reason we insist on selling custom-ground bean coffees... WE CARE.

If you're down Ottawa way — or is it, up? — and hear a strange chanty emanating from the hotels and bistros, bend an ear and the lyric will go something like this "What Bigtown Can Do — We Can Do Better."

And if you can get the ear of a Bytown football fanatic you'll discover that the chanty goes for Vancouver, too.

The proud lady of the Pooconover and Parliament Hill will shake her tresses in the biggest, noisiest ball-raising jamboree since Colonel Bye counted noses and declared the settlement to be village status.

The hi-de-hi, he-de-he and other foofer-aw will symphonize the ground-shaking antics that are part and parcel of Grey Cup Week in Canada whether it be held in Ottawa, Mukluk Island or Seal's Flipper in the Antarctic.

Ever since the Calgary Stampeders and the Ottawa Rough Riders met in cup combat in Toronto in 1948, the greatest show on Canadian football scene has been a teeming, bottle-gargling stanzer.

A few years ago in Toronto some Americans who had celebrated well but not wisely squished through tartan-patterned eyeballs and bleeeeped their makes the Fourth of July in our hometown look like a penny arcade."

Just thirty four days before the Cup Classic climaxes a week of wild hullaballoo, the "No Vacancy" signs are bobbing up in Ottawa.

A week ago you couldn't get accommodation in motel, hotel or rooming palace if you offered to throw in half of Fort Knox as a bonus.

Your only hope now is to take a sleeping bag and hope you'll find room in the shady glades that border the Queen River. Or you could hire a helicopter and moor it to a steeple atop the Parliament buildings.

The ticket to the famous Grey Cup dinner held the night before the game were sold out before they were printed. The Grey Cup Ball slated for the Chateau ballroom has a waiting list half-a-mile long.

Proud Ottawans will tell you their Grey Cup fandango has more celebrative ingredients than all of the predecessors put together. "Hell," one snorted, "even our riots will be better than those staged in Vancouver last year."

And behind, through, and all around it will be the steady jangle of the kind of music dear to the hearts of those who fill the Cash Register Jingle, a week-long playing record that will leave an estimated one million dollars, plus in the coffers of the catering hosts.

There'll be all the pre-game trimmings that have colored previous Grey Cup weeks. To enjoy it to the full, all you need is a thirst, a bottle opener, a full wallet, game tickets and a bucket of bicarbonate of soda.

A thing of beauties will be the Grey Cup Parade featuring the loveliest gals in the league. Television personalities will help color the show. There's a folksy song-and-dance bingo at the Centennial Centre on Wednesday while the Coliseum will stage the biggest barbeque seen this side of the Atlantic.

There'll be fiddlin', stompin' and a dosy-doe at a square-dance hey-nanny-nanny and a check-wagon race on a main street. There'll be fireworks served on a platter.

The Coliseum will house the biggest post-game party ever seen in staid Ottawa with a dozen bands and bars.

There'll be keen dances and hoedowns for the "wearers." The parade will show thirty floats, 25 bands, 15 other musical units and a dozen marching ensembles. It will take an hour to pass a given point. That's for Saturday morn.

Then the big game and its post-result hoopla no matter what team wins.

Then the cold grey dawn of the morning after.

The Hangover curtain will fall and another national football extravaganza will pass into history.

Seals Get Help

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California Seals of the National Hockey League brought up two players Tuesday from their minor league affiliates. KINGSTON — The Kingston Aces may have lost much of their scoring punch with the departure of Dave

JOE JUNKIN

Jones and Peter Weston this season but they didn't need much help in whipping the Mo-Hawks here last night.

Kingston breezed to a 7-2 OHA Senior "A" victory and only the work of goalie Joe Junkin saved the Mo-Hawks from a much worse trouncing.

The Aces outshot the losers 51-21 including a 17-2 margin in the first period when they managed only a 1-1 tie. It was still a 3-3 contest going into the third but Junkin and one or two of his mates who did play some hockey couldn't hold the fort all night.

Defenceman Bob Olajos was the lone two-goal man for the Aces while the line of rookies John Mercer and Sid Apps and Fred Rawson led the point-getters. Rawson had a goal and two assists, Apps one of each and Mercer four assists. Tom Carty, Jim Sprott and Ron Earl also scored.

Bob Taylor and Minnie Menard were Belleville's marksmen, opening and closing the scoring. "Shaker" Baker, George Dodson and Mickey Cherevaty drew assists.

The Aces started peppering Junkin from the opening whistle, blanking the nonplussing Mo-Hawks in their zone.

Belleville's first shot on goal came at 5:30 when Taylor footed Tom Mercer from 15 feet out. The Mo-Hawks didn't test Mercer again until 17:03 of the period.

Junkin robbed Sprott and John Mercer, among others, to keep his club in contention before and after Ed Long intercepted an errant pass by Taylor to set up the equalizer. Long passed out from the boards and Sprott stabbed it home at 11:05.

Play roughened late in the period when Bill Burega caught Bob McAlpine with a stiff body check and Greg Marchen mauled Charley Convery.

Playing four men to five early in the second, the Mo-Hawks continued to get fine saves from Junkin before Olajos snapped the tie, at 2-42, rapping the disc home as he fell in a goalmouth pileup with the sides even again.

Tom Mercer blocked Marchen's hard drive and a minute later Rawson flicked Apps' goal-line pass home on a quick play to make it 3-1.

Mo-Hawk coach Floyd Crawford shook up his lines and used more forwards sparingly but the switches failed to produce steaking, clearing, shooting or passing with any consistency.

Jim Gebhardt dished out a solid body check to drop Godson opening the third and seconds later Apps sunk a high shot to ignite a four-goal explosion. Carty scored the prettiest goal of the night at 2:56; Earl was credited with another in off Belleville's Marchen at 9:28 and Olajos made it 7-1 at 11:18. Menard got the losers' second with Kingston shorthanded at 13:36.

Earl and Webb tangled with high sticks and Gebhardt kept it going by charging the Mo-Hawk line the boards at 14:39 and all three drew penalties. Over the route, Belleville collected eight of 14 minors, four of them to Paul Webb.

Juniors' Win Egg Still Intact

Peterborough's hockey hobgoblins rode their shooting brooms to a 6-4 victory over the Belleville "B's" in Eastern Ontario Junior "B" action here last Hallowe'en night.

...The win gives the Littlock city crew a record of 3-1 while Jim Matthews' young hockey sprites have yet to crash the win column. Last night was their fourth loss in a row.

DOUG POTTS

Tom Johnstone in the Belleville nets was the target for the night for his home-town junior artillery. He kicked aside forty shots during the evening barrage while his mates were firing 30 at the opposing net.

The B's failed to get organized in the first period and the Petes fired home three markers without a return. It had the appearance of a more or less rout.

But the B's struck suddenly, effectively in the second running home two goals in less than three minutes and scoring the equalizer midway through the heat.

Headed by Jim Grady, their scoring ace, the Petes swung back into offensive action in the third wrapping up the win with another trio of goals with the "B's" poking home a lone counter.

A highlight of the game came when the Petes goalie Holbrook raced thirty feet out of his net to meet an incoming Belleville rusher. He stopped the shot but the puck rolled to the side. The net was wide open and he confined it at the net. Holbrook hesitated, dashed, stuck up a leg fifteen feet out and saved the goal.

Jim Grady had a field night scoring twice and helping with four others. Gilmour had a pair with Stackhouse getting one and two for Johnson a single.

Sampson, Petit, Fuller and Gillette were the Belleville marksmen. Geen, Potts and Healey drew assists.

The Petes drew nine of the 17 minor penalties handed out by Referee Keith Marshall. Goalie Johnstone drew one of the hometown sentences for interference. Muir had three. The Petes bench was sentenced for delaying the game at one point.

Grady fired the opener for the Petes and two seconds after Healey wisely passed Gilmour upped the count to 2-0. Stackhouse slurred from a scramble before period end.

Summers stole the puck and scored with a backhand shot to break the Belleville egg and a minute later Fuller blasted home Geen's pass to cut the margin. Potts scored on a pretty passing play with Healey to score the tying goal.

Stackhouse scored the winner a minute after the third frame opened on a screened shot that never left the ice. Six minutes later Stackhouse got goal salted away the win.

Midway through the frame Gillette took Potts' perfect left-board pass to tip in the fourth Belleville goal.

Cobourg, Flyers Win

The winning clubs chalked up victories as the new Quinte Basketball League schedule opened with a doubleheader at Centennial School last night.

Cobourg came from behind to trip Belleville Teachers 49-43 while RCAF Flyers rolled to an easy 63-34 win over Belleville Aces.

Another doubleheader will be played next Tuesday.

The Teachers held a slim half-time lead against Cobourg but failed to hold it in the second half.

Big Jeff Ravensdale hooped 23 points to spearhead the Cobourg attack. Wally Ulmaryuk was the top Teacher with 10 points.

The Aces, short of experienced players, fell behind the Flyers in the early going and never caught up.

Don Brennan paced the Flyers in the scoring department with 19 points. Veteran Ernie Clarke hit for 10. Clair Lesaby collected 12 on the Aces' behalf.

Rangers Clout Kelly's Kings; Share Top Spot With Red Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers flew into Los Angeles Monday and Tuesday flew to a tie with Detroit Red Wings atop the National Hockey League Eastern Division standings on a 6-1 victory over Los Angeles Kings.

The Rangers took off seven games ago and, including three ties, haven't been beaten in that span as they've climbed past Montreal Canadiens and out of a tie with Boston Bruins.

They could easily continue their flight tonight when they play California Seals in one of four scheduled games and even take possession of first place since the Wings are idle until Thursday when they play at home against Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Rangers scattered their scoring thoroughly before 5,455 fans with Joan Ratelle, Vic Hadfield, Reg Fleming, Bob Nevin, Rod Seiveman and Rod Gilbert scoring after Gord Labossiere had given Los Angeles a short-lived first-period lead.

For Gilbert, it was his 100th NHL goal, beating Terry Sawchuk with less than a minute remaining.

Sawchuk and Ed Giacomin for New York each handled 27 shots in the game that left Los Angeles still leading the Western Division with 18 points, three more than Philadelphia Flyers and Pittsburgh Penguins.

The Rangers still are without veteran right winger Bernie Geoffrion, undergoing examination in a New York hospital for an unidentified stomach ailment. He also missed New York's 3-2 victory Sunday over Toronto.

To take up the slack, general manager-coach Emile Francis has moved Fleming into Geoffrion's spot with centre Orland Kurtenbach and Larry Jeffrey and brought up Larry Mickey to fill out the roster.

In games tonight, Montreal is at Toronto, Boston is at St. Louis to play the Blues and Pittsburgh is in Minnesota against the North Stars.

Thursday, Chicago Black Hawks will try for their second win to go with their tie in nine games when they visit the Kings while Minnesota is at Philadelphia.

Boston tonight will play without its young defence ace Bobby Orr, who has been complaining for several days about back pains.

Orr sat out the final two periods against Pittsburgh Sunday and has since missed two practices. Coach Harry Sinden says he will alternate Ted Green, Gary Doak and Ed Westfall on defence tonight.

The Rangers will meet a pair of new players tonight in Oakland, the Seals having brought up right winger Alain Caron from Buffalo Bisons of the American League and centre Mike Laughlon from Vancouver Canucks of the Western League in an attempt to get their attack unshackled.

Remember The Jelineks?

Face 1962 World Title Strip

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Otto and Marie Jelinek know that they were the best dance-or pairs skaters in the world in 1962.

"They might erase our victory from the record books, but we'll always know no one could beat us," Otto said in an interview Tuesday.

He was referring to the International Skating Union's threat to strip the Czechoslovakian brother and sister team from Oakville of their 1962 title.

Jelinek said from his home here that the ISU informed them some time ago that the title would be taken away unless Otto could furnish concrete proof of "prearranged" international competitions referred to in a newspaper article under Otto Jelinek's byline last winter.

Jelinek said he has not replied to the ISU's communication.

"I'm sorry if my intentions were misread," he said. "I'm not complaining, nor is Marie, because we have nothing to complain about.

"But we have seen things happen in amateur skating and we feel we would contribute more to the sport by speaking up than by being quiet.

The Jelineks turned professional with the Ice Capades late in 1962 after winning the world title and have been with the show since.

"We've been retiring for six years now, so why say we'll do it after this season," he said.

Jelinek said they don't intend to return the gold medals won at the world championship in Prague.

"All I meant to do in my own small voice was to make some suggestions that could improve judging. I contend judges should be qualified in the part of skating they're ruling on. For example, a man judging pairs should have a background in the pairs skating.

Nationals Defeat Hawks 4-1

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — London Nationals defeated St. Catharines Black Hawks 4-1 in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A action Tuesday night.

Peter McDuffe, the league's leading goaltender last year, performed sheer trickery upon the Nats until 8:17 of the second period when Barry Boughner whipped a 15-foot backhander through his legs.

That tied the game. Maurice L'Abbe had put the Hawks ahead seven minutes earlier when his screened shot went through the legs of goalie Ted Ouimet.

John Gould, Paul Scherer and Allie Sutherland scored the other goals for the Nationals.

N.H.L. Scoring Leaders

Jean Ratelle of New York Rangers joined an elite club Tuesday night in the National Hockey League and the entrance fee was a goal and an assist.

The little centre was the big gun in the Rangers 6-1 victory over Los Angeles Kings in the club's only game Tuesday night. His output gives him a season total of 11 points and moves him into a tie for seventh place among the league's scoring leaders.

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks and Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal Canadiens still hold down first place with 13 points each. But Hull leads the league with nine goals compared to Cournoyer's six.

Four other players with 12 points each are tied for third place.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The Buffalo Bills said Tuesday split end Art Powell, who underwent knee surgery last Friday, would be lost to the American Football League team for the remainder of the season.

Wins Cy Young Award

McCormick Top Hurler!

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP)—Lefty Mike McCormick, baseball's Comeback Player of the Year, is the happy winner of the Cy Young Award as the National League's outstanding pitcher of 1967.

"I think this is the realization of every pitcher's dream," he said at his home here, 40 miles south of Candlestick Park where he performs his heroics for San Francisco Giants.

"It's the highest award a pitcher can get. There's not much more I can say."

The award was voted Tuesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America and McCormick got 18 of the 20 votes cast by the writers—two from each league city.

Fergusson Jenkins of Chicago Cubs and Jim Bunning of Philadelphia Phillies got one vote each.

Jenkins, of Chatham, Ont., had a 20-13 won-lost record for Chicago and his 20 complete games was the highest number in the league. He was considered instrumental in carrying them in their third-place finish on the season.

Bunning, 37-35, was a strong factor in holding the Phillies as high as fifth, leading the league in strikeouts with 253.

McCormick's 22-10 record was tops in the league and led the Giants to a strong second-place finish in the pennant race.

At the age of 29, and once considered washed up, he pitched 14 complete games, worked 282 innings, and had an earned-run average of 2.85.

Two weeks ago he was named the league's Comeback Player of the Year in the annual Associated Press Poll of Writers and broadcasters.

This year for the first time a Cy Young Award will be made for both the National and American leagues, with the American League winner to be named in a few days.

Boomer Sent To Hospital

NEW YORK (CP) — Doctors studying the stomach ills of Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion will study it given an opinion Tuesday as the power-play specialist's teammates prepared to face Los Angeles Kings in a National Hockey League game on the West Coast.

Geoffrion, 36-year-old former Montreal Canadiens ace, has been in St. Clare's Hospital here since the Rangers returned from a game in Montreal Thursday night. He developed stomach pains during the choppy flight and was put in for observation.

Manager-coach Emile Francis planned to use Reg Fleming at Geoffrion's right wing spot on a line with Orland Kurtenbach and Larry Jeffrey. He also had Larry Mickey along to fill the gap.

Geoffrion missed Sunday night's game here, in which the Rangers topped Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2.

SENT TO FARM

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League announced Tuesday they have sent Jim Morrison, a defenceman, and Rosaire Paimeni, a right winger, to their Quebec farm team in the American Hockey League. Morrison came to the Flyers from Quebec, and Paimeni, rookie of the year in the Eastern Hockey League last year was acquired recently from the Boston Bruins' system.

Bomber Coach Calls Flying Eskys To Enter Western Finals

EDMONTON (CP)— Winnipeg coach Joe Zaleski says Edmonton Eskimos will win the Western Football Conference sudden-death semi-final game.

"It won't matter whether they'll meet Saskatchewan or Calgary," the Blue Bomber coach said as he praised the Edmonton squad which has lost one out of its last eight games and is riding a four-game winning streak. "Eskimos have caught momentum and they're hard to stop."

Zaleski nevertheless declined to predict the outcome of tonight's WFC contest when Blue Bombers meet Eskimos in a game that means little to either club.

Eskimos clinched the third and last playoff spot 11 days ago and have their minds already focused on the semi-final playoff game in Regina or Calgary 10 days away.

The fourth-place Blue Bombers are hoping for a win merely to keep the last-place British Columbia Lions in the league cellar. The two clubs currently are separated by one point.

Blue Bombers, who lost their last three games by margins ranging from 53 to 22 points, could surprise Eskimos.

"Our club is healthier than it has been all season," said Zaleski.

He said quarterback Kenny Ploen, plagued with a shoulder injury for most of the season, is healthy enough to start in tonight's game, permitting Bill Van Burkleo, Ploen's replacement, to return to the defensive backfield.

Zaleski said Wayne Dennis, who suffered a back injury in Bombers' last start against Hamilton Tiger-Cats, will be the only regular player missing. His position at defensive tackle will be taken over by Rookie Glen Schapansky.

Edmonton quarterback Terry Baker pulled a groin muscle in Eskimos' 30-11 victory over Calgary Stampeders Saturday night and may not see action, postponing coach Neill Armstrong's experiment of playing both him and Frank Cosentino. In Baker's absence, split-end Randy Kerbow would be the backup quarterback.

Riders Lose Guard

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa Football Club learned Tuesday that import guard Tom Schuette has been ordered to report for U.S. military duty Nov. 17.

The first game of an Eastern Football Conference two-game total point semi-final series will be played Nov. 19 and Rough Riders must find a suitable replacement for Schuette before that time unless the team finishes in first place and gets a bye to the eastern final.

Ottawa needs a win over the last-place Montreal Alouettes Saturday and a Toronto victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday to get the bye. Otherwise, Ottawa will meet Toronto in the semi-final.

Schuette came to the Riders from the University of Indiana this year.

Western Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Peter Liske and Terry Evanshen, the one-two punch of Calgary Stampeders, continue to dominate Western Football Conference statistics this week.

Both established conference and Canadian League records in losing 30-11 to Edmonton Eskimos Saturday and could add to their total Saturday when they play B.C. Lions in the final scheduled game in Vancouver.

Liske has only to throw three touchdown passes to equal the 38 tossed by Tobin Rote of Toronto Argonauts in 1960 and pass for 588 yards to eclipse 4,721 amassed by Sam Etcheverry for Montreal Alouettes in 1966. Evanshen, who leads the WFC in scoring with 90 points on 15 touchdowns, needs 358 yards to pass the 1,314 accumulated by Hal Patterson for Montreal in 1958.

Liske last week set a CFL record with 479 pass attempts and 283 receptions and a WFC mark with his 4,143 yards gained passing and 35 scoring passes.

Evanshen's 89 receptions is a CFL record and his 1,558 yards gained is a WFC record.

All this effort has kept the Stampeders in a tie for first place in the conference with Saskatchewan Roughriders, whose George Reed is the leading rusher with 1,396 yards on 290 carries for a 4.8-yard average and 13 touchdowns.

Dave Raimey of Winnipeg Blue Bombers has the best rushing average in the conference—6.3 yards—on 736 yards in 118 carries.

Peter Kempf of Edmonton and Jack Abendschan of Saskatchewan are tied with 16 field goals each, but Abendschan's 30 converts and five singles give him 83 points and second place to Evanshen.

Bob Goode of Calgary leads in converts with 32 in 37 attempts and in singles with nine.

Jim Furlong of Calgary has the best punting average at 44.9 yards on 71 boots, but Randy Kerbow of Edmonton leads with 119 for a total of 3,005 yards. He has a 42.1-yard average.

Trent Walters of Edmonton leads in kickoff returns with 398 yards on 61 runs, but the 13.2-yard average gained by Calgary's Dick Dupuis leads in that department although he has had only 40 to return.

Bisons Get Clancy

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Terry Clancy, 24, son of King Clancy, a member of hockey's Hall of Fame, has been optioned to Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League by California Seals, team spokesmen said Tuesday. Clancy, a right winger, will join the Bisons today for their game at Phoenix, Ariz.

St. Louis Hawks Win

St. Louis Hawks made it nine victories in 10 starts in the National Basketball Association by defeating Baltimore 114-103 Tuesday night. Zelmo Beaty led the Hawks with 28 points. Gus Johnson got 18 points for Baltimore. Seattle beat Chicago 114-104 and San Francisco whipped New York 108-103 in the other scheduled NBA games.

Orr Sidelined

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins announced Tuesday that defenceman Bobby Orr will miss a National Hockey League game with the Blues in St. Louis tonight because of a pulled muscle in his back. Orr, the NHL rookie of the last season, sat out the third period of a game with Pittsburgh Sunday and missed two practices.

Probe Awaiting Psychological Tests

PRESTON, Ont. (CP)—A judicial inquiry into the removal of two young sisters from a foster home started a five-day adjournment today to await results of psychological tests of Mrs. Arthur Timbrell.

Mrs. Timbrell was involved in a dispute Sept. 26 when workers with the Waterloo County Children's Aid Society, accompanied by police, forcibly removed the children from her home. A report by a society psychologist, made public Monday, described Mrs. Timbrell as "exhibiting psychopathic behavior" and having a strong need for children.

Mrs. Timbrell, 43-year-old mother of nine, refused to return the children to the society Aug. 13. The Timbrells applied to adopt the children but were rejected and the children were taken away.

Thomas R. O'Neill, Toronto lawyer representing Mrs. Timbrell, said Tuesday he asked for adjournment to permit independent psychological tests at a clinic. He said the examination would take two days.

Earlier, Wilson Hunsberger, director of the Waterloo CAS, told the inquiry the society learned of "a substantial series of criminal convictions involving three members of the Timbrell family and a serious involvement with the law of a fourth member."

"This indicated a pattern of anti-social behavior of such magnitude that it was entirely out of the question to consider the adoption application of Mr. and Mrs. Timbrell."

He said the report, by CAS psychologist Ruth Conley last August, also formed the basis for rejection.

If Mrs. Trimbell had revealed the convictions in August, 1966, when she applied to become a foster parent, the two sisters would not have been placed in the Timbrell home last January, he said.

In other testimony, John O'Driscoll, commission counsel, turned to the CAS if they had told her there was a good Roman Catholic home for them.

Both sisters, PEGGY, 5, and Valerie, 3, are Catholics. Mrs. Timbrell is Anglican.

College Heads Favor Students On Policy Boards

MONTREAL (CP) — Student demands for a voice in policy-making won a favorable reception Tuesday at the annual conference of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

Members of the association executive told reporters after two days of closed committee meetings that the problem of student representation in university administration ranked high on the agenda.

Most said the trend toward student representation is inevitable, and the only question is that of finding the most effective outlet.

The AUCC executive groups the presidents, or equivalents, of each of the association's 38 member universities and colleges.

Davidson Dunton, president of Carleton University, said he felt universities should evolve "the way young people want them to go," and added that his university is considering a proposal to include a student at senate, senate committee and board of governors meetings.

Estimates Are Passed After Slashing Attack

OTTAWA (CP)—The treasury board, the cabinet committee that approves government expenditures, took it on the chin from opposition MPs in the Commons Tuesday.

After a boisterous debate, the government managed to vote down opposition motions that would have:

1. Taken away Revenue Minister Benson's $17,000 annual stipend as a minister.

2. Slashed the treasury board contingency fund to $5,000,000 from $45,000,000.

3. Postponed consideration of the 1967-68 spending estimates for the board.

The board's estimate totalling $163,938,000 for the current fiscal year provided the opposition with a chance to criticize many aspects of government financial policy.

Lack of government action to increase pensions for retired civil servants and the amount of total government spending were main themes.

A final motion by Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops) to postpone passage of the estimates went down 99 to 32. It was backed only by the Conservatives.

The estimates then passed without a formal vote.

Peers Await Details

LONDON (CP)—It's coming up to Guy Fawkes Day and Prime Minister Wilson has the House of Lords wondering what sort of a fuss he's in under it.

Just five days before the day marking the discovery of the 1605 plot to blow up Parliament, the Labor government served the upper house Tuesday with a blunt, but cryptic, notice of intent to cut its powers and "eliminate its present hereditary basis."

But that's all the Queen said in the cabinet-written speech from the throne opening a new session of Parliament, and today the Lords remain in the dark as to just how their traditional privileges are to be exploded.

About all that is certain at this point is that Wilson intends to fix it so that the gilded red chamber—overwhelmingly loaded with peers who were just born into it—is not in a position to sidetrack laws passed by the elected Commoners.

Census Taker, 28 A.D. Meets School Drop-out

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The census taker from Rome was sent to Galilee around the year 28 A.D. As he entered the region, he came across a man sitting on a donkey. The man had long hair and a flowing beard; he wore an old tattered cloak, sandals and beads.

"Pardon me," the census-taker said, "but I'm taking the census. Do you mind answering a few questions?"

"Not at all," said the man on the donkey, "I believe in rendering unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's."

"What is your job?" asked the census-taker.

"I have no job," replied the man. "Consider the lilies of the field — they toil not, neither do they spin."

"What is your family?"

"I have no family," the man answered. "I have left my parents and my brothers and sisters, and I live alone."

"Humph," muttered the census-taker to himself. "No job and no fixed abode. Now, do you belong to any clubs or social affiliations?"

"None," said the man. "For no man can serve two masters."

"Do you go to school?"

"Nay," replied the man, "for which of us by taking thought can add one cubit to his stature?"

"Do you have any money visible means of support?"

The man shook his head. "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt," he chanted.

"Have you registered for military service?"

"I resist not evil, but return good for evil," replied the man. "And whosever shall smite me on the right cheek, I shall turn to him the other also."

"What is your address?"

The man signed. "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but I have not anywhere to lay my head."

"Who are your friends?"

"I go among publicans and sinners."

"What political party do you belong to?"

The man shrugged. "Only this — a new commandment I give unto you: That ye love one another."

The census-taker scribbled on his sheet: "Beatnik character, school drop-out, no permanent address, no job, probable draft dodger and pacifist, alienated from family, no wife or children, no church attendance, dubious associates among lowest elements in town."

"One more thing," he asked, "What is your name?"

The bearded one smiled sadly. "Some call me the Son of Man."

Commons Asked to Restrict Bell to Phones

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bell Telephone Co. of Canada operation should be restricted to telephone services and not permitted to expand into other areas of telecommunications, a brief to the Commons transport and communications committee urged Tuesday.

Industrial Wire and Cable Co. Ltd. argued that the special act incorporating Bell as a telephone company requires it act as a common carrier, providing telephone service to "all comers".

In seeking a new charter, Bell wrs requesting rights to invest in companies not specifically related to the telephone industry and to expand its interests in communications areas such as teletype and cable television.

J. G. Torrance, of Toronto, counsel for Industrial, said Bell was seeking the right of originating, transmitting and receiving electronic communications when its original charter limits it to carrying communications for other parties.

G. D. Zimmerman of Toronto, industrial president, argued there was no guarantee that, if Bell was permitted to enter these new fields which would possibly permit it to act as a competitor for established cable television companies, it would continue to permit its competitors to use Bell transmission facilities.

Mr. Zimmerman said a side effect of Bell broadening its scope would be an increase in money spent by the company on research and development of communications techniques, which would lead to an increase in basic telephone rates to private subscribers.

Bell is seeking legislation that would permit it to expand its capitalization to $1,750,000,000 from $1,000,000,000. A planned method for the expansion was investment in companies now involved in the telecommunications industry.

The brief asked that the new Canadian transport commission be given sufficient staff, finances and authority to provide experts needed to weigh adequately submissions from Bell and to regulate the company.

It further asks that the company be required to appear before the government for review at regular, short intervals.

Northern Unveils New Phone

OTTAWA (CP)—A new telephone instrument, designed by Ottawa engineer John Tyson, 25, was unveiled Tuesday by Northern Electric Laboratories in Ottawa.

The new instrument, designed for "sophisticated and refined" consumers, features a dial in the handset and a longer cord so few telephones will be required in offices.

Bell Telephone Co., owner of Northern Electric, expects to put about 1,000 of the new telephones in use next spring and be ready to sell it publicly in 1968.

Part of the 15-month study carried out by Mr. Tyson was a measurement of heads, which ascertained that North Americas heads averaged eight per cent larger than Europeans. This was taken into account in the design.

The handpiece is wider than present models and has a cupcel button so a user can dial a new number without having to replace the handpiece.

Hospital's $2 Million Bequest Faces Tax By U.S. Government

The decision of the U.S. Internal Revenue Department to impose a special tax on the Belleville General Hospital's share of the $14,000,000 Charlotte E. Sills estate, is being appealed.

Under the terms of Mrs. Sills' will, Belleville General Hospital is to receive two fifteenths of the estate. One fifteenth of the estate is to go to the Belleville convalescent hospital, and a similar bequest to Bride Street United Church.

Payment of the bequests will not be made until after the death of four persons receiving annuities under the terms of the will.

The decision of the American Internal Revenue Department to tax the Belleville hospital bequest was on the grounds that the hospital is owned by two "foreign governments" (the city of Belleville and the county of Hastings).

Lending support to the appeal, city council yesterday passed a motion to accept the bequest for the sole use of the hospital.

Belleville lawyer Donald Templeman said the hospital and the County of Hastings would pass similar motions.

The US government tax on the Belleville hospital share of the estate would amount to about $200,000 and would be paid from the estate total before distribution.

The late Mrs. Sills, who at one time had Belleville connections, died about six years ago in Boston.

Fate of Madoc Armouries To Be Decided at Meeting

The fate of the now privately owned Madoc Armouries is up for discussion today.

This afternoon members of the Madoc village council are meeting with a representative of the Ontario Municipal Board and tonight the results of the meeting will be told to public ratepayers meeting to be held at the Armouries.

The proposal is for the village to take over the armouries as a municipal community centre but the whole idea is meeting with opposition from some village quarters.

If the village took over the Armouries, it would be required to pay off the balance of the mortgage held by War Assets and certain other bills amounting in all to about $8,000.

The private group bought the arena for $6,100 and since then have installed kitchen facilities and other equipment.

The Armoury building sees fairly frequent use for political conventions and other area functions and the upstairs officers quarters is currently being used as a court room.

The building is assessed at $23,000 and under the present private ownership is required to pay about $1,700 in annual taxes.

Foreman Cannot Do Added Job

TWEED — At the recent village council meet, one application was received for the position of bylaws enforcement officer, from William J. Woods, who offered to cover such local bylaws as Building Inspector, Dog Catcher and Parking, at a salary of $20 per week, plus any uniform that might be required.

After some discussion in this regard by council it was decided that the job would involve too much additional work for Mr. Woods, who is already the town foreman.

After discussing the purchase of a new truck for the village, and after calling tenders leading to the purchase of suitable equipment that would permit the village to take care of the snow plowing and removal of same, the council reversed its previous stand at this week's meeting and decided to now call for tenders for the plowing and removal of snow on village streets for the coming winter.

The person, it was stated, with the successful tender, must have equipment that includes a blow with a nine-foot blade and a loading bucket with a minimum capacity of 1¼ yards. Tenders will be received up to 8 p.m. EST, November 7th, 1967. Representatives from Trudeau Motors, of Belleville, appeared before council to offer a used truck for sale, but no action was taken.

Since no suitable applications had been received from the Tweed area, council members decided to advertise twice for a bylaw enforcement officer in The Intelligencer, the Napanee Beaver and the Kingston Whig-Standard. Applications will be received up until 8.00 p.m. EST, November 7, 1967. The clerk was at this time, instructed to write two ratepayers informing them that it is contrary to village bylaws to keep pigs within the village limits.

A copy of the letter will be sent to Dr. Lenker, director of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit.

Council will apply to the Department of Highways for the interim subsidy on roads effective to September 30th. The subsidy is based on an expenditure of $8,022.05 and will consist of 50 per cent of 80 per cent of this amount.

Private Broadcasters Protest Maximum Fine, Suspension Power

OTTAWA (CP)— Private broadcasters said Tuesday the $100,000 maximum fine for breach of regulations proposed in a new government bill on broadcasting is excessive and will discourage creativity.

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters, representing most privately - owned radio and television stations, presented a brief to the government suggesting changes in the bill.

The brief also objects to a clause that would allow the regulatory body to control scheduling policy and suggests powers to suspend broadcasting licences outlined in the bill are too wide.

A bill revising broadcasting legislation and setting up a regulatory body with wider powers than the present Board of Broadcast Governors has been given first reading in the Commons. It is to be debated again today.

It would create a Canadian Radio Commission with the power to issue licences, revoke or suspend them and to order fines up to $100,000 for breaches of regulations. The commission would be able to set individual licence conditions for each broadcaster.

Referring to the $100,000 maximum fine, the C.A.B. said it studied penalties in other legislation regarding the carrying on of business in Canada and cannot discover a penalty that comes even near this amount." The largest fixed fine it had found was $10,000.

The C.A.B. said the mere existence of the $100,000 maximum will tend to inhibit freedom of expression and discourage "experimental creativity," it suggested a maximum of $10,000.

The new bill would allow the CRC to make regulations covering scheduling policy. If the commission sees a TV station was overloading prime viewing hours with imported programs, it could require a change.

The broadcasters objected to the section of the bill allowing a licence suspension where the CRC is satisfied the holder has broken any condition of the licence.

The C.A.B. also called for abandonment of the 48-hour ban on electoral coverage by radio or TV before voting day.

"We find no record of any logical reason ever having been given for it." The brief noted the ban does not apply to other media.

Under the new bill, the public - owned CBC may reserve radio frequencies and TV channels for extension of its service. The C.A.B. said this would allow the CBC to hold them "in fallow" for years and this could inhibit extension of service via a privately - owned station that could carry some CBC national services.

The bill should recognize that it is possible, and sometimes desirable, to have the national service provided through such stations rather than stations owned entirely by the CBC.

Private broadcasters agreed with the bill's statement that all Canadians are entitled to broadcasting in English and French. They objected to the clause saying this would be done "as public funds become available."

Public funds should be used to complete this objective only where it was unlikely that the goal would be reached "by economic means," the brief said.

The C.A.B. also asked for a change in the section allowing the CRC to fix licence fees. It said the CBC could set fees varying widely from station to station. "This could be highly discriminatory and could even be used as a punitive weapon."

It suggested the CRC be permitted to set fee schedules for various classes of stations.

A clause allowing the government to order stations to carry programs of "specific significance" also drew a C.A.B. objection. "This represents the ultimate in program and opinion control and we do not believe that is the intention of the government."

It suggested a change to limit the clause applicable to programs "of an emergency nature or required for the general safety" of the population.

Mother of John F. Kennedy Talks of Famous Son on TV

NEW YORK (AP)—The mother of John F. Kennedy, an extraordinarily smart and youthful 76, reminisced about her famous son for a half hour Tuesday night, recalling some of the great—but more of the small—events over the years.

The fourth anniversary of what Mrs. Kennedy calls simply "the tragedy" will be along soon, but no mention of that was made on the CBS program. Instead, Mrs. Kennedy, seated comfortably in the living room of the house in which her second son was born, talked easily and interestingly of Kennedy family life, reflected on the close relationship of her children, and recalled some amusing anecdotes.

She smiled when recalling a time when Joe Jr., the oldest son, visited Russia when he was 18 and returned to argue with his father about communism. Young Jack, who admired his older brother, told his parents that Joe seemed to know more about the subject than his father did.

Even after John Kennedy had become president of the United States, he accepted occasional advice. Mrs. Kennedy said she had watched the president with Henry Cabot Lodge in a television appearance and reported back to her son that she thought Lodge's striped necktie looked "more chic" than her son's conservative solid color. He gave every necktie a try. On another occasion, she suggested that he would look better if he kept his hands out of his pockets.

The program did little with its selling. The Kennedy birthplace is a comfortable middle-class white clapboard home in what host Harry Reasoner called "a nice street" in Brookline, Mass. It is being restored and will be classified as an historic site.

Did Mrs. Kennedy suddenly realize this son would be an important man?

"No," she replied. "It was gradual. I think the first time may have been when I saw him go into the White House to see Eisenhower who was getting ready to leave. I think he would have been surprised if he had known that after the tragedy he would have been so glorified."

Talk on Canadian Flag Given at Legion Dinner

DESERONTO — Celebrating the fifth anniversary of the opening of its new hall, the Royal Canadian Legion, branch 250, heard the same speaker as he had heard on that memorable occasion five years ago.

Arthur Duncan, public relations officer of the Ajax Shoe Co., the well known after-dinner speaker, mingled humor and wise words, at a dinner held recently.

Speaking of the Canadian flag which the Legion had been instrumental in raising, Mr. Duncan said that at one time the old "red, white and blue" so filled with tradition and Empire history, had no background, but it gained it through time. So it is with Canada's new flag. It is only a symbol now, in time it will have a proud background.

He urged the extension of the ideals for which their brothers had died, such as respect for the aged. "What would your dead brothers think of today's world if they could come back now?" he asked.

The newly appointed padre, Rev. F. F. Downing, rector of the Reserve, Mr. Duncan, and thanked the members for the honor shown him. He stated that it was the sixth branch to which he had served as padre.

Several new members were initiated by Zone Commander Earle J. Brant, and President Earl Morgan. Mr. Morgan called out to them that they did not become members of the branch for what it can give, but what it receives from your membership and your membership is only in proportion to what you put into this branch by your own efforts, and by your service to your community," he asserted.

The new members are: Tom Sexton, Basil Easterbrook, John Brewer, Harold Calvert, Francis Dafoe, Bruce Reid, Bruce Lasher, Bennell Brant, and Lawrence Hill.

To Your Good Health

Tongue-tied Infant May Require Surgery

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner
Dear Dr. Molner: Our son was born six weeks early and tongue-tied, although we didn't realize it until the doctor let it slip. The doctor said the cord wouldn't have to be clipped and it shouldn't interfere with his talking or eating.

When we mentioned it to friends they said he would stutter and be unable to talk right later in life. We are so confused we don't know what to believe. — Mrs. D. H.

This condition should be watched for the first year, since some change can occur with growth of the mouth structures. It used to be believed that the cord should be clipped when this was detected, but in more recent years it has become apparent that this is not always so. Sometimes there is enough growth so clipping is not required. Therefore, follow your doctor's advice rather than being worried by what others say. If clipping is necessary, it can be done later.

If the tongue can be protruded to touch the lips, or moved sideways to touch the corners of the mouth, surgery is not necessary. An infant will move his tongue to these areas if they are touched with an object such as a spoon or cotton applicator.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any danger in eating too many eggs? My mother used an dozen eggs last week in cooking and for meals. I understand that eggs are high in cholesterol and that too much cholesterol can cause heart trouble, gall stones, etc. Is that true? Are we in any danger? — S. S.

Six dozen eggs for how many people? It is true that eggs contain cholesterol, but so do many other foods. In fact, some cholesterol is necessary for health.

The exact relationship of cholesterol to hardening of the arteries (and hence heart or other trouble) is still the subject of intense study and it probably will be some time before we have positive answers.

Personally I see no harm in having eggs in moderate quantities — an egg a day or even two, seems to me to present no peril. I would, however, certainly not continue beyond that, and not make continued and heavy daily use of eggs. One or two I wouldn't consider heavy. Half a dozen a day, or any such number, would seem to me to be unwise.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been keeping company with a man for about a year now. He has asked me to marry him, but I don't know him after I married him and received a lot of money. Do you think this would be a safe marriage? — Mrs. E. L. S.

"Psychiatric treatments" is as vague as saying he has been having "medical treatments" for something. This man may have been getting psychiatric help for some relatively minor or even trivial emotional problem. Or he may have some severe mental disorder. You have given me nothing to go on.

There's one thing, though — I hope the man has sense enough not to marry some unnecessary person who figures she can get a lot of money from him and then walk out.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have often heard that if a person eats a watermelon and then takes baking soda he would be a safe marriage! — Mrs. F. J. S.

No, of course it's not true.

Deseronto Without Police Force

DESERONTO — On November 9 the town of Deseronto will be without its own police force. The middle of the month Constable Garry Riley resigned from the two-man force to return to his home in Renfrew. Last Thursday evening at a special meeting the council received the resignation of his fellow officer, Lyne Thomlinson, who had been accepted that evening as a constable on the seven-man force in Napanee. He will remain until November 9.

Until it can come to other arrangements, Deseronto will be policed by the Ontario Provincial Police, but Mayor Cecil Lott points out that this is definitely not a permanent arrangement.

Parole Board Active Rotarians Are Told

While crime in Canada is a "major problem," the number of parolees in penitentiaries is down, J. Alex Edmison, QC, told Belleville Rotarians yesterday.

"There are fewer people in penitentiary than there were 10 years ago, and one of the reasons for this is they are getting out on parole."

A member of the National Parole Board in Ottawa, Mr. Edmison said 19,208 paroles have been granted since January 1, 1959. Of this number 2,908 have been revoked, and more than half of them by reason of another conviction.

Remarking that the success rate for probationers is also high, Mr. Edmison said the public today is more "understanding."

"They know a man does not necessarily come out of prison a worse person than before. They know he has had training during that period. Moreover, some employers say such a man gives loyalty far beyond that of other employees."

He said the average person going to jail has had very little opportunity of self-expression.

"We want that man, or woman, to have good counselling and guidance while in prison."

In the course of a distinguished public career, Mr. Edmison worked on refugee problems after the war, as well as in many other spheres. One of his interests is early newspapers and is brought with him a photostat copy of The Dawson (Yukon) Daily News of the year 1900.

The newspaper carried a report of the death of Hugh McKinnon, who for 28 years was police chief in Belleville. An outstanding policeman and athlete, he was also suggested local industry might be interested in part page advertising if they were contacted. Chairman Wickens was also district chairman for another year with H. J. Taylor as secretary.

Ross Douglas I.C. presided for election of officers which resulted in Ross Sam, president, J. R. Douglas; publicity, Douglas Maybee; 1st vice-president, Wagar; secretary treasurer, H. J. Taylor.

Greens and property chairman Charles Wickens, Douglas Maybee, A. A. Burgis, directors of open tournaments, W. Kingston, George Pros, Archie Meyers, Ross Douglas, Taylor, Chairman of Jimmy, Garnet Carnegie, Mrs. J. McMullen and Mrs. D. Hickman, chairman of prizes committee, Garnet Carnegie. Local championship committee, Douglas Maybee, Archie Meyers, Glen Vandewater and Mrs. J. Locke.

It was decided to make the usual donation of $10. to the P.I.B.A. (benevolent) fund.

Discussion was held on how to maintain the same schedule for at least another year; also the 1968 executive. It was decided to maintain the same schedule for at least another year; also that the present president, Ross Maybee retain the office of president for two years.

During his remarks to club members Ross Douglas urged that a drive be made to secure new members as membership has decreased some in the past season also that members take advantages of the green and practice on days they are not playing more often. Sunday afternoon was one time suggested.

Joanne McNevin Earns Title of 'Queen' at Show

Miss Joanne McNevin with her horse, King's Crystal, is the winner of the Queen's Plate, after winding up the western horse show circuit in a blaze of glory.

She returned from Ottawa last week after attending the Centennial Western Horse Show and Rodeo. The competition became home with the title of the Ottawa Valley Association Queen" and a host of trophies from western hats, western clothes to transistor radios.

Miss McNevin's success is due to her usual perfection and turned in a first in barrel racing and a third in pole bending against horses from all over the Province.

Miss McNevin stated today she was quite tired after a long, hard summer of riding at the different shows but the effort was worthwhile and it was a lot of fun.

CAMPBELLFORD — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held its annual fall festival and bazaar in the Sunday School room on Saturday. Receiving the guests were Mrs. C. Mac Sween and W.A. president Mrs. Murray Locke.

The decorations were in keeping with a combined autumn Centennial theme. An old rail fence encircled the tea table area.

The sewing table was conducted by Mrs. A. Hall, assisted by Mrs. G. Rowe and Mrs. A. Stephens.

The delicatessen was conveyed by Mrs. F. T. Rutherford assisted by Mrs. D. Guerin. Mrs. M. Anderson looked after the white elephant table assisted by Mrs. J. Brethour and Mrs. Goslet.

Pouring tea for the occasion were Mrs. Wilma Coyle, Mrs. R. McCulloch, Mrs. G. G. Stephens and Mrs. J. Storie.

The tables were covered and appropriately decorated was arranged by Mrs. R. Pettey and Mrs. R. J. Locke with cookies Mrs. J. Black.

Many of the others assisted in serving. Assisting in the kitchen duties were Mrs. N. Third, Mrs. C. Thompson, Mrs. P. Patrick and Mrs. B. Hay.

Lawn Bowlers Discuss Various Tourney Problems

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club held the annual meeting in the club house on Thursday evening. Previous to the meeting a turkey dinner was served by the women's division of the club.

A discussion of the past bowling season disclosed the fact that the tournaments are not well attended and financial support from the tournaments is not now adequate. It was suggested the trend is now to smaller tournaments and more responsibility on individual club members to keep the club in operation.

Another suggestion was that more attention be given to jitney prizes as an inducement to more participation.

Mr. Archie Meyers a veteran bowler of the Campbellford club received the trophy for the championships presented the Douglas Trophy to the team of Dr. M. Hickman and Mr. Archie Meyers.

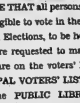
In the absence of Dr. Smith, through illness, Mrs. McMullen presented the trophy and received a gift from trophy donors Mr. and Mrs. Ross Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickman and Mrs. W. Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hickson who also received gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Douglas.

As the contest for the Douglas Trophy has been long and long drawn out by group arrangement it was decided in the coming year to take it on one tournament and play it in one day.

Chairman of District 15 of the Lawn Bowling Association Charles Wickens gave a report of the district meeting held in general meeting of all districts held in Toronto.

He reported that in order to continue publication of the year book more finances would have to be made available, one way of which would be obtaining more advertisements.



District 15 is contributing $30. for a full page advertisement for the district. It was decided to make the usual donation of $10. to the P.I.B.A. (benevolent) fund.

Discussion was held on how to maintain the same schedule for at least another year; also the 1968 executive. It was decided to maintain the same schedule for at least another year; also that the present president, Ross Maybee retain the office of president for two years.

During his remarks to club members Ross Douglas urged that a drive be made to secure new members as membership has decreased some in the past season also that members take advantages of the green and practice on days they are not playing more often. Sunday afternoon was one time suggested.

Curing Overheating Not Easy

By RAY STAPLEY

Several readers have asked me to outline the various causes of an overheated engine. The following is a typical letter:

"I drive a 1961 6-cylinder Falcon. Around the city my cooling system functions perfectly, but at 60 mph it overheats, and I am obliged to carry an extra gallon of water for emergencies.

I have had the water pump checked, the radiator has been reverse flushed, but this has not helped. Can you tell me what could be causing my car to overheat at highway speeds?"

While years ago reverse flushing seemed fairly effective, radiator design has changed and the passages through which the coolant flows are much smaller. In order to remove the foreign matter that builds up inside these tubes, it is usually necessary to remove the radiator and have it submerged in a chemical bath by a radiator specialist to thoroughly clean the inside.

Another little-known problem is cooling fins that have loosened from the tubes. Dozens of these cooling fins are soldered to the cooling tubes to rapidly dissipate the heat. Normal vibration, plus the expansion and contraction of radiators operating under the pressure of 4 - 6 - to - 16 - pound pressure cap tend to loosen these fins and considerably reduce the cooling potential of the radiator.

Other causes of overheating are: late timing; loose fan belt; defective thermostat, or a thermostat installed upside down; minute cracks in the cylinder head or block; loose or blown head gasket(s); deteriorated radiator hoses that collapse internally, restricting circulation at high speed; overload; underinflated tires; small external coolant leaks, such as frost plugs (as on a cars have one behind the flywheel housing); and occasionally a layer of insects plastered on the radiator core restricting air flow through the radiator.

Here is a really baffling problem experienced by a reader in Brighton, Ontario. He writes:

"I am having trouble with my windshield and windows steaming up, not just a little, but badly enough to make driving hazardous. I have taken the car to my garage, but they can't find any reason for it.

I would appreciate any suggestions you might have."

I ran into this problem occasionally when operating my own garage, and pinpointed it as being a minute hole in the heater core. As the core heats up the engine coolant trickles down through it, and the force of the heater fan blows steam into the interior of the car. This is particularly noticeable where slipstream glycol is present in the cooling system. The glycol deposits a greasy film along with the fog, and this film does not evaporate.

In order to cure the problem, the heater must be removed and the core repaired or replaced.

Sharp Seeks Aid To Halt Inflation

Finance Chiefs To Meet

"...and please help the poor, to help themselves!"

OTTAWA (CP)—Fresh troops are on call for the government's beat-inflation campaign.

Finance Minister Sharp said Wednesday he will meet provincial finance ministers Nov. 16 and 17 to plot "energetic action" to limit public spending and lending.

He reaffirmed his intention to make another full statement soon on his own economy measures.

And he kept the door open for a possible supplementary budget before Christmas, although he told the Commons a decision on this step has not yet been made. The unanimous speculation: Tax increases.

In Winnipeg, the governor of the Bank of Canada delivered a resounding plea for public cooperation and resolute government action to quell inflationary psychology.

Louis Rasminsky, in a rare public address, told the Winnipeg Canadian Club:

"The central problem that we are now faced with in Canada is to break into the circle of rising costs and prices and, as part of this process, to reverse the demands of governments on financial markets."

Mr. Rasminsky said private investment is flattening out and there has been a large increase in the money supply, both factors that should have worked against increases in interest rates.

Rates continue to rise, he said, because investors fear the money market cannot meet future borrowing requirements of governments without tight credit conditions.

The governor was reported Tuesday to have called in the chartered banks, asking them to reduce the interest they have been charging on short-term loans.

No U. S. Quotas Is Pledge

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has been assured by "the highest levels" of the United States government that restrictive quotas will not be brought in against Canadian goods, Trade Minister Winters said Wednesday.

He was replying in Commons questions by George Hees (PC —Northumberland) who referred to bills introduced in Congress that would entail quotas for certain Candian exports to the U.S.

Mr. Hees said there was "mounting pressure" in the U.S. to bring in quotas to offset international tariff reductions negotiated at Geneva and due to come into effect next Jan. 1.

He asked the government to notify the U.S. that Canada under the Geneva agreement if such import quotas were adopted bythe U.S.

Slump No Cure Says Stanfield

MILFORD, N.S. (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield criticized Wednesday any proposed government move to solve the problem of inflation with a short-term economic slowdown.

If restraints on spending fail in curb inflation, Finance Minister Sharp has hinted the government will engineer a temporary slack in the economy, Mr. Stanfield told a public meeting in Colchester-Hants riding, which he is seeking to represent in the Commons.

He said that such a slowdown would be bad because, while the policy is short - term, the problem of maintaining reasonably full employment and price stability requires continuing effort.

A slowdown would hit the weakest areas of the economy hardest.

"Certainly the Atlantic region would be hard hit by a deliberate slowdown, and our people would therefore bear the double brunt, both of inflation and of the national policy to delay inflation."

National economic health could not be achieved by policies which depress a substantial region.

"Canada will not be prosperous if unemployment and discontent are chronic in these provinces," Mr. Stanfield said.

A text of the address was released in advance of delivery.

The former Nova Scotia premier said stability should be sought through means more civilized than the application of slowdowns and unemployment.

CBRT Asks PM To Halt Layoff

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers pressed Prime Minister Pearson Wednesday to delay mass layoffs by the CNR.

W. J. Smith, president of the 32,000-member union, said in a letter to Mr. Pearson that CNR supervisors across the country have been instructed to reduce staff by a much as 10 per cent.

The Toronto-based railway already has laid off 427 workers in the Atlantic region.

Mr. Smith said the government should prevail on the CNR to "act in a more humane and socially responsible manner." Employees were being cut on four days' notice.

Mr. Smith said the CNR layoffs are the result of a traffic decline caused by a new express-freight rate structure. He said it stems from reasoning from a management decision such as this should be borne by the company, not the workers.

Gas Used To Guard Humphrey

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) —Police today used tear gas to break up anti-American demonstrations in the northern left-wing stronghold of Penang while Vice-President Hubert Humphrey met with the Malaysian cabinet here.

It was the third consecutive day of demonstrations against the vice-president who arrived by air from South Vietnam Wednesday for a four-day good will visit.

In Belleville, Harry Fast CN Rideau region manager, said outside of 'normal seasonal adjustments' to meet changing work loads, there were "no layoffs as such" in the region.

Citizens Nab Pair Of Thugs

TORONTO (CP)—Two men who were chased by a group of citizens into the bushes off a west-end street Wednesday were later charged by police with robbing one bank and conspiring to rob another.

Police said Richard McCachen, 18, of Toronto, and Roy Hillgrove, 21, of Waterloo, had written a note in a branch of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, then fled when a teller became suspicious and closed her wicket.

Five minutes later, two men walked into a nearby branch of the Toronto-Dominion Bank and handed a teller a note which read: "Give us your money or we'll throw this acid in your face."

One man showed a bottle of fluid.

The men took $534 from the teller, then were chased by several persons from the bank, along a street and into the bushes.

Two police officers dragged the men out and charged them.

'Strategic Hamlet' Too Much to Swallow

OTTAWA (CP) — Charlotte McEwen finished her 30-minute silent vigil as the clock in the nearby Peace Tower chimed 1 p.m.

She lowered her placard ceiling for an end to the war in Vietnam.

"I think for me, it all started when I heard a spokesman for the external affairs department struggling over the term concentration camp and replacing it with the term strategic hamlet.

"It makes one want to do something about it," she said.

One thing the Ottawa housewife is doing is standing silently for 30 minutes each Wednesday in a vigil organized by members of the Ottawa Committee to End the War in Vietnam.

Eight women and one man completed the vigil Wednesday, the second one held here.

Apple 'Treats' Hide Razors

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — City police Wednesday reported more than 20 incidents of booby-trapped Hallowe'en treats passed out to children during their "trick or treat" rounds Tuesday night.

There were incidents of moth-balls covered in chocolate, apples with razor blades shoved into them and candies with pins stuck into them.

Police issued a warning that all children should carefully examine their Hallowe'en candies and fruits before eating them.

Ricky Kubo, 11, found three razor blades in an apple he received the night before. He said if he had not cut the apple in half first he would have munched right into the blades.

Police said there were no reports of injuries as a result of the incidents.

Police in Sarnia, Township also reported at least one confirmed report of a razor blade being embedded in a Hallowe'en apple given to 11-year-old Kevin Mumford.

Police in the suburban Ottawa township of Nepean said pins and razor blades have been discovered in apples given to children in the Parkwood Hills and Manordale areas. Several parents have reported children cut their mouths biting into the apples.

Operation For Pope Saturday

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Reports circulated at the Vatican today that Pope Paul will undergo surgery at his prostate gland Saturday morning.

There was no official confirmation. But Rome's doctors said shortly before midnight Wednesday they had decided to go ahead with the operation without further delay.

Vatican sources at that time had said this probably meant Saturday or Sunday.

Road Bumpy, It Was Railway

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Two young women in a car wondered why they were getting a bumpy ride near this fog—bound town Wednesday. They got out to investigate, realized they had been driving along railway ties and tracks—but before an oncoming train derailed the vehicle.

Catherine MacDonald, 20, of Hamilton and Margaret Hogg, 25, of Burlington, found themselves in the middle of the CPR's main line between Detroit and Toronto.

The auto was dragged 300 feet.

Philip Admits He Has Lot to Learn But Balks at Idea of Factory Job

(CP)—Prince Philip says he does not know all that he might about British industry but will not go to work in a factory to round out his education..

William Kirk, a Wolverhampton industrialist who criticized the Queen's husband last week for knocking British management on appeasing letter from Philip Wednesday.

"I am quite prepared to agree," the prince wrote, that a closer inspection of industry would do me a lot of good."

But have you considered the possibility that I might come out even more irritated and frustrated, judging by the problems you list in your letter?"

Prince Philip regularly needles British industry to make itself more efficient. After his latest criticism last week, Kirkwerde him suggesting he did not know what he was talking about and citing some of the headaches of management. He agreed Philip to put in some work on the factory floor.

"This is a most sincere letter," Kirk said Wednesday night, "I'm going to send him a note inviting him to visit this factory."

Former Secretary of Teamsters' Local Says Her Testimony May Bring Death

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) —A federal grand jury has begun investigating the legal manoeuvrings of James R. Hoffa, apparently without hearing an expected star witness who says she has been marked for death.

Mary Ann Gordon Francis, who was taken away from hospital by federal marshals earlier in the day, apparently did not appear before the grand jury Wednesday.

Mrs. Francis, former secretary for Teamsters Union Local 515 here, had been expected to testify before the grand jury about threats she said she received in connection with testimony she gave at a trial connected with Hoffa's third new trial motion.

However, Mrs. Francis, who was taken to hospital with a gunshot wound suffered last week, was not seen entering the jury room, and the Chattanooga Times reported that the grand jury will not be called to testify.

Mrs. Francis was whisked away from hospital a few hours after she was involved in an unsuccessful attempt by police to trap a man she said had offered to kill anyone who wanted.

A federal officer attempted to arrest the man, but he escaped after at least one shot was fired.

Mrs. Francis says she is marked for death because of testimony she gave that was adverse to the imprisoned Teamsters Union president.

It was in the perjury trial of a prostitute who had claimed she engaged in sexual relations with jurors in the 1964 trial that Mrs. Francis testified recently. Mrs. Francis said she saw a prostitute holding more than $1,000 when she was called in to notarize an affidavit.

Two days before she was shot, Mrs. Francis was convicted of plotting to kill her former husband. She faces a 10-year prison sentence in that cases.

Viet Cong Losses Big

SAIGON (Reuters)—A total of 238 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed today when they attacked the district capital of Loc Ninh for the third time in five days, a U.S. military spokesman said here.

The night attack was launched by 1,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong behind a mortar barrage.

A U.S. military spokesman said American and South Vietnamese forces repelled the attack in 20 minutes of sometimes hand-to-hand fighting.

American helicopters hovered over the battle pouring machine-gun fire into the attackers while U.S. DC-3s armed with Gatling guns and U.S. jet fighter-bombers roared into action by the orange light of flares.

In the central lowlands 300 miles northeast of Saigon, the Viet Cong seized the district headquarters town of Dai Loc and killed a civilian hamlet leader before pulling out at daybreak.

Pranksters Inflict Eye Injury

TWEED — Carol Hughes, 11, sustained a minor eye injury Tuesday night when struck by a cucumber thrown by Hallowe'en pranksters. She was treated at the offices of Dr. A. G. Allen and Dr. R. S. Berry.

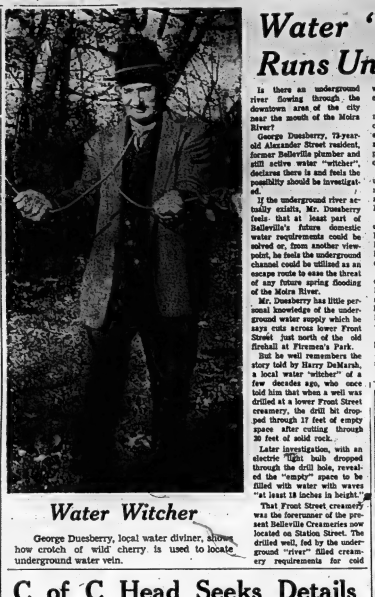
Dennis Hughes, R. R. 3, Tweed, was driving his daughter and other children on their trick-or-treat rounds of the village when the cucumber came flying through the car window on the driver's side. Mr. Hughes chased and caught four young men, who admitted to having thrown tomatoes, but said another gang was responsible for the cucumber incident. Police were called but laid no charges.

Camera Club Shown Slides Of Switzerland

The regular meeting of the Belleville Camera Club on Wednesday evening was highlighted by a showing of color slides of Switzerland, taken by Mr. John Lewis during his trip to that country.

Switzerland's world - famous scenic beauty was expertly captured by Mr. Lewis together with fascinating glimpses of colorful points of interest. Smoothly presented with a taped commentary, this show held the rapt attention of members and guests for an all too short forty-five minutes.

Mr. Lewis was thanked by President Ed. Isenion and was presented with a roll of film to express the club's appreciation.



In the club's "portrait" competition, fourteen pictures (black and white and color) were received as entries. After viewing by a special panel of judges the winners will be announced at the November 13th meeting.

Water Witcher

George Duesberry, local water diviner, shows how crotch of wild cherry is used to locate underground water vein.

Water 'Witcher' Claims River Runs Underground Through City

Is there an underground river flowing through the downtown area of the city near the mouth of the Moira River?

George Duesberry, 73-year-old Alexander Street resident, former Belleville plumber and still active water "witcher", declares there is and feels the possibility should be investigated.

If the underground river actually exists, Mr. Duesberry feels that at least part of Belleville's future domestic water requirements could be solved or, from another viewpoint, he feels the underground channel could be utilized as an escape route to ease the threat of any future spring flooding of the Moira River.

Mr. Duesberry has little personal knowledge of the underground water supply which he says cuts across lower Front Street just north of the old firehall at Firemen's Park.

But he well remembers a story told by Harry DeMarsh, a local water "witcher" of a few decades ago, who once told him that when a well was drilled at a lower Front Street creamery, the drill bit dropped through 17 feet of empty space after cutting through 28 feet of solid rock.

Later investigation, with an electric light bulb dropped through the drill hole, revealed the "empty" space to be filled with water with waves "at least 18 inches in height."

That Front Street creamery was the forerunner of the present Belleville Creameries now located on Station Street. The drilled well, fed by the underground "river" filled creamery requirements for cold water until the plant was moved to Station Street.

When the creamery was moved, the well was capped over and is now buried beneath the concrete floor of a recently opened dry cleaning plant immediately to the north of the old firehall.

"If nothing else, it would help to uncover the old well and determine if the underground river actually exists," says Mr. Duesberry.

Proof of a substantial supply of underground water in Belleville is offered by Mr. Duesberry who cites Reid's Dairy on the West Hill as an example.

Some years ago the owner of the dairy spoke to Mr. Duesberry about the high summer temperature — and high cost — of city water. Mr. Duesberry advised drilling a well.

"I told the dairy owner that he would get plenty of water at between 300 and 325 feet," said Mr. Duesberry.

When the well was drilled, water came in at 319 feet and rose to within 13 feet of the ground level. The temperature of the water was 42 degrees.

That was about 15 years ago and the well remained in use supplying dairy requirements until a few years ago when the plant switched to air cooling. It seems a high incidence of salts in the water was rusting out the machinery.

But back to the art of water winding.

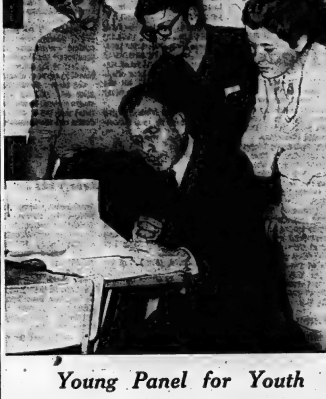
Mr. Duesberry uses a fork-ed crotch of wild cherry or some other "gifted" wood for water divining. Not only does he claim to be able to locate water, but says he can spot an underground vein within four inches and can pre-determine both the depth and the quantity of water to be obtained.

The modus operandi goes something like this:

The forked branch is held firmly with both hands (palms up) and a slow walk is commenced.

As the underground vein is neared the forked crotch commences to dip toward the ground until directly over the vein it receives maximum pull.

Mr. Duesberry says an especially strong vein will almost tear the bark off the wood.



At least that is the way it seems to work.

But in all his years of water divining, Mr. Duesberry says "I have only missed once."

Another Belleville area water witcher living at Canniffon, says he is successful in finding water about 90 per cent of the time.

According to Mr. Duesberry you either have the art of water witching or you don't. He says it is a matter of how much static electricity you have in your body.

It's apparently works for the the water witchers, but by actual experience this reporter just doesn't have it.

C of C Head Seeks Details On Proposal to Fence Dams

TRENTON — The possibility of fencing lock areas on the Trent Canal has this town's Chamber of Commerce seeking a key to the controversy.

Chamber president Ian Darling has sent a letter of inquiry to Transport Minister Paul Hellyer seeking details on the proposal which has aroused reaction, particularly from fishermen here.

Reports have circulated in recent months that Department of Transport officials were considering erection of fences along the 240 - mile Trent waterway.

DOT spokesmen say complete public restriction at dams and lock - operating areas is being considered but no definite steps have yet been taken.

Mr. Darling's letter asks if this would "mean there would be no trespassing on the dams or on the locks property and would this restrict the fishing or other recreational activities that are commonly carried out on this property."

The letter goes on: "If this is true, and will completely restrict these activities, we are to making the property off limits, I wish to enter a protest."

The chamber president said he was speaking on behalf, not only of its members, but for American and Canadian fishermen who converge on the area in summer.

"It seems to me," Mr. Darling tells the minister, "there has not been an unusual amount of drownings on this system where the fences would be placed."

The DOT reports it is considering fencing measures as a public safeguard.

Lifeline Volunteers Given Counseling

The first of a series of monthly training meetings for volunteers answering the lifeline telephone was held Monday evening at Holloway Street United Church.

In order to further their training for the 24-hour telephone answering service which Lifeline provides, the group was addressed by Douglas Mitchell of Allison Services, who spoke on budget counseling. From his training and experience in helping those with debts, he gave the volunteers valuable insight in how to counsel people who might call the Lifeline number. He outlined the main reasons for falling into debt, the various legal actions which can be taken by creditors and debtors, and the type of counsel to give those who are in desperate financial circumstances.

An announcement was made of a new training course for telephone counsellors which will begin Nov. 8, at 8 p.m. at Holloway Street United Church. Those interested may register by calling the Lifeline number 962-4111.

District Cancer Society Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Quinte-Thousand Island District of the Canadian Cancer Society was held at Holiday Inn, in Kingston, recently last urday last. Representatives attended from the five district Units centred at Brockville, Trenton, as well as from var-Kingston, Belleville, Picton and ious branches throughout the district.

The meeting took the form of a workshop under the direction of Mr. Lennox Babcock, of Brockville, district executive division chairman, assisted by Ronald Black, of Prescott, and R. J. Good of Kingston.

Highlight of the service to patients' report given by Mrs. L. Cole, of Kingston, was the fact that 372 patients received assistance in the Quinte-Thousand Island District from 426 volunteer workers. Almost 54,000 dressings were supplied to 107 patients. Thirty-three drivers transported 94 patients to and from hospitals and cancer clinics totalling over 3,000 miles. All of these services, together with the supply of pain killing drugs (as prescribed by the patient's own physician), house-keeping services, supply of other medications, colostomy bags, and other items are provided free of charge to the patients.

The publicity chairman, Ronald Black, of Prescott, referred to the annual television series of programs presented by district doctors on CKWS-TV, under the direction of Dr. Ronald Burr, in April, 1967. It was announced by Dr. Burr that the television series will again be presented in 1968.

S/L Clifford Christian informed the meeting that for the second consecutive year the Quinte-Thousand Island District was the first district in Ontario to reach its objective in the Society's annual campaign for funds. At the end of the fiscal year Ontario Division had raised a total of $2,733,963.43, being 100.4% over its objective for 1967. Quinte-Thousand Island District exceeded its objective by 17.4% ,raising a total of $80,703.05. However it was pointed out by S/L Christian that the financial needs of the Society to maintain its ever-expanding research program, its service to patients and its educational program, continues to increase and our 1968 Campaign will present another formidable challenge when it will be necessary for Quinte-Thousand Island District to reach an objective of $100,000. "The people of this district have always recognized the urgent needs of the Canadian Cancer Society in its never-ending fight against cancer" said Mr. Christian, "and we look forward with confidence to our financial appeal in April next."

The meeting was favored at luncheon with an address by Mrs. Margaret Angus, of Kingston, chairman of the Kingston centennial committee, who gave an interesting and informative review of the history of the Kingston General Hospital, and invited all present to an Open House at the Kingston Hospital to be held on November 19th when displays will be shown depicting the history of the hospital from its founding in 1828.

Mrs. Angus was introduced by Dr. R. C. Burr, and the appreciation of the audience was expressed by Mr. James Aston, of Belleville.

Another highlight of the meeting was the award of a certificate of merit for outstanding service to the Canadian Cancer Society, given by Ontario Division to the Kingston Unit of the Canadian Cancer Foundation. The presentation was made by Edward E. Follwell, Q.C., the district president, and accepted on behalf of the Kingston Clinic by Miss Helen Hughes, R.N.

STUART — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather Edward Stuart who passed away one year ago today, Nov. 2 1966. He left us quietly, his thoughts unspoken
But left us a memory we are proud to own,
He treasure him Lord in your garden of rest,
For when on earth that was one of the best.
—Lovingly remembered by Gail and Harold, Clint, grandchildren Judith and Susan Brown.

STUART — In loving memory of my dear husband, Edward, who passed away Nov. 2 1961.
I still love when I wake that morn.
The sorrow the day would bring.
The tears that sudden the day starts,
To part with one I loved so dear,
Sometimes it's hard to understand,
Why some things have to be,
In His wisdom, God has planned,
His saddest will for me.
—Lovingly remembered by Shan, Vivian and family.

BUCK — In loving memory of my dear wife, Ruth, who passed away Nov. 3 1961.

Tractor Careens Into House

TWEED — Two families had an alarmed - filled awakening early today as a careened tractor — loaded with 18 tons of steel — crashed through a frame house on the southern outskirts of the village.

The residents escaped injury but police said the house was jarred from its foundation alignment and estimated damage at $3,000.

Asleep at the time were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rogers, their sons Kenny, 6 and Stephen, 8, and neighboring tenants Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bilsoff.

Police said the tractor — bound from Burlington to Ottawa with a load of roofing steel — veered across a curve on Highway 37 after its linking equipment snapped away from the tractor.

It crashed into the front of the residence and rammed through a living-room wall.

A mobile crane was sent from Belleville to extricate the vehicle.

The home was owned by Stanford Wilson, operator of the nearby Park Place Motel.

Submarine Acquired

HALIFAX (CP) — HMCS Ocean days, commissioned June 23, is the ninth submarine to be operated by Canada. New Belleville Public School Library Proves Pupils Enthusiastic Over Books

The pupils at the Sir Winston Churchill Public School in the city's east side have a first in Belleville and possibly in the entire Bay of Quinte district.

They have the advantages of the first full time public school library in the Belleville public schools system.

The new library with approximately $2,500 worth of books but still without proper library furniture, went into operation this week. Mrs. L. Macklem is the full time school librarian.

But lack of the soon expected library furniture hasn't dampened the enthusiasm of pupils who already are making good use of the books and facilities for classroom studies.

The library book shelves offer a wide range of topics calculated to capture the interest of youthful readers.

The book topics range from exploration to animal and bird life — all geared toward assisting the student in his classroom work.

For instance there are books on the ancient Vikings, who if legends are correct, were the first European to reach North American shores, centuries before Christopher Columbus made the trip in 1492.

The books are all profusely illustrated with "pictures on every page."

All school classes — Grade 1 to 6 at Sir Winston Churchill School — have regular group sessions at the library. But also class members are encouraged to do their own research for class studies and to use the library as a source room.

Daily newspapers and magazines will also be on file at the library.

Schools administrator Lawrence Kells says the same complement of books has been distributed to school where they are placed in individual classrooms.

"The books are already available but opening of full time libraries in the schools will depend on the availability of qualified staff," said Mr. Kells.

However, a second school library is now being set up at Queen Victoria School and is expected to be ready for opening before November.

When the Queen Victoria School library is opened, Mrs. Macklem will divide her time between there and Sir Winston Churchill School.

Full Time School Library Opens

Since Monday of this week, pupils of Sir Winston Churchill Public School have been enjoying the facilities of a full time school library.

School Librarian, Mrs. L. Macklem helps students with book exchanges.

Annexation Goes to OMB for Decision

Decision on a long standing dispute, between the township of Hallowell and the town of Picton, over the annexation of 770 acres of township land, is in the hands of the Ontario Municipal Board.

Hearings closed Tuesday on the three and one - half year argument and the OMB are expected to arrive at a decision in the next few months.

The town claims it needs the additional land for expansion purposes while Hallowell Twp. calls the annexation "an assessment grab". So far the dispute has cost both sides several thousands of dollars.

The proposed annexation would double the size of Picton and would add an additional $2,000,000 in assessment.

In March 1965 the town voted 32,000 to start proceedings toward the annexation of 3,000 acres of the township's land. Following the discussion, on a survey of town boundaries, Picton council decided to apply to the OMB for permission to annex the 3,000 acre area.

Hallowell by this time had hired Belleville lawyer Ronald Cass to negotiate with the town.

Then in October of 1965 Picton's estimate of land required was lowered to 1,500 acres.

The annexation area was further reduced by the town in February, 1966. On the advice of their planning consultant, J. R. Bousfield, town officials reduced their land requirement estimate to 1,000 acres.

During a meeting of the two councils in March of 1966, a year after the dispute got underway, in a spirit of what was called ot that time "mutually suspicious harmony". Hallowell asked more time to consider the proposal.

A major factor in the negotiations has been the "Fruit Growers Co-operative." Both municipalities wanted the assessment. In April town solicitor Reginald Nourse was authorized to start annexation proceedings to obtain the additional 770 acres.

Following further meetings between the two groups of Hallowell township on May 3, 1966, formally advised Picton they could not accept the proposed annexation. The town reacted by denying sewer lines into the township.

The Fruit Growers Co-operative again became an issue when, on June 8, 1966, Hallowell offered to accept the proposal provided they could retain the fruit plant assessment.

The offer was turned down by the town and OMB hearings before chairman H. A. Roberts and W. H. Shrives started in September of 1966.

During the hearings Picton solicitor Reginald Nourse claimed the boundaries of the town had not been changed since 1887 and that further town growth is restricted by unsuitable topography in the present vacant lands.

Hallowell representative, Ronald Cass said the town misplaced 357 acres of usable land area in its planning surveys.

Between September 1966 and the final hearing Tuesday the two boards met several times to hear witnesses. Planning consultants for the two municipalities followed on the annexation issue.

Mr. Nourse says the town asks, "what it she needs and no more than she can handle". He claims Picton lacks suitable land for residential, commercial and industrial growth.

He pointed to the fact that building permits had dropped off since 1963 and showed a corresponding increase in Hallowell permits.

Mr. Cass charged that Picton's planning witnesses were not long reasonable in their population growth estimates. "In the 1960's population actually decreased in Picton rather than increased," he said.

He claimed the evidence presented by Andrew Jarvis, Picton street and water chairman, on the town's present sewer capacity, is contradicted by Ontario Water Resources Commission figures.

"The lack of development in two existing sub-divisions and an uncertain growth factor would not support a decision to allow the annexation," the Hallowell representative said.

In his final argument Mr. Nourse said Picton wants to be in a position to attract new development." Picton has all the earmarks of a sound financial community," he said.

During the three-and-one-half-year battle relations between the two municipalities have been strained to the point where it becomes difficult to arrive at decisions on other issues.

Officials from both sides feel the situation will improve — no matter who wins the decision.

As far as Picton is concerned residents both for and against the proposal, alternately term the dispute "the salvation of the town" and "a waste of money." Most Hallowell taxpayers call the annexation "an assessment grab."

Both sides expect to hear from the OMB within three or four months.

Council Will Seek Opinion On Law Enforcement in Town

DESERONTO—Town council here will seek public opinion on law enforcement here Monday night.

The issue centres on whether a local police force will be replaced by Provincial Police operating from Belleville.

The question becomes a public concern Nov. 8 when town police chief Lynn Thomlison — head of the two-man local department — resigned his post and joined the Napanee local force.

Earlier last month Constable Garry Riley resigned to return to his hometown, Renfrew.

Mayor Gerald Izzet said today he is hopeful Deseronto citizens will express their opinions at Monday's regular council meeting where cost-benefit factors of both enforcement systems will be discussed.

"For the present, the provincial police will be looking after our needs," said the mayor. "But this is on a temporary basis."

However, he added, it was "possible our council might want to continue with the provincial police — but this will be discussed at the meeting."

Separatist MP

Robert Thompson, former Social Credit leader, is keeping a sharp eye these days on any situation that might be construed as a threat to the integrity of the State.

It was Mr. Thompson who drew attention to shortwave broadcasts from Havana inciting Quebec separatists and Canadian Indians to revolt.

Cuban officials have denied such broadcasts have been made, but this is only to be expected. Covering up is one of the arts of politics — and if you have to be less than truthful in the process, well, Fidel Castro's regime is as expert at it as any.

Mr. Thompson meanwhile has revealed that four members of the Cuban embassy in Ottawa have been expelled. Why the information comes from Mr. Thompson and not the Department of External Affairs is puzzling but nonetheless significant. As well as selling arms and ammunition to separatists, the Cubans are said to have distributed to university students copies of the late Che Guevara's book on guerrilla warfare.

Now Mr. Thompson has turned his guns on Quebec separatist MP Gilles Gregoire. He told the Commons that the Independent member for Lapointe is in France raising money for a cause whose object is "the destruction of Canada."

More to the point, Mr. Thompson labelled Mr. Gregoire's activities as "seditious."

To this Prime Minister Pearson could summon no more than the comment that the Quebec MP's conduct seemed "rather unusual so far as the conduct of a member of this House is concerned." And so it is. Mr. Gregoire is lucky he lives in a democratic country. Under any other political system he would not be free for long to advocate the political disintegration of his native land.

Youthful Humorists

Intentional or not, some good tongue-in-cheek humor is displayed by the young people around hallowe'en.

If such a blank as "We hate the world . . . We hate people . . . We hate cops . . . Yes Yes," chalked on the glass entrance of a supermarket is typical of the modern teenager's thinking, some of its inherent rebelliousness is removed when one reads on further.

Yes, in red letters, alongside the white chalked inscription, the legend read: "Hallo-we'en Howl!"

And here at the front of our own building there must have been something of a "love-in," as neat hands penned warm-hearted sentiments to one or two of the young men whose voices carry over the air waves into local homes.

And what about this gem, scrawled on a wall on Bridge Street? Happily, it suggests a mind that dwells perhaps on other matters besides LSD, marijuana and just being in the groove, chasing along with the herd.

It read: "Preserve the memory of Richard III!" Ah yes . . . Think of such a man, King of England for two years until his death in 1485, and instantly one is made aware of the great panoramas of history that swirl into the lives of Anglo-Saxon forebears, and emerged in our own day in the richness of the Canadian scene. Yes, why not preserve the memory of Richard III? As the origins of hallowe'en are lost in antiquity, so too does that legendary day march hand-in-hand with history.

A Raw Deal

Just as the British Press in the early days of Expo underestimated the great exhibition, so Canada tends to get a raw deal overseas as a country to be reckoned with in other spheres — in industry, the Arts and yes, in the world of high fashion.

Canadian fashion designers will want to correct a recent erroneous impression conveyed by a group of Frenchwomen on a visit to London, England. Their trip, sponsored by the French women's magazine Elle, took the visitors to a new boutique opened recently by Selfridge's. Representatives of the 45,000-member Club Elle, the ladies take cooking, bridge and hairdressing lessons together, as well as trips like this one to London.

Last summer they were in Canada. "And what on earth," they were asked by a snooty British newsman, "would a chic French woman find to bring in Canada?"

And this was the reply of one Madame Revon: "Junk — genuine Indian-beaded handbags, cowboy hats. The French are crazy about cowboys and Indians."

Perhaps the much-travelled members of the Club Elle were so busy travelling around the "true north strong and free," searching for cowboys and Indians, they had no time to see anything of Montreal or Toronto. In these cities there are any number of people in all spheres of the creative Arts, and some have won international acclaim.

Post-Centennial Hangover Descends on Taxpayer

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The last was the loudest.

It was No. 60 in the long Centennial spectacular of Pomp and Circumstance on Parliament Hill.

And the solid sandstone Centre Block and Peace Tower were rocking to the wild tribal beat of the big brass, tom - toms and wooden drums pounding out the Congolese National Anthem — which is something to hear if your head stopped ringing long enough for you to listen.

A platoon of Zulus opened the "do" indoors, and as the first of 19 cannon whoomped from Nepean Point (and scrape the 21 it's the Canal bordering Parliament Hill, the great Canadian Guards Band of 60 pieces shattered the quiet of the late Parliamentary afternoon with all their glorious march - time brazz and the whomp-whomp-whomp of wood on jungle drums, too.

Scooting Senators, dosing MPs and day - dreaming newsmen, all lazing the last few minutes before the six o'clock bell sounded the day's Parliamentary adjournment, nearly went through the green-coppered roof with this musical explosion.

Down there in the arching Hall of Fame where all the wild action was, the now-plumpish Prime Minister Pearson stood smiling enigmatically, contemplating with understandable relief this last of 60 State receptions, and the State bunceons and State dinners that went with them.

The pounds they piled on his athletic frame he has not been quite able to remove for all his lively singles on the Rideau Hall tennis courts with Governor General Michener these past hot Summer and warm Fall afternoons.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin who took his turn hosting these champagne-and-bubbly Char-and-Baked-Alaska feasts did better at keeping his waistline under control.

But it was not easy. It meant steam-bathing on a three-times-a day schedule around three of the Capital's finer pools, with a before-breakfast plunge at the Champlain Towers, a noontide dip at the new Skyline Hotel, and a late afternoon flip-and-floator at the Chateau Laurier.

So there was the now rather chubby-ish Prime Minister smiling in anticipation of getting back in a cold roast beef (rare) sandwich on brown and coffee (black) at noon instead of the Royal - Canadian - Banquet-Works.

And there, glistening blackly, while fresh steaming out of a face-of-midnight, was the Honorable Jean-Theodore Umba de Lutete, Congolese vice-minister of foreign affairs.

And there were the guns banging, the great brass thumping and oom-pah-pahing, and the jungle drums throbbing.

It was a smashingly ear-shattering climax to the fantastic take-over of the National Capital and Parliament Hill by a six-months succession of kings, queens, presidents, prime ministers, potentates, shahs, ambassadors extraordinaire and ministers plenipotentiary, all with their retinues and entourages of spear - carriers and drum-beaters.

Just off The Hill now, in an old trust company building, the Government's Heroes-of-Protocol who shepherded these VIPs, many of them at last-count-were paid coast-to-coast tours, are packing it up in the State Visits and Ceremonies Division of the Prime Minister's office.

They are sweeping up the old programs, the menus, the speeches - of - welcome, while the flags — dozens for every one of the 60 countries of the VIP guest-visitors — the bunting, the shields, the arms and the tons of decorations are being moth-balled by the Public Works Department.

Then it was Auld Lang Syne out at Rideau Hall when the collection of old soldiers, bureaucrats, Civil Service rankers and ex-newspapermen hired at salaries they never dreamed of in their newsroom days, were given a drink, a scroll and a word from the Governor - General about what splendid chaps they had been in giving Ottawa for the greater glorifications of such VIPs as France's President de Gaulle and Division of the Prime Minister's office.

And let's not forget you — yes, you — were the host, or at least the lucky guy whose great good fortune it is to pay the bill — now standing at an interim $2,342,000, which, in the way the hospitality was an lavishly displayed, could turn out to be little more than a token down payment when all the accounts are in.

Remembrance Day

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I am writing with regard to the annual Poppy Day sale that will take place this weekend.

The sale of poppies will get under way at 4 p.m. Friday, Nov. 3 and will continue until 9 p.m., and on Saturday morning, November 4 from 8.30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Veterans of Branch 20, Royal Canadian Legion, The Phay Wills Branch 387 (ex-service women) Royal Canadian Legion; the Duke of Edinburgh branch Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association, Wing 418 Royal Canadian Air Force, the ladies' auxiliaries of the associations, assisted by the Air Cadets of 606 Squadron, Royal Canadian Air Cadets, will ask citizens for support in the purchase of poppies.

The "Flowers of Remembrance." The sales of wreaths and emblems have again been very good, and have been sold to fraternal societies, industry business firms, service clubs, educational institutions, government offices, veterans organizations, unions, local and district citizens and many others.

The committee is very grateful to people of Belleville for their support and request that the wreaths and emblems be taken from their shipping cartons and prominently displayed. There will be a pick up of wreaths a day or two prior to Nov. 11 (Remembrance Day). They will be taken to the Armouries and then to the cenotaph. The committee would prefer the purchaser of a wreath to place it on the Cenotaph.

All poppies and wreaths are made at Ver-Cruz Industries located on the grounds of Sunnybrook hospital, Toronto, and are made by disabled veterans.

The Parade will fall in at the Armouries at 10.15 a.m. and will move off to the cenotaph at 10.30 a.m.

Veterans are requested to wear blazers, medals and berets. Several bands are scheduled to participate in the parade. All veterans' organizations, unattached veterans, ladies' auxiliaries, service clubs, fraternal societies, military units, scouts, sea cadets, air cadets and any other organization are invited to attend with a special invitation to the Mayor and city council, the Belleville Police Department and the Belleville fire department. Let us all turn out and make this the largest parade to the Cenotaph, when we will pay tribute to the 104,000 Canadians who paid the supreme sacrifice, and also to the boys who paid the supreme sacrifice from Belleville in World War 1, and total 137, and the 111 Belleville boys who gave their lives in the 1939-45 war making a total of 248.

The schools of Belleville have not been forgotten. The committee has delivered more than 12,000 poppies to the public schools, separate schools, secondary schools and colleges, the Ontario School for the Deaf and the Children's retarded school.

As this is our Centennial Year, wear a poppy on "Remembrance Day."

Cunard Ends Its Service To Canada

Peterborough Examiner

After 127 years, Cunard Steam-Ship Co. Ltd., is ending its Canadian passenger service. The shipping line was founded by Samuel Cunard of Halifax, Nova Scotia with two other British firms to carry out the British government's proposal to substitute steam vessels for sailing vessels. The company was formed after Cunard won the contract for carrying of mails by steamship from Britain to Canada and the United States. The service was inaugurated on July 4, 1840.

Following the initial success of the steamship for trans-Atlantic crossing the company made many other developments. Along with Canadian Pacific, Cunard handled thousands of immigrants to Canada. Cunard, of course, did not restrict itself to the North Atlantic area. It played a large role in the development of other Commonwealth countries such as Australia and New Zealand and the ex-member, South Africa.

In recent years the urs of air travel has taken a heavy toll of steamship lines and Cunard has been one of the major sufferers. There was an attempt at diversifying the company by having its own airline service but this has fallen though. The recent sale of the Queen Mary and the launching of the Queen Elizabeth 11 have again brought the company into the limelight. There has been talk that the new ship will recapture some of the glory which the line knew during its hey-day.

Is There An Answer To War?

Richard Needham in The Globe and Mail)

Here is another talking point, William James, the great American philosopher, said: "What we now need to find out in the social realm is the moral equivalent of war: something heroic that will work for peace in a universally as war does, and yet will be as compatible with their spiritual ideals as war has proved itself to be incompatible."

Agreed; and especially in the age of the hydrogen bomb. But I think we also need to find the moral equivalent of materialism — the lifelong struggle of most people to make more and more money to buy more and more junk. A good many of the young are seeking such an alternative.

Lincoln Knew How To Say It

Ottawa Journal

Lincoln had a way of saying things directly and yet humanly. But the real distinction of his sayings was that they were worth saying.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce news letter passes the words of Lincoln's along to us today—resisting the temptation to add any comments of its own. So will we.

"You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift. You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong. You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich. You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money. You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn.

"You cannot build character and courage by taking away men's initiative and independence. You cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could do for themselves."

Peace Still Remote

South Vietnam's New Regime Unlikely to Improve Hanoi

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new president of South Vietnam, Nguyen Van Thieu, who took the oath of office today, came with a big agreement by Hanoi to talk with him would mean, in effect, recognition of his newly-elected government.

Thieu will be in good company, since all the proposals of President Johnson, State Secretary Dean Rusk and others have been repudiated, or ignored. Johnson made his last bid in a speech Sept. 29.

North Vietnam's official newspaper, Nhan Dan, called U.S. offers of peace talks and bombing pauses "sheer deceptions." The newspaper referred to the Communist terms for peace in Vietnam. They include an unconditional halt to U.S. bombing of the North. But neither Johnson nor Thieu ever has proposed such that did not have some condition attached.

Johnson, for instance, offered to stop the bombing if doing so would lead to "productive discussions" and if there was a willingness on the other side to begin negotiations in good faith.

And Thieu said he would propose a bombing pause in return for some solid reciprocal move by North Vietnam. But today he simply said he would propose peace talks but did not mention a bombing pause. But trying to get the North Vietnamese to talk peace except on their terms is such old hat that the big interest is in Thieu and his new government.

The United States had pushed the idea of a new government democratically elected—a president and a general assembly made up of House and Senate—to get South Vietnam on the road to the modern world.

The elections were held in September. And Thieu at his inaugural outlined a general program to build democratic institutions and begin social reform.

But he is undertaking to put in motion a decent government in a country which is unfamiliar with democratic practices and has been soaked in corruption.

In order to do a real job he'd have to change a way of life. Oh he can make a big improvement is not starting out under ideal circumstances, even if there wasn't the war.

There has been ill-will between him and his vice-president, Nguyen Cao Ky, who was the big man, under the American wing, until the elections came along and he was forced to play second-fiddle to Thieu.

In addition to that, South Vietnam does not have anything so peaceful, orderly or healthy as a two-party system.

In both House and Senate, with which he must deal, there is a multiplicity of parties.

Thieu's Senate office not only without a clear majority loyal to him in both houses but without knowing where the members—60 in the Senate, 137 in the House—stand on the issues.

Under Vietnam's new constitution Thieu starts out with a large measure of power. That means it may take a while before the House or Senate can exert much influence.

Still, he has less power than the U.S. president who can veto a measure passed by his House of Representatives and Senate and see the veto stand unless both houses can muster a two-thirds vote to override him.

If Thieu tries a veto, he can be overridden by a simple majority vote in each house of the assembly. At this moment it doesn't appear to be a safe bet for anyone to predict flatly how long this government will last.

For about 80 years they were under French colonial-control. Then from 1954 until the subjugation in 1963 they were under the thumb of a dictator, President Ngo Dinh Diem, and since then under a succession of military bosses.

Forest Fires in BC--Losses Total $30 Million in Province

VANCOUVER (CP)—It was a tough and extremely expensive forest fire season in British Columbia. Losses will probably run as high as $30,000,000.

The latest estimate came from the Council of Forest Industries of B.C., which represents every significant forest products company in the province.

In its latest newsletter, the council said the cost will be "a minimum of $24,900,000.

The figure doesn't include value of the timber destroyed, loss of wages by men who formed the fire lines or loss of tourist revenue because of recreational forest closures.

Five persons lost their lives in water bomber and spotter plane crashes during the season.

The council's figure is made up of the fire-fighting cost and wage and log production losses in the Vancouver forest district, it is only one of five, and was by no means the hardest hit.

By mid-September, every part of the province had fires burning.

By Sept. 29, approximately 200,000 acres of timberland had been burned by about 3,190 fires.

The B.C. forest service is still calculating the amount of merchantable timber which can be recovered. In the past, similar amounts of acreage burned over caused damage from $1,300,000 to $3,700,000.

A breakdown of the council's estimate shows:

—A wage loss by 3,000 workers in the Vancouver district of $1,870,000.

—A log production loss in the same district of $18,500,000.

—Fire-fighting costs through B.C. of $6,570,000.

That was to Sept. 29. Estimates to the time the season sizzled out under heavy rains on Friday, Oct. 13, have not yet been made.

Nor has the wage loss by men who were conscripted into the fire lines at $1.25 an hour. There were 3,000 of them during July and August, aided by 23 helicopters, 12 transport planes, nine patrol aircraft and 13 water bombers.

The Kamloops and Nelson districts which accounted for 63 per cent of the fires, including the biggest of the season—a 52,000-acre monster near Shuswap Lake in the Okanagan—and 4,600,000 in fire-fighting costs.

Cost of fighting the fires was the highest on record.

This was primarily because of the use of modern and expensive firefighting equipment and techniques, such as waterbombing.

In the last 10 years, the average cost of fighting fires has been $1,800,000. This year, it was $6,570,000.

Invested as Serving Brother

A local St. John Ambulance Instructor, Mr. John R. Sproule, 10 Valleyview Crescent, has been honored by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II with admittance to the Order of St. John as a Serving Brother.

The honor was conferred at Government House, last Thursday afternoon, Oct. 26, by His Excellency Governor General Roland Michener.

Mr. Sproule, an employee of Northern Electric in Belleville, has been in first aid work for about 13 years. He is a member of 399 Quinte Ambulance Division and an instructor with the St. John Ambulance Brigade. He is one of three instructors in first aid at Northern.

Following Thursday's investiture, Mr. and Mrs. Sproule were presented to Their Excellencies, Governor General and Mrs. Michener. Later the Belleville couple visited with friends from Western Canada at a reception held in the Tent Room at Government House.

JACK SPROULE

Others honored during Thursday's investiture included Mrs. Michener, who was made a Dame of Grace; Dr. Wilder Penfield, famous brain surgeon and author, made Knight of Grace and the Hon. W. A. C. Bennett, Premier of British Columbia, who received the same honor.

While in Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Sproule were guests at the Chateau Laurier Hotel.

Biggest Discrepancies Seen At Advance Polls Count Shows

New Democratic Party candidate Ian Reilly was credited with 190 votes never cast at advance polls during the Ontario election in Quinte riding, the official count shows.

The error probably arose from communications difficulties election night — Oct. 17 — between the polls and the riding returning office in Belleville, says returning officer Harry Morrow.

"Extra telephone lines installed in the office failed to function properly and caused a back-up of poll returns," he said.

The official count, tallied by Mr. Morrow from ballot boxes returned by the riding's 132 polls, today revealed these election-night party standings: Joss (Lib) 7,319, Potter (Pc) 11,410, Reilly (NDP) 3,117.

The count gave the Liberal and (victorious) Conservative candidates a marginal increase over the returns Mr. Morrow posted election night.

The changes were caused by fractional differences at several polls between the Oct. 17 total and the official count.

Biggest discrepancies occurred at advance polls in Trenton and Belleville.

In Belleville, Mr. Reilly earlier was given 115 votes which the official count has reduced to 17. The recount of the Trenton advance poll cut the NDP total from 107 to 16.

In all, said the returning officer, the official count lowered the NDP total 242 votes.

The count, which took two days, revealed 21,846 of 29,178 eligible voters trekked to the polls — a 75 per cent turnout.

Meantime, in Hastings riding where incumbent Conservative Clarke Rollins defeated Liberal and NDP candidates, the poll returns are now being recounted.

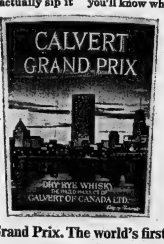
How Calvert found a new way to make rye incredibly smooth.



The name of the rye is Grand Prix. We made it incredibly smooth by making it dry.

And we made it dry by discovering a new way to make rye without any cloying sweetness.

This makes Grand Prix a full-bodied rye so smooth you can actually sip it straight. And like it.

Nobody ever made a rye as smooth as Grand Prix before because nobody ever knew how. It took Calvert ten years to do it, and naturally our Master Blender is pretty proud of it.

But try it yourself. In ten seconds you'll know why he's so proud.

Calvert Grand Prix. The world's first dry rye.

Last-minute Adjustment

Fashions to Sew Presented By Local Sorority Groups

The simple shift stands revealed as a complicating factor in the modern fashion world.

Since it made its first appearances on designers' runways it has revitalized the pattern industry, delighted high school classes, sold millions of yards of piece goods and revived the ancient hobby of home dressmaking.

To illustrate the little giant's effect the fashion scene, five chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority last night presented Fashions to Sew, sponsored by Simplicity Pattern Company. From St. Michael's Auditorium Miss Lynda Cole, Simplicity's commentator, revealed a 40 per cent increase in the number of dress patterns sold this year. The simple-to-sew shift was responsible for leading women back to their sewing machines and the high price of ready-to-wear fashions added an extra boost.

The ensembles seen last night pointed out the differences between home-made and hand-crafted fashions. Coordinated colors, tricks with trims, matched jacket linings and blouses were part of the scene, along with full lining to add body and prevent wrinkling. Although all the styles were pushed in line, many were suited to mature women and all gained their glamor from bold colors and good cut.

Out front in the fall fashion spectrum are hot pink and navy blue, turquoise and plum and a rusty spice shade called pumpkin. All that glitters is silver lame, with gold sparkling in abstract or geometric designs as close runner up. The vanished waistline is due to stage a reappearance come spring, and the belt's popularity this fall is a harbinger of the fact.

"Short jacket and full skirts will be the vogue by spring," Miss Cole predicted. "Winter favorites are front separating zippers on dresses and jackets, quilted fabrics and leather."

Fabric manufacturers have come to the aid of the home sewer with cotton modcess that cuts and sews and cleans like woven fabric and looks a dead ringer for the real thing. Glittering kidskin lame is another fabric miracle.

As a further boon to the home craftsman, pattern companies are introducing a new sizing scale this month. From now on pattern sizes will conform with ready-to-wear manufacturers' sizing. Until now, the woman who took a size 12 ready-to-wear dress had to buy a size 14 pattern to get the same fitting.

"In the pattern marked with a red "new sizing" label a woman should choose one size smaller that she used to purchase," Miss Cole warned. "For instance, if you now sew your clothes from a size 14 pattern, you will take a 12 in new sizing. The change isn't designed to boost your ego; it was made in response to customers' complaints about size confusion."

She advised sewers to check their measurements with those on the pattern envelope. In some size ranges the measurements have been altered slightly with a half inch added at the bust and an inch subtracted from the waist.

The models, all Sorority members or their daughters, paraded before a stage setting designed by McIntosh Brothers' Stores. Mrs. Jessie White was mistress of ceremonies for the two showings during the evening and the conveners, Mrs. William Stead, drew the lucky tickets for the door prizes.

Winners were Mrs. L. Halpin, Mrs. R. Vaughn, Grace Schultz, Margaret Tyerman, Lynda L. Dickson, Mrs. Mae Smith, Mrs. Robert Work and Mrs. Don Whalen.

In Look

The short jacket with zippered closing and gathered skirt, made in pumpkin corduroy, is the newest fashion fad, Miss Lynda Cole, (right), Simplicity's commentator, reported.

Medical Wives Meet

The monthly meeting of the Medical Wives was held Oct. 27 at the home of Mrs. P. Loder.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. Empson and a nominating committee was appointed.

Mrs. S. Wonnacott, a member of the Board of Governors for Loyalist College spoke on the role the College plays in the lives of a large segment of our society. Today the patterns of education are changing and formal education is more in demand now than ever before.

The air-conditioned Ambassador is a great success...and that's our problem. We had to build some without it.

You've caught us by surprise. We never figured that so many people would respond so quickly to the idea of air conditioning at no extra cost. Sure, it makes life just wonderful in the summer and sure it makes the heating system that much more efficient . . . but to get swamped with orders?

As a result, we couldn't get air conditioners fast enough. And we couldn't shut down the assembly line. So, as much as we didn't like the idea, we had to build about 1200 Ambassadors without air conditioning.

Our dealers have orders to sell these cars as quickly as possible and at sizeable discounts! We have solved the shortage so the Ambassadors we build from now on, and the Ambassadors you'll see in showrooms from now on, will have air conditioning at no extra cost.

If you feel you can put up with the heat for a little longer for the sake of an exceptional deal, see your nearby American Motors/Rambler dealer. But don't put it off. The discounts are substantial, so these cars will be sold quickly.

Rewards Great for Those in Welfare Field

Dear Doris: Many thanks for thinking of me. I am writing to McMaster U. at once for information on the correspondence course, "Understanding Human Behavior."

Life these days to me is one long lesson, Doris. In courage, fortitude, kindness, honesty, gratitude, humor; and my teachers are my pensioners!

The rewards are great indeed for me.

So, you see, any course I could take, to help me to help them, I am eager to have. — Visitor for Welfare Department.

Dear Visitor: I thought of you and your work the minute I heard of the McMaster course; so I sent you that note. You devote yourself tirelessly to making life happier for your elderly charges; both through counselling and through meeting material needs.

Getting greater insight into what makes people tick means your help can be far more effective. Hope you will enjoy every minute of the course.

Dear Doris: My parents give me everything I want, as they are quite wealthy. I just can't tell when someone loves me. My parents and relatives all say they love me, but I feel that none of them do. —Cannot Tell When Loved

Dear Cannot: What looks like wealth to you is doubtless earned the hard way. You see the results, and not the deep love and pride in you; and think that it comes easy.

It could be that Mom and Dad spend more money than time on you; when you would be grateful for more of their physical presence, for time spent talking to you, with their affection for you expressing itself.

The probable reason for this unloved feeling is your own sense of not being worth it. How could they possibly care about such as you? — you think. Yet real love means acceptance of us just as we are. Relax and enjoy them.

Confidential to Let Down: If your husband had married someone who grew back blue for blow, he might have learned some self-control. And a counsellor may still help you try a little longer to make your marriage work.

But if this means gradually wearing down your sunny personality, as well as raising unhappy children, it is not the right answer.

Confidential to Going Places: Nothing like a trip to foreign soil to re-arrange your values. Don't fail to take along a pocket-size paperback about speaking the language they speak. Even getting familiar with the common phrases, and learning them, can often get you out of a tough spot.

Take twice as much money and half as many clothes as you planned to. The booklet "For the Woman Who Is Going Places" has some useful hints. I'm sending you a copy.

Doris reserves the right to ignore anonymous letters. If you have a legitimate beef, sign your name to your note about it. All names are kept confidential.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Jimmy is fascinated by fires. I have to hide the matches or he might burn the house down. Punishment doesn't seem to have any effect on him."

Try calling Jimmy at every opportunity to light the fireplace, candles or campfire or to help burn the trash. Let him light matches and watch them burn while you are there. Explain that he must not touch them when he is alone.

Many children from 3 to 10 years old seem to be fascinated with matches and fire. Complete prohibition may only increase the fascination.

Ann Landers

Avid Landers' Fan Finds Own Hobby

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you published some letters from women who complained because their husbands were too busy bowling or golf or fast watching sport on TV. You told them they should be thankful the guys weren't out chasing girls.

I live in the Southwest where rodeos and roping are popular. My husband is a roping nut. He would rather rope than eat, and I mean that literally. He hasn't had a meal with his family in three months.

I am an avid Landers' fan, however, and learned from you that it is stupid and useless to nag. So I kept my mouth shut and quietly found a hobby of my own.

My hobby is 5' 11" and he thinks I'm wonderful. I'm not lonely anymore; in fact, I encourage my husband to go roping, and of course he is delighted.

I am not trying to whitewash what I am doing, Ann. I just hope you print this so some of those nuts out there in newspaperland will ask themselves, "Was it my wife who wrote that letter?" — TEXAS OR ARIZONA OR OKLAHOMA CONTENTMENT.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR CON: Of course I know in which of the three states you live in, but I'm not tipping my mitt. Let's let ten guest — all you roping nuts in Texas, Arizona and Florida.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a complaint. It concerns those very small cars. (I call them non-cars.) Every time I think I have a parking space in a lot I discover that a small car is already parked there. Someone should design a gadget that sticks up high so people can see the space is taken. Also, it would help bewildered drivers to locate their non-cars in a parking lot. Thank you. — IRKED.

DEAR IRKED: A great idea! I hope some smart cookie invents it. A pole-like affair, similar to a radio aerial might be appropriate—something with a collapsible flag on the end. (Don't bother about sending Irked and me the royalties, boys, just go ahead and produce it.)

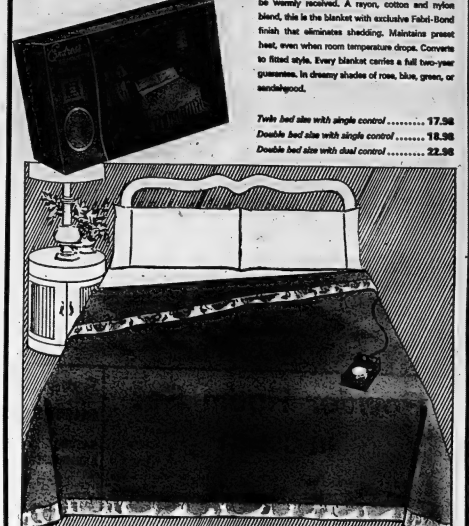
* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the 21-year-old mother of a new baby. She was born nine months and eight days after we were married.

My husband was transferred to this city six months ago when I was a pregnant newly wed. I didn't know anyone here and the first people to call on me were the wives of the men my husband worked with.

This afternoon one of the wives came over with a gift for the baby. She hadn't been in the house 10 minutes when she asked, "Your baby was born very soon after your marriage. Was it planned?" Tell me what happened."

I was embarrassed and shocked and started to stumble around explaining that we wanted a family but not so soon and that I became pregnant on the honeymoon.



After she left I was furious with myself. She had a lot of nerve to ask such a question and I was stupid to have answered. But how does one get off the spot What should I have said? — D.D.D.

DEAR D.D.D.: When a person asks a question about something that is none of his business the correct procedure is as follows: Say: "Will you repeat that?" After the question is repeated say, "I didn't think I heard correctly. It seemed inconceivable that you would ask such an intimate question. I wouldn't dream of discussing such a thing with you. Now, what else shall we talk about?"

Breaded Pork Butt Slices Make Economical Dish

By MARY MOORE

Kay is the name of a lady butcher at a store I patronize habitually. When she saw me approaching the meat counter with my cart she called to me to see their "special" — pork butt slices at 53 cents per pound. I asked her if she knew how most customers cooked them. She answered, "I crumb it. I don't know what others do." So I bought a two-pound package and "crumbed" the slices and served them at our evening meal.

BREADED PORK BUTT SLICES (Serves 4)

3 lbs. pork butt slices (4 slices)
2 eggs
2 tbsp. water
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. MSG (Accent)
⅛ tsp. pepper
1-16 tsp. garlic salt
2½ slices fine day-old bread-crumbs or about ¾ cup fine cracker crumbs)
2 tbsps. butter

(Note to blender owners: I buzzed 2½ half-inch slices frozen white bread in my blender to get lovely fine bread-crumbs.)

Heat oven to 400 deg. Fahr. but while it is still just warm melt the butter in a shallow pan large enough to hold all four slices without overlapping. (You could use your broiler pan.) As soon as butter is melted remove pan from oven and brush butter over bottom.

Beat egg in shallow dish and add the water, salt, MSG, pepper and garlic salt. Mix well. Have crumbs on dinner plate. Dip pork slices in egg mixture then in crumbs on both sides to evenly coat and place in buttered pan. Repeat until all slices are egged and crumbed. Drizzle any remaining egg mixture over top. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. to be-fish browning, about 15 min., then reduce heat to 300 deg. Fahr. for 45 min. or until tender. Do not turn crumbed slices over or you will disturb the crispy crumb topping. Carefully transfer to preheated platter and if desired, garnish with steam-fried sweet red or green pepper strips (see Wed., Oct. 18); or rosy apple rings (see Fri. Oct. 27).

First Centennial Medals Mailed to Recipients

OTTAWA (CP)—The first batch of centennial medals being awarded to 20,000 Canadians for meritorious service to their country was mailed this week.

About 5,000 of the silver medals went out by registered mail, the state secretary's department reported Wednesday. Among the first recipients were MPs, senators and members of the Privy Council.

The first mailing was not confined to any particular area, said a spokesman for the department, which is co-ordinating the nomination, selection and delivery features of the project.

There has been some delay in receiving nominations for the medal from some areas of the country, he said, but it is expected all 20,000 medals will be mailed by the year-end.

Accompanying each medal is a brief government statement advising the recipient that he has been singled out for recognition of meritorious service to the nation.

Nominations were limited to the various levels of government, their agencies, the professions, arts, science, welfare and charitable institutions, national organizations and the like.

New Act Aims at Better Canadian TV Shows

OTTAWA (CP)—Higher-quality Canadian shows are one hoped-for result of the new broadcasting act, State Secretary Judy LaMarsh told the Commons Wednesday.

She said the Canadian Radio Commission, the new broadcasting regulatory body, will be required to impose conditions "which would ensure that the programming of both the CBC and the private broadcasters shall be of high quality, using predominantly Canadian artists."

Miss LaMarsh also couldn't see why more Canadian content should not be injected into commercial messages.

Opening debate on second reading—approval in principle of the long-awaited bill, Miss LaMarsh said the previous requirement of 55 per cent Canadian content from TV stations had not worked out as Parliament had intended.

Aside from some stations spending as little as possible on Canadian shows, Canadian content had become confused with public-interest programming.

Under the public interest concept, "such events as the World Series and Winston Churchill's funeral have been treated as Canadian content while a concert given in New York city by a Canadian artist might not be."

More profitable TV stations would be required to make a greater effort to put on high-quality Canadian shows than non-profitable ones. Licences would set out the requirements for individual stations.

Gordon Fairweather (PC—Royal) said he hoped Miss LaMarsh would accept amendments the opposition would propose on the use of Canadian talent.

One was a recommendation by the Association of Canadian Television and Radio Artists which would allow private stations carrying CBC programming to provide alternate Canadian shows using local talent.

"The list of those artists, writers, actors and other broadcasting professionals who have had to seek employment outside Canada is a veritable honor roll of talent," said the former attorney-general of New Brunswick.

Miss LaMarsh said the broadcasting bill clearly sets out the policy Parliament expects of all broadcasters and of the radio commission.

Expected of the broadcasters will be the promotion of national unity, providing a service that is basically Canadian in content and character, and extending service in English and French from coast to coast.

To give teeth to the commission, the act provides for fines up to $100,000 or prison sentences against offenders in the private sector.

In the case of CBC violations of conditions of license, provision is made for the CRC to submit a report to Parliament.

"If Parliament agrees that the CRC report is justified, it is clear that cases will have been established for the dismissal of those responsible within the corporation."

Another result of the bill could be to force makers of TV sets sold in Canada to meet certain requirements—for instance, sets capable of receiving ultra-high frequency channels as well as the very-high frequencies now in use.

With UHF, another 73 channels could be available for use in Canada.

Mr. Fairweather called for regulations spelling out when the government could order time cleared on both public and private stations for programs it considers in the private interest.

He deplored the provision that made the state secretary the referee when disputes arose between the CBC and CRC.

Robert Prittie (PDP—Burnaby-Richmond) said he didn't want to see a witchhunt started for separatists in the French-language service of the CBC because of broadcasting's mandate for national unity.

The bill enabled the government to say "you are not promoting national unity, you are a separatist and therefore get out."

"There is a possible danger here," he said.

Several Refuse Top CBC Jobs

OTTAWA (CP)—Conservative MP R. G. L. Fairweather said Wednesday night "a good number" of people of exceptional ability" have refused invitations to "operate the CBC."

Speaking on the CBC television program Twenty Million Questions, Mr. Fairweather, MP for the New Brunswick riding of Royal, said he supposes these people have done so because they think there is too much parliamentary interference with the CBC.

State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, appearing later on the same program, acknowledged that the government has found it difficult to fill the posts of CBC president and executive vice - president.

Mr. Fairweather, one of two opposition MPs appearing on the program to discuss the state of broadcasting in Canada, said the government's delay in filling the top CBC offices "is approaching a scandal."

CBC president J. Alphonse Ouimet submitted his resignation to the government more than a year ago but agreed to stay on until new broadcasting legislation has been enacted. Such legislation now is before the House, in a bill presented by Miss LaMarsh Wednesday afternoon for second reading.

Every Philosophy Has Built-in Trap

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

Every so-called "philosophy of life" has its own special built-in trap — consisting of the fact that if you try to live by that philosophy alone, you will inevitably push it to an absurd and dangerously false conclusion.

World War II succeeded in destroying Fascism, but it did by no means destroy fascism, which under other names is stronger than ever—in the world today; World War III may destroy Communism, but it is naive to believe that it could destroy communism — for in the long run, force is always futile against ideas and ideologies.

It is depressing that, on the most "religious" letters I receive from readers are also the most narrow, the most intolerant, and the most self-righteous — three attitudes that should be sharply inconsistent with the genuine religious outlook.

The man who is preoccupied with the question of his virility is the man least able to achieve a mutually satisfying man-woman relationship; as the ultimate case, the Don Juan is perpetually fleeing from his fear of homosexuality.

A few thousand years from now, our descendents may refuse to believe in any theory of evolution holding that they came from the angry and childish primates of the 20th Century.

When a parent says of a child, "He's bright and could do much better if he'd only try," the parent doesn't understand that child very well; indeed, has given up understanding for exhortation.

Most of us live with the comfortable delusion that our bad qualities don't really affect our good qualities — which is like believing that a box of candy isn't adulterated if it's lightly sprinkled with strychnine.

Stanislavski remarked that "the aim of the theatre is to penetrate the soul of the audience" — but what happens to the theatre when the one thing the audience doesn't want is to be penetrated?

Once a doctrine is fully clear to its adherents, it can no longer be fully believed in.

One bit of advice more futile than any other is telling someone how to "relax" — for the art of relaxation cannot be transmitted, it can only be acquired from the inside.

The trouble with the new "situation ethics" is that there is nothing in it to prevent us from getting into situations to which there are no good ethical answers.

Family of Five Spending Power Now $15,000

OTTAWA (CP)—The current income and readily-available cash savings of Canadians have risen by almost $1,000 per capita since the present economic expansion began in 1960.

Personal income after taxes, personal savings deposits in the banks, Canada savings bonds holdings, and bank notes in circulation now amount to $60,-864,000,000, or $2,967 for each of the country's 20,400,000 persons at mid-year.

Seven years ago the figures were $18,082,000,000, or $2,077 per capita.

The grand total represents consumer resources, the spending power that individuals would have if they wanted to put all their cash savings and income after taxes into the market place at one time.

For the statistical family of five, it means consumer resources amounting to $14,835 this year, compared with $10,385 in 1960.

The figures are in the current value of dollars in 1960 and 1967.

In that time, consumer prices have risen 17 per cent, but the family consumer spending power has risen 43 per cent, leaving a marginal gain of 26 per cent.

The gain in consumer spending power in Canada almost exactly parallels experience in the United States. Though comparable incomes and liquid savings there amount to almost $5,000 a person, the increase since the 1960 boom started, after discounting consumer price increases, is 26 per cent.

The figures represent the combined total of personal income after taxes, personal savings in the chartered banks, and Canada Savings Bonds in force along with Canadian dollar notes in circulation.

While there were additional savings easily converted into ready cash in the form of deposits in other institutions, the inclusion of all notes in circulation probably offsets these. There are no readily-available statistics showing how many dollars are salted away in cash, rather than in current circulation.

The growth in liquid family spending power started slowly with the start of the current expansion period, now unprecedented in its longevity. But over the years since 1960 it has averaged 5½ per cent a year and reached eight per cent in 1962 and 1964.

Louis Rasminsky, governor of the Bank of Canada, warned Wednesday against an inflation psychology—a feeling on the part of individuals as well as governments that they can bid up prices and costs with impunity.

He warned, as has Finance Minister Sharp, that unless inflationary pressures are eased, deflationary measures will have to be taken. To restrict demand, the government already is cutting expenditures, and may increase taxes early this winter.

The Bank of Canada governor had warned earlier that the central bank has gone about as far as it can dampening demand by high interest rates. There are practical limits, he said Wednesday, to how high they can go.

"The only effective way to deal with those problems (the continued tendency for costs to rise, and the recent substantial increase in interest rates) is to break any inflationary expectations that may exist by making it clear beyond doubt that inflation will not be accepted in Canada as a way of life," Mr. Rasminsky said.

"The central problem that we are now faced with in Canada is to break into the circle of rising costs and prices, and, as part of this process, to reduce the demands of governments on financial markets."

"It is not easy, and it will require courage and determination on the part of the public authorities and the active co-operation of the public, employers and employees alike.

Reds Outfish Yanks Off New England

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — A streamlined and efficient Soviet trawler fleet now outfishes U.S. rivals off the New England coast.

Huge Soviet catches from Georges Bank have raised fears that the area is being over-exploited. There are demands from the U.S. fishing industry for sharply increased spending on fisheries research.

Georges Bank, 8,500 miles square, is a main habitat of the haddock, the fish species most valuable to the United States.

Seventy per cent of Canada's fish exports go to the U.S.

In 1963, the Soviets caught 82,000 metric tons of haddock in this area, the United States 55,000. The total catch by all nations which fish the bank was the greatest ever, but the U.S. catch was about average for the last 20 years.

Within 10 years, the Russians have overtaken U.S. fish production—doubled their catch to more than 5,000,000 tons in 1965, acquired an 18,000-vessel fleet, and now proposes to add 1,500 new vessels during the next five years.

By contrast, the total U.S. catch has remained static, slightly below 2,000,000 tons, and Harold E. Crowther, director of the U.S. bureau of commercial fisheries, estimates that 90 per cent of the American fleet, 12,000 vessels over five net tons, ought to be replaced because of age.

At present, there are about 60 Soviet vessels on Georges Bank; during 1962-63 there were 300 to 400. The Russian trend is to produce more poundage with fewer and more modern ships.

The Soviet fishing operation is sophisticated.

Large refrigerated trawlers, to 320 feet, have canning and fish meal plants.

Russian factory stern trawlers—almost American vessels still use the earlier method of fishing from the side—have fish processing and dehydration plants. They can catch, freeze, salt or can fish and produce fish meal.

Tropic class factory trawlers —300 feet—have freezing equipment and are capable of long lining, purse seining and other trawling—the three basic methods of catching fish at the surface, at mid-depth and on the bottom. Often, a U.S. vessel requires three weeks to change from one type of fishing to another; a majority cannot be changed at all.

Americans send to Georges Bank a vessel of from 80 to 125 feet; more often wood than steel and more likely built before 1950 than since, with a crew of from eight to 16, and capable of bottom trawling only. It cannot freeze or process, after five or six days on the grounds, must make the 100-plus-mile run back to port.

Russian and U.S. scientists at least are examining this fishery resource co-operatively. Ashore, U.S. and Russian spokesmen are trying to work out an Atlantic fish conservation agreement and a patterned after a similar, successful west coast arrangement between the two nations.

But conservation won't help American fishermen compete with foreign fish imports.

The U.S. now is spending $28,000,000 annually on fisheries research. Based on last year's catch, U.S. catch value of $8,000,000, authorities believe the United States should be spending $100,000,000 a year in this category. They suggest a 10-year program thus financed would aim at: designing new, versatile vessels, heavily automated, to cut production cost; producing gear to find fish faster, and catch them more quickly with less manpower and developing equipment for automatic separation of species, containerized storage, quick unloading and highly automated processing plants.

At present, scientists and economists segregate the industry is hamstrung by tradition, fragmented by geography and diversity of interest, and crippled by feast-and-famine production cycles because the U.S. spends too much time looking for fish and too little time catching them.

Recruiters Protested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Issues ranging from the campus presence of CIA recruiters to the bulldozing of a favorite lounging lawn prompted student protests Wednesday at several U.S. colleges.

Central Intelligence Agency men were recruiting at Stanford University when 75 to 100 students climbed a fire escape to an alcove near the conference room and began yelling and stomping.

More than 100 students were charged with disturbing the peace at the University of Iowa when a demonstration against the presence of a marine corps recruiter touched off a kicking, shoving melee.

About 300 University of Michigan students in Ann Arbor staged a sit-in at the administration building to protest the school's involvement in a $1,000,000 counter-insurgency project in Thailand.

Annual Pay Guaranteed

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal inquiry set up to resolve a bitter dispute between Quebec longshoremen and their employers has awarded management a reduction in the size of stevedoring gangs with a price tag of job security.

The issue was at the heart of a 28-day strike last year that closed the ports of Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres.

Dr. Laurent Picard of Montreal, who handled the inquiry, said the job security plan, guaranteeing the 4,250 longshoremen a season's pay whether they work or not, will end unrest over automation.

There would no longer be any reason for their union, the International Longshoremen's Association, to oppose technological change.

The report of the Montreal commerce professor, which is binding on both parties, was made public Wednesday when Labor Minister Nicholson tabled it in the Commons.

Basic gang sizes are reduced to 17 men from 20 at Montreal, to 17 from 19 at Quebec City and left unchanged at Trois-Rivieres, where the standard is 14. The figures include one foreman in each gang.

Employers must establish a job security fund, paying into it 15 cents for each ton of freight handled, to provide a guaranteed income for the workers.

The guarantee is 40 hours a week for the 37-week shipping season at Montreal and a total of 1,560 hours for the 28-week traffic season at Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres.

Only men who earn the main part of their income on the docks will be eligible. When their paid working hours in any year fall below the guarantee they will get the difference out of the new fund.

Dr. Picard's 180-page report attached one condition to the work guarantee. It will not apply in full unless port productivity equals the peak level achieved at Montreal and Quebec in 1964 and at Trois-Rivieres in 1966.

Dr. Picard also ordered an end to what he called "restrictive practices" by the unions. Among other things, a ship crew now will be able to handle the work of opening hatches, loading or unloading can be carried out in all four corners of a hold at one time and more than one fork-lift truck may be used in a hold.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

The names of the Western Conference and Eastern Football Conference players nominated on the second ballot of the Canadian Schenley Football Awards were announced today and appear elsewhere on the sports pages.

The west named Peter Liske of the Calgary Stampeders and Hamilton Tiger Cats Joe Coffey as candidates for the Most Outstanding Football Player of the year.

The Calgary Stampeders Terry Evans and Ottawa's Russ Jackson got the nod for the Canadian Player of the Year.

The Sasky Roughriders Ed McQuarters and The Tiger Cats' John Barrow were picked as the lineman of the year.

The results of the final ballot will be announced on November 14th.

There could be an upset or some sort of a record in the making.

Word filtering back to the effett East is to the effect that the pundits in the backrooms of the western spread's bunkhouses, are harboring the idea that the western selectees will sweep the spirits frumenti honors — a record in itself.

If such is the case there will be a couple of secret soirees in the clubrooms of the Argonauts and Tiger Cats where scarlet faces will bend over well-laden platters of baked crow.

Peter Liske whom the west rates as the most effective passer of the field has a record of 261 completions for 3,878 yards, a 59.3 completion average and 24 touchdowns.

Liske is an ex-Argonaut. The double-blue brass wanted a guy who could gallop with the oval. Liske ran like a guy carrying a 500-pound bod of bricks, — so — the Argos swapped him for a gent called Eagle Day.

A year ago Terry Evanshen who is a reasonable facsimile of the large non-economy size of the regular football player was with the Alouettes. The Als decided they could not fit the torch-like Terry into the Larks gallon jug so they traded him to Calgary for a guy named Tony Pajaczkowski (you guess that one).

This year Terry is within three catches and 378 yards of two all time Canadian receiving awards.

Big Ed McQuarters of the Sasky Roughriders was a pickup from the St. Louis Cards and as a lineman has trumped many an ace of the decks of both conference clubs.

Down here in the east, Tommy Joe Coffey of the Tiger Cats the choice for the most outstanding player has racked up a fine scoring record and I think it is good enough to offset the more or less sensational exploits of Liske, the Argo castoff.

The Canadian Player of the Year duel between Evanshen and Ottawa's Russ Jackson is a put-and-take affair. Ottawa fans will tell you "As goes Jackson, so go the Rough Riders."

In this corner's opinion, the Jackson "putting" will more than upset to "taking" exploits of Evanshen, brilliant as may be his record. Even the most rabid anti-Ottawa fan will admit that Jackson has been, and still is, the backbone of the Riders. He is the greatest quarterback in the Canadian game today and will, I believe, repeat his last year's achievement of winning the Canadian Player of the Year award.

Winning a Schenley award is nothing new in big John Barrow of the Tiger-Cats who faces formidable opposition for the award in Sasky's McQuarters, the bane of opposing quarterbacks.

Barrow was named the top lineman back in 1962 and-well-just where would the Cats be without him. But this selection could be closer than your next breath. I'll go along with Barrow, but I fail to see a clean sweep for the west with a guy like Russ Jackson in the competition.

Bower Downs Habs; Ups Bank Roll!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Excellence is not necessarily its own reward, but you'd have a hard time convincing Johnny Bower.

The 43-year-old veteran Toronto Maple Leafs goalie Wednesday night blanked Montreal Canadiens 5-0 and to celebrate the deed, Toronto coach Punch Imlach gave Bower a new National Hockey League contract.

JOHNNY BOWER

After the game Imlach tore up a symbolic piece of paper before Bower, indicating a new contract. Neither would discuss possible terms of the new contract.

The loss kept Montreal in third place in the NHL's Eastern Division, behind idle Detroit Red Wings and New York Rangers, who moved two points ahead of Detroit with a 2-0 defeat of Chicago Seals.

In other games Wednesday, Boston Bruins lost their second game in eight starts, 5-1 to St. Louis Blues, while Pittsburgh Penguins downed Minnesota North Stars 4-1.

The results left Los Angeles Kings still atop the Western Division standings with 19 points, one more than Pittsburgh.

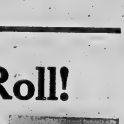
The Leafs got goals from Dave Keon, Frank Mahovlich, Bob Pulford, Mike Walton and George Armstrong while New York's goals went to Rod Gilbert and Orland Kurtenbach.

Ron Stewart scored twice for St. Louis with single goals going to Wayne Rivers, Barclay Plager and Al Arbour. The lone Boston goal was scored by Ron Lonsberry.

At Minneapolis, the Penguins grabbed sole possession of second place in the west on goals by Andy Bathgate, Art Stratton, Paul Andrea and Keith McCreary while Andre Boudrias scored for Minnesota.

"I told him he played so well, I'll tear up is contract and he'll get a new one," said Imlach after the game.

"He'll get a good raise. Only players over 40 get that opportunity."



California goalie Charlie Hodge held off New York for most of the game at Oakland, with the Rangers finally winning on two goals scored four minutes apart in the third period.

The Rangers, undefeated in eight games, got Kurtenbach's winner just 15 seconds after he stepped out of the penalty box after serving five minutes for high sticking and hurting California's Mike Laughton.

Goalie Ed Giacomin got credit for the shutout.

Lonsberry ruined St. Louis goalie Glenn Hall's shutout bid with a 30-foot shot with only about two minutes left in the game, just seconds before Bob Plager cut him down with a solid body check.

Tonight, the Red Wings get a chance to tie the Rangers as they take on the Leafs in Detroit while Chicago Black Hawks visit Los Angeles and Minnesota North Stars play the Flyers in Philadelphia.

Andy Bathgate's goal and assist Wednesday night shot the Pittsburgh ace into a five-way tie for the National Hockey League scoring lead as the Penguins downed Minnesota North Stars 4-2.

The veteran winger now has eight goals and five assists for 13 points and is tied with Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks, Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal Canadiens, John McKenzie of Boston Bruins and Jean Ratelle of New York.

McKenzie picked up an assist on Boston's only goal in a 5-1 loss to St. Louis Blues Wednesday night while Ratelle was credited with two assists as New York blanked California Seals 2-0.

Eskimos Explode Last-Minutes TD's To Snatch 24-8 Victory

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos extended their winning streak Wednesday night to five, a 24-8 come-from-behind victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers to conclude their Western Football Conference schedule.

Behind 8-3 with only nine minutes to play, Eskimos exploded for three quick touchdowns to hand the fourth-place Blue Bombers their 11th loss of the season.

Playing before an estimated crowd of 13,000 in chilly 23-degree temperature, Eskimos took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter and held a 3-1 margin going into the second half. Bombers led 8-3 after three quarters.

End K. A. Sims, defensive lineman John LaGrua and flanker Randy Kerbow scored the Edmonton touchdowns. Peter Kempf kicked three converts and booted a field goal.

Halfback Dave Raimey scored the lone Winnipeg touchdown in the third quarter when he picked up a screen pass from quarterback Kenny Ploen and raced 37 yards. Ernie Kunyk converted. Kunyk also kicked a single on a 22-yard field goal attempt in the second quarter.

Sims ran 38 yards into the end zone after taking a pass from quarterback Frank Cosentino.

A fumble recovery only 47 seconds later climbed the game for the Eskimos. Winnipeg's Bill Cooper lost the ball on his own 36-yard line when he was hit by Trent Walters. LaGrous grabbed the loose ball and ran into the end zone.

Cosentino, who had trouble finding his receivers in the first half, hit Kerbow with a 36-yard pass in the end zone for the last touchdown.

The win, Edmonton's eighth in the last nine games, gave them a 9-5-1 record for the season.

Third place Edmonton now has a sudden-death semi-final game against either the Roughriders or Calgary Stampeders. Blue Bombers play their last game Saturday against Saskatchewan.

Jim Thomas, voted by Edmonton fans as the Eskimos' most valuable player, was the game's top ground gainer with 73 yards on 19 carries. Raimey carried six times for 39 yards, but one of them amounted to 23 yards.

Raimey was the top receiver with 63 yards on two catches. Kerbow also caught two passes for a total of 41 yards, one of them a 36-yard completion.

Cosentino, who played the full game, was good on seven out of 15 pass attempts. Ploen completed nine out of 18 passes, while Bill Van Burkleo, who came in late in the game, was unsuccessful for Bombers on his four pass attempts.

The teams were almost even on the statistical side. Winnipeg picked 214 yards on 133 yards passing and 80 yards rushing. Edmonton had 218 yards, half of it rushing. Both teams had nine first downs.

Edmonton fumbled once and lost the ball, while Winnipeg lost two out of three fumbles with one of them leading to an Eskimo touchdown.

NHL Awards

Separate Trophy For Western Champs

MONTREAL (CP) — A separate trophy for the Western Division champion and a new method of selecting the rookie of the year will be considered by the 12-team National Hockey League within the next month.

"I think we'll retain the Prince of Wales Trophy for the team that finishes first in the old division and present a new cup to the Western Division winner," league president Clarence Campbell says.

"There will only be one award for the best rookie . . . the method of selection will have to be modified."

Campbell says both decisions will have to be reached "by the first of December, I hope."

The Calder Memorial Trophy for the outstanding rookie of the season is the chief concern of the league at the moment.

The annual winner was selected in the past by a poll of sports-writers and sportscasters in the six NHL cities. Voting was conducted twice during the season, with the over-all winner receiving $1,000 and the runner-up $500. The leader in each half also received an additional $250.

However, with this season's partially interlocking schedule between the old division and the new section, most selectors will only see clubs in the other division twice during the season.

Campbell says any change in the method of selection will have to take the form of a "formal decision" by the league's board of governors, but, at the moment, he feels managers and coaches of the 12 teams should vote instead of the writers and sportscasters.

The league president says the single all-star team, including players from both divisions, will apply in the expanded league.

There will be no change in the method of awarding the Hart, Ross Byng, Art Ross, Vezina and James Norris Memorial Trophy, says Campbell.

Horse Sets Record

NEW YORK (CP)—Dear Brutus, a brute of a horse, set a record jump of seven feet, three inches, in the Puissance high jumping test at the National Horse Show Wednesday night.

The record for Madison Square Garden had been set by Canada's Tom Gayford five years ago. Gayford, a business executive from Gormley, Ont., set the mark of 7-1 in 1962 aboard the famed Blue Beau, and it was equalled twice but never broken until Wednesday night.

Dear Brutus was ridden in the open jumping test by Russell Stewart, a 42-year-old American.

Third place Edmonton now has a sudden-death semi-final game against either the Roughriders or Calgary Stampeders.

Blue Bombers play their last game Saturday against Saskatchewan.

Stamps' Liske, Cats' Coffey Nominated For Top Player Award

MONTREAL (CP) — Calgary Stampeders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats each have an entry running in the Canadian Football League Player-of-the-Year sweepstakes.

Named to start in the event which will be decided Nov. 14 with the announcement of the annual Schenley awards are three players each from the Eastern and Western Football conferences out of an initial entry of 27—three players from each of the nine CFL clubs.

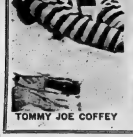
Quarterback Peter Liske of Calgary and end Tommy Joe Coffey of Hamilton are the final nominees as the most outstanding player in the league with split end Terry Evanshen of Calgary and quarterback Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders head-to-head as Canadian of the Year.

Hamilton defensive tackle John Barrow and Ted McQuarters, who plays the same position for Saskatchewan Roughriders, have been named as Lineman-of-the-Year contestants.

For Barrow and Jackson, winning would be nothing new since Jackson was named most outstanding and top Canadian in both 1963 ad 1966 and Barrow was named the best lineman in 1962. Jackson also was nominated as the eastern entry for top Canadian in 1959 while Evanshen was knocked out by Jackson in the final round in 1966 ad outstanding Canadian.

Coffey, who leads the EFC this year in scoring with 106 points on five touchdowns, 39 converts, 18 field goals and two singles, never has been honored in the same way, but made the CFL all-star team in four of the past five seasons while playing with Edmonton Eskimos.

McQuarters, one of the main reasons for Saskatchewan's being in a WFC tie with Calgary at the top of the five-team standings through his aggressive moves against opposing quarterbacks, missed being picked this year as the outstanding WFC lineman.



That honor went to John Lagrosse of Edmonton Eskimos with McQuarters and Calgary's Wayne Harris tied for second.

Liske and Evanshen, main reasons for Calgary's tie with Saskatchewan, picked up a bushel of records in their last games as the leading pass combination in the CFL and could get even more Saturday when they play B.C. Lions in Vancouver.

Just within reach are the season-yardage records of quarterback Sam Etcheverry and end Hal Patterson, set in 1958 for Montreal Alouettes.

Liske is within 580 yards of the 4,723 run up by Etcheverry and Evanshen is within 396 of Patterson's 1,914 yards. But to reach these figures in their one remaining game, Liske must come within six yards of Etcheverry's single-game record set against Hamilton Oct. 16, 1954 and Evanshen must outstrip the record 338 yards gained by Patterson Sept. 29, 1958.

Both now lead their departments, Liske with 4,163 yards gained on 283 completions in 476 tries for 35 touchdowns and a .591 completion average.

unique colorations in the traditional natural shoulder suit. See the new Fall shades of Saddle – a rich leather-brown, with a hint of olive. Sage – a strange new blue olive with the brown mixed in.

The new Michaels-Stern Ph.D. Suits come complete with matching vest. Also see the Saddle or Sage combinations in Slacks and Sport Jackets.

PRICED FROM 79.95

HOW TO BUY A SUIT

1. Ask to see the styles that suit your build. Are you short? Avoid high-waisted jackets—every pair should be wide, heavily cuffed. They make you look squat. Average? Oh yes, everything looks good, Henry! Avoid all fussy effects — they're distracting.

Come on in and we'll suggest the Michaels-Stern models that do the most for your build.

2. Do a crash diet quickly, forget the belt. See if you like its feel. Make sure it's function. Look at the linings and see if they're pre-shrunk (they'd better be!) Pinch the lapels — they should bounce back into shape without a wrinkle when you release them. Check the seams, too. If they're neatly and evenly stitched. If needing the buttonholes for thick, precise stitching. Ask if the thread is silk. (That's the best buttonhole thread).

Step in and we'll show you all the fine needlework in our Michaels-Stern suits.

3. Be sure you get a good fit. Carry, relax and stand naturally before the mirror. Resist the temptation to pull in your stomach and square your shoulders. Discuss everything you want done with the tailor. And take your time. Remember, a well-fitted suit looks, feels, and wears better than an ill-fitting ready tailored one.

Come see our new Fall selection of Michaels-Stern Suits and Sportswear now.

Want Player Protection

Celtics May Cancel

LONDON (AP)—Glasgow Celtic will call off Saturday's World Cup Soccer playoff in Montevideo unless they get guarantees for their players' safety, British soccer correspondents reported today.

Celtic's goalkeeper Ronnie Simpson was felled by a bottle just before the kickoff of Wednesday night's second leg match with Racing of Buenos Aires. Racing won 2-1 to tie the series at one game each.

Jock Stein, Celtic manager, was quoted as saying: "The playoff depends on a meeting we are having Thursday, and unless we can get guarantees for the safety of our players we shall not play."

British correspondents reported that Celtic will seek the guarantees from officials of the relevant associations, who are in Buenos Aires for the game.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

Deer hunters are making ready for the opening of deer season on November 6th.

Camps have been opened, wood cut and piled and treks made into the bush looking for new deer runways.

High water this year will have quite an effect on some of the old runways. New beaver ponds have sprung up and deer have to go around. Therefore check the country and make sure you are on a new run and not someplace they used before. Your hunt will be more successful.

What do we need to take with us this year? Naturally a gun and ammunition, a good compass, a sharp hunting knife, warm clothing, extra socks, shirts and pants, waterproof boots, mitts or gloves and a flashlight.

If we have wet weather like last year a waterproof coat or suit of a bright color such as yellow, red of fluorescent so you can be seen by other hunters is a must.

A few new gadgets would also make the hunt more comfortable.

For those who have trouble with a cold behind the new hotseat is the answer. The manufacturer also makes insulated socks which are really warm.

Another new item is the block and tackle designed to help the hunter hang up a deer. This outfit will lift an animal up to 3600 pounds and weighs only about a pound.

Remember, hunt carefully this year. Make sure of your target before you shoot.

Duck hunters will be much happier these days, The blue-bills have been moving in regularly now the past 6 to 8 days or so.

Redheads and canvas backs are also putting in an appearance, scoters, squaws and Merganzers are arriving daily in great numbers.

A few northern blacks are showing up locally, also, but with so much water in ponds and on the land, they are scattered all over the country.

It will take a good freeze before the black and Mallard hunting is any good.

Pickerel and rainbow fishermen are having a ball this year. Lots of good catches of pickerel in the Trent River while Shelter Valley it yielding many nice fish.

We are lucky in this section of Ontario with duck hunting, fishing, deer hunting, partridge, pheasant, all good and all game hunting open at the same time.

Fired Maglie Blasts Bosox Manager; "Used Poor Judgment"

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Red Sox deposed pitching coach, Sal Maglie, blasted manager Dick Williams Wednesday on several counts, including claims that Williams used poor judgment in the seventh World Series game and later lashed "the courage or decency to tell me I was fired."

The usually quiet Maglie made his comments in a telephone interview published in today's Boston Herald Traveler. He spoke from a hospital room in Niagara Falls, N.Y., where he is in traction for treatment of a neck injury suffered in an automobile accident in Buffalo last month.

"I got a lousy deal from Dick Williams," Maglie said. "I've kept quiet long enough. . . . I don't like being stepped on."

Maglie said Williams "never listened to me," including during the seventh World Series game when Boston righthander Jim Lonborg was pounded by the victorious St. Louis Cardinals before being relieved.

"It was obvious Lonborg didn't have it. Williams should have gotten him out sooner, and I told him so. It was a crime that he let a man who'd done such a great job for him all season take a pounding like that. It was degrading," Maglie said.

As for his own situation, Maglie said Williams told him after the last Series game: "I'll be talking to you."

"I'm still waiting." The former pitching great said, "He's never had the courage or decency to tell me I was fired."

Maglie, who was operating on a two-year contract extending through this season when Williams was hired, said he could "appreciate the fact that the guy probably never wanted me on his staff in the first place."

He said because of this he went to Williams at mid-season and offered to step aside, but the manager "didn't have the courage" to take him up on it.

Maglie also questioned the hiring of a former catcher, Dorrel Johnson, as his successor.

"I think a pitching coach should be a former pitcher," he said. "He should have that feeling—know what it's like to be out on the mound."

The fiesty "Barber" who helped pitch the old New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers to National League pennants in the 1950s, also said he "may be all through with baseball and go into something else." He said he had not sought another baseball job and may not when he is released from the hospital.

World Soccer Final

Argentina Nips Celtic!

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Racing Argentina beat Glasgow Celtic of Scotland 2-1 Wednesday and forced a playoff game next Saturday for the world soccer title.

Celtic had won the first game of the two-game final 2-1 in Glasgow Oct. 18.

The playoff game will be played at Montevideo, Uruguay.

Centre forward Juan Carlos Cardenas' scored the winning goal for Racing at the 47th minute. Fullback Thomas Gemmel had put Celtic ahead 1st the 20th minute on a penalty kick, but inside right Norberto Raffo tied the score at the end minute.

The game was roughly played and the Uruguayan referee declared dozens of fouls.

Celtic players repeatedly complained about the roughness of Argentina players.

Scottish goalie Donald Simpson was out of the game even before it started. While the players were warming up before kick off, an unidentified spectator hit Simpson in the neck with a stone hurled from the stands.

Simpson staggered off the field and John Fallon took his place.

Frank Selke Unable to Visit Stirling

STIRLING — Word has been received here that Mr. Frank Selke, Sr., former general manager of the Montreal Canadiens will not be able to appear here on Saturday, November 4th.

Mr. Selke formerly had accepted an invitation to be the guest speaker at the Stirling Minor Hockey Association banquet.

Unfortunately the famous hockey celebrity was taken suddenly ill and admitted to hospital for surgery.

His place will be taken by Floyd "Butch" Curry, a well-known ex - Canadiens player and later coach of the Quebec Aces.

Mr. Curry comes highly recommended as a sports after-dinner speaker and has appeared at several sports functions.

Campbell Sees Hillman

TORONTO (CP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League met Wednesday with defenceman Larry Hillman in an effort to settle the player's dispute with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Hillman, the last holdout in the NHL this season, refused to come to contract terms this season and has missed the first eight games of the season.

The league president was not immediately available for comment after the meeting, but Toronto coach Punch Imlach said he understands Campbell was making all efforts to settle the matter immediately.

"But that's only second-hand information, because Campbell didn't tell me that," Imlach said.

Hillman, who will be 31 years old in February, gained a regular spot on the Toronto defence last season. He played in 58 regular season and 12 playoff games.

"Yaz, Suh" He's Popular With Gals

BOSTON (AP)—"Carl Yastrzemski needs a secretary. Light typing and good telephone voice," the chastised od read.

Persistent Printing Corp. said the response Wednesday jammed its telephone lines with at least 300 calls. Interview appointments were made for about 300 and the rest were told that the position had been filled.

The Boston Red Sox' Triple Crown winner is a salesman for the firm during the off-season.

A similar ad run a few days ago wished Yastrzemski's name brought about "six or eight answers," a company spokesman said.

Universities Fail to Handle New Problems

MONTREAL (CP)—Two university presidents warned Wednesday that Canada's universities may be failing to handle pressures detrimental to educational standards.

Dr. Murray J. Ross, president of Toronto's York University, said lack of financial independence may be draining university ties of intellectual vitality.

Meanwhile Dr. Fabian Mc-Taggart-Cowan, president of British Columbia's Simon Fraser University, suggested students are not being helped to absorb the ever-increasing volume of knowledge.

Both men are participants here in the five-day conference of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada.

Dr. McTaggart-Cowan said more subjects must be taught young people in the lower grades to free them to handle new knowledge at higher levels.

They must also be taught how to think, not just how to memorize facts.

Dr. Ross said because Canadian universities are almost entirely dependent on public funds, they are very susceptible to public pressures.

For this reason they were in danger of compromising their traditional role as critics of society.

"In Ontario there is a most elaborate system of consultation between the governments, the committees on university affairs and the universities that is based on goodwill and exchange of opinion but which inevitably dulls anything like public criticism," he said.

Taken too far, such trends could "destroy traditional concepts of teaching and research in the university and not only drain the academic community of its intellectual vitality but also render it of less and less value to society."

Another speaker, Dr. Robin Harris, professor of higher education at the University of Toronto, said Canada faces at least four dilemmas that should be resolved by scholarly research before they reach crisis proportions.

Rights of Eskimos and Indians, Canadian communication problems, the viability of the Canadian political system and the proper use of natural resources should all be approached systematically by scholars before they become so pressing the government appoints royal commissions to fill in the knowledge gap.

Dr. W. E. Beckel, dean of Scarborough College in Toronto, said students urgently need the help and advice of specially-trained university counsellors.

Mushrooming enrolments and large class sizes are increasing the need for students to find some kind of personal contact with staff members, he said.

Rabies Vaccine Developed

TORONTO (CP) — An anti-rabies vaccine that can be used for advance, protective immunization has been developed by the Connaught Medical Research Laboratories of the University of Toronto, it was announced Wednesday.

Dr. J. K. W. Ferguson, director of the Connaught Laboratories, said work has been carried on for several years on development of the vaccine under Dr. Paul Fenje. Clinical trials on human patients have proved successful.

A final submission on the vaccine will be made shortly to the food and drug directorate in Ottawa. The submission will include answers to questions raised by the directorate after the initial submission.

The Semple vaccine, now used, is given after a person has been bitten by a rabid animal. The Connaught vaccine is given for immunization before a person is bitten.

Dr. Ferguson said the new vaccine will almost certainly only be licensed for advance immunization.

Semple vaccine is made from virus cultured in rabbit brains. It is impossible to remove all brain protein and fat from the vaccine, which can cause allergic reaction in the central nervous system of the occasional patient.

A course of treatment with the Semple vaccine involves 14 injections given on consecutive days.

The Connaught vaccine requires only two or three injections. These are now given one month apart, but Dr. Ferguson said it might be some time before final decisions are reached on the best intervals to employ —two injections a month apart and a third a year later might be advisable.

Dr. Ferguson did not say how the Connaught vaccine is made.

DISCOVER THE MAGIC OF 360° SATELLITE SOUND

Electrohome consoles are unrivalled for realistic sound reproduction. However you can enter a totally new world of three dimension stereophonic sound. The effect cannot be described. Suffice to say that 360° satellite sound is a more remarkable advance in sound reproduction than stereo itself. A pair of stereo satellite speakers can be connected to any Electrohome console. They can be placed anywhere in the room — even behind a chair. The entire room is filled with vibrantly rich three-dimensional sound that recaptures orchestral depth with startling realism. This realism is enhanced by the fact that the sound is truly non-directional because of the wide separation. Individual instruments within the orchestral ensemble are heard with exceptional purity to recreate the mood of the concert hall. You enjoy the richness of stereo sound wherever you sit in the room. You may place the console wherever it adds most to the decor of the room.

Survey Classifies Yorkville As Both Dangerous and Dirty

TORONTO (CP)—Yorkville village has become a dangerous and dirty haven for hundreds of teen-age girls who have run away from home, says a survey of Toronto's mid-town hippie district.

Police records, together with a survey by The Globe and Mail, published Wednesday, produced statistics showing increases in venereal diseases and arrests on narcotic charges.

The survey showed:

—There are more than 50 active carriers of venereal disease in and around Yorkville.

—Eighty-one girls between 13 and 20 have been arrested so far this year on marijuana charges.

—More than 125 girls have been arrested so far this year on charges of vagrancy.

—Police now are searching the district for 23 girls under 16 whose homes are in Toronto and for 50 who live out of town. In almost every case, parents told police their daughters were heading for the area.

—The rate of theft, break and enter, assault and robbery in Yorkville is the highest in Ontario.

An area of fashionable boutiques and curiosity shops, bookshops for those with a weird, pseudo - psychedelic district of coffee-shops, street vendors and wandering crowds by night.

Police are worried about the health of Yorkville regulars. Records show a long history of demoralized, sick kids suffering from various illnesses, but driven by a burning desire for emancipation and flower-power hedonism.

"The real evil of Yorkville is what is happening to these young girls, many only children," says Bernard Simmonds, deputy police chief.

"They come to the village as good kids, mixed up perhaps, many from fine homes, and these beatniks grab them and within two days they are ruined."

Sgt. Gordon Mugford, in charge of the plainclothes unit investigating Yorkville, says the course a girl runs in Yorkville is short. "A few stay, but most last only a few weeks or perhaps two months and then they are gone. There is a constant turnover."

He said there are relatively few permanent hippies living in the village but there are hundreds of the weekend variety. "They are the most dangerous for what they carry back to their homes."

Police cannot do anything to girls from Ontario aged 16 and over, because the juvenile age in Ontario is 16.

Girls over 16 whose homes are in other provinces are shipped back when warrants are issued.

A total of 1,304 missing girls from Toronto have been located so far this year and 445 from other towns and provinces.

Last year, 1,005 girls between 15 and 18 were located of 1,041 missing. A total of 733 juvenile girls were found of 766 missing.

In Toronto, more girls than boys have been missing for the last three years. Last year there were 138 more girls than boys in the 15-to-18 age group on the missing persons list.

Meanwhile Wednesday, Toronto board of control approved a $5,000 grant to Community Services Organization to help pay the costs of social officers working with Yorkville hippies.

Bill Would Legalize Contraceptives

OTTAWA (CP) — Legislation making it legal to advertise and sell contraceptive devices was introduced Wednesday in the Senate.

The bill is expected to pass in both the Senate and Commons and become law before Christmas.

It changes the sale and advertising of contraceptives from the category of an offence under the Criminal Code to a controlled, permissible activity under the Food and Drugs Act.

The government will permit a vote free of party lines on the contraception bill and on others covering capital punishment, abortion and divorce reform.

A second part of the contraception bill would give the federal government power for the that are legal but hazardous.

The legislation provides a first time to control substances ries of safeguards in handling, advertising and sale.

Control of Plane Purchases Protested

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal regulation prohibiting the purchase of large commercial aircraft without prior government approval came under sharp attack Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Air Transport Association of Canada.

The restriction, imposed last April, was denounced by delegates as an unwarranted interference with airline management.

M. M. Fleming, chief of regulations in the transport department, said it was designed to give the government some control over airport expansion costs. New types of aircraft often required new airport facilities.

"The government builds highways, too, but it doesn't tell truckers what size of trucks they can buy," one delegate protested.

Frank Kennerly of Kenting Aviation, Toronto, said he suspects the Canadian transport commission would like to have complete control over aircraft purchasing.

"This isn't just creeping socialism, it's a giant's step," he added.

J. W. Green, executive director of the transport commission's air committee, said there was no other motive behind the regulation than the problem of airport expansion priorities. The committee had no desire to enlarge the rule.

Don Cameron of Montreal, a vice-president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, said no operator would be so rash as to buy aircraft for which facilities were not available. But if public opinion demanded service by new types of aircraft the transport department would have little choice but to provide it.

R. C. Lefrancois of Montreal, president of Nordair, said the association should hesitate before opposing the rule. The orderly development of airports was important.

However only three persons among about 65 at the committee session opposed a resolution taking strong objection to the restriction.

Children's Aid Policy Stupid Says Observer

TORONTO (CP)—The United Church Observer, in an editorial Wednesday accused the Toronto Children's Aid Societies of stupidity for not publicizing their needs in the religious press.

The editorial says Canadian youngsters are being shipped to other countries because there are not enough homes for them and blames the societies for not "selling us such children are available."

"How do they expect to find homes when they refuse to inform those people who are most likely to adopt children of mixed race, dark skins or physical handicaps through the most effective media—the religious press?"

CAS spokesman said "the Observer may have a point because the CAS has not "gone to the religious press as often as we could have."

Ward Markle, Roman Catholic CAS director, said the article must have been written out of ignorance.

"Every parish bulletin tells of the needs of our society. And our story is told in nearly every issue of the Catholic Register."

Mr. Markle said the Roman Catholic CAS can accept applications only from Roman Catholic couples, so they do not advertise in the Observer.

Jury Finds Teacher Murdered

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—A coroner's jury Wednesday ruled the deaths of Sandra Island, 25, and her boyfriend Kemel (Mike) Karpuz, 23, was a murder-suicide.

The bodies of Miss Island, a Whitby kindergarten teacher and Karpuz who migrated from Yugoslavia two years ago, were found Sept. 11 in Lake Ontario.

Friends and relatives testified that the couple, who met in the summer of 1966, had a stormy romance. Evidence showed Karpuz frequently threatened Miss Island's life.

The jury said it is regrettable her friends did not report the threats, and urge citizens aware of threats to other persons to notify police.

Dr. H. S. Gotnam, supervising coroner for Ontario, said the deaths appear to be a clear-cut case of murder and suicide. He said evidence ruled out accidental drowning or the possibility of a suicide pact and there was no evidence it was a double murder.

HOME Project Dropped

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—The Ontario Housing Corp. announced Wednesday it has called plans to buy a 252-acre tract of land for Home Ownership Made Easier.

The corporation had planned to pay $500,000 for the suburban site, which was to be turned into about 600 HOME program lots.

OHC sources said a major reason for letting the option lapse was that Central Mortgage and Housing Corp., which provides a large part of the funds for HOME program purchases, refused to approve the project.

Other problems would have prevented the deal, spokesmen said.

CMHC Wednesday denied it had refused to approve the project.

"We have received no formal application to acquire and develop new land in Peterborough," said Thomas B. Pickersgill, Ontario regional supervisor for CMHC in Toronto.

OHC made inquiries regarding the program last summer, he said. The corporation's response only asked for more information.

The project was announced by Stanley Randall, Ontario minister of economics and development, three weeks before the Ontario provincial election.

Peterborough civic officials said Wednesday they have found nothing that would prevent the land from being developed as a housing project.

Early Winter Start on Mains In Hillcrest Area Expected

Hopes for a late fall or early winter start on the construction of watermains for the Hillcrest district area still without water service were expressed today by Public Utilities Manager R. L. Burnham.

Mr. Burnham said cost estimates for main installation had been completed and approval was awaited from the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

He said the necessary approval for Harmon Street had already been received, this request having gone in earlier.

At city council last week it was reported that petitions for the construction of watermains on Tice Crescent, College Street East, Pearl Street, and Safe Boulevard were sufficiently signed.

The petition for West street was insufficiently signed, City Clerk Adam Stalker explaining that some of the owners lived out of the city and replies had not been received.

If the West Street petition remains insufficiently signed, council was advised to proceed with the work under Section 8 of the Local Improvement Act. This allows the city to initiate installation proceedings.

Hopes are that the work of watermain installation of most of the above Hillcrest streets can commence in time to qualify for winter works assistance grants.

Tea Bag Gimmick Not Enough In Jasper-Edson

EDSON, Alta. (CP)—The envelope contained a single tea bag, with a tag attached.

"I believe that good government is like a good cup of tea—brisk, honest and invigorating. You can enjoy both now."

It was signed by Alan Solatycky, Liberal candidate in next Monday's federal byelection in Jasper-Edson.

The tea bag was a gimmick designed to let people know the phonetic pronunciation of the name: So-laty-cky.

It has been one of the few bright spots in a dull byelection made duller by public apathy in a constituency that is about to disappear.

Mr. Solatycky considers the race to be between him and Progressive Conservative candidate Doug Caston.

The role of the forgotten man is filled by New Democratic party candidate Bob Christenson.

The western Alberta constituency of a conglomerate of national park, foothills and marginal farming land. Industry exists only in pockets, confined to coal and pulp.

The byelection was made necessary by the resignation last spring of Dr. Hugh Horner, who had held the seat for the Conservatives since 1958, to run in the provincial constituency of Lac Ste. Anne. He was one of six Conservatives elected in the provincial election.

Mr. Caston, publisher of a weekly newspaper, is making his first bid for public office. He is receiving support from Dr. Horner, especially within the area of Dr. Horner's provincial constituency.

Mr. Christenson, a school teacher in Seba Beach near the eastern edge of the constituency, has run for office once before, being beaten last May in the provincial riding of Wetaskiwin.

He says the issues are the cost - price squeeze being felt by many farmers, and the Liberal government's foreign policy in the national parks.

Mr. Solatycky, a lawyer in Whitecourt, Alta., said the issue is one of "representation." Should he be elected, Jasper-Edson would be the only rural-rural constituency on the Prairies to send a Liberal member to Ottawa.

But both he and Mr. Christenson have an overwhelming margin to overcome.

In 1963, Dr. Horner received 14,808 votes. The Liberal candidate polled 4,451, The Social Credit candidate received 3,447 and the NDP candidate 2,354.

The constituency will disappear under redistribution at the next federal general election.

Before Dr. Horner's election the riding had been Liberal since 1949, and before that, Social Credit since 1935, the year Social Credit swept to power in Alberta on a policy of radical monetary reform.

Mr. Caston's hopes are pinned on the huge Conservative majority in the last few elections, a campaign based on appearances at forums and the reputation he has built up as a weekly newspaper man.

The chief significance of the byelection seems to be the riding's importance as a power base for the winner, who, if he is to remain in the Commons, must find another constituency in the next general election.

Then, Jasper - Edson will cease to exist, being split partly to the new riding of Rocky Mountain and partly to the new riding of Pembina.

Current standings in the House of Commons: Liberals 131, PCs 93, NDP 22, Creditiste, 8, Social Credit 4, independent 3, vacant 4.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Dear Mr. Meltzer: For nine generations my family has been the social and financial leaders in our community. Yet, when I bought a house from a first-generation real estate broker here, he ordered a credit report on me to check if I was telling the truth on the mortgage application. I am insulted. I don't want to do business with foreigners of this type. How do I annul my agreement? — Mr. F. G.

ANSWER: The developer was in no way casting a personal reflection on you, your family or ancestors when he ordered a credit report. He was merely complying with a bit of modern red-tape required by every lending institution.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Do I need a license to sell my house? — Mr. A.

ANSWER: No, not as long as you sell your own property. If you get ambitious and want to sell someone else's property, then you will have to be licensed, either as a real estate salesman or broker.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: This tip cost me readers $1,200. That's what it cost us to find out.

Last winter the house was either freezing or too darn hot. First, we were told that insulation would do the trick. Then we were told on a new heater. The experts, after much head-scratching, then recommended new ducts.

My 16-year-old son one day had the foresight to check the thermostat. He found that all the trouble was being caused by dirt between the thermostat's contact points. — Mr. H. C.

ANSWER: A modern well-functioning thermostat can maintain a temperature within a two degree range. If the temperature response is outside these limits, then the thermostat should be the first check-point.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Gremlins are at work in my new house. They prevent soap from dissolving in water and leave streaks everywhere. My mother-in-law is now sure her son married a terrible housekeeper. I know it isn't my fault. She'll be back for Christmas, and by that time I must get the house clean. — Mrs. W.

ANSWER: Your problem is not gremlins, just hard water. The soap you are using combined with chemicals in the water to form waxes and gums; result is—streaks.

A water softener is the answer to your problem. Since water impurities vary by locality, it is best to get advice from your local plumbing inspector or municipal engineer as to what type will do the best job.

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

Premier Follows PCs

Smallwood Enters Newfoundland Byelection

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A platform battle for the Commons seat of Bonavista-Twillingate was assured Wednesday night, after a Liberal announcement of a series of public meetings throughout the district before Monday's contest.

The Liberals also announced that Newfoundland Premier Joseph Smallwood will speak at two of the meetings in support of Charles R. Granger, 58, the Liberal candidate.

This followed a statement from the premier earlier this week that he didn't feel it was necessary to bring into the campaign any federal cabinet ministers or for him to campaign personally.

It also comes on the heels of a series of Conservative rallies at Wesleyville, Carmanville, Traytown-Clovertown and Twillingate, and charges by the PCs that the Liberals "appear afraid to meet the people."

Prior to Wednesday's announcement, Mr. Granger had confined his campaigning mainly to intensive door-knocking, but it had now "entered a new phase," the Liberal statement said.

The premier was scheduled to join Mr. Granger on the platform at Twillingate Friday night, and to speak to another rally Saturday night at Wesleyville. Mr. Granger was to hold a rally Saturday night at Bonavista.

Meanwhile, the Conservatives Wednesday added more names to the list of party officials who would be joining them in their intensive drive for a federal seat in Newfoundland.

Former cabinet ministers George Hees and Walter Dinsdale will be in Bonavista-Twillingate during the last four days of the campaign, and Halifax MP Mike Forrestall was to return for a second visit.

National Conservative leader Robert Stanfield made a two-day swing through the district earlier this week, accompanied by Gene Rheaume, former MP for the Northwest Territories, and Heath Macquarrie, member for Queens.

Mr. Macquarrie remained in the district and attended a Wednesday rally for Conservative candidate Wilfred French, 48, Provincial Conservative leader Gerald Ottenheimer and party president John A. Carter also attended.

Independent candidate Samuel Drover was knocking on doors in search of support for his bid to win the seat.

Bonavista-Twillingate became vacant in September on the resignation of Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill, Newfoundland's federal cabinet representative, who had held the seat since 1953. Mr. Granger has been named a federal minister without portfolio.

Introducing: The snow tire that's all bite and no bark.

It's a whole new animal. All teeth and no annoying thump.

The teeth are in the new tread design—called the interlocking double "s".

This is a special new tread design that has more biting edges and deeper grooves to chew through any kind of snow, slush or mud you'll run into.

There are even places for over 100 safety spikes for extra traction on ice.

You can tell it's fierce just to look at it.

Yet you never get the feeling you're riding on a square tire. Even when your car sits out overnight in the coldest weather.

Because of Vytacord, an incredibly strong new polyester cord that gets rid of a lot of the problems that other snow tires have.

Besides keeping the tire round, Vytacord practically eliminates cuts and impact breaks in both the tread and sidewalls.

Vytacord cuts down rolling resistance and gives you better gas mileage.

And Vytacord holds the tread flatter on curves and when starting or stopping. This means there's more tread on the road. And that means you're biting in just that much more.

It gives you a feeling of control over your car that you've probably never felt before.

All these gripping features cost under three dollars more than an ordinary winter tire.

Why don't you get the new Goodyear Suburbanite with Vytacord.

See your Goodyear man.

Canucks Drop Six In AHL

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League may accept another invitation to play in the American league.

The Canucks Wednesday failed in their sixth straight game in AHL cities, losing 5-2 to Cleveland Barons while Providence Reds, of the WHL, broke a three-game, skid streak for Buffalo Bisons of the AHL with a 7-4 victory.

New Face for British Railways

This gas turbine-powered train is expected to hit 150 m.p.h. when it becomes operational in the early 1970s on British Railways, now engaged in an extensive overhaul of the system and acceleration of running times. Model is on display at the state-owned research department at Derby.

Set for Musical 'Hello Dolly' Will Cost Over 2 Million Dollars

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In films, locales are seldom what they seem.

In television's Peyton Place series, for example, the town scenes are actually an open area between 20th Century-Fox studio's cafe, two sound stages, a fire house and a building of dressing rooms.

But now the studio announces it is constructing "the largest set ever built."

It will cost more than $2,000,000 and stretch across the lot nearly half a mile.

The set, representing New York City in 1890, is for the film version of the long-running Broadway musical Hello, Dolly! It will star Barbra Streisand and Walter Matthau.

And, says John Du Cuir, it represents "nothing but problems."

De Cuir is an Oscar winner for his Cleopatra sets in Rome, where he also reproduced the Sistine Chapel for The Agony and the Ecstacy.

"We're bringing 150-foot elm trees from Nevada—they don't grow that big in Southern California—and plastic leaves for them from Japan and Italy. Millions of leaves. We found that it took 2,000 to cover one branch."

Features of the set include Barnum's Museum, Central Park, Madison Square Park, Broadway, Grand Central Station and a quarter-mile of elevated railway.

The movie's Yonkers scenes will be filmed in the similar-looking old town of Garrison, N.Y., which the studio is refurbishing at a cost of about $500,000.

Ottawa Juniors Win Title

OTTAWA (CP)—Don Hobby returned to the ranks of junior football coaches this season and came up with a team he hopes will win the Canadian championship.

His Ottawa Sooners started on the right foot Sunday with a 31-1 triumph over Montreal's Easton Chargers to take the Ontario-Quebec Junior Football League championship.

They now meet Burlington Braves Saturday on Burlington, Ont., for the Eastern Canada title.

If the Sooners win the sudden-death playoff, they move on to Saskatoon for the Canadian title game the following week-end.

NFL Race

1966 Champions Trailing

NEW YORK (AP)—The halfway point in the 1967 National Football League race finds none of the 1966 champions at the top of the individual tables.

Chicago Gale Sayers, the 1966 rushing champion, is in 13th place. Cleveland's Leroy Kelly shows the way with 384 yards.

Bart Starr of Green Bay was the leading passer last season but the current pacesetter is Sonny Jurgensen of Washington Redskins. Starr is No. 18.

Charley Taylor of Washington, the 1966 top pass receiver, is out of action due to injuries but is only one behind the leader, Willie Richardson of Baltimore, who has 36.

Bruce Gossett, Los Angeles Rams' place kicker and defending scorer champion, is ranked fourth. Jim Bakken of St. Louis Cardinals leads with 51 points.

Baltimore's Dave Lee, the top punter in 1966 is No. 11. Pat Studstill of Detroit leads with a 45.4 - yard average.

Sayers was the kick-off return champ a year ago but rookie John Love of Washington is just ahead of him this year, Johnny Roland of St. Louis, top punt return man in 1966, has given way to Rickie Harris of Washington.

Larry Wilson of St. Louis leads the interception department with 10 in 1966. Currently, Lem Barney of Detroit and Dave Whitsell of New Orleans are tied with six each.

Verne Harry Ro the first trip past the stands lished in the show spot and mu Wednesday night and topped the next returns as Masquerader's field the rest of the way to win Boy Sweenie. $8.70, $3.60 and $2.80 the $1,200 feature pace at Wind- as he registered his second sor Raceway. win in four starts at Wind-

In the ninth, Queen's Nolan and Amer Grayliecon finished one-two for a $211.20 exactor.

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Guy Protector, driven by Gary Feagan, was the featured mile pace Wednesday night at Mohawk Raceway in 2:12 2-5 over a sloppy track.

Guy Protector returned $16.70 to win as he nipped Elmer C and Babe Affko at the wire. The exactor combination of Guy Protector and Elmer C. paid $44.10.

SELL POPE'S RING

NEW YORK (Reuters)—A ring and a cross given by Pope Paul to aid United Nations relief work was sold for $65,000 in an auction that lasted only 2½ minutes Wednesday. The buyer was a Chicago jeweler.

Totems Tie, Hold Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bill Dineen's goal with a minute remaining in regulation time Wednesday gave Seattle Totems a 2-2 tie against San Diego Gulls and maintained Totems' hold on hockey league lead.

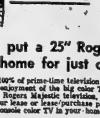
The tie kept alive the Totems' unbroken record—six wins and two ties in eight games — and preserved a five-point cushion over the second-place Golls.

Elsewhere, WHL clubs were winning and losing in lopsided fashion as the American Hockey League.

At Phoenix before 2,208 fans, the Roadrunners jumped to a 5-1 lead over Buffalo Bisons and coasted to a 7-4 victory.

Brewer Leads With 69

HONOLULU (AP)—Guy Brewer carried pro-amateur honors into today's start of the $100,000 Hawaiian open golf tournament at his favorite course.



Brewer carded a 69 that included a 32 on the back nine Wednesday of the 7,000-yard, par 72 Makalae course.

Arnold Palmer, one of the co-favorites with Brewer and Casper, piled up a 70 in the pro-am, including a flubbed sand trap shot. But no one was counting him out when the ball rings today.

A win for Palmer would put his victory total at 61. Dutch Victory in the second for a $9.50 his career at the 61st event of the year—a first time that has ever been done—and a top three finish would push him past Jack Nicklaus on the money list.

Top score for the day, with a handful of the players out, was 67 by Tommy Aaron, the slender, bespectacled Georgian who is a history in making golf tournaments in the early rounds but seldom on Sunday.

Three Tied In AHL

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Milan Marcetta, an import from the West, is shooting up the American Hockey League this season.

Marcetta, playing for Rochester Americans, shares the AHL's goal scoring and point leads, official league statistics show today.

The 31-year-old veteran, who spent the last five years in the Western League, has scored eight goals and has 14 points for three-way ties in both departments.

Marcetta is tied with teammate Bob Barlow and Hershey Bears' Bud Dalrpoy for the scoring lead. Marcetta, Dea Brody and Alain Caron of Rochester share the lead in goals.

Howie Menard of Springfield Kings leads in assists with 10 helpers. Simmons, who reported late to Buffalo Bisons, tops the goalies with a 2.33 average in only two games.

Excitement Goes With Brown

LONDON (AP)—The day George Brown took over the foreign office, he came in by the back door while officials waited to welcome him at the front. He has been flouting tradition ever since.

"I am excitement," he once said. "Either I create it or it follows me around."

This week his critics are up in arms over an attack he made Tuesday night on Lord Thomson, the press tycoon, at a banquet Thomson gave.

Brown, 53, is a bouncy, round-faced man with black hair greying at the sides, surprised-looking eyebrows, and black-rimmed spectacles perched on a big nose. He relishes the good life that goes with being foreign secretary.

He is acknowledged to be hard working and sometimes brilliant. But there are those who feel the head of Britain's foreign service also should be diplomatic. That Brown isn't, they say.

"I think the country has to make up its mind whether it will accept me as I am, because there is not the slightest chance of my changing," he told a television interviewer last month.

Brown was just as candid when asked about his drinking. Sir Winston Churchill liked alcohol, too, he said, but there was no unwritten rule not to write about that.

He knows his limitations. Asked on television if he'd like to have Harold Wilson's job, Brown replied: "I don't believe I have what you need to be prime minister. I am much too aggressive, too assertive."

The foreign office staff live in fear of what will come next.

Brown was born in London's crowded borough of Southwark on the south bank of the Thames, four weeks after the outbreak of The First World War.

Brown first ran for Parliament in 1938 and lost. When a general election was next held after the war, he won the Derbyshire seat of Belper in 1945 and has held it ever since.

He has been married for 20 years to the former Sophie Lefone and has two grown daughters, Frieda and Patricia.

Although official duties keep him out until midnight or later most nights, Brown is usually up by 6 a.m. and singing in his bath.

He is generally considered a moderate in politics, though the Israelis have accused him of favoring the Arabs. He is heart and soul in favor of Britain's joining the European Common Market.

His tongue is sharp, his cheeks flush as his hackles rise, and the words come tumbling out with angry vehemence.

Delegates in Agreement

No Easy Solution to Northern Development

EDMONTON (CP) — A national conference struggled Wednesday to find ways of boosting northern development, but the 400 delegates concluded no quick and easy solutions were available.

The conference, sponsored jointly every three years by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines and Resources, has today and Friday remaining to try to iron out the wrinkles.

Conference chairman W. S. Ziegler of Edmonton suggested long-range solutions would have to be found.

Fourteen speakers, ranging from the chief archaeologist of the National Museum of Canada to an Eskimo from Inuvik, N.W.T., sketched the North as they saw it in the past, present and future.

Victor Allen of Inuvik, 1,500 miles north of Edmonton, received a standing ovation from the delegates for saying the only way to develop the North is for persons of all racial origins to pull together in a common purpose. In the North, "we're united as Canadians."

Ray Reierson, Alberta's minister of education and labor, said that "if you're going to get people to move north, you've got to accentuate the North's similarities with the rest of Canada, not its differences."

Clare White, senior vice-president of Canadian Bechtel Ltd., said that while the value of northern mineral production had increased 250 per cent since 1953, the value of timber production in the rest of the country increased only 155 per cent. He predicted the North will "receive an added amount of attention in the coming 10 years" from mineral development interests.

John D. Christian, president and general manager of Cassiar Asbestos Corp. Ltd., said that "perhaps the key" to enticing workers north as well as improving the qualifications of workers already there, could be found in on-the-job training programs at both the apprenticeship and journeyman levels.

Mr. Allen, 39-year-old vice-president of the Inuvik Association at Inuvik, said earlier that while Eskimos definitely want their children to be educated, they themselves want training to qualify them for permanent regular wage jobs. The Inuvik Association's program is to introduce northern natives to the white man's ways and culture.

Mr. Christian, Mr. White, Mr. Reierson and Don DeLaporte spoke as members of a panel discussing "Northern manpower: now and future."

Mr. DeLaporte, general manager of both Giant Yellowknife Mines Ltd. and United Keno Hill Mines Ltd., said the Northwest Territories council should keep in mind the "quite different situation in the North" when formulating a labor act. The council should not hoist its act with southern legislation.

Lt.-Gov. J. W. Grant MacEwan of Alberta noted that 72 per cent of Canada's 20,000,000 people live along a southern ribbon within 100 miles of the Canada-United States border, while 37 per cent live within 200 miles of the border.

He said he would like to take all Canadians on a tour of their country and show them the North where "fewer than one-quarter of one per cent of our population lives."

"Understanding one's nation is a prerequisite to nationhood," he said.

The Tale of Winnie the Two Labor Gauge

LONDON (CP)—The British Labor government's wobbling popularity is on the line today but there's more public interest in the fate of a pair of breezy personalities than in how voting in three bye-elections will affect the political statistics.

"Win with Winnie," is the official slogan of Mrs. Winifred Ewing, a piano-thumping housewife who has jazzed up the sluggish Scottish Nationalist party in Hamilton. It could also serve for Winston S. Churchill, grandson of the original Winnie and Conservative candidate in Gorton.

The byelections also serve as possible gauges of how the current may be running between the Labor and Tory parties. Prime Minister Wilson's big parliamentary majority is in no danger and a general election is 3½ years off.

All three ridings at stake today—Leicester Southwest is the third—went Labor in the 1966 general election with majorities up to Hamilton's 16,000.

Few expect Mrs. Ewing to pick off this Scottish territory for the Nationalists, but she has been appealing strongly to the saving Scots with attacks on the London's "spendthrifts."

In the dreary Lancashire riding of Gorton, the working-class populace never has seen such an assortment of international reporters and photographers as trailed Winston Churchill, 27, while he whizzed around vaulting over householders' front fences, shaking every hand in sight and dispensing bales of photographs displaying his toothpaste-ad smile.

In his first run at politics, observers figure him to make a highly respectable showing in the Labor bastion that will at least mark him well up in the list of future Tory prospects.

Civilians Are Shields For Viet Cong Attack

SAIGON (AP)—Herding civilians in front of them as human shields, Viet Cong forces launched a prolonged attack today on Loc Ninh. The total number of Viet Cong reported killed in six days of fighting for the district headquarters climbed past 850.

Under cover of a mortar barrage, the Viet Cong made a ground assault on newly arrived U.S. infantry reinforcements shortly after midnight, and sporadic action was reported more than 12 hours later.

Reports today said three Americans and 28 Viet Cong were killed and 34 Americans wounded. The defenders of Loc Ninh, grown to about 5,000 with arrival of a battalion from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division, have reported a total of 11 Americans and 23 South Vietnamese killed and 68 Americans and 74 South Vietnamese wounded in the six-day battle.

U.S. officers said the Viet Cong tactic of sending civilians ahead of the attack forces "naturally restricted" the defenders' answering fire in the first stages of fighting today around the town, 72 miles north of Saigon near the Cambodian border.

But the defenders hit the Viet Cong with artillery, air strikes and C-47 planes armed with rapid-fire gatling guns.

Loc Ninh, hub of a rubber-producing area on the main route from Saigon to Cambodia, has some military and economic value, said Col. Frederick Kruse, chief of staff of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division. But he said the Viet Cong's "seemingly blind determination" to take the town results more from the political, psychological and propaganda value such a victory would have."

Canada's Aid to Saigon 'A Mess'

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Michael C. Hall of Toronto, an orthopedic surgeon and medical teacher who spent three years in Vietnam, said Thursday that many Vietnamese students who train in Canada under two-year scholarships provided by this country are draft-dodgers who never return home.

This was only one of several charges made by Dr. Hall, who served in Vietnam under a Canadian external aid office contract from 1964 until last April, in an appearance before the Commons external affairs' committee.

He said nearly all his recommendations for Canadian medical aid to Vietnamese civilian war casualties were ignored.

He said Herbert O. Moran, former director of the external aid office and now Canadian ambassador to Japan, wrote him only once during his three years in Vietnam and that was to complain about something Dr. Hall had told a newspaper man.

Dr. Hall also questioned figures given the Commons Oct. 11 by External Affairs Minister Martin showing that Canada ranks third in foreign aid to Vietnam with a total of $8,- 800,000 since 1953.

He said the U.S., France, Japan, West Germany, Australia and Thailand have all given more aid to Vietnam than Canada and that he failed to understand Mr. Martin's statement.

Andrew Brewin (NDP—Toronto Greenwood) said Mr. Martin should be called before the committee to give an explanation.

The Liberals made a last-minute effort to put Maurice Strong, present director of external aid, in the witness box but the Conservatives said Mr. Martin could speak for himself.

The minister, Mr. Strong and Dr. Hall are all expected to appear at the committee's next meeting Nov. 9.

Dr. Hall described Canadian aid to Vietnam as a "mess" and gave these details:

—A three-year-old proposal to establish a rehabilitation centre for child amputees was still under consideration.

—Also still under consideration was his 1964 request for Canadian technicians to make artificial limbs for civilian war wounded.

—The external aid office would not pay the minimum salaries asked by Canadian nurses who wanted to serve in Vietnam.

—Canadian surplus butter and wheat was sent to Vietnam though the Vietnamese had no ovens to bake bread and only the rich had refrigerators.

—The only medical supplies ever sent him by the external aid office were enough bandages for two or three days and enough rubber gloves for two or three weeks. He had asked for medicine, including antibiotics to treat tuberculosis patients.

—He had had to pay personally the air freight on some equipment sent to the University of Hue.

—He had become a "professional beggar" seeking medical supplies from unbeatable organizations and the representatives of other countries.

—One of the 10 prepacked hospital units sent to Vietnam for civilian use was given to a Vietnamese military hospital.

—The beds for these units were "flimsy camp cots."

—No Canadian official had ever called on him at any of the hospitals he had worked in in Vietnam. He had been unable to practise surgery as a result of the lack of support.

—There were six Canadian medical personnel in Vietnam and Canada ranked 12th among 14 countries in this regard.

—Canada had done nothing to help provide shelter for the nearly 2,000,000 refugees.

Dr. Hall said "We are making a profit out of the Vietnam war whether we like it or not."

Canadian sales of arms to the U.S. had increased since 1959 by $320,000,000 from $90,000,000. Canadian explosives and aircraft were in Vietnam.

"And clothing?" asked Warren Allmand (L—Montreal — Notre Dame de Grace).

"Green berets," said Dr. Hall.

Wishart Opposes Raise In Juvenile Age Limit

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney General Arthur Wishart of Ontario says he does not believe an increase in the official age of juveniles to 18 from 16 would solve the problem of keeping young persons off the streets of Yorkville village.

In an interview Thursday night, Mr. Wishart said police are doing an efficient job in Yorkville—Toronto's mid-town hippie district—and any change in the Juvenile Act requires careful study.

The attorney-general was commenting on police complaints that they are unable to control youngsters over 16 because they are not subject to the 9:30 p.m. province-wide curfew.

In a series of interviews Thursday in the village, hippies told reporters that few Yorkville girls get pregnant because there are few downtown doctors who readily supply them with prescriptions for birth control pills.

None of the hippies would identify themselves, but one said: "They (doctors) gave pills to girls who say they are 18 and living in the village. The older girls give them to the 14-year-olds and the 15-year-olds."

Sixteen Hurt in Riot In North Carolina City

WINSTON - SALEM, N.C. (AP)—An eight-block section of downtown Winston-Salem remained sealed off today following a night of racial violence and looting put down by 400 national guardsmen and helmeted police.

Three Negroes treated for gunshot wounds were among 16 persons injured, including seven policemen, and 31 persons were arrested.

Although the downtown section was quieted by early morning, firebombings and reports of sniper fire kept police and firemen busy in other sections of the city.

A service station and a furniture store burned in other areas but there were no reports of persons wounded outside the downtown area.

Mayor W. C. Benton blamed the violence on "a bunch of hoodlums who have taken advantage of a situation."

This is the excuse they have been waiting for.

"We're going to stop it. Whatever force it takes to stop it, we'll use it."

Negro leaders also called for an end of the violence.

Rev. J. T. McMillan of the Winston-Salem chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said: "This riot is adding injury to the injury, to the race and to racial understanding."

The guardsmen were mobilized on the orders of North Carolina Governor Dan Moore Thursday night.

The violence had erupted four hours earlier following funeral services for a Negro who died after being struck by a policeman. Murder charges against the officer were dismissed but Solicitor Thomas W. Moore said today the case would be revived because of "other evidence."

Congo Asks Help

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The government of The Congo has asked for a UN Security Council session to deal with an invasion by white mercenary and African soldiers from neighboring Portuguese Angola, a Congolese spokesman said Thursday.

Government sources in Kinshasa, the Congolese capital, said the invaders seized a train and some trucks and were bearing down on Lumumbashi, formerly Elisabethville and the capital of Katanga province. Unconfirmed reports said the troops had taken Jadotville, a fortified copper mining town about 100 miles from Lumumbashi.

In Washington, Foy D. Kohler, deputy undersecretary of state, said he has the Portuguese ambassador to express alarm and a U.S. spokesman said his government took a "grave view" of the developments.

Chinese Walk Out

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Two Chinese diplomats today walked out of a Kremlin rally marking the anniversary of the Russian Revolution when Soviet Communist Leader Leonid Brezhnev accused the Chinese leadership of trying to split the world Communist movement.

The Soviet Communist party chief also accused the Chinese of hindering Vietnamese Communists in their struggle against the "criminal aggression" of the United States.

He claimed the Soviet Army has the best weaponry in the world, and "in a clash with any aggressor the Soviet Union will win a victory."

Russia today launched Cosmos 190, the latest in a series of unmanned satellites, the Soviet news agency Tass announced.

Gordon Wants Medicare in '68

TORONTO (CP)—Walter Gordon, president of the Privy Council, warned Thursday the Liberal government may lose support of the ordinary people if it backs down on medicare.

Speaking to a group of University of Toronto alumni, he said his government will honor its July 1, 1968, deadline for introduction of a comprehensive medical care plan.

Medicare was a major plank in the Liberal election platform in 1965.

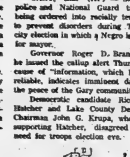
Mr. Gordon said some government programs should be put off in the need to cut federal spending as a step in combating inflation.

"But when you agree to go through with one, you should live up to it, especially if it was made during an election campaign."

Troops Called Out To Police Gary Vote

GARY, Ind. (AP) — State riot police and National Guard troops are being ordered into racially tense Gary to prevent disorders during Tuesday's city election in which a Negro is running for mayor.

Governor Roger D. Branigin said he issued the calling alert Thursday because of "information, which I believe reliable, indicates imminent danger to the peace of the Gary community."



Democratic candidate Richard G. Hatcher and Lake County Democratic Chairman John G. Krupa, who is not supporting Hatcher, disagreed on the need for troops election eve.

Hatcher said: "I am absolutely unaware of any imminent danger to the peace of the Gary community."

Krupa countered: "I think their presence here will help to minimize any flareups, but I know there will be flareups."

Hatcher has filed a suit in U.S. district court against Krupa, as county clerk and election board secretary, of purging voter registration lists of many qualified Negroes and adding phoney names of white persons.

Krupa has accused Hatcher of supporting "Black Power" advocates, which Hatcher denies.

U.S. Ships Abandon Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States deep-water shipping "is not interested in serving the heartland of the U.S.," Senator William Proxmire said Thursday.

Proxmire charged that U.S. shipping interests are "virtually abandoning" the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway to foreign-flag vessels.".

Soviet ships made as many trips through the seaway this year as the entire U.S. flag fleet did, he said.

LaPierre Blames Disunity on Press

VANCOUVER (CP) — Laurier LaPierre described Thursday night the business that made him a national celebrity — journalism — as one of the major factors behind Canada's French-English national unity crisis.

Mr. LaPierre told a public meeting of 600 persons that television and radio, and newspapers in particular, have consistently misrepresented French Canada to English Canada and English Canada to French Canada.

"News from Quebec is always distorted in the English-language press," the NDP national vice-president said. "You get the impression that all French-Canadians are nothing more than a bunch of separatists out to kill the Queen."

Mr. LaPierre said the same distortion occurs in what French-Canadians read.

Shad May Become Commercial Fish

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP) — A commercial company is experimenting with the use of a Great Lakes nuisance fish, alewives, or "shad," as an edible food, the Georgian Bay Regional Development Council was told Wednesday.

The alewives, tiny fish whose dead bodies washed ashore in the millions have ruined beaches on Georgian Bay, Lake Huron and Lake Ontario, are also considered a threat to more profitable fish because their vast numbers deprive larger species of the oxygen they need for survival.

News Briefs

TORONTO (CP) — An application by three Yorkville hippies to cite Con. Allan Lamport and John Bassett, publisher of The Telegram, for contempt was dismissed Thursday. Mr. Justice W. A. Donohue of the Ontario Supreme Court ruled that Mr. Lamport had the right, and, because of his office, perhaps the duty to reprove the hippies for an Aug. 20 sit-down demonstration.

Army-Air Co-ordination

Operation "new horizon," the air-lift of 450 troops and 129 vehicles of the 1st Battalion Canadian Guards was launched from CFB Trenton yesterday. The UN standby peace-keeping force is being transported to CFB Gagetown in New Brunswick within three days.

Canadian Guards from Picton Airlift to Camp Gagetown

TRENTON — Tons of military vehicles and a Canadian Army battalion were under the stopwatch yesterday, launching exercise "New Horizon."

The operation will see 450 members of the 1st Battalion Canadian Guards of Camp Picton airlifted from Air Transport Command headquarters at the Canadian Forces Base here to CFB Gagetown by Saturday.

Also involving the transport of about 130 vehicles, "New Horizon" is intended to stimulate action to be taken in the event of a United Nations request for a Canadian peacekeeping contingent.

Camp Picton's 1st Canadian Guards were designated as Canada's U.N. standby force in 1964.

Four Hercules aircraft will make 32 round trips between CFB Trenton and the New Brunswick base to complete the three-day airlift.

Once there, says battalion Captain James McElroy, the troops may be engaged in field exercises ranging from simulated anti-terrorist procedure, to "obsogree" activity.

"Brigade headquarters tells us where we're going but not what we're going to be doing when we get there," said Captain McElroy, anxiously timing yesterday's initial "New Horizon" flights from temporary headquarters set up in a nearby hangar.

"We do this type of exercise constantly, as part of our U.N. role. It's very demanding — we must be prepared to be infantrymen and peace-keepers."

The physical problems accompanying the massive air shuttle fall on the shoulders of men like Flight Lieutenant William Forbes, a Mobile Air Movements officer at CFB Trenton.

"It's mainly a matter of timing," says F/L Forbes.

But there's more than timing involved in organizing men, jeeps, trucks and general stores for the two and a half hour flight to CFB Gagetown.

Each Hercules 130 has a 45,000-pound load capacity, or, two trucks and trailers, 20 troops, and a healthy supply of rations or extra gear.

In the first six hours of the airlift, two Hercules had arrived back at CFB Trenton, ready to accommodate their second cargo.

Inside Job--Military Style

A CFB Trenton mobile air movements officer F/L. William Forbes is one of the Air Transport Command key personnel involved in operation "new horizon." Here he chats with Guardsman D. C. Elgie, a member of Camp Picton 1st Canadian Guards Battalion being 'airlifted to New Brunswick.

Marmora Scene of Banquet for Centennial Year Warden

Hastings county last night paid tribute to its Centennial year warden.

The occasion was the annual warden's banquet, this year held at the Sacred Heart Parish Home in Marmora with Warden William A. Shannon and Mrs. Shannon as hosts.

Close to 300 county councillors, county officials and their wives, along with area civic and parliamentary representatives and other guests enjoyed a turkey dinner served by the Marmora Catholic Women's League and listened to a program of speech making paying tribute to the 55-year-old Marmora reeve, who during Centennial year has guided the destinies of Hastings county.

Also, there was the customary round of toasts and responses with many of the speakers referring to the growing spirit of inter-county and county-city co-operation.

The consensus of these speakers seemed to be of increasing hope for the eventual realization of some form of regional government.

Belleville Mayor Jack Ellis in response to a toast to the guests, said county-city relationships had improved just a little during the past four years.

Referring to last week's counties' association convention at Niagara Falls at which regional government was discussed, Mayor Ellis said it was entirely possible that Belleville could again become part of Hastings.

"County-city destinies are entwined and maybe that wouldn't be too bad, but we still have to do a little work," he said.

Prince Edward County Warden R. S. Boyce also felt there would have to be much done before regional government came about.

"But it can be done," he said.

Clarke T. Rollins, MPP for Hastings riding, said he believed in county government in the enlarged Bay of Quinte High School district which will come into being next year.

All objectives could be carried out by county governments "working in unity" he said.

In his address of welcome, Warden Shannon reviewed county accomplishments during Centennial Year.

More than $2,000,000 had been spent on roads alone this year, while the new $9,000,000 county-city owned Belleville General Hospital was drawing near to completion and $2,000,000 had been spent on homes for the aged at Belleville and at Bancroft.

Also new central schools had replaced the little red schoolhouses.

Warden Shannon expressed his appreciation for the honor of being Warden during Canada's Centennial year and also for the harmony and co-operation shown by county councillors.

He also extended appreciation to Hastings MPP Clarke Rollins and to Elmer Sandercock, former member for Hastings West. Little would be accomplished at the county level without their support, he said.

Dr. R. T. Potter, MPP for Quinte riding was unable to attend.

Warden Shannon referred to the "greater understanding" existing between the county and Belleville, Trenton, and the county of Prince Edward.

He said it had been a "big decision" for Belleville in agreeing to participation in the enlarged Bay of Quinte High School district which will come into being next year.

County Clerk-treasurer Carl Bateman as chairman for the banquet program also referred to the expansion of county services during the year.

These included development roads, joining of the Hastings and Prince Edward Health Units with Trenton later coming in, new county home facilities at Belleville and Bancroft, and the consolidation of public and high school areas.

"There are those who would say all this is indicative of things to come," said Mr. Bateman referring to the trend toward regional government.

Other speakers at the banquet included Hastings county Judge J. C. Anderson, Rod Welsh, MP for Hastings-Frontenac; M. Vancamp, warden of Northumberland and Durham counties, and C. Metcalfe, warden of Peterborough county.

Marmora township reeve, John Wilkes, responded to the toast to the banquet guests referring to Warden Shannon as a "great humanitarian."

The county's decision to become part owner of Belleville General Hospital and the formation of the Hastings county Health Unit, had been largely because of Mr. Shannon's efforts, he said.

"I say it was a job well done."

Tweed Reeve, Mrs. A. G. Allen, the only woman member of county council, introduced the ex-wardens with response coming from Lee Grills, now Hastings South MP, who was warden of the county back in 1952.

Warden and Mrs. Shannon were the recipients of several gifts, including presentations from the county, his local municipality and from family members.

"It's just like Christmas," said Mrs. Shannon to her warden husband.

Will Perform Russian Classic

The National Ballet of Canada became the first North American Company to perform the Russian Classic "Bayaderka" in 1966 — it is one of the revered masterpieces of ballet.

Originally a full length ballet in four acts "Bayaderka" was first performed in St. Petersburg in 1877. The ballet is by Marius Petipa, known best for his "Swan Lake," and is the tragic story of Solor, a young Indian warrior, and Nikiya, the most beautiful of the dancers at the temple.

The last act finds Nikiya murdered by the jealous Rajah and Solor follows her spirit into the Kingdom of the Shades. With the exception of Solor, the ballet is performed exclusively by girls. It is another first for Canada.

The National Ballet will be making two performances in Belleville this weekend beginning tonight at 7.30 p.m. at the Centennial Secondary School. The special program tonight includes a teen-dance "Ballyhoo" to be held after the performance. Students tickets tonight only are $1.50 and are available at Thomas' Cigar Store in Belleville and Tripp's Cigar Store in Trenton and the school office.

The performance tomorrow evening commences at 8.30 with reserved seats available. Tickets are $1.50, $2.50, and $3.50 and reception tickets for the Sun Valley are $2.50. Among the ballets performed will be "Bayaderka," "Nutcracker," "Rondo Giocoso" and "Lilac Garden."

"Bayaderka"--A Canadian First

Veronica Tennant, Vaness Harwood and Nadia Polita, three soloists in the National Ballet of Canada's revival of the Marius Petipa classic, "Bayaderka." The company first mastered the choreography in 1966 and will perform the ballet at the Centennial Secondary School Saturday night.

Cut-back May Cancel Out New Post Office

NAPANEE — A cut-back in federal public works expenditures may cancel out plans for a new post office here.

Douglas Altenbrek (PC-Prince Edward-Lennox) said Wednesday he is trying to learn if the federal building is still on the Public works' list but he isn't having much luck.

He spoke to the minister (George McIlraith) last week and he said he'd let me know," Mr. Altenbrek said.

Although the federal building has been in the planning stage for the past two years, funds for construction have not been levied, according to Mr. Altenbrek.

The Cabinet this week trimmed about $825 million from next year's estimates by cutting out new programs and restraining expenditures.

Fewer Forest Fires This Year,

There were fewer forest fires in Quinte district bushland this year — but the loss rate was comparatively high.

During the six-month hazard season ending Oct. 31, Department of Lands and Forests fire teams dousing 112 outbreaks in Tweed district forests.

The fires gouged out 668 acres from local timberland.

By comparison, in a four-year period, 165 acres were lost in 155 fires in 1964, 732 acres in 136 outbreaks in 1965 and 649 acres in 140 fires last year.

His Littlest Recruit

Brig. Eric Snow, former Eastern Ontario army group commander has inspected many a new addition to the ranks. Now retired and Ontario commissioner St. John Ambulance he viewed probably his youngest recruit of all in Belleville last night — eight-year-old Becky St. Pierre, standing among cadet honor guard.

Achievement Awards Presented

Even out of military uniform Brig. Eric Snow rates reins an honor guard — even if the guard never has and never will see barrack square bashing.

As Ontario commissioner of St. John Ambulance, the brigadier, now retired, travelled from Toronto last night to preside at the Belleville unit's annual award night.

So, the city St. John group decided to observe protocol and give him an honor guard — of young girl cadets, youngest of whom was eight years of age.

The guard, marshalled by Mrs. Harold Reid, caught Brig. Snow unawares as he walked through the armory entrance, where as former Eastern Ontario Army commander he frequently inspected militia parades.

However, his reaction was one of pleasant surprise and he also observed protocol by reviewing the turnout with as much interest as if he were inspecting a crack regimental lineup.

Later, the retired military man had high praise for the adults as he presented the St. John awards to local individuals.

Heading the achievement list were representatives from Radio Station CFBQ, recognized for service to St. John Ambulance by increasing public awarness of the corps' work.

Recognition for long and faithful contributions came from national headquarters to corps Lt. (Mrs.) Francis William Wilson, and his wife, Sgt. Gladys Wilson.

Hastings Riding Vote Counted

Some 67 per cent of the eligible voters in Hastings riding went to the polls in the Oct. 19 Ontario election.

The big electoral sprawl which represents 23 of Hastings County's 24 townships has 18,433 qualified general-election voters. Exactly 12,432 went to the provincial polls and of this total only 79 ballots were rejected, district returning officer Ken Vivian reported today.

The statistics were revealed at the official count of poll returns from election night ended at the Shannonville returning office.

There was change from the first returns relayed election night from the 114 polls scattered throughout the riding.

Both Conservative incumbent Clarke Rollins and his Liberal opponent, Paul Russell, gained marginally as the poll returns were completed and recounted. Sydney Roger, the NDP candidate, had his total vote slightly reduced.

The Cookie Clean-up!

Formally over, these members of cadet honor guard at St. John Ambulance award night in city armory, became normal youngsters all over again. With refreshments on tap, they crowded around for their share of cookies and pop.

Official Town Plan Recommended by Experts

NAPANEE — A meeting of considerable significance in Napanee's development took place in the council chambers. Two representatives of the Department of Planning and Development from Toronto gave information to the council members, and to the members of the Napanee planning board regarding the steps to be taken to secure an official plan of the town. Members of the Napanee Planning Board are Wesley Altenbrek, Ralph Bell, Gordon MacGregor and Week Poole.

The importance of such a plan came to light earlier this year when the town council attempted to gain approval of its housing bylaw from the Department of Municipal Affairs. Word was received that such approval could not be given until the town had an official plan. In order to gain further information, Mayor Lorne Smart and Carson Graham, clerk-treasurer consulted the Department of Municipal Affairs, which agreed to send representatives to such a meeting as was held last week.

The meeting was a fruitful one, although no decisions were made. The representatives volunteered information, and answered the many questions asked. The town officials now have a much clearer picture of the necessity of such a plan, the procedure necessary to have it made, and a rough idea of its cost to the town. They know, also, the benefit the town will receive once the plan is made and implemented.

Winter Carnival Planned

TWEED — The Chamber of Commerce members of Tweed Village and rural plans at a meeting earlier this week, for the third annual Winter Carnival. The directors met at Hotel Tweedsmuir. The 1968 carnival will be held February 9, 10 and 11, with a program including a parade, hockey games, snowmobile races, street dances, bonfires and the most popular event of past seasons, a pancake breakfast.

Keoneth Thompson will arrange for bands to take part in the parade.

Another feature this season will be bumper stickers advertising the carnival. Also, which have proved popular in past years, will also be on sale.

Keith Coston and Clyde Bell are named signing officers for the retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce and authorized to pay outstanding accounts. Donald LeSage attended the meeting as a representative of the Kinsmen Club of Tweed. Mr. LeSage and Kenneth Little were appointed to study the possibility of the two organizations holding a joint draw for a valuable prize in connection with the carnival.

Front Road United Church To Mark 94th Anniversary

The congregation of Front Road United Church will mark its 94th anniversary at a service Nov. 5. Rev. Bruce Besley will be guest minister and a lunch will be served after the service. A tea and reception will be held in the afternoon.

The board of Kingston Road Wesleyan Methodist Church bought the land for the present church from the Cooper family on May 15, 1873. Later the church was renamed Front Road and placed on the Shore Anne circuit.

Ministers serving the charge since 1900 include the Rev. Paul, the Rev. Ross, the Rev. Coombe, Rev. J. M. Cleary, Rev. W. T. Wickett, the Rev. Robson, Rev. A. E. Cameron, Rev. Frank Anderson, the Rev. Beck, Bruce Harrison, the Rev. Brown, the Rev. Sharp, the Rev. Keough, the Rev. Harrine, Dwight Dilts, Rev. O. E. Wagar, Bruce Besley, the Rev. Dwyer, Gordon Heall, Rev. Ro Vessey, Rev. Alexander Mc. Dowell and Dr. H. Swann.

Mrs. George Greatrix and Miss Belle Claxie organized the Ladies Aid in 1917. This group held lawn socials and fowl suppers to raise funds. It built a church hall for social functions in 1936, under the leadership of Mrs. T. J. Brown and Mrs. Robert Bell. In 1955 the church and hall were redecorated and modern equipment has been added over the years.

The Rev. Edwards began the Sunday School between 1880 and 1890. The late William Claxie, a member of John St. Presbyterian Church accepted the position of superintendent. Succeeding a superintendents have been Arthur Cooper, Arthur Bain, Joe May, James Maidmonts, Jack Simmons, Mrs. T. J. Brown, Morris Bradshaw, Gilmour Bain, Miss Lois Bradshaw, Miss Louise Taylor, Orlo Carr, Mrs. Brown.

In 1937 the boys' Sunday School class, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Claxie, was responsible for having the church and hall wired for electricity and donated pay for the service as long as the class remained in operation. The girls' Sunday School class, Mrs. Brown as teacher, donated draw curtains for the church, window blinds, Bible and hymnaries.

Economies in the Wind

One of the sternest critics of Federal Government spending is Premier Ross Thatcher of Saskatchewan.

Mr. Thatcher has warned that if spending continues at the present rate it could lead to a recession and devaluation of the dollar. This, coupled with a serious shortage of capital at the present time is eloquent of the difficulties that may lie in the background of what superficially at any rate is a prosperous economy.

Saskatchewan for its part has decided to cut back on a number of projects.

Ottawa, too, seems to be heeding the warnings, being sounded on the need to curb spending. One measure under consideration is the elimination of Saturday mail delivery other than to business establishments.

Postmaster-General Cote says cutting out Saturday delivery would effect a saving of $10 million. This, together with the recent proposal to increase letter rates by a cent — which would add at least $25 million to the federal treasury — should go far toward putting the post office at least on a stronger financial footing.

Other Government departments will have to follow suit. As one observer has put it, "What became of the Glassco Commission?" This was the body which studied the proliferation of Government activities and made numerous suggestions how wasteful practices might be eliminated. This report should be taken out of the files once again and studied closely. Meanwhile Postmaster-General Cote's lead is a commendable one.

South African Ports Busy

With the closing of the Suez canal as a result of the Arab-Israeli war, South African ports are enjoying a big upsurge in traffic. Hundreds of vessels are now following the traditional route between the Western world and the East.

Cape Town, Durban and to a lesser extent, Port Elizabeth and London, says the Goodwood Handshake, a bulletin issued by the Rotary Club of Goodwood in Cape Province, are filled with ship-to-shore, liners and tankers.

Such a boom, of course, is ironic in view of world opposition to South Africa's racist (apartheid) policy. The Goodwood bulletin says that notwithstanding the United States' boycott of South Africa with regard to the aircraft carrier Roosevelt, other U.S. vessels have used the republic's port facilities since, and without any landing restrictions being placed on their crews.

Nineteen British warships have visited Cape Town and the naval base at Simonstown over a period of two months to take on supplies. At one time recently 253 ships lay in South African ports — twice the normal average.

Another illustration of this new "marriage of convenience" between South Africa and its erstwhile friends is the fact that the United States has placed an order for more than a million dollars worth of South African-made military equipment.

The equipment is not specified, but it is a product evolved by the South African Council for Scientific and Industrial Research. This deal has been concluded despite the fact that under a United Nations embargo the United States has refused to supply any arms or equipment to South Africa.

This is what is known in international affairs as the pragmatic approach to a situation. In other words, for purely practical reasons, both the United States and Britain find South African aid is essential to their security.

Political "Action"

In Latin America politics and violence are inextricably interwoven. Occasionally personal vendettas are involved.

In Uruguay, for instance, President Oscar Gestido is reported to have taken leave from his office to fight a duel with his former finance minister, Senator Vasconcellos.

And in Bolivia recently the action has been centred on the tracking down of communist-inspired guerrillas. It was there, in the mountains of the interior that former Cuban guerrilla fighter Ernesto (Che) Guevara was gunned down by government troops, bringing to a close one of the more colorful sagas of the Latin American scene that began with Fidel Castro's revolution in Cuba.

A much more harmonious event has been reported from Mexico. In Juarez, President Johnson received a ticker tape reception as he rode through the city in an open-top car with President Diaz Ordaz of the host country. The occasion marked the end of a century-old border dispute between the two countries.

Belleville Arena Project

Can the City Afford A Large Expenditure at This Time?

AN EDITORIAL

* * *

Monday night Belleville city council must make some decisions on the proposed new arena.

Alderman Kenneth Soden claims that council indecision, squabbling and petty politicking has led to "confusion and nonsense." He calls for an affirmative vote and an immediate call for tenders.

Ald. Donald Williams states, "the need was proven in 1965 . . . the city has no modern facility of suitable size capable of catering to conventions, drama, symphony orchestras, concerts, roller skating, bingo and dances."

That confusion exists is evident. That it is nonsense is another matter.

* * *

There are some things being argued which are clouding the issue. That the fair grounds is the most economical site is beyond question. Parking is adequate. Kingston, Peterborough and Kitchener with bigger arenas do not provide any more parking than would be available at the fair grounds.

There is nothing incompatible with Ald. Soden's stand. After all, he is a director of the Senior A Mo-Hawk hockey club.

Neither is there anything at odds with Ald. Williams' most serious effort over the past two years. As an alderman he has been actively involved with the recreational facilities of this community he is to be commended for his civic concern.

However, there must be a considerable percentage of the electorate in Belleville which is not yet convinced a civic arena should have top priority at this time.

The arena question is not one of parking or of location. It is not really one of ventilation, types of seats or acoustic adaptability.

In its simplest form it boils down to the question — can the taxpayers of Belleville afford it?

* * *

Council has before it a report by L. S. Williams, recreation director. It is intended to support the claims for a new arena.

However, it raises some questions.

Anticipated operation loss is $25,000 annually. This does not include any deficit which would be accumulated by the old arena. Last year it was $16,000.

Revenue shows $5,000 for professional hockey. Peterborough shows revenue of $11,773 due to the Maple Leafs' training camp, but Kingston's revenue from its professional arrangement is lumped with junior, senior and minor hockey as well as ice rentals. This figure is set at $20,000.

This is the same figure Belleville has set for hockey but it has also budgeted additional revenue of $7,000 for minor hockey and professional hockey.

A comparison of operating costs shows Belleville with an anticipated minus $25,000; Kingston with minus $52,000; Peterborough with a plus $230 and Oshawa with a plus $11,690.

Oshawa, with a junior A team, showed 1966 revenue of $85,480 for hockey. Peterborough with a junior A, professional and minor hockey showed $44,000.

Belleville's anticipated revenue from hockey is set at $20,000.

The Williams report bases this on a 60-40 split of gate receipts for senior hockey and a 70-30 split for junior games, the arena in each case getting the minor split.

However, the Williams report also estimated an average attendance of 2,000 for senior games and a 500-1000 attendance for junior games.

Treasurer Kenneth Soden of the Belleville Mo-Hawks did not release attendance figures for last year's senior games, but it is doubtful if the average was more than 1,500. And if Bantam Belleville was probably the best drawing team in the league. A new arena could improve the attendances, but will it jump attendances 800-1,000 more than other teams playing in new arenas?

A big factor in Peterborough's operating plus of $230 was summer specials of $57,554. This was $27,000 more than Oshawa, $45,000 more than Kingston and $49,000 more than Belleville's anticipated revenue of $8,000.

* * *

Basically, a comparison of the available statistics shows one thing, arenas are not at a profit by providing ice surfaces. Those with large revenues have extremely high operating costs.

It points up one area the supporters of the arena have not developed. How many of Ontario's arenas are running at a deficit, (including both operating costs and debenture payments)? Of those running at a profit is it hockey revenue or outside events? Could the same profit be expected in Belleville?

* * *

There are proponents who will argue the capital debt to assessment ratio is a healthy one. The 17 per cent present ratio lies within the 20-25 per cent guide allowed by the Ontario Municipal Board.

But this is not sufficient reason to endorse capital expenditures which would bring the community closer to the danger point.

The capital debt at the end of 1965 was $10,604,960. Since then $1,355,346 in debentures have been sold and by the end of the year approximately $814,000 of debenture debt will be retired.

This leaves a $11 million-plus figure as the capital debt by the end of 1967. Over the next five years this figure is expected to climb to $30,000,000. Again, not out of line with OMB guidelines but a source of concern to taxpayers.

* * *

There is no question that at some time the community must face the expenditure for a new arena.

Even though it is claimed construction costs have risen 10 per cent in 10 months this is not sufficient reason to vote in the affirmative Monday.

The architects state working drawings are sufficiently advanced to allow for calling of tenders. There is not any doubt that an affirmative decision by council Monday will result in appeals to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Would it not be in the best interests of the community to agree to call for tenders but without committing the city to the expenditure?

Those in favor of the project could marshal their arguments in the interim. Those opposed could do the same.

The urgency of the situation cannot be of such magnitude that it outweighs the unanswered questions. A delay at this point is not an insurmountable defeat. Council should recognize this and vote accordingly.

Expo 67

A Tribute Mainly to "The Few"

Peterborough Examiner

Was Expo a triumph for Canadian unity, or was it more a victory for a few hundred talented Canadians — architects, designers, film-makers, builders, engineers and Mayor Jean Drapeau — who were determined to make Expo great despite the initial unenthusiasm of most Canadians.

Glorious as Expo was, it was not proof that Canadians are not colorless, it was not an example of what could be achieved by a united Canada (ironically, Canada showed signs of being less united in Centennial year than for many years previous), it was not an expression of the Canadian personality. Indeed it was not even characteristically Canadian; it drew, as it was intended, from cultures all over the world and reflected, as was intended, an international spirit and style with Canada the bonding agent.

Expo was a success despite Canada. It was a success because the Americans swamped us in numbers that far exceeded all predictions and had the good sense and taste to lavish praise on it. It was a success because Commissioner-General Pierre Dupuy enticed many nations to participate than ever had participated in a world's fair before. It was successful because Deputy Commissioner-General Robert Shaw was a driving, tough-minded businessman who knew how to get things done. And it was a success because Mayor Drapeau had the audacity to propose it and the determination to see it through.

But this is not to say that Canada has not benefited or that the national character has not perhaps been strengthened. What is important is that we learn from the lessons of Expo. We must cease being surprised and disbelieving when Canadians do something that is excellent.

Quebec Not Only Home Of French

Sault Ste. Marie Star

What about the half-million French Canadians who live in Ontario and the quarter-million who live in New Brunswick, not to mention those located elsewhere in the land? Quebec separatists, these French Canadians could hardly expect that the goal of bilingualism and biculturism would be pursued. Indeed, the cause would receive a death blow and it is inconceivable that French ever could be considered an equal language with English in a Canada minus Quebec.

ECM Rebuff Sparks Rumors...

Britain Contemplating Closer Ties With Communist Bloc

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain's struggle to gain European Common Market membership has degenerated into a pitiful spectacle, with the prime minister forced to deny a reported plan of action so far-fetched that it makes sense only in the context of a country contemplating national suicide.

The report, attributed to Lord Chalfont, Britain's Common Market negotiator, and now denied by both Chalfont and the prime minister, suggested the Labor government could break its North Atlantic defence commitments and recognize East Germany if France continues to block British entry into the European community.

While Chalfont maintains he was misquoted by reporters who heard his non-attributable remarks in Switzerland last week, there is conviction among knowledgeable observers in London that there was more than a morsel of truth in the widely-published report.

Prime Minister Wilson has been virtually trapped in his Common Market struggle. He has no real economic strength with which to shatter the French barrier and his reliance on West German goodwill to line up against President de Gaulle has produced no encouraging response.

One thing the West German government understands is political power. Britain has power to alter what exists. It could stop supporting the West German policy on reunification. It could abrogate its North Atlantic defence pledges to defend Berlin and to maintain troops in West Germany. It could even recognize East Germany, and thereby win the plaudits of the Soviet Union.

These moves are open to Britain but they are steps of grave desperation, perhaps bringing on many retaliatory acts in their wake that they would prove self-destructive. They might shatter West Europe but would they soften de Gaulle's heart? And would the United States stand idly by and allow Britain to destroy Western defence policy?

The fact such reports are aired at all—even if they are later formally disowned—may merely indicate to Common Market members that Wilson holds no major economic cards. He would need to resort to the meanest political tricks in order to force entry.

Thus, despite all the denials, the reports have caused almost hysteric disturbance in Europe. Perhaps more serious than the hints of threat are fragments of suggestions that Wilson's mind does not travel on orthodox lines.

Most observers have concluded that Britain, if it cannot get into the Common Market, might consider the alternative of a transatlantic arrangement with the United States and Canada. Because of the competitive edge of the North American market and the lack of encouragement in the U.S. and Canada, Wilson may have another thought in mind: A possible trade link-up with the Soviet Union, which has a huge consumer potential.

That kind of radical thinking would be shattering not only to Britain's friends in Europe but also in North America. It would be a weapon Wilson might in desperation use to gain greater support for his European drive.

But, again, the Western economic pressure that could be used against him would be so great that the result for Britain might be nothing less than economic chaos.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 3, 1947

A few lumbering camps, a scattering of wooden and brick houses connected by an unenclosed street was the picture presented by Belleville when, in the latter part of 1825, the Bank of Montreal opened an office here. Since that far-off day, 104 years ago, when the bank opened for business in a one-room building on Victoria Ave., the bank has three times moved to new quarters. The city's development being exceptionally rapid between 1911 and 1913, the bank found it necessary in 1922, to move to its present spacious quarters. Each of the city's five office since last November is Harry N. Becker, who celebrated his 32nd year of service with the institution a year ago when he succeeded retiring manager Thomas H. Dredge.

Mrs. William Mattis, Grove St., has returned home after visiting friends and relatives in Washington, Jersey City and Baltimore.

A.R. Galbraith of the CNR office in Woodstock, will succeed Cecil Christie in the CNR city ticket office here. Mr. Christie has been transferred to the railways city ticket office in Guelph.

Fire, which originated in the house of Harold Thompson at Rossmore totally destroyed that property and also gutted the Rossmore Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon. The Belleville fire department worked hard to save the church, but it was too far advanced. Fire Chief William Lynch and his staff put in three hours fighting the fire assisted by some local men.

Castle Nets Tidy Profit

Hamilton Spectator

Dundurn Castle is expected to show an operating profit of $31,600 this year. Not a spectacular yield but the $50,000 requested for the centennial restoration of Sir Allan MacNab's mansion, but a mark of a first-year run for Hamilton's first big - time plunge into civic show business.

Hamiltonians who have toured Dundurn would have been content to see the castle break even but at a small loss. A profit is a happy surprise and ample justification for keeping Dundurn in first class condition.

Business Seminars Have Become Big Business

MONTREAL (CP)—The business seminar has become a phenomenon of the times, in large cities it has taken on some of the aspects of an industry.

Thousands of executives are flocking to hotels nightly to listen to business experts and to discuss with their peers the latest management and business techniques. Thousands of dollars change hands in fees for materials, lectures and accommodations.

Although university professors often lecture at seminars, these events take on an atmosphere quite different from that of conventional education.

Business usually brings along some of its executive trappings. The location usually is a comfortable hotel meeting room where smoking is permitted, a coffee and cakes can be rolled in.

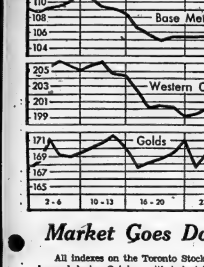
The atmosphere is relaxed, but the approach is serious. Those taking part are usually men on their way up, executives who suddenly have had to assume heavy managerial or administrative responsibilities and feel the need for better training. The proliferation of such seminars has sparked some concern. Businessmen wonder if all the courses are really worthwhile. Once a trend gets under way there is a tendency to get on the bandwagon. And seminar attendance could become a status symbol.

Seminars are offered across Canada by boards of trade, management and professional associations, private companies, investment and marketing accounting groups, among others.

The problem, say some businessmen, is finding the right seminar for the right men. If this is accomplished, seminars can provide a short cut to education with a minimum of interruption of job duties.

John McArthur of Montreal, director of the Canadian Management Centre of the American Management Association, heads an organization that conducts seminars for its 4,000 members across Canada.

"It is difficult to evaluate seminars," he said in a recent interview. "But many large and successful firms are active supporters. Their top executives are on our advisory council and they send their employees to the courses."



The cost of AMA seminars range from a $150 basic fee for a three-day course to $250 for a four-week management course.

Fees set by other organizations and private seminar operators range upward to about $250 a person for three days, plus hotel bills and downward to $5 a seminar for each person.

Many of the low-cost seminars are sponsored by boards of trade whose programs have been designed to help management get more up-to-date information in specific fields.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Stock Exchange continued to advance in moderate morning trading today.

The industrial index gained .38 to 157.50. Thursday, the index moved up .68—the first substantial gain in three weeks.

Levy Industries headed the list with a jump of 2 to 20¼.

Trading in the issue, which closed at 30¼ last week, was delayed at the opening to match buy-and-sell orders.

Inco and Oshawa A were up ¼ each to 112¾ and 23¾. International and Texas Mountain Pipe lines ¼ each to 21¼ and 20¾ and Moore Corp. ¼ to 39¾.

On the negative side, Thompson Newspapers dropped ¼ to 35, CPR ¼ to 69, Labatt ¼ to 24¼ and Bell Telephone ¼ to 44¼.

In base metals, Preston Mines fell ¼ to 19¾ and Denison ¼ to 83. Patino moved up 1 to 35¾ and Rio Algom ¼ to 34¼.

Among western oils, Hudson's Bay Oil dropped 1 to 36¼ as Central-Del Rio gained ¼ to 18.

Among speculatives, Contop dropped 2¢ to 50 cents.

On index, golds moved up .37 to 162.14. Western oils declined .37 to 193.35 and base metals .05 to 105.22.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 1,042,000 shares compared with 782,900 at the same time Thursday.

The market rallied in moderate trading Thursday.

However, the closing trend was down as the day's advance was cut in half in late activity. An hour before close, the index was up 1.38 to 157.82. The trend followed the New York market.

Brokers said the TSE gain was a technical rally caused by a heavily oversold position. But the advance could not withstand the New York downturn, they said.

Friday's slump shows the drop is caused by a temporary postponement of buying rather than from a selling spree."

Levy Industries paced the winners Thursday with a jump of 3¾ to 17¾.

Dofasco moved up 1¼ to 20¼, IMC 1¼ to 29½, Falconbridge 1¼ to 87¼, CPR ¼ to 69¼, Algoma Steel ¼ to 20¼ and Bell Telephone ¼ to 44¼.

On the negative side, Thompson Newspapers dropped 2 to 35¼, Versatile Manufacturing ¼ to 14¼ and Roman Corp. ¼ to 29½.

In base metals, Hollinger was off 1 to 21¼ and Roman Corp. ¼ to 27¼. Patino gained ¼ to 34¾.

Among western oils, Scurry-Rainbow fell ¼ to 29½ after rebounding 42¢ earlier in the day, and Banff declined ¼ to 14¾. Central-Del Rio was up ¼ to 17¾.

On index, western oils declined .88 to 194.32 and base metals .45 to 105.27. Golds were up .29 to 161.27.

Volume was 2,978,000 shares compared with 3,511,000 Wednesday. Declines outnumbered advances 234 to 213.

Great Future for Loyalist

A great future for Loyalist College's campus which in five or six years could be accommodating up to 1500 students, was forecast last night by the college board of governors vice-president Hastings County Judge J. C. Anderson.

Speaking briefly at the Hastings and Prince Edward dinner at the Sacred Heart Parish Hall at Marmora, Judge Anderson said there was a "great future" for Loyalist College in they Belleville area.

Despite competition from other seats of learning a good staff had been hired for Loyalist and Judge Anderson visualized up to 1500 students in attendance within five or six years.

Judge Anderson expressed his appreciation to both Hastings and Prince Edward counties for the nomination of them on college board of directors.

There was no mention of the college buildings will be erected, but a strong representation has been made for the permanent campus to be located at Belleville.

Decision on the site is now in the hands of the provincial council of regents.

Clarke T. Rollins, M.P.P. for the new Hastings riding, also referred to Loyalist College when he spoke at the warden's banquet.

Mr. Rollins said he was very interested in the community college and was anxious to see it built. He said the college would be a "great benefit" for the Quinte area.

In 1770 this famous Gin took London Town by storm

you can still taste the sensation today

Today, White Satin Gin is just as special, just as palatably sensational as it was in 1770 when Sir Robert Burnett invented his London Dry formula. Satin-smooth, decisively dry, White Satin is a tradition that's been kept alive by generations of good taste. Take a taste and see.

Canadian Sketch Showing Delights BCI Audience

By A. HENDERSON

Robert Browner, master craftsman, again last evening held the vast B.C.I. audience enthralled with his kaleidoscopic portrayal of "Canadian Sketches". From the Cabot Trail Drive around Cape Breton Island on the east to the Buchart gardens on the west, with its beautiful flowers and white arbors, each view was unsurpassed in composition and coloring — each scenic beauty was accompanied by appropriate hi-fidelity stereophonic music and sound effects recorded on the spot.

As a prelude to what was to follow the first slide showed a collection of gorgeously colored maple leaves, which in turn gave place to the new maple leaf flag, reminding one of the Centennial and the Expo just over.

At Gaspe the famous 'Perce' rock was seen cooling his feet in the broad Atlantic — the first sight of the New World to meet the gaze of Jacques Cartier — and as early as 1497 the Vikings had visited Canada. Many autumn scenes followed in quick succession, golden maples and larches; casting their reflections in the still blue waters. Bonaventure Island, with its myriads of birds in triple-apartments was a lovely sight their white plumage standing out against the pink granite coloring, and the blue waters of the ocean.

Travelling through Nova Scotia, (New Scotland) the little hamlets lay in peace along the quiet highways, the church spires pointing the way to higher things; and the still lakes nestling among the rolling hills brought forth the image of the bargipes.

At Quebec City with its impressive Chateau Frontenac, so like the medieval castles of old France. Most of the architectural type is strongly French. Here there are horse-drawn carriages for sight-seeing. The churches are awe-inspiring and beautiful.

At Ottawa the Parliament buildings were viewed, showing the fifteen foot six-inch dominion clock; from this point, the whole of the city may be viewed. Here at the Experimental Farm were seen the beautiful flowers, rows and rows of gorgeous coloring, and along the Rideau Canal driveway the tulips in bloom making a carpet of vibrating colors. The changing of the Guard was most impressive with their scarlet tunics.

Next on this delightful itinerary came the Limestone City —Kingston, the Ivy Lee Bridge; and the 1000 Islands nestled on the St. Lawrence River, with its scenic beauties; and then on to Niagara Falls with its plunging waters; showing the colored lighting effects, and the Maid of the Mist.

Other views included the Soo Canal through which pass per day more ships than through the Panama and Suez Canals combined; Windsor, and Detroit.

The next to be visited were the prairie provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, with their seemingly endless space, with miles and miles of waving grain; herds of horses; and then at Regina the legislative buildings, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police —the keepers of law and order.

Beyond the great Rockies with their sun-capped peaks, and mighty glaciers, and so-blue lakes; here, too, the Indians in all their colorful dress were noted in parades. At Bow Valley we watched the coming of the summer storm; saw the streaking lightning, and heard the mighty roll of thunder as it reverberated from mountain peak to mountain peak.

In Victoria, Vancouver, the Parliament Buildings were ablaze with light; every window, every door was outlined with electric lights shedding a glow upon the lovely gardens and flowers. Then miles from the city was one of the loveliest of rose gardens, each rose exquisite in its coloring and perfection of shape, from the bud to the full-bloom flower. A fitting finale to a glorious closed the travelogue.

All this beauty was portrayed by means of color screens, and four projectors — giving every thing a three-dimensional effect in panoramic manner. The musical program has been presented in some of the largest auditoriums in the country. Because of its outstanding beauty, Holland officials have commissioned Mr. Browner to present a similar travelogue of their country, undergoing all his expenses.

At the close of the travelogue the long-sustained applause spoke of the deep appreciation of the audience.

BATTLE OF THE HEMLINES — The go-lively set roots for thigh-high skirt, while the more reserved go for the "longies" which provide more grace and flow to a garment. Here model Pamela Clarke from England thinks both are great.

Mini Versus The Maxi Skirt

By Reba & Bonnie Churchill

It's the battle of the hemlines — the mini versus the maxi skirt! Which do you prefer? On one side of the wardrobe is the mini length, three inches (or more) above the knee, while the maxi it three inches (or more) below the knee. The fashion seesaw finds girls checking which style is most flattering to their figures. The go-lively set roots for the thigh-high skirt, agreeing it offers a flingy freedom, plus a chance to wear groovy boots or trousers. European designers cast glances toward the "longies," feeling added inches provide more grace and flow to a garment. Model Pamela Clarke, from England, has a split vote: "Both are wild and wonderful."

Mini skirt wearers have one question — "How to sit down?" Any girl who has ever perched on a cold marble bench or peeled out of a leather chair knows the problem. International designer Mariko offers a solution — a wool mini dress, with matching pants. The trousers go up and down at the touch of a ring. (The latter looks more like a button then a pulley.) Want to eat? Down come the pants. Want to walk? A quick twist of the ring and trousers go up, out of sight, and the ring slips into slit pockets. Regardless of the elevator ride, the fabric keeps its shape, and so do you!

P.S.: Want a mini or maxi hair style? Both versions, plus medi-length coiffures, are illustrated in our new, 12-page booklet, For a copy of these set and style tips, plus photos of the comb-out results send 50c and a self-addressed, non-stamped envelope to Reba & Bonne Churchill, New Tread Coiffures, c/o The Intelligencer, 80 Front St. W., Toronto.

The various officers' reports were read.

The purchase of dolls, the annual project of the women's association has been made and these are now ready to be dressed.

In a conversation with Mr. Lee Grills, M.P., the president was informed how well the caucus is working in Ottawa under the leadership of Mr. Robert Stanfield.

The women were thanked for their help in the recent provincial election, when Bob Welsh, Dr. R. T. "Dick" Potter was victorious.

At the November meeting, convened by Ward 1, some of the candidates for the municipal election will be invited to speak.

After the close of the business portion of the meeting a fun auction was held by the Ward group with Mrs. Ross Locke as official auctioneer.

Parents Advise Girl to Send Ring Back

Dear Doris: I am 18. My parents have just forced me to break up with my boy friend who is 20.

He went on holidays with us this summer. He is a bit forward in some ways, but I feel he will change. He made them feel embarrassed a couple of times so they begged me to send his ring back.

He now has a good job, and we want to get back together. What can I do to make my parents see he's not what they make him out to be?

They also got me to go back to school against my wishes. I told them I felt I would be much happier if I had a job and could be out on my own.

What can I do to make them not feel so protective over me and instead help me to make a few decisions for myself instead of always discouraging me? — Hemmed In

Dear Hemmed In: Famous last words: "Never mind. When I marry him I will reform him."

It doesn't happen that way. We simply have to size people up from the characteristics they show us; and if we think we have some magic trick to mould them as we want them, we are in for a shock.

You do need a chance to spread your wings and make a few mistakes; but try not to make the big ones, like dropping out of school too soon or choosing the wrong husband. Better take advantage of your parents' experience and their concern for you.

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Thank you for the sheet of wonderful poems you so kindly supplied to me for group reading. May God bless you for the beautiful thoughts expressed in your column.

Here is a small quotation that I wrote myself when willing to a dear friend:

"The sorrows that one has to bear
Make true friends seem like treasurers rare."

— A. M. D.

Dear A. M. D.: — And they are treasures rare. Don't let's ever forget it.

I'm not talking about the fair-weather kind; nor the kind that want something we have; but the kind that stick with us when we ourselves are not sure we can take what fate is handing out.

The friend who is loyal then is worth his weight in gold or diamonds. — And can make all the difference.

Confidential to Betrayed: To forgive and come back to a husband who has loved another takes courage. Also, maybe, a long hard look at the unattractive alternative.

No, you didn't do wrong to take him back. But he is a poor sport if he is now teasing you about the girls he has loved. It will take two of you to make a go of things now, working as hard at giving each other loving consideration as if your lives depended on it.

This injured plant which is your love for each other is going to take some tender cultivating by both of you if it is to blossom again.

What's troubling you? Putting it in paper to Doris is the first step towards solving your problem.

New Packaged Tarts Are Excellent

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: There are some new packages of butter tarts and lemon tarts in the store. They make a dozen and cost 49 cents a package. My husband thought they were pretty good. I want your opinion. This works out to about 4 cents each. I make pretty good tarts but do not think I can save much at that rate. — Ruth B.

ANSWER: Thanks Wilma.

To Roast a 10-lb. Frozen Turkey: Thaw turkey in refrigerator storage compartment. Dry inside and out. Shelf bag do not pack stuffing lightly. Skewer both openings shut. Tie wings and legs to body with string. Place on rack in roaster. With your finger tips spread skin all over with butter. Sprinkle sparingly with salt and seasoned pepper. Roast at 300 deg. Fahr. for first two hours, uncovered; for second 2-hr. period, covered with lid or tent of foil. During final 1¼ to 1¾ hrs., roast uncovered. Baste turkey at least 3 times during roasting period. Roast at 300 deg. Fahr. 5¼ to 5¾ hrs. in all. With this method the skin is crisp and gold and tender.

Embarrassment More Painful Than Injury

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother used to say, "always wear nice underwear. You never can tell when you'll get into an accident." I thought that was pretty funny. Yesterday I stopped laughing.

A college friend and I went bike riding. We are experienced cyclists and neither of us had ever had an accident. Della's bike suddenly hit a hole in the cement. She went sailing head first and landed in a clump of bushes. Fortunately, a squad car was within 100 feet of us and the police officers rushed her to the hospital. Of course I went along.

ANN LANDERS

The first thing the doctor did was cut off Della's blouse and slacks. Soon she regained consciousness and called me by name. Although she was in pain she seemed much more concerned about her underwear than her injuries. And well she might have been. I never saw such a filthy brassiere — torn and faded — and her panties girdle was in even worse condition.

Luckily she suffered only a broken shoulder and a dislocated hip, but she told me later that her embarrassment over her underwear was more painful than her injuries.

I turned a beam at Della's hygiene, Ann. Maybe others can profit by it as I have. — NEAT ALL THE WAY THROUGH.

DEAR NEAT: Thank you for sharing. O.K. girls, take a fast reading. Are you wearing undies you wouldn't mind modelling in an emergency room? How's the lace on your slip? Is your girdle a wee mite shredded? Did you hurriedly pin that busted bra strap this morning instead of sew it on? Upgrade your underwear, Sisters. You never know.

* * *

DEAR RANN LANDERS: My next door neighbor has read every word you have ever written. Before you got to feeling flattered let me tell you that the idea behind this is to catch you in a mistake. She checks out every fact, gets on the phone and calls the newspaper, the public library, legal aid, welfare agencies, clinics, veterinarians, doctors, clergymen, police, firemen, the post office — anybody she can pump for information.

I would judge that this nut spends anywhere from two to three hours a day trying to trip you up. She thought she had you the day you said a pregnant WAC is not kicked out of the service and dishonorably discharged. Her face fell a foot when she was told by the recruiting office here, "Ann is right. Pregnant Wacs are simply separated from the service."

This woman used to be the town's worst meddler and most vicious troublemaker. Since she had made you her hobby she hasn't had time for troublemaking and gossip. So thank you. — RCO.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My next door neighbor has read harmless outlet for the woman's energy. If she catches a mistake, I'd be delighted to hear from her.

Industrial Expansion Is 'Out of Vacuum'

"Out of the vacuum" is the phrase used by Ray Brown, Belleville industrial commissioner, to describe the overall picture of industrial improvement in Belleville so far this year.

There have been two new industries come into Belleville since last year and there have been seven major expansions by established companies. The new companies are International Cooperage and Superior Electric and between they represent a capital investment of over a million dollars.

Figures concerning the industrial aspect of this year were drawn up in a special report by Mr. Brown "in order to make obvious to the public the confidence industry has in the community."

The largest new industry is Superior Electric with 36,000 sq. ft. upon completion, followed by International Cooperage with 20,000 sq. ft.

Mead-Johnson made a $1,750,000 single expansion which takes in 25,000 sq. ft. and Deloro-Stellite also made a very large expansion with a capital investment of over $1,000,000.

Mr. Brown also emphasized the residential and commercial expansion in the area, especially the commercial. These expansions are not as large as the industrial developments but there are many more of them.

The industrial commissioner and the Belleville Board of Realtors are working quite closely with commercial interests in an effort to keep modernization plans rolling.

The office of the industrial commissioner has also made up a folder to be sent to industries with all the information about the community included.

Pamphlets on education, labor, commerce, population, industries, municipal finances and tax comparisons are included in the attractive file.

"Advantages of a program like this are extensive" said the industrial commissioner. "It is a good statement report and more important it shows the trends in the area".

The total capital investment from the new and expanding industries is well over $5,000,000. It will also provide new jobs for 185 people but that is only using estimates from three companies — the other industries have not been able to estimate as yet how many new employees they will need.

Record of Expansion

Name	No of Employees	Square Feet	Capital Investment
Mead-Johnson	13	15,000	$1,750,000
Foley Foundry	—	7,200	$65,000
International Cooperage	20	19,533	$165,000
Superior Electric	125	36,000	$500,000
Deloro Stellite	—	38,200	$1,000,000
Union Carbide	—	3,200	$200,000
Stephens-Adamson	—	11,000	$150,000

Chile's Prefabricated Homes Sell for as Little as $200

TORONTO (CP)—In severe housing shortages, three poles and a blanket are worth more than a good home built in 10 years, a housing-project director from Chile said Thursday.

Rev. Jose Van der Rest, a Belgian Jesuit priest, heads a project that made 30,000 low-cost pre-fabricated homes in 1967 for the poor in Santiago, Chile.

"The most important thing is not the quality of the house but the family values that must be saved from the sickness of estrangement from family," he told a Junior Chamber of Commerce International seminar on involvement.

Chileans make the houses, many costing only $200 and sell them at whatever people can afford, he said.

Will Rose, president of Involvement—an American group based in Palo Alto, California, told the seminar every world problem from low-cost housing to taming a crocodile has been solved somewhere in the world. His organization, he said, shares technical know-how with needy communities.

Earlier Dalton Camp, national president of the Progressive Conservative party, told the 1,500 delegates the greatest threat to society is from those who are disregarded.

"Politics is too vital to society for it to become a spectator sport," he said. "We're trying in our party to get politics away from the mystique of the back room."

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Thirty-four years ago a gaggle of guys who had something more than taxes, wars and politics on their minds decided the world of sport held something more than glory and gold for over-age jealots.

They figured the snoppets of Ontario who held the proverbial future of hockey in their hands deserved an organized break.

Out of the idea was born the Ontario Minor Hockey Association. A handful of dedicated men laid the foundation of what has proven to be the great minor hockey body of its kind in the world.

Spawned in a small room in Toronto, the fledgling OMHA soon reached the toddling stage. Fed by the milk of enthusiastic co-operation it climbed steadily and surely to young manhood.

Soon it reached maturity stature. Today it is full-grown thanks to the efforts of men who have given time and labor to belong to the hockey-minded youth of Ontario all that is necessary for their sports well-being.

Their ranks have swelled to proportions undreamed of a decade ago. Tomorrow at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, upwards of 450 delegates from all parts of the province meet in annual convention.

The annual get-togethers are no schoolday debate sessions. Delegates are fully matured men — and a few ladies — who take the job of minor hockey administration as seriously as their own businesses.

The 1967 convention is expected to go into the association archives as a record over three-fifths of operations.

Some years ago when the braves of the wooded hinterlands of Eastern Ontario discarded the war-paint and weapons and invaded the nearest pale-face settlement after they were looked on askance by the occupants of the white man's convention wigwam.

Led by chief, the late Sam Carry and his council of warriors, a bald-headed brave called "No-Hair-On-Head" Carver, the eastern tribal delegation impressed the western whites with their sincerity, general savvy and hockey know-how.

When they discovered we could speak English, used knives and forks during meals and could sip a beaker with the best of them, they got out the welcome mat and hailed the warriors from Upper Canada.

No peace treaty was signed. That wasn't necessary. But since that day there has been a fine spirit of co-operation from all districts of the province and that, in no small part, is one of the chief factors in the success of the OMHA operations.

The dedication of the men and women who took after the waste of their young hockey proteges has paid big dividends.

For instance in the 1956-57 season the Association administered to 1,851 teams and 22,235 players. In the 1966-67 season 3,904 teams and 54,972 players operated under the aegis of the OMHA. This is slightly below the record set the year previous.

Sceptics have argued that minor hockey is over-organized. They claim the boys of the old days who skated and skinned on lake, pond and river had a far better time, and developed themselves as players.

Organization of the youngsters, with its attendant coaching, training and teamwork, has proven a boon to the youth of the province and country. True, coaches are not without fault but the minority is very small.

Organization may have its flaws but on the whole it has proven to be a valuable theory that has turned out far better products that the catch-as-catch-can methods of earlier years.

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association has done and is doing a tremendous job.

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association has been led by men from all walks of activity. In the list of presidents contains the names of men who have made their mark in life. Each has added his quota to the bin of success that has marked the association administration since its inception.

Each president has been aided and abetted by executive members who have come up through the ranks, so to speak. They earned their right to sit in the "seats of the mighty" the hard way. None has been "gifted" with a "seat." And none has failed to do his job.

In my twenty years of covering the OMHA conventions I have found that one thing in particular has never changed. That is the old "three musketeers" spirit — "All for One and One for All."

Yaz; $224,000!

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, the slugging star of Boston Red Sox, negotiated a record $224,000 contract last month, the Cumberland Times said today.

In his daily column, sports editor J. Soter Kegg said in addition to the $100,000 salary for the 1968 season, Yastrzemski was given a contract which also called for:

—$62,000 more for himself, spread over a five-year period.

—$50,000 for his father to act as a Red Sox scout, with amount also spread over a five-year period.

—$12,000 to send a brother to college.

When Yastrzemski signed last month, after helping the Red Sox win the American League pennant while he captured the Triple Crown, published reports mentioned only the $100,000 figure.

Chicago Wins Another

Leafs Ride High; Crush Wings 9-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Frank Mahovlich, the big man in the Toronto Maple Leafs' attack, has been grounded again by a mysterious illness.

His team-mates never have been healthier.

The Maple Leafs, playing without ailing Mahovlich, trampled Detroit Red Wings 9-3 Thursday night for their fourth National Hockey League victory in the last five starts.

Mahovlich, the club's leading scorer, was left behind in a Toronto hospital—reported to be suffering from depression and tension—when the Leafs travelled to Detroit following Wednesday night's 5-0 victory over Montreal.

But rookie Wayne Carleton, filling in for the Big M, picked up a goal and two assists while George Armstrong and Brian Conacher each tallied twice as Toronto halted the Red Wings' four-game winning string with the biggest scoring spree of the young season.

Chicago Black Hawks downed Los Angeles Kings 4-3-1 and Minnesota North Stars topped Philadelphia Flyers 3-1 in the only other games on Thursday's schedule.

Mahovlich, hospitalized for a month three years ago with what was unofficially described as fatigue, became ill Wednesday night after a three-point performance against Montreal. He was taken to a hospital and will not be allowed to see visitors, according to Dr. Hugh Smythe, the Leafs' physician.

The 29-year-old Toronto left-winger was off to the best start of his 11-year NHL career, with four goals and seven assists in nine games.

Bobby Hull was flying in the Black Hawk victory, scoring a goal and an assist to take over the league scoring leadership with 15 points on 10 goals and five assists.

Hull got scoring help from Ken Wharrom and Doug Jarrett. Bill Flett was the only Los Angeles player to beat Chicago goalie Denis Dejordy, although the Kings outshot the Hawks 28-17.

Ron Ellis, Mike Walton, Pete Stemkowski and Dave Keon also scored for Toronto. Gordie Howe tallied twice for Detroit with Bruce MacGregor getting the other.

Ian Philadelphia, Andre Boudrias, Wayne Connelly and Ted Taylor scored for Minnesota. Gary Peters scored for Philadelphia in the first period to give the Flyers a 1-1 tie.

The results didn't change the standings with Los Angeles still in front of the Western Division by a point over Pittsburgh Penguins and New York Rangers two points ahead of Detroit in the Eastern Division.

But the loss could be serious for Los Angeles as goalie Wayne Rutledge was removed midway through the first period following a goalmouth scramble. He suffered a possible broken nose.

Terry Sawchuk replaced the injured goalie and allowed the winning and clinching Chicago goal.

The Philadelphia defeat was a costly one for the Flyers who lost left-winger Brit Selby for six to eight weeks with a shoulder separation.

Bernie Geoffrion of New York Rangers was released from a Long Island hospital Thursday and is recovering from a severe digestive upset that developed last Friday. Depending on the result of tests Monday or Tuesday, the 36-year-old veteran hopes to be back on skates early in the week.

All teams are idle tonight. Saturday New York is in Toronto, Philadelphia is at Montreal, Detroit is in St. Louis to play the Blues, Pittsburgh is in California against the Seals and Los Angeles is in Minnesota.

Sunday, the Canadiens are in Philadelphia, Toronto plays the Bruins in Boston, Los Angeles is in Detroit and Chicago in Oakland against the Seals.

Big 'M' Hospitalized

TORONTO (CP)— Frank Mahovlich, Toronto Maple Leafs' leading points getter this season, is in hospital suffering from depression and tension.

He became ill early Thursday morning on a train before it left Toronto's Union Station to take the club to Detroit for a regular National Hockey League game against Red Wings that night.

Dr. Hugh Smythe, the Leafs' physician, said Mahovlich, 29, will not be allowed visitors.

The six-foot, 205-pound forward got away to one of his best early-season starts this year and had scored four goals and assisted on seven during the Leafs' first nine games.

He appeared well and talked to newspaper men in the Toronto dressing room after the game and later accompanied the club to the train.

The team slept on the train, which was scheduled to leave for Detroit at 5 a.m. and Mahovlich became ill shortly before it departed.

Faloney, Ploen; Ride Into The Sunset?

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In the Western Football Conference's final weekend of its regular schedule, Saskatchewan Roughriders must have the help of British Columbia Lions and B.C. needs help from Saskatchewan.

Outcome of the league's last two games—Calgary at B.C. Saturday and Saskatchewan at Winnipeg Sunday—will decide the first and last-place teams in the WFC.

Calgary Stampeders and Saskatchewan are tied for first and Winnipeg leads B.C. by one point at the other end of the standings.

If B.C. wins or ties against Calgary Saturday, Saskatchewan can grab first place and the bye into the best-of-three WFC final by defeating the Blue Bombers the next day.

A B.C. win coupled with a Winnipeg win would leave the Lions into fourth place in the final standings.

The only club with a depressionate outlook on the weekend games is Edmonton, in third place. The Eskimos will meet the second-place club in a sudden-death semi-final.

In the event the bottom clubs upset Calgary and Saskatchewan, the Stampeders would be awarded first place on the strength of their two wins in three meetings with the Roughriders this year.

The weekend could also be the last go-round for two of the country's all-time great quarterbacks—Bernie Faloney of B.C. and Kenny Ploen of Winnipeg.

There has been speculation the two former Grey Cup opponents—Faloney may be set at Hamilton, Ploen with Winnipeg—are playing their last seasons.

Both have experienced disappointing seasons, with their teams finishing out of the playoffs.

Faloney, however, has been playing well lately and Ploen has let it be known he doesn't want to retire on a sour note.

Few Goals Scored In Quinte Ties

No one gained an inch in the Quinte Hockey League's double-header last night.

Belvedere Hotel and Stinson Construction started the evening by playing a 1-1 deadlock.

Aluminum Stars and Grant Realty came right back in the nightcap with another tie game.

The score? 1-1.

The Holdmen took a 1-0 first-period lead when B. Nolan scored on a play with Bill Westerfelt and Larry Potter. Pete Mitchell gave Stinson's the spoils in points with a second-period marker, assisted by C. Genereaux. Belvedere drew four of six minor penalties.

Both goals in the second game were scored in the opening period. Mike Foran, aided by J. Lumadoe, was Grant's scoring play. Ron Pointer scored on a solo effort for the Stars. The clubs split eight minor penalties down the middle.

Lead The League

Hornets Buzz Here Tonight

Mo-Hawk coach Floyd Crawford will send his three most productive forwards into action as a unit here tonight against the OHA Senior "A" circuit's top defensive squad, the Galt Hornets.

Not only do the Hornets boast the best defensive record (12 goals against in eight games) but they lead the 10-man grouping with six wins and two defeats, good for 12 points.

Former pro Norm Defelice and his backup man, Ron Boomer, give the Hornets superb goaltending. Defelice has already registered two shutouts and has a 1.50 goals-against average while playing in six of the Hornets' eight games.

Crawford's answer to Defelice will be a line with George Godson centring Minnie Menard on left wing and Davy Jones on right. The three have scored 15 of the Mo-Hawks' 24 goals and assisted on 14 others.

Menard is travelling at a goal-a-game pace with seven. Jones, who had been playing centre, will be at home on right wing. He was the league's all-star in that spot last year with Kingston when he played third in league scoring.

Galt's success is not all defensive, by any stretch of the imagination. Pete Brennan (6-6) John Beechey (2-10) and Joe Hogan (1-7) get plenty of scoring assistance from such as Ted Power, Carl Hall, Bert Brown, Vance Miller, Ron Brain and others. Rough, tough Larry Zilotto, Bob Hall and quiet workman, Lloyd McKey, are returnees on defence.

The Hornets were picked to "win it all" last year before the axe fell and with the addition of Defelice, Power and a couple of others, this could well be the season.

The Mo-Hawks, looking for a reversal of form from Tuesday, follow up tonight's 6-3 duel battle by going to Barrie Sunday and returning home against these pesky Kingston Aces here Tuesday.

Mo-Hawks Scoring Records

Following are unofficial Mo-Hawk scoring records. The above league figures do not include Tuesday night's game against Woodstock. Collingwood and Orillia. Game reports have not been received, according to league statistician Carl Fletcher of Oshawa.

District Athletes

Will Run For Ontario

The Quinte district will have strong representation when the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union's cross-country run is held in Calgary, Alberta, tomorrow.

Glen Easton of Belleville's Quinte Secondary School, and Trenton High School's Duncan Rogerson are members of Ontario's five-man juvenile team in the dominion competition.

Both are members of the Trenton Track Club which took part in the Ontario and Eastern Canada cross country events recently.

Easton finished fourth on both occasions. He and Rogerson are 17 years old but have competed against older, more experienced runners on past occasions.

The Ontario team is being coached by Mr. Post of the Toronto Olympic Track Club and the trip to Calgary for the local boys is being made possible by their schools and by the Trenton Track Club, coached by Peter Howe.

Easton said yesterday he is not exactly sure of the distance of the race but "it's about four miles long."

"We run as individuals but really for the team," he explained, "with the first three finishers from each club determining the team finish."

Easton and Rogerson led the Trenton club to fourth place in the Ontario event and to a superb second place in the Eastern Canada event, with Easton's pair of fourths and Rogerson's 13th and seventh places finishes.

Needless to say, they would like to do as much for their provincial team on Saturday.

Hiram Walker's Special Old Canadian Whisky is blended first; aged later. That's what makes it Special.

So special, in fact, that no one is allowed to enter our blending room except the handful of people who belong. After all, there's a whisky being born in there.

Because a whisky is born when it's blended. (Most whiskies are blended just before they're bottled. Like maybe last week.)

But Walker's Special Old was blended long ago. The very day that its ingredient whiskies were distilled. They were carefully and painstakingly combined. Preblended. To reach that elusive point of perfection that creates Walker's Special Old. Only then were they sealed in white oak casks. To age and mellow. Together. The result is incomparable bouquet, flavour, and character.

Our people take the longer, more difficult route to make Walker's Special Old. Because how else could we call it Special?

Red Wings Defeat Hawks 5-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For a while, St. Catharines Black Hawks looked like world-beaters in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

They won their first three games of the season and then little things starts to go wrong.

Little things like the next seven games which the Hawks lost to bring them to lower brackets of the 10-team series.

The latest defeat was Thursday night at St. Catharines ran into the red-hot Hamilton Red Wings and went down 5-2 before 1,864 fans in Hamilton.

In the night's other game, Jim Krulicki scored three times to pace Kitchener Rangers to a 9-6 victory over Peterborough Petes.

The unbeaten Niagara Falls Flyers still lead the series with 14 points, followed by Toronto Marlboros and the Rangers with 12 each. Hamilton is fourth with a 5-4-1 record for 11 points.

Mustangs, Firemen Notch Wins

Mustangs outscored Mulroney's 7-4 and Firemen doused Marysville 6-2 as the Gas House League opened last night.

Woodyer and Miller scored two goals each to lead the Mustangs with J. Garvin, Holland and Holloway scoring for the others. Johnston and Holloway drew two assists each, Horwood, Garvin and Holland loners.

Bolic collected a goal and two assists for Mulmey's. Graley, Hunter and Casselman also scored and Murphy helped on one.

Brooks scored twice for the Firemen while P. Soule, Ellis, Mambert and Babcock had the others. Hread drew two assists, Mambert, Ellis, Leveque and Hurst one each.

Milligan and Summers were Marysville marksmen and Cooney assisted on one.

Bosox Jim Lonborg Named American League King Of The Hill

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Lonborg, whose 22 victories helped Boston Red Sox capture their first American League pennant in 21 years, was named winner today of the Cy Young Award as the circuit's outstanding pitcher.

The 25-year-old righthander from San Luis Obispo, Calif. collected 18 votes from the 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who participated in the balloting.

Joe Horlen, Chicago White Sox' righthander, was named on the other two ballots.

This is the first year that one pitcher representing each league has been honored by the baseball writers. Mike McCormick veteran lefthander of San Francisco Giants, was chosen the National League's top pitcher.

Lonborg lost only nine games while tying Detroit's Earl Wilson for most AL victories. He also paced the circuit in strikeouts with 246 and walked only 83 batters in 273 innings. His earned run average was 3.16.

"I'm pleased, but I'm not surprised," Lonborg said in San Luis Obispo when he learned of the award.

Lonborg's most notable triumph was achieved on the final day of the season when he pitched a seven-hitter in defeating Minnesota 5-3. The victory coupled with Detroit's loss to California in the second game of a doubleheader enabled the Red Sox to clinch first place.

The voting was based on regular season performances. In the World Series, Lonborg won two games before losing the seventh and deciding game, 7-2, to St. Louis Cardinals.

Lonborg is the first righthander to win the Young Award since 1964 when it was given to Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels.

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the winner in 1963, also took it in 1965 and 1966, retiring after the latter campaign.

Other previous winners were Don Newcombe of Brooklyn in 1956, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee in 1957, Bob Turley of New York Yankees in 1958, Early Wynn of Chicago White Sox in 1959, Vern Law of Pittsburgh in 1960, Whitey Ford of the Yankees in 1961 and Don Drysdale of the Dodgers in 1962.

Plans For Expansion!

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National League, considering expansion, will hold a special meeting in Chicago Nov. 13 but no cities seeking a franchise will be invited to have representatives on hand.

The American League already has announced an expansion plan but National League President Warren Giles said Thursday major league rules provide that the American League plan must be presented and discussed at a joint meeting presided over by Commissioner William Eckert.

He added that, "I feel the National League should meet prior to that joint meeting, which it is understood the commissioner will call for sometime during the meetings in Mexico City—Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

"While the National League has applications from several cities for membership, this will not be an appropriate meeting to hear representatives of those cities and none will be invited to appear."

The American League expansion plan covers transfer of the Kansas City franchise to Oakland, Calif., and awarding of franchises to Seattle, Wash., and a new group at Kansas City effective, if possible, in 1969.

Boomer Said On The Mend

NEW YORK (CP)—Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, New York Ranger forward, left hospital Thursday and returned to his home in Long Beach, on Long Island, to rest from a severe digestive upset that struck him down last Friday.

Geoffrion 36, former Montreal Canadiens ace, is reported to have said he feels much better and hopes to begin skating early next week if the doctor gives him the green light at another checkup Monday or Tuesday.

The Maglie Case

Williams: 'I Was Wrong'

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Red Sox manager Dick Williams says he was wrong in not crediting Sal Maglie that he was replacing him as pitching coach.

"I was wrong not telling him myself that I was changing my pitching coach," Williams said in a story published in the Boston Globe today.

Williams was in Singer Island, Palm Beach Shores, Fla., when interviewed. His remarks were in response to sharp criticism of him from Sal Maglie, one-time star pitcher for New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

"I have great respect for Sal Maglie as a pitcher and as a gentleman. But I made a decision to change coaches so Sal had to go," Williams said.

"I am sorry that Sal feels that way," he said after listening to a report of Maglie's comments.

"I don't want to get into any session with Sal," he said. "As for lacking courage—well, I made an error in not calling Sal to tell him he was through."

Palmer; Sucker For Sand Traps

HONOLULU (AP)—"Those sand traps killed me," said Arnold Palmer. The Hawaiian trade winds killed a bunch more.

But nothing bothered Tom Weiskopf, an old married man of 26—who couldn't make a dime in the Hawaii Open on his honeymoon last year.

Weiskopf, 6-3 and 175 pounds, posted a steady 68, four under par.

That gave him the first round lead in this $100,000 tournament, over two fellows hardly anyone had heard of it, Jim Grunz and John Fehn, who had 69s.

Grunz, a recent graduate of the PGA school, is in his second tournament. Fehn, smallest player in the field at 5-4, has been around a little longer but has never won more than $900.

Palmer, who took most of the gallery of about 8,000 with him around the tropical course, had an even par 72 that he said "should have been a 68."

"I birdied the 14th to go three under," he said, "and I figured there was no way I could miss 68. Then I hit the trap on the 16th, tried a fancy pants shot and left it in there. My next one was long and I two-potted.

"On the very next hole I did it again. . . ."

George Archer had 70, as did New Zealand left-hander Bob Charles.

The brisk trade winds blew scores into the high 70s for some of the best known players.

Gay Brewer, winner here in 1965 and runnerup last year, had 76. Defending champion Ted Makalena had 78. Chi Chi Rodriguez went to 79. Tony Jacklin of England had 78.

Steve Spray, runner-up in last week's Sahara Invitational, finished with an eagle three for 73, after being four over par for six holes.

Junior Football

Braves Carry Chip!

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Burlington Braves are going into the Eastern Canadian junior football final Saturday here with a big chip on their shoulder.

And it will take a concerted effort from Ottawa Sooners to knock it off and spoil the Braves' record of 13 consecutive victories in the junior division of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

"Ottawa had better come ready," Barnie Custis, head coach of the Braves, warned Thursday night. "We'll be coming right at them."

Custis based his ominous prediction on the Braves sure-fire combination of speed, size, depth and versatility. Their only loss this year was 8-7 to Hamilton Hurricanes in the first game of the season.

Four of their victories came in eight days as the Braves swept to the ORFU junior crown and then defeated Windsor AKO 36-8 last Saturday for the provincial title. In their 14 outings, the Braves have scored 378 points while yielding only 96.

And they are a hungry ball club. If the Braves defeat Ottawa this Saturday and earn the right to meet either Saskatoon Hilltops or Edmonton Wildcats in the Canadian final at Regina Nov. 12, they will break an eight-year drought for Ontario teams.

No provincial club has won the Eastern title since 1959 and none from Ontario has won the Canadian crown since 1957.

National League

Plans Football Union!

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bernie Parrish, former Cleveland Browns player, said Thursday he is sending to all National Football League players an invitation to join a union affiliated with the Teamsters.

Invitations already have gone out to Cleveland Browns players accompanied by a 16-page letter criticizing NFL owners and the NFL Players Association. The union would be called the American Federation of Professional Athletes.

Parrish proposed a $13,000 minimum salary for the pro players and $300 per game for exhibition games.

The present NFL minimum is $12,000, and players get $20 a day during the pre-season campaigning.

Parrish's letter charged that Creighton Miller, former Notre Dame player and now legal counsel for the Players Association, hasn't fought hard enough for the players. He called the association a "company union".

Parrish said if he gets the necessary 30-per-cent approval from the players, he will file with the National Labor Relations Board.

Asked if he was inviting American Football League players to join, Parrish said, "not at this time."

Cassius Moves Again!

HOUSTON (AP)—Cassius Clay apparently doesn't want to be a Houston resident any more.

A motion filed in behalf of the former heavyweight champion Thursday stated he did not live in Harris County (Houston), Tex., but in Cook County (Chicago), Ill.

The motion, filed by Houston lawyer M. W. Plummer, sought court dismissal of a $284,613 suit filed against Clay 16 days ago by the boxer's former attorney, Hayden Covington of New York.

The motion requested that the case be transferred—if not dismissed—to Clay's hometown for "convenience in calling witnesses."

Clay was convicted last June on a charge of failing to submit to induction into the armed services. He was sentenced to a five-year prison sentence and fined $10,000. His case is on appeal in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Many Causes for High Blood Pressure

By Dr. Joseph C. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes high blood pressure? I always thought it was from a person's tenseness, worst, criticism, etc. — N.N.

Emotional pressures can be important and are fairly common but are by no means the sole causes of high blood pressure. There are many causes. Some people, after retirement benefit from a moderate reduction in blood pressure because they are relieved of the strain and anxiety of business problems.

Certain types of hardening of the arteries are one important cause of high blood pressure, and this is particularly true when small vessels of the kidneys, are affected — a great deal of blood must flow through the kidneys, so if blood flow impeded in these vessels, pressure rises as a result.

A narrowed main artery leading to the kidneys also can increase the pressure; this is one type of high blood pressure which can be corrected surgically.

Coarctation (narrowing) of the aorta, which is the main artery leading from the heart, can be responsible for high blood pressure in young people.

Kidney disease, such as nephritis, is still another cause.

And there are some cases in which we are unable to isolate a specific cause.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking a laxative almost daily for seven years. Can prolonged use be habit-forming? Is it related to benzene drugs? What effect can prolonged use have? — G.L.

If you've been using it almost daily you answered your own question — you've gotten into the habit taking it. (Habit and addiction are quite different things, remember.)

Phenolphthalein is an effective but repeated use can irritate the bowel membrane. It usually produces a loose, watery stool which is not normal.

Occasional use of phenolphthalein would not be objectionable, but I wish you would read my booklet, "How To Stop Constipation," which you may obtain by sending 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate P.O. Box 138, Dundee, Ill.

The booklet not only discusses a variety of ways to overcome constipation but also how to overcome the laxative habit.

(Phenolphthalein is a derivative of phenol, not benzene.)

Dear Dr. Molner: The article I read in magazines and newspapers admonishing husbands to be patient and considerate when their wives are going through menopause make me sick!

What about the unmarried women who must go through this period without a "loving and understanding" husband to cater to their whims?

Most of those women have to stand at a machine in a factory all day, teach a roomful of lively children, or sit at a typewriter in a room full of men.

Perhaps she has parents to care for and cater to. She must get up every morning regardless; she cannot lie down when she feels like it or resort to crying and complaining. She must carry on; there is no one to feel sorry for her. — A.B.C.

Who said anything about catering to whims? Some understanding of the problem, and making use of such medical help as is needed can prevent any necessity for "crying and complaining." Your physician can provide such treatment.

Note to J. McD.: The county medical society will be glad to give you the names of qualified allergists in the city. The same is true for other specialists of course.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 138, Dundee, Ill. enclosing a long, self-addressed, unstamped envelope and 25 cents in coin plus 5 cents for postage.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Would Tax Free Awards

WASHINGTON (AP)— Should athletes—amateur and professional—be required to pay income taxes on awards and trophies they receive for their prowess even though they don't actually seek them?

The United States Tax Court, in two instances, has ruled they should not. Rep. Frank J. Horton, (Rep.—N.Y.) thinks athletic awards should be exempt from taxation.

The court ruled that baseball's Maury Wills should pay taxes on the $. Sax Richard Ieli, given annually to a professional athlete. And it held football's Paul Hornung liable for taxes on an auto given to him for being the outstanding player in the National Football League's championship game.

"Outstanding athletes whose pre-eminence is recognized with awards . . . should be exempt from tax on the awards just as are the very deserving winners of the $62,000 Nobel Prizes," Horton told a news conference Thursday.

"The value in the Hickok belt is not its money value. It's the honor of being named the recipient."

The Hickok belt, which has 28 small diamonds and a large diamond, ruby and sapphire encrusted in a gold buckle, was awarded by the court at $10,000.

Recent winners have been Frank Robinson, Baltimore Orioles, 1966; Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles Dodgers, 1965, and Jim Brown, Cleveland Browns, 1964. Wills won the award in 1962.

Horton announced also the establishment of the Committee for Fair Play for Sports, a group of some 100 sports writers and athletes who are supporting legislation to change the law.

June Foray Earns $250 an Hour Imitating Many Other Voices

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— She's a busy thing, with auburn hair, snarling eyes and a remarkable vocal range—for babies and birds to sexy dames, doting grandmas and cackling witches.

For 30 years a frequent cry from Hollywood producers with routine voice problems has been, "Get June Foray."

She earns $250 an hour and probably is Hollywood's top woman practitioner of the obscure trade listed in the Motion Picture Almanac: voice specialist.

Ann Sheridan died before she could re-record dialogue for her last television show that erroneous noises had ruined in the sound track.

Miss Foray, after listening carefully to Miss Sheridan's voice, did the re-recording, matching the words to Ann's lip movements.

"Sometimes the producer will add dialogue after the star has gone, say, to Europe," said June. "It's cheaper and quicker to have me do it than bring her back.

"And a lot of young actresses whom I can't mention...do a lousy job and they call me in to pull them out of the soup by replacing their voices. How did they get the job in the first place? Because they look good."

It taxes Miss Foray, who works almost exclusively, to remember all the voices she supplies, especially in television.

"I'm Axis Sally in 12 O'Clock High, Bombhead and Splinter on Woody Woodpecker, and I'm all over the dial on the Saturday cartoon shows."

Her voice changes as she describes various roles: "I do French girls, Cockney sweeps, Svenska, and ah do Suth'n dialects."

The secret is "having a good ear and flexible vocal cords."

Stanfield's Opponents Charge Bribes Offered to Withdraw

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—Robert Stanfield ended Thursday his campaign for Monday's federal byelection in Colchester-Hants of the two independent candidates in the running charged they had been offered bribes to withdraw from the contest.

Mr. Stanfield, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, ended his campaign with a low-key reception at Windsor, in the Hants part of the two-county riding. Tonight he will be in Halifax to address the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia PC Association.

Elwood Smith, a new Democrat campaigning as an independent, said he has asked the chief electoral officer, J. M. Hazzel, for an inquiry into the bribery charges.

Mr. Smith said in a letter to Mr. Hazzel that "on Oct. 24 an offer of money was made to encourage me to withdraw from the campaign . . . . The offer indicated that I would be paid my nomination fee and possibly additional money to cover expenses."

Robert Kirk, running as an independent Liberal, said he received not only bribes, but threats on his life. He said the bribes were offered in person by individuals he would not name.

The threats were made by telephone and became so violent that "I had to get a doctor to come and give my wife a needle for her nerves."

Mr. Kirk said he would not make a pre-election protest because it might hurt his chances and, at the moment, he thinks he can defeat Mr. Stanfield.

Mr. Smith also said Thursday that he sent a second letter to the chief electoral officer Wednesday asking that the by-election be disqualified because decisions not to field Liberal or NDP candidates were made by the national headquarters of both parties and not by the riding associations.

The letter also requests "an inquiry be called to investigate the influence used by the federal Liberal and the New Democratic parties in keeping opposition candidates out of the Nov. 6 Colchester-Hants byelection."

Meanwhile, the national leader of the Republican party arrived here to campaign for Mr. Kirk.

Gerald A. Gonzjon of Vancouver said Mr. Kirk had acknowledged the support of his party, although he was not carrying the party banner.

Labor Loses Two More Seats But Beats Winston Churchill

LONDON (CP)— Labor's confidence in its grip on the British electorate was badly punctured today in the wake of a stunning series of byelection results.

On the heels of two losses late last month, the Wilson government dropped two more seats Thursday and barely held a third against a strong thrust from Conservative Mrs. Winston Churchill, neophyte grandson of the late prime minister.

The Scottish Nationalists—a home rule party that hasn't been heard in Parliament since 1945—added a second and second-safest Labor seat with a woman candidate, and the Tories took a prosperous Midlands industrial riding that seemingly had not much to grumble about from the government's belt-tightening economic policies.

Young Churchill gave the government another scare, losing short by only 577 votes as he chewed into a 1966 Labor plurality of 8,368 in working-class Gorton, skirting Manchester.

The 27-year-old author-journalist boosted the Tory vote by 2,200 to 18,082 but failed to overhaul Kenneth Marks, a 47-year-old school principal, who registered 19,259.

"I'll fight again until I get in," Churchill later told people of the riding a few miles away from where his famous forebear was first elected 87 years ago.

The series of Jolts still leaves Labor with 358 Commons seats including the Speaker who does not vote. The Conservatives have 256, the Liberals 12, and there are one Welsh Nationalist and, now, a Scottish Nationalist. There are two vacant seats.

PC Lawyer Says Poor 'Can't Arrive at Justice'

OTTAWA (CP)— There definitely is "a law for the rich and a law for the poor" and the difference between the two has never been greater than it is today, a Conservative lawyer told the Commons Thursday.

Ridon Woollams (PC—Bow River) made a hard-hitting appeal to Justice Minister Trudeau to eliminate obstacles that mean 'the poor can't arrive at the door of justice."

The whole jurisdiction of the Supreme Court of Canada should be re-examined, said Mr. Woollams, a lawyer for 22 of his 24 years.

He spoke during debate on the department's 1967-68 spending estimates.

Mr. Woollams said the question of property expropriation probably should be removed entirely from the Exchequer Court. A citizen who wanted to bring action against the "all-mean powerful Crown" on an expropriation had to initiate the action himself and probably would have to pay for many expensive trips to Ottawa before his case could be wound up.

Mr. Woollams said the heavy expenses facing a citizen who wants to challenge the Crown "generally the litigant will fold up" before ever getting his case to court.

He suggested the bar associations be asked to review Exchequer Court jurisdiction.

Mr. Woollams' contention was supported by Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) and J. A. Mongrain (Ind.—Trois-Rivieres).

Mr. Winch said he has investigated many cases of persons in prison who had no legal help from start to finish and whose fate was worse than it should have been because of this lack.

Recognizing that the administration of justice is mainly a provincial matter, Mr. Winch urged Justice Minister Trudeau to use "all your influence with the provinces to end this miserable and despicable situation."

End of Municipal Water Pollution Near

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Water Resources Commission says the end of municipal water pollution in Lake Ontario is in sight—perhaps three or four years away.

It all goes back to 1961 when the commission undertook a four-year test for pollution in Lake Ontario east of Toronto to Kingston. The results, published last year, indicated the water quality in the vicinity of 13 centres did not meet commission requirements.

The centres—Oshawa, Whitby, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lakeport, Consecon, Wellington, Waupoos, Trenton, Belleville, Shannonville, Deseronto and Picton—were told they were dumping pollution into the lake and ordered to find an immediate way to curb the discharge.

By next year, according to D. S. Caverly, general manager of the commission, the efforts made by some of these centres in co-operation with the OWRC will reach fruition in the form of new sewage treatment plants and sanitary sewer systems.

Garnet Kay, supervisor of district engineers for the watercommission, says progress has been slow, but within the next 12 months there will be a construction boom in sewage treatment plants on Lake Ontario.

Mr. Caverly agreed. "I think we're going to see the end of municipal pollution in three to four years."

Mr. Caverly's prediction, made in an interview, is based on a set of municipal guidelines the commission offered to the 13 pollution centres.

The commission recommended various means to clean up the pollution, depending on the centre: Construction of a sewage treatment plant; installation of a sanitary sewer system, separation of storm and sanitary sewers; and more thorough treatment of waste by firms, especially canners, along the lakeshore.

The OWRC report of tests along the Lakeshore showed the water in the Bay of Quinte near Deseronto was seriously polluted. The biochemical oxygen demand, an indication of the amount of oxygen required for the stabilization of decomposable organic matter—exceeded the safety level set for surface water.

The commission plans to build a sanitary sewer and treatment plant at a cost of $1,600,000. It will recover the cost by a levy over 40 years among the 1,900 residents of Deseronto.

In other areas, the commission and Whitby have plans for a $500,000 sewage treatment plant to complement the town's activated sludge plant built four years ago.

Port Hope and the commission are working together to chlorinate the town's effluent at a cost of about $200 week after an undisclosed capital outlay.

Cobourg and Oshawa are both working on their local problems and Caverly said difficulties have been cleared up to their extent. Agreements have been reached with local industries to pay for their share of the pollution problem.

Caverly still culminate its pollution fight next year with construction of a $2,400,000 secondary treatment plant and Trenton already has extended its program of sanitary sewers.

Estimates Debate Ends

OTTAWA (CP)—Accompanied by Conservative cries of "guillotine," spending estimates totalling $1,656,000,000 for a score of government departments were approved by the Commons late Thursday.

Approval came shortly before midnight after a last-ditch effort by Conservative members to block it. They used every parliamentary rules setting a 30-day limit for consideration of 1967-68 departmental spending proposals had been flubbed by the government.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux ended a wrangle that lasted more than an hour by ruling the 30-day limit inapply and the estimates had to be approved by the end of Thursday's sitting.

MPs then went through the vote on each department and branch, Liberals shuffling "Carried" and Conservatives voicing "On division" to register their protest.

Some of the $1,656,000,000 had been released by Parliament for the government use earlier through interim supply bills for next month-to-month accounts.

The actual total released for government spending in the appropriations bill that ended Thursday's sitting was for $1,- 134,000,000.

Debate Thursday touched only on the finance and justice departments.

Several Conservative MPs made occasion, inside the House and out, to snipe at the 30-day limit for study of spending estimates.

Michael Starr, interim Opposition leader, said this procedure gives the system is "not fair to the taxpayer." He said Conservatives would object to any attempt to reintroduce the rule, adopted as a trial measure to speed up Parliament's handling of business, for future sessions.

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Bow River) said the rule prevents proper scrutiny by MPs of government spending. "If we do not do this and get answers from ministers "you might as well lock the doors of Parliament."

Debate on the justice department's estimates from public calls for reform of the Exchequer Court of Canada; for laws to make it better responsible and accountable for the property damage they cause and for a federal takeover on problems of national unity.

Creditiste Leader Caouette asked for a federal bill to force backers of Quebec separatist parties to pay damages for destruction caused.

He said separatists paint their slogans on public and private property to embarrass the province. His house in Hull, Que., had been decorated with them last month.

To solid applause from other French-speaking MPs, Mr. Caouette described the separatists as "cobards" and "masochists."

In the short time spent on finance department spending, Finance Minister Sharp said Canada would retain some "flexibility" in putting brief restrictions achieved at the Geneva negotiations into effect.

There was no doubt that some Canadian industries would feel a pinch when the new tariffs come into effect. The government "in due course" would be announcing ways through which it hopes to steer them into more profitable fields.

Greek Actress Ignores Threat Against Her Life

NEW YORK (Reuters)— Greek actress Melina Mercouri Thursday night danced and sang her way through a performance of the musical Ilya Darling under the shadow of a head-like threat of an assassin's bullet.

Police stood heavy guard at the Broadway theatre as the glamorous blonde star—a bitter foe of the Greek military junta —played her role as a carefree Piraeus prostitute in the long-like running show based on the movie Never on Sunday.

Miss Mercouri called a press conference Thursday to announce that her life was threatened. However, she rejected any suggestion that the show be stopped.

She learned of her danger Wednesday morning and at first "thought it was a joke." But she was convinced her the threat was serious and a 24-hour bodyguard was provided by New York police.

Sunday School Lesson

Learn Through Tragedy

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

In her book, "A Gift of Joy" ("A Gift of Joy," Fawcett Publications, Inc., 1955) Helen Hayes, the famous actress, quotes a verse with a novel idea. In this verse, Adam is conceived as being created in the daytime, then facing the frightening experience of his first night. How could he understand the disappearance of light, and the coming of darkness? Since he had not yet experienced a dawn, he had no way of knowing the night would end, and light would re-appear. The night would lose some of its dread when he discovered that in the darkness he could see the stars.

It was a dark night of personal tragedy that assailed the Hebrew prophet, Hosea, to see the stars of God's forgiving love. The tragedy in his case was the tragedy of a broken home. Few things in life are more tragic than that. And yet millions of people experience such tragedy every year.

Hosea, a prophet in Israel, married Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim. Perhaps it was an unwise marriage. Perhaps from the very first Gomer did not fully return his love. Perhaps Hosea's thoughts were too taken up with concern for his nation for him to be a good husband. He even gave his children names that would reflect his concern. (Hosea 1:3-6) Perhaps Gomer was not the type to be a prophet's wife.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for November 5: "Hosea: God Speaks Through Tragedy," Hosea 1 through 3; 3:1-3.

At any rate, Gomer became an unfaithful wife. She deserted her husband, and went from lover to lover. She went from bad to worse until, finally, she ended up on a slave-block ready to be sold into slavery.

There Hosea found her — ready to be sold to the highest bidder. In spite of all she had done to sin against him and their children, Hosea still loved her. He paid the price to buy her back. (Hosea 3:2) Whether Gomer became a dutiful wife, the record does not say. But the depths of his personal tragedy enabled Hosea to see Israel's unfaithfulness to God and God's continuing love for Israel.

Every person experiences a certain amount of tragedy. Instead of cursing his fate, he can realize that his suffering has been an effective, if unwelcome, teacher. Even a night of tragedy reveals its stars of hope. Many a person has gained insight through suffering and pain he never would have gained so well any other way. Many a person has found strength and sufficient until tragedy struck him, then in his new-found depths he has found God and in himself praying to God. "Out of the depths I cry to thee, O end, and light would re-appear. Lord!" said the Psalmist. (Psalm 130:1 RSV) Sometimes it takes the depths of personal tragedy to awaken a person to his need for God.

Moreover, personal suffering can enable a person better to understand the suffering of others. How can a person understand pain until he himself has experienced it? Nothing creates a bond of sympathy quite so much as the ability to say, "I understand what you are facing, for I went through a similar experience."

While a broken home was a terrible price for Hosea to have to pay, there is no doubt that his personal rejection by Gomer gave him insight to see the tragedy of Israel's rejection of God.

But Hosea saw something more. He saw a love that could outlast rejection. In spite of Gomer's unfaithfulness, Hosea still loved her. While he could not undo all the hurt she had caused herself and others, he could pay the price for her release, and take her back into his own home where he could give her tender, loving care.

His love became a window through which he saw a greater love. If he, being human, could love Gomer in spite of her unfaithfulness, God, being perfect in love, could love Israel in spite of its idolatry and sin. He would welcome His people back into renewed fellowship with Himself if they would repent of their sinful ways.

It is precisely this promise of God's forgiving love that becomes the central theme in the New Testament. Christians see this love rising out of the tragedy of Calvary. Here was love that outlasted all that evil could do as Jesus prayed for His persecutors from the cross. Christian Jesus' sacrifice represents that price as He gave His life to be the channel of God's love to men.

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"The whiteness of a man's teeth," observes Thomas in the Summa, "primarily belongs, not to him, but to them."

If the whiteness of the teeth belongs to the teeth, and not to the man, then the blackness of the skin belongs to the skin, and not to the man. And, thus, all the prejudicial attitudes we have about the body must not be ascribed to the essence of the individual personality.

This is a lesson mankind has not yet learned. We identify, and stratify, and treat persons largely on the basis of such accidental characteristics, which have no deeper meaning.

Then, because our treatment of such persons makes them sensitive and resentful and angry and out of joint with us, we then turn around and blame them for being "different." This is the history of all discrimination and persecution.

Suppose we did this with a child in our family, who had some peculiar physical characteristic, one not shared by the rest of the family. By the time this was adolescent, the weight of disapproval would have shaped (and misshaped) his whole character and personality. Our thinking him "different" would truly make him different; our dislike would make him unlikable.

We can clearly see what would happen in the case of an individual child; but we somehow cannot grasp the analogy to a whole race or section of people who are treated in the same fashion.

What social scientists have lately called "the self-fulfilling prophecy" is hard at work in such cases. Because of our prejudice or fear or ignorance we expect certain groups to behave in a certain negative way; and in the very thrust of our expectations tends to drive them in that same direction. Then we feel "justified" in condemning them, because they have predictably reacted as we thought they would.

We can break this vicious circle, all racial and religious and is constantly being reinforced — because the objects of our prejudice eventually come to resemble the stereotypes we have cast them in. And our complaint becomes their self-contempt.

The vast revolutions awaiting us in the latter third of the 20th Century may take the form of political revolutions, but they will be of racial revolutions in substance, using as their tremendous lever the insane delusion of the white race that the blackness of the skin belongs to the man, and not merely to the skin.

Future Council to Decide On Armory Purchase

Madoc Village Council will not purchase this year to purchase the old Madoc Armories for operation as a community centre.

This was stated today by village Reeve Thomas Burnside who said that the matter will be left for a future council to decide.

Yesterday Victor Salona, supervisor with the Department of Municipal Affairs, met with the Village Council to explain the legal aspects of such a purchase and the matter was again discussed at a general meeting last night attended by about 40 ratepayers.

"It would be perfectly legal for the village to buy the Armories but it will be up to next year's council to decide," said Reeve Burnside.

Mr. Burnside said the village would be eligible for a community centre grant of 35 per cent up to a maximum of $5,000 on any purchase of the Armories, now privately owned but being operated by Canada as a club project.

"The village has no money to purchase the Armories this year. The cost would have to come out of current revenue," the reeve said.

Village council about a month ago voted to consider purchase of the Armories as a community centre. It is understood the Armories building could be taken from the present owners for about $8,000. After the community centres grant of 25 per cent this would leave around $6,000 to be paid by the village.

Yield, Quality Of Oats, Barley Down in County

The yield and quality on oats and barley crops in Hastings County is down over last year.

Department of agriculture representative, Wayne Martin in Shirley said this morning farmers had to contend with increased disease problems this year. "We attribute this to the weather problem," he said.

"Generally all the crops are harvested," he said, "although a small amount of grain corn is still in the fields."

"The wet weather during the past few weeks has caused a delay in the harvest of this crop and some losses may occur," he added.

Pope Under Knife

VATICAN CITY (AP)— Pope Paul underwent surgery today for removal of his prostate gland. The Vatican announced the operation was a success.

The announcement said the surgery began at 9 a.m. and was "rapidly brought to a happy end."

The announcement was made by the Pope's deputy secretary of state, Bt. Rev. Giovanni Benelli, five hours and 30 minutes after doctors arrived just before dawn to perform the operation.

It was the first major surgery for a Roman Catholic pontiff since Pius II underwent surgery in 1503 for an unknown leg ailment.

The 70-year-old Pope had been suffering recurrent fever and urinary infection, caused by an enlarged prostate, for the last two months.

The operation on the spiritual head of, the world's 500,000,000 Roman Catholics was performed by noted Italian surgeon Pietro Valdoni, 67, who directed a team of doctors, including three anesthesiologists.

Valdoni was regarded as the finest general surgeon the Vatican could find. His operating theatre included wireless brain, heart, lung, kidney and spleen. He is chief of the surgery division of Rome's huge polyclinic hospital and the author of a standard work on surgery, A Manual of Surgical Pathology.

Vatican sources said the Pope was to hear mass celebrated in his apartment before being wheeled down the hall to the Vatican rooms that had been converted into an operating theatre and anteroom. Remain, meanwhile, near early to rather in churches and pray for successful surgery.

Normally, recuperation from a prostate operation involves total confinement to bed for 10 to 15 days and another 15 days or so of largely-restricted rest.

Viet Cong Praises China

MOSCOW (AP)—A South Vietnamese Communist leader expressed thanks at a Kremlin meeting today to both the Soviet Union and China for their "huge aid and support."

Duong Tran Thi, member of the ruling presidium of the National Liberation Front Viet Cong, made the only favorable reference to China heard at the gathering celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

"Today's victories and the victories of the future cannot be separated from the huge aid and support from the Soviet Union, China and other Socialist countries," Duong Tran Thi said.

His tribute to China came after other Communist leaders, including Leonid I. Brezhnev, Soviet Communist party chief, condemned Mao Tse-tung and called for a world Communist conference. This presumably would read Mao and his followers out of the Communist movement.

The position of the South Vietnamese leader showed that resistance to the conference continues among some parties.

"Yes, yes, Hubert! I'm still President, now how about Thieu?"

Prince Says U.S. Can't Win

PHNOM PENH (AP)— Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia said today Americans "will be out of South Vietnam within two years." U.S. forces "cannot win," he said.

Space Weapon Value Is Small

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some military strategists fear the Soviets' orbital bomb — if indeed they're on the verge of perfecting one — might some day tempt them into a weak nuclear attack.

But U.S. defence officials generally discount the significance of such a space weapon despite the fact that it could pack a warhead with the equivalent of up to 3,000,000 tons of TNT.

Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Friday the Soviets are apparently testing such a weapon. He left open the possibility that the intelligence reports were wrong and that the tests are actually of a non-military nature.

The United States considered developing such a weapon a few years ago but dropped the project, seeing little value in it, McNamara said a news conference.

He maintained that a new U.S. "over-the horizon" radar could detect such a bomb as quickly as Russian rockets can be detected, that anti-missiles could shoot it down and that it probably is extremely inaccurate.

But, he acknowledged: "Perhaps the Soviets might feel it could provide a surprise nuclear strike against United States' soft land targets such as bomber bases."

Some officers carried the theory a step further.

During a Cuban-type missile confrontation, they speculated, Russia might be willing to gamble that their orbital weapon plus a growing fleet of long-range missiles could knock out most U.S. rockets and bombers.

The new weapon is described as a fractional orbital bombardment system—fractional because of the probability that the bomb would be commanded to drop toward the United States before reaching a full circuit of the earth," McNamara said.

Heavy Hangs Over His Head

A huge picture of Lenin hangs high above Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev at the podium during the Kremlin meeting of the Supreme Soviet to mark the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Brezhnev, during his address, claimed that the Soviets Union has the world's best weapons system. Later U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara said the Russians are testing an orbital bomb. Viet Cong Hold Loc Ninh 3 Days

SAIGON (CP)—U.S. infantrymen fought back against attacks by tough North Vietnamese regulars in South Vietnam's central highlands today, U.S. spokesmen said the mortar and small arms clashes were the heaviest in the mountainous jungle region in three months.

U.S. tactical fighter-bombers flew missions all day in an attempt to jar the North Vietnamese from entrenched positions along a ridge line, headquarters reported.

The new fighting in two spots near the corner of the Laos and Cambodian borders, about 200 miles north of Saigon, and another engagement some 100 miles to the south cause as the Viet Cong stilled their assault on Loc Ninh for the first time in a week.

U.S. authorities revealed Friday Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces held Loc Ninh for three days earlier in the week.

Deny Children Right to Choose Teacher's Race

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A. U.S. federal court has wiped from the books of Alabama laws permitting school children to vote on the race of their teacher, or to attend at state expense a private school rather than desegregated public classes.

A three-judge court ruled Friday that the teacher-choice and the tuition-grant laws enacted this year be the state legislature are unconstitutional.

Congolese Battle Mercenaries

KINSHASA (Reuters) — Congolese troops fought foreign mercenaries today on two fronts, Congolese Foreign Minister Justin Marie Bomboko said.

Army units Friday night were fighting mercenary groups who invaded from Portuguese Angola on a bridge near Muhatabsha, on the main road through southern Katanga province, Bomboko said.

He added that in the northeast Congo, soldiers were fighting in the streets of Bukavu against mercenaries led by Belgian Maj. Jean Schramme, entrenched in the town near the Rwanda border since August.

This was "a good sign for the evolution of the situation in Bukavu," Bomboko said in a statement to the Congolese press agency. He did not give any details of the fighting over the bridge over the River Lubidi near Muhatabsha.

Congolese army sources reported mercenaries attacked the southwest Katangese town of Kasaji Friday after two unidentified planes landed men and arms in the area.

Kasaji is about 70 miles west of Mutshatsho and 80 miles by road from the Angolan frontier.

The mercenaries were reported to have cut the rail line near the Angolan frontier. The line carried Zambian copper through The Congo to the Atlantic and informed sources in Lusaka said copper exports were temporarily suspended.

UN Considers Possible Action

UNITED NATIONS (AP)— Members of the United Nations Security Council conferred behind the scenes today on Congolese charges that Portugal has conspired with mercenary invaders to overthrow the government of The Congo.

In Lisbon the Portuguese foreign minister issued a statement declaring that The Congo "was not invaded or threatened by Portuguese troops nor by any foreign forces operating from Portuguese Angola."

Despite official denials, foreign observers in Lisbon report that they have been aware of mercenary activities in the Portuguese capital for some time.

Ambassador Mamadou B. Kaide of Mali, president of the council, immediately began consultation with council members, but no meeting was expected until the first of the week.

The request for council action came as a U.S. transport plane shuttled Congolese troops to Lubumbashi to head off white mercenary invaders from Angola, diplomatic sources in the The Congo capital of Kinshasa reported.

A U.S. spokesman said earlier that the United States had warned Portugal that it would take a "grave view" of any threat against The Congo from Angola.

The Congo has repeatedly charged that the governments of Portugal, Spain and Belgium have been recruiting mercenaries and dispatching them to Africa.

Banks Ruled Subject To Extradition Move

NEW YORK (CP)—Hal Chamberlain Banks, a tough-talking union organizer who built the Seafarers' International Union of Canada into a dominant maritime force, has lost the first battle in a bid to avoid extradition to Ontario.

U.S. Commissioner S. T. Abruzzo ruled Friday that Banks, 59, is subject to extradition to face a perjury charge in Ottawa.

Abraham Brodsky, lawyer for the man who turned the SIU into a private empire after stamping out the Communist-run Canadian Seamen's Union, announced at once that he will begin habeas corpus proceedings, the usual next move in an extradition battle when the initial engagement is lost.

Abruzzo found there is cause to believe Banks committed perjury when he testified Jan. 9, 1963, before the Norris royal commission investigating violence on the Great Lakes.

In recommending to the U.S. secretary of state that Banks be turned over to the Province of Ontario for trial, Abruzzo rejected a string of legal arguments offered on Banks' behalf.

The habeas corpus application, Brodsky's next move, can be made before a federal judge as soon as papers are prepared. In effect, the application will test the right of a federal prison warden to keep Banks in custody.

Ontario's counsel at the hearing, Richard Kuh of New York, said he expected Canada and the province would exercise their right to fight the habeas corpus application.

Banks was arrested in Brooklyn Aug. 29 after weeks of legal planning in Ontario. He had been living in comparative luxury there since 1964 when he fled Canada, forfeiting $25,000 bail, while awaiting the result of an appeal against his conviction in Montreal that year of conspiring to assault Capt. Frank Walsh, a rival union officer, in 1957.

The appeal against his conviction and a five-year prison term was dismissed after he vanished.

Art Exhibition Is Under Way

By BARRY GRILLS

This year's climax to activities of the Belleville Art Association is their first annual exhibition which is being held in the Corby Public Library from Oct. 28 until Nov. 17.

The exhibition is a highlight for the association members who have shown their paintings all over Ontario and, in some cases, all over Canada.

The preview to the showing was Friday last when over 100 individuals visited the exhibition room at the library to see 40 paintings which adorn the walls.

Another aspect of the exhibition is the introduction of picture loans by the Belleville artists. The concept offers art fanciers a chance to rent paintings at two per cent of their cost per month. A minimum of $1.25 charged on the monthly basis for pictures at a cost less than $50.

The loan system will be operated on the third Friday of each month.

The Belleville Art Association has been in existence about 12 years. Originally designed as an art appreciation course, the organization has taken up painting by its own members.

Although some members belong to the Arts and Craft Club, the association should not be confused with it.

About 20 people began the course in 1955 and the group concerned itself mainly with seminars from the Metropolitan Museum in New York and other forms of art appreciation.

A non-profit organization, most of its members paint, look for funds, but for the pleasure of doing so.

The association still holds art appreciation classes studying art history and the paintings of old masters such as Rembrandt and others.

The association sponsors workshops, about two a year, as well as art appreciation lectures. In the future the group plans more art appreciation courses.

Quite often the members get together to participate in field trips and can be seen near Belleville in groups all with canvas and paint brush in hand.

Often outside instructors are brought in to teach and help the artists with aspects of painting.

Symbolic of the fact that the organization began as an art appreciation club is the failure of four or five members to paint.

Still, now primarily a painting organization, the association has begun an annual tradition with its exhibition at the library.

Youth to Stand Trial in Shooting

Paul Thomas Howard, 20, was committed for trial yesterday in his preliminary hearing before Magistrate T. Y. Wills on a charge of discharging a rifle with intent to wound.

Howard is charged as the result of an incident June 3 at 47 Bettes Street when Bruce Douglas, 22, was shot by a 22 calibre rifle.

Testimony was given by George Fox, a comrade of Douglas' at the scene. He stated that Douglas tried to push the barrel of the rifle away and "it went off."

Asked if he thought the shooting was an accident, he said, "I'd say li was."

Douglas, testified that Howard told him he didn't want to shoot him.

Howard has been released on $500 bail until his trial convenes near the end of November.

In other court actions yesterday the trial of Donald Campoli continued after a week's adjournment. Campoli is charged with uttering forged cheques and breaking and entering.

The trial was adjourned one week ago when one of the crown witnesses, Robert Malloy, 18, refused to answer questions. He was jailed for contempt of court. Malloy previously had pleaded guilty to charges similar to Campoli's.

Yesterday Malloy again took the stand and again would not answer. He was jailed for 21 days for contempt of court. Malloy is already serving a nine-month term for breaking and entering and uttering forged cheques.

Deer Hunters Start to Camps With Bush Roads in Bad Shape

An umbrella and hip waders might well be a pertinent pack of the marksman's pack as they prepare for another deer-hunting season this weekend.

Heavy rain swept through the Quinte area as many hunters headed north this morning to ready camp for the open season beginning Monday.

Forecasts were for an end to the rain later this morning, followed by snow flurries this afternoon as colder weather moves in.

However, the overnight rainfall only added to high-water levels in northern bush areas of the Quinte region which may see many a hunter aloshing his way to a selected shooting site.

Swamps, creeks and rivers are already brimful of water following a record October rainfall of some four inches. Department of Lands and Forests officials reported last night.

The rain also may have affected travel by eroding bush roads.

"Lots of these roads are only used in hunting season and some of them are pretty bad," warned a Lands and Forests spokesman.

The situation also compounds difficulties in hauling deer carcases of successful hunting parties back to the highways.

The bigger the party the bigger the bag and in some cases hunting groups might be well advised to use a truck or jeep to negotiate poor road conditions, the official added.

The outlook also is for colder weather for the opening.

Temperatures are expected to dip today and reach a low somewhere in the high 20s in the Belleville-Trenton area tonight and Sunday.

This means it will be even colder in the northern township of the Quinte area.

Game officials are estimating up to 20,000 hunters may begin trekking north this weekend to district bush camps. The season lasts only one week south of Highway 7 and two weeks north of the highway line.

Good Deer Hunting Expected

The hunters leave today and if deer had no breeding problems this year they should have better luck.

The fawn crop has remained good for the last three years but the kill last year was poor due to the excess of rain during the first week of the season. The weather this year can again affect the over-all success of the hunt extensively.

Deer population can tolerate deep snow for bbout four weeks without serious rate of mortality occurring, provided they start the winter in good condition.

Heavy rain not only keeps hunters in camp but very wet ground conditions make it very difficult for dogs to stay on the scent. However, in view of the favorable snow conditions that prevailed during the winter and the general increases in deer population that are taking place in the district, a good hunt is expected this year.

TRENTON—A pile of bricks and a badly-smashed light standard mark the scene of a car - bank crash in downtown Trenton.

Police say a car driven by Charles Briggins, 33, of R. R. 4, Trenton careened into the Toronto - Dominion Bank about 1:10 a.m. today after its brakes failed.

A nearby traffic light standard was also damaged in the impact.

The brake lining on Briggins' right rear wheel was broken, police said.

No estimate of damage, to the car, or the bank, has yet been made.

A Financial Collapse?

Not quite. The corner of this downtown Trenton bank was clipped by a car early this morning. Police say the brakes had failed in the car involved before it lunged across the sidewalk, striking a light standard before the building.

Trenton Students Participate in 25 Mile Charity 'Walkathon'

TRENTON — Most people wouldn't walk 10 miles on a day like today for a hundred bucks.

A group of Trenton High School students will settle for about $5, each.

It's a lousy day for a walkathon. It's about 40 degrees, and expected to get colder, and a steady drizzle has been falling.

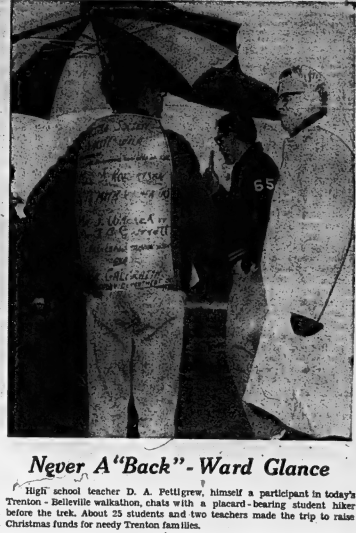
But for the 25 students, and two teachers, it's a great day to raise money to supplement the Christmas celebrations of needy Trenton families.

The volunteers, each sponsored on a "50 cents-per-mile" basis, left Trenton's Centennial Park at 8.30 this morning.

Their destination? - Trenton, via Belleville, that is.

The 25-mile "charity walk" is a project of Trenton High School's "Amicitia" (Latin for "friendship") Society.

Some 40 local merchants and private subscribers supported today's round-trip trek, which aims at raising $200 on foot.



Contributions to the hikers will provide clothes, food, and toys for a number of local families.

High school teachers D. A. Pettigrew and Miss C. Casey are setting the example and joining in today's walkathon.

Walkers were expected to reach Belleville's Centennial Park at Zwicky's Island around noon, and complete the circuit to Trenton "five-ish" this evening.

Cars accompanied the participants along Highway 2 to pick up overly-calloused competitors.

Trenton High School volunteers each month contribute to the Amicitia fund. Other projects of the society — started a year ago by president David Troxhammer — have included providing entertainment for senior citizens.

Walkathon: Head-to-Toe Project

This morning's "charity walk" by 25 Trenton high school students immediately ran into weather problems. Placards served as temporary umbrellas, while resourceful hikers like Mary Ellen O'Neill donned suitable foot attire.

Even the Women Can Become Judo Experts

By BARRY GRILLS

The art of practising judo is probably one of the most popular of all the Japanese marshal arts, karate, jujitsu, ate-waza, aikido and, of course, judo.

Judo, a barehanded method of self-defense, consists of 12 chokes, seven hold-downs, 12 arm-locks, nine leg-locks, 48 throws one way and 48 another.

The art was originated in 1872 in Tokyo by Dr. Jigora Kano and was designed to protect citizens after a law forbade them to carry arms.

According to James Driscoll, a Belleville black-belter and judo instructor, it is designed to produce maximum efficiency with minimum effort.

"In Japan, judo is to them as hockey is to us." In Tokyo, there is even a school which teaches the art, the Kodokan Judo Institute of Tokyo.

Canada was invaded by the sport after the second world war and the Canadian Kodokan Black Belt Association was formed, the Ontario subdivision being the Ontario Judo Black Belt Association. All forms of judo instruction and classes are governed by these bodies.

Over the years many illusions have been built up concerning the marshal arts and particularly judo. But Mr. Driscoll says have been built up contrary to belief "a good big man can beat a good little man in judo."

One of the most important aspects of this form of fighting is trying to fall your opponent "by breaking their belt so there is a moment of weakness."

Judo can be divided into specialist activities such as kiai, yelling. The practise of kiai is an old tradition that stems from the belief that yelling releases extra adrenalin into the system. It also means that the combatant has heart.

Another specialization of judo, also part of karate, is the art of atemi-waza, the striking of the vitals to combat.

In Belleville, Mr. Driscoll has been instructing classes in judo for 15 years. For women, the course is aimed mainly at the "body beautiful" aspect of the sport.

"The physical fitness, posture and stamina in judo is terrific," mentions Mr. Driscoll.

In the past 15 years he has had about 100 women over 18 years of age train in judo.

Most of the students do not go on in the art, but Mr. Driscoll's grading system here. The grades, the belt system, includes seven belts, white, yellow, orange, green, blue, brown and black.

To keep up with his judo, Mr. Driscoll polishes up frequently. "I try to keep up with the current trends."

Railroad Offer Spurned

OTTAWA (CP)—Locomotive firemen on the CNR and CPR are furious over a railway wage offer that would provide the basis of them with an increase totalling eight per cent over three years, informants said Friday.

Their union, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, is reported to be on the verge of breaking off direct negotiations to request a federal conciliation board.

Settlements signed earlier this year with non-operating railway workers, conductors, brakemen and locomotive engineers provided increases totalling 24 per cent over three years.

Informants said the railways have offered the 24-per-cent deal for 470 passenger train firemen. But they refused to go beyond eight per cent for the 2,600 firemen and helpers employed on freight trains and yard engines.

Base Coat on Sidney Street Will Be Laid Next Week

Base coat paving for Sidney Street, now under reconstruction by Lightfoot Construction, is expected to commence some time next week, it is reported by City Engineer Wilbur Purcell.

The base coat only will be put down this fall, with finish paving to be completed next spring.

Since last summer traffic on Sidney Street from Dundas Street, West, north to Catherine Street, has been disrupted as the contractor installed storm sewers and catch basins together with curbs in preparation for paving.

This work, along with the necessary grading, is all but completed and the city engineer expects a start on paving early next week.

Depending on the weather the base coat on the reconstruction section of the street from Dundas to Catherine Street through the fairgrounds should be completed in about two weeks.

UK Trade Problems

One of the anomalies of the industrial scene in Britain is the contrast between the traditional quality of British goods and the inefficiency and lack of drive that characterize the country's marketing arrangements.

Being an island race the people of Britain have an immediate hurdle to overcome in the fact that everything must be shipped, and mostly across the sea lanes of the world. Nothing unusual that, and of course, except that when delays occur — say by reason of strike action at home or by failure to use air freight facilities where possible — the country loses valuable orders. Yet customers will testify in many instances that the British product is better than that of other overseas competitors.

It will be interesting in this light to observe to what extent the British follow through on the success of their recent sales campaign in Canada and the United States.

Certainly, the recent British Week in Toronto netted some useful dollar gains right on the spot. For instance, some of the 25 British shoe manufacturers exhibiting their products reported orders from retailers had increased by 30 per cent (the test for the UK firms concerned now will be whether to ship them by air or by sea; shoes could easily go by air, but it would by typical of the British if they sent them by cargo boat, thus adding weeks to delivery schedules).

Handbags and fine china sold well in another Toronto store — "if you don't like the minidress," as one observer put it. A food shop at the Queen Elizabeth building sold specialty items at the rate of $8,000 a day. About 50,000 bottles of beer were sold in the British pub.

Some 2,000 British firms sold goods during the week in Toronto and Sir Peter Allen, chairman of the committee for exports to Canada, noted he would be pleased if after two years only 250 are still selling in Canada. He said he believed that such continuous sales might account for $75 million in annual sales, which he described as "a significant amount in our trade picture."

Yorkville's Evil Lure

Any notion that the hippie phenomenon in Yorkville is a healthy trend, or that it represents something more wholesome than the largely conformist and materialist mold in which the majority of people are cast will be dispelled by the latest survey of the area.

Police records, together with a survey by the Globe and Mail, published recently, produced statistics showing increases in venereal diseases and arrests on narcotic charges.

The seedy Toronto district is the mecca of hundreds of young people from the city itself as well as other parts of Canada. Police are searching constantly in Yorkville for teenage girls reported missing by their parents and believed living in the district.

The seriousness of such a situation from the point of view of the security and general well-being of the youngsters is reflected by the concern felt by Toronto authorities.

"The real evil of Yorkville is what is happening to these young girls, many only children," says Deputy Police Chief Bernard Simmonds. He added: "Her parents think the village as good kids, mixed up perhaps, many from fine homes, and these beatniks grab them and within two days they are ruined."

Yorkville of course is pure escapism — from the dullness and conformity and soullessness of modern life into there are excitement and beauty enough in life, without young people having to resort to such outlets. But you have to search for it.

What Canadians need is a greater emphasis on family life, on parents and children doing things together, whether at home or in outdoor recreation. The schools, too, have a responsibility to expose young people to every available influence that increases an appreciation of the arts and the humanities — of books, literature, the richness of museums and art galleries. Or a film like Robert Brouwers's classic Canadian Sketches shown at the Collegiate auditorium the other night, augmented by some of the finest in contemporary and traditional classic music.

If young people are not exposed to these outlets, and are alienated early in life from both parents and traditional, but still valid standards of behavior. It is small wonder they find themselves embracing situations that can place their future in jeopardy.

The words of one Yorkville youngster, sums up the feeling of many of her contemporaries. The daughter of wealthy parents, she said she didn't want the money. "All I want is love."

Ottawa Offbeat

Stanfield in Opposition May Be A Shade Too Reasonable

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The Commons has been back in business exactly 48 days since its return late in September from its Centennial Summer stents.

For the formerly furiously fighting and feuding Conservatives it has been like a stirring family reunion.

With the new skipper, Robert Stanfield, at the helm, all has been calm and serene.

He is such a "reasonable" man, many of the delighted Tories — a lot of them the "intellectuals" who deplored Diefenbaker — will tell you.

But now for the first time in the month and a half that Robert Stanfield has been cheering the opposition corner, you hear just the faintest whisper of suspicion in some Conservative quarters that he may be a bit too reasonable.

Could it be because Dief's back in the House and the very sight of the Chief is enough to set some of his bravest sighing for those wild times, only a few months ago, when the Horse cld warrior was on the Parliamentary warpath, scalping as many of the Liberal Cabinet as came within range of his tomahawk tongue.

The Cabinet still gets skinned, especially Finance Minister Sharp, with prices rising and the dollar's "buy-power" falling.

But it is being done with much less sound and fury.

They are not calling the Question Period the "Daily Detonation" any longer.

So there is just a low murmur on the Parliamentary wind that these better-behaved Conservatives under the leadership of the "Quiet Man" don't really know how to fight.

The problem is this — a conflict in the philosophy of Opposition.

The Diefenbaker creed always has been that the duty of the Opposition is to oppose the Government.

The Stanfield dogma is that the duty of the Opposition is to provide an alternative to the Government.

And the difficulty right now for the Conservatives is that these two well-established maxims so often collide.

Mr. Stanfield feels the way he does about the Opposition because at heart he is a Government man, with the best part of his political experience in Government.

No doubt he would prefer to spend his time building carefully policies for the next Conservative Government as opposed to chaining them across the countryside.

Much more congenial this, for a man of his temperament, than trying to scalp the Prime Minister and skin his Cabinet.

And this is what they call "constructive" Opposition, the kind he has been directing from the church in the Galleries of the Commons.

Now Dief feels the way he must because at heart he is an Opposition man, with all but six of his 27 Parliamentary years spent in Opposition.

Opposition that is "constructive," he often has told friends, isn't Opposition.

For Opposition to be Opposition must be destructive.

And he is correct.

But so is Robert Stanfield because if the Opposition does not present a credible alternative to the Government, it likely will not get to become the Government — except by political accident after a decade of weakening, as the Conservatives did from 1926 to '57 for 22 long years.

Dief is on sound ground because any modern Government has been in office considerably longer than any before it — less at the disposal a powerful propaganda machine, paid for by the taxpayer.

It has access to all the facts provided for it by the big and ever-getting-bigger Civil Service — which is denied the Opposition.

And it has its always-increasing corps of public relations officers to do the publicizing.

It is a position to persuade the people into believing almost anything that suits its political convenience — unless it is put forward by the Tories' last Question - and - Answer grilling through, tough, probing, searching, relentless Opposition dedicated to its destruction.

It must be forced to justify itself every day in the House or face it doesn't then it slips into the kind of least resistance which can become tyranny.

With luck, it just might be that at last the Conservatives have the right MP "luck" — with enough of each kind of Opposition to do both jobs — constructively offering a convincing alternative to the Government, and destructively amid becoming the Administration.

Problems Abound

The Community and the Taxpayer

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

With regard to the city council meeting of Oct. 23, Alderman Don Williams' statement in council to the effect that councillors were taking advantage of the absence of Mayor Ellis to name a special committee to further investigate the eventual removal of the CPR tracks from the south end of the city, and to delay action on the Dundas Street bridge and the roadway project until the special committee reports back to council, and reserved to bring to light once again that there is definitely something lacking at City hall.

From all the reports on radio, in The Intelligencer, and Toronto papers, one would wonder if we in Belleville are getting the leadership we need to get the city on a steady path to progress.

We have been cursed with one disgusting incident after another, from the, then, disgraceful welfare conditions in the city, to the hiring and firing of qualified personnel in the day nursery to charges of dictatorial type government, and charges of conflict of interest. And the latest, the investigation of the police department, resignation of the chief of police and from the police commission, "We think this report should be kept quiet" — I have heard a good many people ask, "Why?"

It is good Belleville has some Aldermen who investigate thoroughly before they give their stamp of approval, men who look beyond their two-year term in council. Especially when it comes to a project as large and costly as the Dundas Street bridge and railway overpass.

We also have aldermen who realize the need for industry in this City. The industrial commission as it is set up is not adequate to serve any purpose. And this commission is responsible to no one. Thousands of dollars are spent on industrial promotion, and our elected councilors do not even rate a joint meeting with the industrial commission. They are kept in the dark as much as the people who elected them.

As for the people, I read an article recently where it said that "People and - or taxpayers are like the fish of the sea. And too often they are treated like the lowliest of them all — the suckers."

The High School rugby squad is ready to meet the High School stars of past years in the annual Old Boys vs the Undergraduates game at the old fair grounds on Thanksgiving day. The Old Boys are sure that they can repeat their victory of last year, and will trot out a very strong squad. They have George Faulkner, who is playing regular position in McGill and also "Dimp" Follwell of Queen's Seconds for the back field. In addition they will trot out Don Ketcheson of Queen's, Cecil Facer of Osgoode Hall, Cole, Alex Weir, Les. Sweet; first vice president C. P. Holton; second vice president Miss A. Wilson; third vice president Miss H. Pringle; fourth vice president Miss J. Wilson; treasurer, H. Frederick.

Farms, the Fall—and Winter

Windsor Star

Comes a time each autumn when it is too cold for cattle in the fields and what fodder there is left in them is covered with snow. That means the putting of cattle in the spacious stables under the big Ontario barns.

Farmers welcome an open autumn for two reasons. The longer the cattle can stay out in the fields the less labor and feed is needed (and a lot is needed over a long winter) and less work is involved.

The work is less, on most cattle farms, than it once was. Then every beast has its own stall (though calves might be allowed loose in their own pen and the bull his own big box apartment). This required special feeding in each manger, the letting of the cattle out and in twice a day for water and exercise, and the cleaning of the stables.

Now there are such new-fangled ideas as open "pariors" for the cattle, self-feeding and self-watering contraptions and such. The cattle appear to do well in such accommodation, eating and going in and out as they please.

It often was quite a trick to get steers, especially if they were new to the place, into a particular stall. Western cattle, used to the open range and never enclosed, usually posed a problem. But it was uncanny how quickly a beast got to know his own stall when would walk directly to it, even in the dark.

There have been many changes in rural habits these past couple of decades, a major one being the disappearance of the horse. The old horse stables, replete with their harness, curry combs and brushes, oat boxes, etc. — and their distinctive but not unpleasant aromas — now are used for other purposes. Or, where the big barn of agriculture has been drastically changed, often not used at all.

Reds Kill Viet Cong Civilians

Montreal Gazette

"The bombing of North Vietnam is increasingly assailed by public opinion in the free world" said an editorial in La Libre Belgique, last week.

"Americans are killing hundreds of civilians: this scandal is denounced. But how many of these voices remain silent when they should also denounce murders of civilians by the Viet-Cong?"

Between 1957 and 1966, the article noted, the Communists murdered 11,000 Vietnamese civilians, kidnapped another 40,000. During 1966 alone, the Vielcong shot 400 South Vietnamese officials and 13,000 peasants.

From Saigon comes the report of civilian casualties from Viet Cong terrorism for the week ending October 14:

Killed — 43, including three village chiefs, one village councilman, four hamlet chiefs, one deputy chief, one national policeman, one provincial health officer, four former village-hamlet officials and one newspaper editor.

Total killed this year — 2,710.

Wounded — 143, including one deputy village chairman, 10 hamlet policemen, one district finance chairman and one former village official.

Total wounded this year — 5,408.

Abducted — 33, including one school teacher, two village chiefs, one village councilman, one census worker, one hamlet chief and one Vietnam Information Service officer.

Total abducted this year — 1,737.

This is the neglected side of the record.

Keeping Students Occupied

Niagara Falls Review

Citizens of Ontario who pay the education bills shouldn't argue against the proposal under consideration by the department to open a few classrooms for six weeks during the summer to offset boredom that might befall bright students.

The dividends are obvious when education caters to brilliant students.

According to Dr. J. R. McCarthy, deputy education minister, the program would be specially tailored to teach things like pre history outside of the classroom, trips to Stratford and science excursions.

There should be public encouragement toward any scheme that extends the uses of school properties where millions upon millions of dollars investment stays idle at much of the time, during vacation periods and the year-round in evening hours.

Conservative Party Plans

Fulton, Hees, Likely Candidates for Shadow Cabinet

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The Conservatives have made only one change in their shadow cabinet since Robert Stanfield was elected party leader Sept. 9.

That change, of course, is that Mr. Stanfield and not John Diefenbaker would become prime minister if the Conservatives won the next general election.

The Conservatives do not refer to a shadow cabinet as such but to chairmen of 21 caucus committees, which are assigned to scrutinize the work of various cabinet ministers and government departments.

Party informants say that some changes may be made after Mr. Stanfield finds a Commons seat—probably in Monday's Colchester-Hants byelection in Nova Scotia.

...For one thing, greater recognition is likely to be given Davie Fulton and George Hees, defeated leadership candidates who threw their support to Mr. Stanfield. Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba, once he enters the Commons, would be given a key post.

No decision is likely to be made on whether Mr. Roblin will try for a Commons seat in a byelection or wait for a general election until after he resigns the premiership.

Some Conservatives say there are no safe seats in rural Manitoba for Mr. Roblin and that borders of Winnipeg seats are not prepared to resign to make room for the premier.

Mr. Stanfield has been more interested in changing the methods of operation of caucus committees rather than in changing their chairmanships.

Mr. Fulton is chairman of the Conservative committee on energy, mines and resources. Mr. Hees is chairman of the trade committee.

Marcel Lambert, Edmonton West, is still chairman of the defence committee, though Douglas Harkness, former defence minister, was one of the main backers of Mr. Stanfield from the outset and is no longer in the political purgatory in which Mr. Diefenbaker placed him after his resignation from the cabinet Feb. 3, 1963.

The Conservatives have keyed ahead of the Liberals in a national public opinion poll and as a result some of the MPs have taken a far more timely interest in committee work.

As one MP said, there's nothing like the threat of a cabinet portfolio to spur work.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

"Sweet Hour of Prayer," one of the world's favorite devotional hymns, was composed in 1842 by the Rev. William W. Walford, a blind English preacher who was known for the spiritual beauty of his memorized sermons.

One day, while chatting with the Rev. Thomas Salmon, a fellow clergyman in Warwickshire, Mr. Walford recited the first stanza of his famous "song in the night." Then, as his friend wrote down the verses, he dictated the entire hymn, just as it is sung today.

When he sailed for a visit to the United States, a few days later, Mr. Salmon took the hymn poem with him and it was published for the first time in the New York Observer. Almost ever night it became a prayer-meeting favorite in England and America and its popularity increased when William Bradbury, the composer, fitted it to its present tune.

Even before he wrote "Sweet Hour of Prayer," Mr. Walford had gained fame with his sermons. He was a colorful figure and each Sunday morning, just before preaching, he announced the text of his sermon and gave the complete quotation from memory.

Sweet hour of prayer! sweet hour of prayer!
That calls me from a world of care,
And bids me at my Father's throne
Make all my wants and wishes known;
In seasons of distress and grief
My soul has often found relief,
And oft escaped the tempters' snare
By thy return, sweet hour of prayer!

Sweet hour of prayer! sweet hour of prayer!
The joys I feel, the bliss I share,
Of those whose anxious spirits burn
With strong desire for thy return!
With such I hasten to the place
Where God, my Saviour, shows His face,
And gladly take my station there,
And wait for thee, sweet hour of prayer!

Sweet hour of prayer! sweet hour of prayer!
Thy wings shall my petition bear
To Him whose truth and faithfulness
Engage the waiting soul to bless;
And since He bids me seek His face,
Believe His Word and trust His grace,
I'll cast on Him my every care,
And wait for thee, sweet hour of prayer!

Christians Joined Jews at Qumran

JERUSALEM (AP)—A newly identified Dead Sea scroll indicates that one group of followers of Jesus joined the Jewish community of Qumran shortly after the crucifixion and influenced it to adopt some Christian doctrine.

Dr. S. H. Steckoll, who does research at the Israeli, gave this interpretation after scientists of the "temple scroll" were disclosed yesterday by Prof. Yigael Yadin, head of the Hebrew University's archeological department.

Steckoll said it shows changes among the community at Qumran "which lead to the inevitable conclusion that they were influenced by Christians and indeed adopted some Christian doctrines."

"In saying this it was to be understood that these early Christians were, like the people in Qumran, Jews, and both groups in fact practised Jewish religion as interpreted by them."

It was much later that Gentiles were converted to Christianity.

He said the Christian influence would help shed light on three matters raised by earlier Dead Sea scrolls—the concept of the future temple, the practice of astronomy, and the scroll mentioning a "messiah of Melchizedek."

Early Qumranic literature, he said, states that the existing temple in Jerusalem would fall up and a new temple built not by man would descend from heaven.

"The newly deciphered scroll from Qumran supports that school of thought—of Jesus—of a man-built temple."

Steckoll said it had been difficult to explain where the Qumranians acquired the science of reading the stars and horoscopes.

The stars were studied by Jewish astronomers in Babylon, he said, and "now that we can see that some followers of Jesus joined the sectarians at Qumran, an explanation is to be found in a comparison with the Magi, 'the wise men who came from the East'—once known to have been astronomers who reached Bethlehem from Nippur in Babylon."

As for the "messiah of Melchizedek," he said early scrolls referred to a messiah of Israel and a priestly messiah of Aaron, but one scroll recently published in The Netherlands also mentions a priestly messiah of Melchizedek.

"This document can only now be explained as belonging to that period in Qumran after some Christians had joined and influenced the tenets of this community," Steckoll said.

Second Glance

— By Viva Richmond Graham
AN INUVIK INSIGHT

Strange the world about me lies,
Never let familiar grown —
Still disturbs me with surprise,
Haunts me like a face half known.
— Sir William Watson (1858 - 1935.)

* * *

Last week, this column described Dr. Betty Hall's trip by kayak down the Mackenzie River. We mentioned that, on arrival at her destination, Inuvik, she met Dr. Frank Boyce from Trenton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Boyce, R. R. 4, Trenton. (Many readers will recall the excellent radio play written by Mrs. (Betsy) Boyce, entitled, "The Trials and Triumphs of Susanna Moodie," which was broadcast last Easter and is being re-broadcast this month by CJBQ.)

Dr. Boyce went to Inuvik at the beginning of Pully to spend a year in the Medical Service of the Department of Northern Affairs. Some of the letters he has written home give fascinating glimpses into the strange and little known world at the top of the map.

Within a few days of his arrival in Inuvik, Dr. Boyce flew 300 miles to Paulatuk on the Arctic Ocean. He was accompanied by a Public Health nurse, and they held a clinic in the house of the only white man, a priest who has lived there for 30 years.

There were about 60 Eskimos in the settlement. In the winter they live in ten houses, but, finding these stuffy in the summer, they move out into ten tents — "six people and a Coleman stove in a 9 x 12 tent."

Although it was July, the bay was frozen over, and the pilot had to land his plane half a mile away, where he found some open water. Flying is presently many hazards. On a recent return trip to Paulatuk, the plane had to turn back on the first attempt. The pilot had flown for 200 miles at the 200 feet, but when low hills began to disappear completely into the fog, he finally gave up. Fortunately conditions improved by the next day, and they were able to reach their settlement with no further difficulty.

On another occasion, after setting the plane down in the water just off Sach's Harbour the pilot had to steer his way around great blocks of floating ice, all moving briskly in a strong current. Two planes held a complete medical party: dentist, with equipment; radiologist with X-ray machine and generator; nurse with vaccines, and a doctor.

The pilot warned them that he might leave them behind if the fog closed in, but it came too quickly and they all had to stay the night. There are two white men living at Sach's Harbour the only settlement on Bank's Island: a priest and an RCMP officer. They, of course, extended their hospitality to the party, but it was a tight squeeze, says Dr. Boyce. He made himself comfortable in his sleeping bag on the floor of the RCMP office.

Dr. Boyce graduated from the University of Toronto, then interned last year at Vancouver General Hospital. This year, he is fulfilling an ambition that has inspired him for a long time, that is: to live in the far north for a while, to learn at first hand about the lives of Indians and Eskimos. He is thoroughly enjoying this opportunity to work and travel in the Arctic.

Inuvik, the principal town of the Northwest Territories has about 2,300 inhabitants, approximately half of whom are Eskimo. In addition, there is a residential school for 1,000 children. There are government offices, stores, a hotel, a cinema, and a 100-bed hospital with five staff doctors.

With a few outpost stations at scattered locations, these look after the health of all the inhabitants in the area—about 300 miles in radius. These settlements are not, of course large or numerous, but they are often hard to reach. Sometimes instructions have to be given by radio, but if it seems that a patient must be brought in to hospital, the plane takes off in almost any weather, and the doctor goes with it.

After the age of six months, a child's eyes begin to co-ordinate, and it is from that time until age three that strong eyes are most likely to occur.

Girl Receives Scholarship at Convention

TWEED — Miss Jane Bracken of Harrowsmith was honored recently at the Women's Institute convention held at Cloyne, when she received the Ann Haigarty Scholarship of $100.

The scholarship is awarded to the girl, preferably a daughter of a WI member, who has earned provincial honors in 4-H Homemaking Club work. Provincial Board member Mrs. Hannah made the presentation.

At this convention, Mrs. Kenneth Hull, Portland, was elected president of Area Women's Institutes. Mrs. Hilliard Barry, Kingston, is 1st vice-president, and Mrs. Ernie Nowell of Cloyne, 2nd vice-president.

Others re-elected for a further term included secretary-treasurer, Mrs. N. Bracken, Harrowsmith; public relations officer, Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Lansdowne; curator, Mrs. Arthur Lindsay, and associate curator, Mrs. R. Shields, Brockville, and provincial board director, Mrs. Donald Hannah, Enterprise.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: (calmly) "We always walk with the scissors and hold them pointing down. That's the way. Please bring them to me carefully."

Scissors should always be out of a toddler's reach, but it's wise to teach the 4-year-old some safety rules.

Perfect Kitchen Is Family Room

EDMONTON (CP)—A perfect kitchen is a family room, says home economist Alice Summers. But it takes planning and ingenuity to stretch the kitchen space in most homes.

"A women spends much of her time there and the children want to be with her," says Mrs. Summers, a lecturer in home management at the University of Alberta.

"To set up a new kitchen or improve the efficiency of an old one, draw your working area accurately to scale on graph paper and plan your work sequence around a mixing centre, range-service centre and sink.

Cupboards at the mixing counter should store baking equipment and supplies and appropriate electrical appliances.

Near the range should be all cooking equipment, canned foods, uncooked cereals and spices, pots and pans for foods. Cleaning supplies and equipment used at the sink should be in the sink area.

The work triangle, or distance from refrigerator to stove to sink, should measure no more than 22 feet.

Then modify and innovate to suit your taste and needs.

In her own kitchen, Mrs. Summers stores items most used in the top cupboards.

"But this does not suit someone else who prefers bending to reaching.

"I try to overcome trouble spots such as the cutting board built over a row of drawers. The first drawer beneath the cutlery, and invariably something is needed from it when the board is in use.

"To avoid this I have an extra board I can use on top of the counter.

Mrs. Summers said women planning new kitchens can consider four basic shapes. The U-shape is the most efficient but has the drawback of two blind corners. The L-shape is followed by lazy-susan shelves, or by doors on the far side of the cupboard if it forms a partition between kitchen and eating area.

The corridor shape is efficient, has a small work triangle and no blind corners, but can be a bottleneck if much traffic passes through the kitchen.

The L-shape has room for an eating area but has a blind corner, and a fairly large work triangle, whereas the one-wall kitchen is suitable only in a small house or family room.

Mrs. Summers said builders should recognize that dishwashers now will be standard equipment in homes, so space should be left for them at the left of the sink. Builders should provide for six to eight electrical outlets in the working area.

The kitchen is the best place for a broom closet because its high shelves are a safe place to store cleaning supplies harmful to children.

Nine-year-Old Attends Night School

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's night school program has registered the youngest student in its history—nine-skirted Helena Paul, 9.

She joined a practical nursing class at Central Technical School Thursday night.

"I thought she was looking for her mother," said teacher Evelyn Smibert.

Helena doesn't think it's all that strange.

"I'm not that young," she said. "I'll be 10 in December."

She said she wants to be a nurse some day and thought now was a good time to get started because, "I really don't have much to do at night."

Helena is a Grade 3 public school student. There is no age barrier for night classes, although Helena must present a letter from her day-school principal stating that night classes are educational.

CYC Aids with Social Development

Dear Doris: Where would a person find information about the Company of Young Canadians? From the little we've heard they have worthwhile projects but they need to be far more highly publicized if they are to reach Young Canada. Young Canadian.

Dear Canadian: The CYC is an imaginative venture in helping with social and community development. Volunteers, trained in working with people in assorted kinds of plights, are engaged for set periods. Usually they sign on for two years, receiving a living allowance and special other provisions.

Here are excerpts from this year's annual reports:

1. Outreach in Depth — Vancouver: Volunteers work in association with the Vancouver Boys' Clubs on street programs for teen-agers.

2. Penticton, B.C.: Roy D. works with young people and adults in developing a coffee house and teen drop-in centre.

3. Victoria Park, Calgary: Bernie M. works with Tenants and Ratepayers, Association on a variety of urban development problems.

4. Selkirk Mental Hospital, Manitoba: Pat E. and Alma E. work in the adolescent and occupational therapy wards as well as with patients as they enter hospital.

5. Brown's Camps, Toronto: Jackie H. works with emotionally disturbed children at Brown's Camps.

6. Truro, N.S.: Pat R. and Sue McL. have assisted mothers in the development of a nursery school and have worked with local people in identifying community problems.

7. Northern Peninsula Co-op Newfoundland: Volunteers assist local people in making use of resources for community improvement.

A presentation was made by John Davidson and Everett Derry, with Mrs. Fred Chambers, Madoc, reading the address. In the absence of Rev. Douglas Miller of Zion and St. Andrew's Church, Bob Paranuik, Deloro, showed slides of his summer trip to the West Coast.

Costs of Moving Goods Blamed for Price Rise

OTTAWA (CP)—Costs of moving goods from the manufacturer to the consumer have become a serious but largely ignored element in Canadian industry, a seminar of 100 business executives was told Friday.

Dr. F. R. Denham of Stevenson and Kellogg Ltd., a Toronto firm of management consultants, said the new science of distribution must gain increased recognition to improve profitability and customer service.

In a keynote address to the first annual meeting of the new-ly-formed Canadian association of physical distribution managers, he cited the case of a three-quart jug of milk selling for 82 cents. It took 37 cents of that to get the milk from the farm to the housewife.

"Much of the recent rise in bread prices has been attributed to inefficient distribution," Dr. Denham said. Of every dollar spent on bread, 80 per cent was eaten up by the costs incurred after production.

Generally, between 25 and 50 cents of the consumer dollar was spent on the movement of goods. Distribution now was the third - largest component in meeting product demand.

He said efficient physical distribution must be tackled from the top, bringing all elements of the distribution process under a single management level.

Employment News

By J. R. STAVELY,
Manpower Counsellor

With autumn now well advanced Canada Manpower Centre officials and other persons concerned in the local labor market are endeavoring to estimate the possible level of unemployment during the months ahead.

It is now recognized that in a fiercely competitive modern world, no country can compete successfully unless it has a smooth-running economy which operates on a twelve-month basis, with maximum productivity as the aim.

Productivity growth has been explained as the result of the combined effects of such factors, including advances in industrial technology, the skills, education and training of man-power, increased scale and specialization in production, increased capital per worker and a ready flexibility and adaptability of manpower and capital, that permit resources to shift from less productive to more productive areas of employment.

The Canada Manpower Centre is vitally interested in, and responsible for assisting in, many aspects towards the maximum utilization of available manpower. Its manpower counsellors would be pleased to advise anyone regarding employment and its related fields.

The following employment opportunities are now available at this office.

In the female division locally there is an urgent need for registered nurses and registered nursing assistants. A reliable nursemaid is required to look after four young children. The successful applicant must be able to live in. A payroll clerk is needed for a mining company in Northern Manitoba.

A number of experienced typists are still required for work in the United Nations typing pool in New York City. An excellent starting salary and other fringe benefits are being offered. Men possessing the required typing qualifications may also apply.

In the male division locally two licensed class "A" automobile repair mechanics are required, with one position calling for experience in truck repair work and the other experience in the repair of automatic transmissions. Two stock clerks are being sought, one for a senior position and the other as a junior stock clerk to whom training will be given by the firm. A local industrial plant requires a mechanical craftsman who would be responsible to the plant engineer.

A local plant now nearing completion is seeking a general maintenance man who will be required to perform the normal range of operations connected with general plant and equipment repairs, maintenance and installations. The same company is also looking for a mechanical lead hand who will assist, direct and instruct a group of employees in the machining department in all phases of the work. A large number of mine and smelter laborers are required in Northern Ontario for surface and underground work.

In the professional and technical fields there are attractive employment opportunities both in Canada and abroad.

Reuther Opens Chrysler Talks Today

DETROIT (AP)— United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, having won a record contract from Ford Motor Co., today re-enters negotiations with Chrysler Corp., where the union seeks to match or better the Ford pact.

Ford will start Monday producing its first cars since Sept. 6 when contracts expired at all big three automakers and the union went on strike against Ford. Chrysler and General Motors employees have been working without a contract.

UAW and Chrysler negotiators are bargaining under a Wednesday midnight strike deadline set by the union.

Since the union tries to avoid shutting down more than one major producer at a time, union officials are expected to press Ford locals to settle by Wednesday their contract issues which have kept Ford plants closed since the national agreement was reached Oct. 22.

Chrysler indicated it will follow the Ford settlement in many areas.

But issues involving salaried workers who are UAW members, unique at Chrysler, and equal pay for Canadian and American workers, are the only major demand the union did not win at Ford, could present problems.

The UAW represents some 94,000 hourly-rated workers and 9,000 salaried workers at Chrysler.

The union began presenting new contract demands to American Motors Corp. Friday in their first meeting since Aug. 28.

The union's contract at AMC has been extended on a day-to-day basis since it expired Oct. 15.

The 180,000 UAW workers at Ford won about a dollar an hour more in wages and fringe benefits over the previous Big Three average of $4.70. The av erage hourly straight-time wage under the old agreements was $3.41 in the industry, about 40 cents above the Canadian level.

Hydro Strike Cost Workers Six Million

TORONTO (CP)—The four-month strike against Ontario Hydro this year cost 3,000 construction workers $6,000,000 in basic earnings, a Hydro official said Friday.

D. P. Cliff, Hydro's first vice-chairman, told the Rotary Club that 1,750,000 man-hours were lost. The strike lasted from May to August. 9

Mr. Cliff said the delay forced deferment of completion dates on about 200 projects and Hydro's $1,250,000,000 expansion program has been slowed substantially.

Time lost in the strike cannot be recovered and several installations would not be completed in time for peak winter consumption.

SPORTS SLICES

The two gentlemen in the grey flannel suits sat across from me in the CNR coach as it rocketed toward Tawrasta.

From the snatches of conversation that drifted around the home centaurs of the hefty dowager, my seat companion, thence to me, I gathered they were talking football.

The leader of the two, Wadlow Avenue type was an Argonaut fan. You could tell that by the double-bine of his five-o'clock shadow.

The other revered the Ottawa Rough Riders. I gathered that from the fact he kept repeating "It's Clair to me" that, so-and-so, and so on.

A pair of teen age gals turned on a miniature radio and a gravel-voiced hippy growled "I Wanna Lay my Head on Somebody's Shoulder." I took a look at my dating companion and hugged the window in case she got the message. I didn't want my dandruff disturbed.

"The Argos" trounced the double-blue chapple "will beat the Hamilton Tiger Cats Sunday afternoon because they're going to grab the conference title — and the Grey Cup.

(Ye Gods, where did I hear that record before. Shades of Park Lane!)

"The Hamilton Tiger Cats need only a tie to enter the eastern finals stairey" remarked the other. "But don't get the idea the hassle will be a pushover for either squad."

. . . There's more than the positional honors at stake," he went on. "The Ti-Kitties won't be playing it safe nor will the Argonauts lay off because of fear of injuries."

The other chappie flicked the ash off his cigarette gazed entrits as if dreaming and said "Likewise the Ottawa Rough Riders tangle with the lowly Larks of Montreal and the Ottawans will pick the Clair with ease. They have to in order to park the Grey Cup in the shadow of the Peace Tower."

"Yes, Argonauts," chanted Double-Blue "are not the least particular about what club they meet in the sudden-death semi-final next weekend. All sticks alike to a hungry man and Argos won't need an appetizer to chew out the Riders or the Tiger Cats who'll be the next victim."

The weekend games have more in them than just victory to any team. Several players are eyeing individual honors and will be out to grab them if possible.

Flankers Bobby Taylor of Argos and Whit Tucker of Ottawa enter the action tied with 51 receptions each. Taylor who led the league in punt catching last year with 56, was blanked for the first time last Saturday when Ottawa rolled over the Argos.

My plump chickadee seat companion did a half-roll, straightened away, fetched a girdle into place and settled down with a suspicion of a snore.

On Sunday the punting honors of the conference will be up for grabs with Argos kicker Dave Mann and the Tiger quarterback Joe Zager battling for the honors. Mann holds a comfortable margin with an average punt of 47.3 yards on 119 punts. Zager's record is 46.4 yards on 113 punts.

The weekend action closes the regular season with either Hamilton or Ottawa meeting Toronto in the sudden-death semi-final at home next weekend.

The semi-final winner advances to a two-game total-points final series against the team that finishes first (Ottawa, natch) to determine the eastern entry in the Grey Cup game Saturday December 2nd in Pearsonville.

The train slowed down entering Union Station and the grey-flannels closed off the commercials.

I looked at my buxom biddie convovsion and noticed she was lookinr at me with an amused smile on her moon face.

She laid a pudgy hand on my arm and heaved herself to her feet.

As she started to leave, she turned and said with an Inspish smile. "Listen, Mister, I heard what those guys were saying. I don't know what side you are on but take it from one who knows football, has studied football, voiced football and even looks like one. My name is Jackson the same as that of a guy who will help the Ottawa Rough Riders gentle the champagne out of the Grey Cup come December 2nd, Toodle-Ooh."

Barrie Only Team To Beat Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barrie Flyers upheld the respectability of the second division Friday in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior league.

They whipped Toronto Marlboros 4-1 before 4,587 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens for the only victory by a second-division club in the five-game schedule.

The league-leading Galt hornets nipped Belleville Mo-Hawks 4-3, second-place Guelph Regals blasted Oakville Oaks 6-2 and fourth-place Collingwood Kings trip ped the cellar-dwelling Orillia Provis 3-2.

Kingston Aces, who occupy third place, were tied 1-1 by Woodstock Alcans in the only other game.

Barrie's victory over the fifth-place Marlboros was sparked by Ralph Kozowyn, who scored twice. Don Gibson and Corby Adams added a goal each. Moe Galand provided Toronto's goal.

Guelph won easily over Oakville as Larry Jones led the way with two goals. Bob Ertel, Terry Oliver, Frank Hincks and George Montague completed the scoring and Bob Pole drew three assists.

Mo-Hawk Rally Too Late

Hornets Came To Play...And Did

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Twenty-nine minutes of all-out, rousing hockey wasn't quite enought to produce a Belleville Mo-Hawk victory here last night.

The OHA Senior "A" division's league-leading Galt Hornets skated on against the fired-up Mo-Hawks to snatch a 4-3 win before a disappointing crowd of 1,049 paid.

Galt came to play and they left no doubt of that from the opening whistle. The Hornets were on top of the puck all night, skating and checking with zest, while building a 2-0 first-period lead.

They made it 4-0 early in the second with the aid of a couple of breaks before the Mo-Hawks began to get at least as well as their opponents. From the period's 11th minute until the final faceoff — with six Belleville attackers, a Hornet in the penalty box and three seconds left on the clock —it made for the best hockey seen here in some time.

MICKEY CHEREVATY

Peter Brennan opened the game's scoring by batting Fern Belanger's rebound past Joe Hamlin on a powerplay at 6.40. Superb forechecking prevented the Mo-Hawks from clearing and set up the goal.

Mo-Hawk passes were just not clicking against the flying Hornets and when they did get close, Ron Boomer blocked the way. He got a 2-0 lead to work with when Joe Hogan deposited Carl Hatt's rebound into a gaping net with Junkin down and out of the play at 15.56.

John Beechey, checked in front of Junkin, got credit for Galt's third goal at 1.03 of the second when Larry Zilliotto's point blast deflected in off his shins. Four minutes later Lloyd McKay's screened blueliner nestled inches below the crossbar is the far corner to make it 4-0.

Belleville sprang to life just as Bob Taylor came back from a penalty at 11.39 and Boomer had to be good to block George Godson's blast. Wayne McConnell tipped in Greg Marchen's hard slapper to break the shutout at 17.06.

Boomer stole Godson's quick backhand; Menard steered the puck wide when uncovered in front and the goalie sat on the puck at the goal line in another jamup, all in the first minute and a half of the third.

Ted Power and Cherevaty went off together at 5.18 and Zilliotto followed for cutting Dave Jones down as he broke in at 6.47. The Mo-Hawks zoomed on the pressure and Wayne Brown picked the short side perfectly on Ralph Plane's setup pass at 7.39.

GREG MARCHEN

With the crowd roaring for more, Boomer robbed Cherevaty at the eight minute mark. Then 30 second later, Cherevaty, who played a strong two-way game all night, fired a beauty into the far corner from a tough angle, assisted by Bob McAlpine and Marchen, to make it 5-2.

Another Galt penalty at 11.14 again saw the losers pressing when Hornet policeman Zilliotto and Gary Gresdahl mixed it at the goalmouth. Zilliotto drew two minors and Gresdahl one, at 11.55, and coach Floyd Crawford threw four and five forwards into the game over the remainder.

Brown's billet deflected off Menard's leg - right into Boomer's pads — and the Hornet goalie outgassed Plane after he'd battled his way in close at 17.00.

Junkin, especially tough after falling behin 4-0, kept his club alive by robbing Power from point blank range at 18.05.

Zilliott's fifth penalty, at 19.07, presented a final opportunity and Junkin headed for the bench with 30 second left. But the Hornets, who never eased their checking, held the fort.

The Mo-Hawks travel to Barrie tomorrow and are home to Kingston Aces Tuesday.

Crushmen Win 12-7

Junior B's Have Bad Night

Belleville "B's" ripped back from a 4-1 deficit in Oshawa last night to tie the contest 4-4 before going down to a free-scoring 12-7 OHA Eastern Junior "B" loss at the hands of the Oshawa Crushmen.

It was a bid night for the losers, suffering their fifth setback in as many games, right from the start.

They were forced to play the first period-minus four players when John Smith's car caught fire and burned up near Port Hope. And they lost the services of hardrock Dave Muir, also in the opening heat, when he was cracked on the head. He did not return to play.

Oshawa built its 4-1 lead in the first 17 minutes, with Rick Seabrook potting Belleville's looer. The "B's" came out flying in the second, however, and tied it midway through the period. Pete Fleming scored at 10 seconds, John Smith at 4.55 and Ron Fuller at 10.03.

The Crushmen, taking advantage of weak goaltending by Tom Johnston, took a 7-4 lead by period's end. After two more goals early in the third made it 9-5, Belleville replaced Louie Johnston with Vern Whalen.

Ray Summers exploded for the losers by scoring all three third-period markers, at 2:47, 8:55 and 10:01 — but it wasn't enough.

The Crushmen's dozen goals were scored by five players. Frank Sawyer spearheaded the attack with a four-goal performance. Linemate Mike Keenan was close behind with three. Rick Knowles and Bill Prentice contributed two each and Gerry Welsh got the other one.

"We were outshot but they failed to keep shots-on-goal up there," said Belleville manager Jim Matthews. "Johnston played agery badly in our goal and we got Vern (Whalen) in after Oshawa's ninth goal."

THE TEAMS:

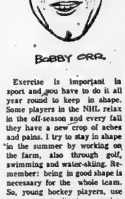
Belleville—Johnston, V. Whalen, Healey, Smith, Malory, Potts, Fleming, Poschman, Summers, Rosebush, Maher, Fuller, Muir, Burkitt, White, Gillette.

Oshawa — Rose, Wilson, Whiting, Novak, Prentice, Bradley, Sawyer, Keenan, Welsh, Knowles, R. Fleming, Webb, O'Reilly, Blanchard, McNamee, Bedard.

BOBBY HULL'S WORLD OF HOCKEY

Hockey is a team game, but every club has key players who must play well and stay healthy if the club is to succeed.

There is an impression that the Boston Bruins are going to rise in the established division of the NHL. This attitude is prompted by the many young, ambitious players in the Boston organization.



But for the Bruins to really growt, Bobby Orr must continue to play as he did in his rookie season last winter. He was rookie of the year at 18 because he combines physical assets like a great shot, good skating and clever puck-handling with a sharp hockey sense.

At this stage, Orr is a fine hockey player who can be great. He has the ability to become as good as Doug Harvey of Montreal was, if Boston doesn't require him to do too much. He needs enough help so that he only has to rush occasionally, instead of regularity as he did last season. Last year, Bobby was often caught out of position defensively because he rushed to deep into the other end that he couldn't get back to his own zone in time.

When one defenseman is out of position, it places a heavier burden on his partner. That's why Gilles Marotte, who played beside Orr last winter, was beaten for so many goals — he was left alone too often to handle two — and three-man rushes.

There is no doubt, though, that Orr will be the key player for Boston for years if he stays healthy. Milt Schmidt, the Boston manager, says Orr is worth $2,000,000 to his club because the Bruins can build around him for 15 or 20 years.

TODAY'S CUE FOR KIDS:

BOBBY ORR

Exercise is important in sport and you have to do it all year round to keep in shape. Some players in the NHL relax in the off-season and every fall they have a new crop of aches and pains. I try to stay in shape in the summer by working on the farm, also through golf, swimming and water-skiing. Remember: being in good shape is necessary for the whole team. So, young hockey players, use every opportunity to exercise. Join in all sports at all times of the year. Besides, kids, it's fun!

Picton Merchants Post Second Exhibition Win

Picton Merchants, preparing for their OHA Intermediate Hockey League opener Sunday, chalked up their second exhibition win last night, 6-3 over Napanee Pringles.

It was a fast game after one period and Napanee took an early second-frame edge before the winners rammed home three in a row to pull away.

Picton's first schedule start will be against Trenton, in Picton, tomorrow. Game time is 8:30.

Moe Hunter, with two goals and two assists, and Jim Guernsey, who also scored twice and helped on another, starred the Picton scorers. Carl Stacey and Billy Hopkins were the other marksmen.

Rick Grow, Mike Croji and Paul McGill fired the Napanee goals, with Willie Menard and Gerow each helping on a pair.

Stafford Smythe Blames Big M's Plight On Players Union

TORONTO (CP)— Charges and counter-charges were bandied about Friday night as hockey experts discussed the collapse of Frank Mahovlich of Toronto Maple Leafs.

The 29-year-old left-winger was admitted to Toronto General Hospital early Thursday morning suffering from tension and depression, technical terms for a nervous breakdown.

Stafford Smythe, president of the Leafs, suggested the newly-formed National Hockey League Players' Association was to blame for the breakdown.

"The only reason I can give for this is that Mahovlich has been under fierce pressure to join the union. He has been hounded by (Alan) Eagleson and some of the players who are in the association," said Smythe.

"Before the game with Montreal (which Toronto won 5-0 Wednesday night) I was told the guys had been begging him to join the union, but he didn't want to join. He seemed worried about this and the effect it might have on the team.

"There is no other reason I can suggest for this sudden depression. He has been playing pretty good hockey all season and was very happy with his contract."

Alan Eagleson, Toronto lawyer and legal adviser for the association—an organization designed to give hockey players bargaining power with the NHL's 12 teams—gave an emphatic and angry denial to charges of "bugging" Mahovlich.

"There has been absolutely no pressure exerted by members of the association or myself for Frank Mahovlich to join us. It is quite obvious the pressure has come from somewhere else.

'In every other club except Toronto we have either 95- or 100-per-cent membership. This has been achieved without exerting influence on any player."

Eagleson refused to reveal the number of Toronto players who had signed, but said Mahovlich was not among those who had sought his advice in contract negotiations.

It was the same type of illness that sent Mahovlich to hospital for nearly a month early in the 1964-65 season.

The latest collapse followed one of the Big M's best games of the season. He scored a goal and added two assists as the Leafs thumped the Canadiens. Other Leaf players said he seemed happy as the team boarded a train for Detroit.

The players slept overnight on a siding at Toronto's Union Station and Mahovlich left the train shortly before it departed for Detroit at 5 a.m.

"He woke me up," team-mate Bob Pulford said. "I was sleeping across from him.

"I didn't know what time it was or anything. All I could see was Frank tailing someone he wasn't feeling good and wanted to go home."

Toronto sports columnists said Friday Mahovlich was a victim of heckling and boos from Toronto fans.

Columnist Milt Dunnell of The Star wrote

"In Wednesday night's game at the Gardens, he (Mahovlich) was selected as one of the three stars. This is something that has no reward except the satisfaction of being recognized for a job that was done well.

"When Mahovlich skated out for the traditional bow, he received a mixture of cheers and jeers. This is something that shouldn't happen. The man who is selected as one of the stars has made no appeal to be picked, he merely does the fans the courtesy of acknowledging the choice."

Dick Beddoes of The Globe and Mail discounted reports that Mahovlich was pressured into the new players' association.

"Mahovlich is not the only member of Toronto Maple Leafs who has politely avoided the association. Four or five others also declined to join, most of them, as prominent as he is. If pressure to enlist was the reason Mahovlich broke down, why haven't the four or five others been similarly hounded to hospitals?

'One other pertinent fact defiates the union-pressure nonsense. Mahovlich experienced earlier fatigue . . . In 1964, absent that time for about four weeks. There was no players' association then, no labor recruiter to knock as the reason his psyche was battered. He got weary and required respite which is probably the substance of his situation today."

Meanwhile Friday, Dr. Hugh Smythe, team physician for the Leafs, said Mahovlich will probably recover sooner than expected from his collapse.

"Right now, it looks like Frank's chances this time are more hopeful than the last one."

Dr. Smythe would not comment on the treatment Mahovlich is receiving in hospital and said the winger is not allowed visitors or phone calls. He has been resting and sleeping since his admittance.

"I realize this is a difficult thing to request, but the less said by the press, radio and TV people about the reason he is in hospital, the better it would be for Frank.

"There are many, many reasons for his sickness, not just one as a lot of people are suggesting. Right now his mind is pretty clouded over. But I can tell you that how many reasons that have been discussed were not the cause. In fact, they're nowhere close."

Gary Jarrett Delayed Bonus For Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gary Jarrett was just a fringe benefit when he went to Detroit Red Wings in 1963 in a deal engineered by Toronto Maple Leafs. The Wings got Andy Bathgate and Jarrett in exchange for defenseman Marcel Pronovost so both teams sought needed strength in their bid for the Stanley Cup.

Bathgate fitted into the Wings' lineup as a scorer and Pronovost added muscle to the Leafs' blueline corps. Neither won the cup.

Bathgate was picked up this year by Pittsburgh Penguins of the National Hockey League's expanded Western Division and Pronovost is still with the Leafs. But the Wings after two years, have suddenly discovered Jarrett knocking around their farm system.

Call that a discovery. Jarrett has scored two goals and six assists so far this season to stand fourth in the NHL scoring list and he's one of the big reasons Detroit is in second place in the NHL's Eastern Division with six wins and one tie for 13 points.

Only New York Rangers, with a 6-1-3 record for 15 points, are ahead of the Wings and Detroit has an opportunity tonight to take over first place in the east.

The Rangers meet Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in Toronto and the Wings have a relatively easy game against St. Louis Blues—another last team in the Western Division.

In other games tonight, Philadelphia Flyers meet the Canadiens in Montreal, Pittsburgh Penguins play California Seals and Los Angeles Kings, first in the west, free Minnesota North Stars.

For the fledgling Flyers, it'll be a rough weekend. They play the Canadiens again Sunday night in a home-and-home doubleheader.

The only bright spot for Philadelphia is a probability that the Canadiens will provide a considerable increase in ticket sales in Philadelphia Sunday night—a sore spot with the team's management in recent games.

The Leafs blanked Montreal 5-0 Wednesday night and are hungry for their seventh victory of the season tonight against New York. The Rangers won 5-3 in the only other meeting between the two clubs this year.

In Philadelphia, the biggest trouble with the Flyers has been attendance. They have drawn a total of only 98,553 fans during their last four home games and their largest crowd was 11,859 last Saturday against the Red Wings.

Another bugbear is penalties. Philadelphia leads the entire 12-team NHL with 15 minutes. That works out to an average of more than 18 minutes a game—nearly a full period short-handed.

In other games Sunday night, Toronto is in Boston to meet the Bruins, Los Angeles plays Detroit and Chicago Black Hawks tangle with California.

And coach Emile Francis of the Rangers figures the Rangers can carry their first-place momentum through the weekend.

In an interview, the fiery coach told his club is hinting and Bob Nevin, the Ranger captain, now has hit his stride. The winger went scoreless in his first seven games, but has averaged a goal a game in the last three outings.

Ted Gerala Top Rookie In West

REGINA (CP)—Ted Gerala, place-kicker and offensive halfback with British Columbia Lions, has been awarded the Dr. Beattie Martin Trophy for his outstanding performance as a Canadian rookie in the Western Football Conference.

In making the announcement today, WFC secretary Bob Gilles said Gerala, with 33 points, led Edmonton's Mike Law with 28. Winnipeg's Chic Barrett with 22 and Ken Ferguson, also of the Lions, who had 18.

The award was given on the basis of votes from press, radio and television sports reporters in the five WFC cities.

Letter to the Sports Editor

Being an avid follower of hockey in Belleville for the past few years I am interested in the game from the little wee guys to the Mo-Hawk Sr. A's.

I was listening to the game from Kingston Tuesday night and to the conversation between periods I became quite disgusted and decided to air my feelings by the media of our newspaper.

It seems we are all quite amazed (including the announcers) at the players being imported from Peterborough, particularly the goalies.

I think this is great for the Sr. team who are drawing crowds and are probably in a position to improve the players for their services.

What I am concerned with is the Jr. team.

Are the expenses or services of imported players paid and if so by whom?

Is it fair to bring a goalie from Peterborough while our Belleville boys sit on the bench?

I have a son who plays goal, is only midget age and while I may be prejudice I think he is pretty good. He was urged by past coaches and fans who have watched him, to try out with the Jr. team.

He was eventually invited to do so. As a result he attended three workouts to get on the ice only once for a ten minute skate, but was never in the net.

I ask your consideration how could you know what potential we have in Belleville with this procedure? Also I think you have a couple of pretty good goalies sitting on the bench at present.

Practice doesn't always make perfect, but usually leads to great improvement.

If the scouts are around looking for talent, why not train the Belleville boys for the limelight first.

Thanks for taking time to read my beefs. I'll be waiting for your answers.

Sincerely,
Somebody's Mom.

Swedish Official Says "No Doubt" NHL Can Beat Russia

WINNIPEG (CP)—A much-debated question in hockey circles is how the Soviet Union's world champions would fare against the National Hockey League.

P. O. Wester, general secretary of the Swedish Ice Hockey Association, says there is no doubt "at all" that the NHL would prevail in a best-of-seven series.

Over the seven-game haul, Wester says, the professionals would prove "much superior" because of their ability to adapt, strong skating and shotdog.

A spectator at two NHL contests during a recent trip to Canada to arrange a tour by his country's national team, Wester says the professionals don't excel in every special thing but would soon be able to cope with Russia's past-conscious style of play.

The outcome in a one-or two-game encounter, he says, would be in doubt because of "the random things that can happen."

But after watching a handful of NHL clashes, Wester concedes that there is such a "different set of values" between the professional and European styles of hockey that it is hopeless to do a fair comparison.

Brushing aside body contact as unimportant, he lauds the NHL for fast skating and strong shooting, particularly the slap-shot. In Sweden, things are more sedate with the concentration on passing and stick handling.

His personal scoring for the Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France, Feb. 6-17, puts Russia first and Czechoslovakia second.

Canada, he says, is good on the power play and in checking "but their skating is not so good." Sweden dumped Canada 8-0 in the world tournament in Vienna last March.

Wester is not worried about NHL money luring Sweden's best players to North America. After a taste of tough professional hockey, he says, Swedes will return to the slower-pace game they were raised on.

Sweden's 30-man national team arrives in Canada Christmas Eve. The tour, Wester says, is designed to give 12 newcomers to the club a taste of "real hard games in a short time and a good strong tournament."

The Swedes will play the Eastern division of Canada's National team in Hull, Que., Dec. 28; Sherbrook Beavers Dec. 29 and in London, Ont., Dec. 29. Then they head for the world tournament in Winnipeg Jan. 1-6, for a double round - robin engagement with Russia and Canada's Winnipeg - based N'tional team.

The tournament schedule: Jan. 1—Canada vs. Sweden (afternoon); Jan. 3—Sweden vs. Russia; Jan. 3—Russia vs. Canada; Jan. 4—Canada vs. Sweden; Jan. 5—Sweden vs. Russia; Jan. 5—Russia vs. Canada.

En route home, the Russians will play a Western Canada Junior Hockey League all-star team in Edmonton Jan. 8 and Canada's Eastern National team in Ottawa Jan. 9.

Four other teams will also tour Canada. The Rumanian National team will play in St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 12; Moncton, N.B., Dec. 3; Saint John, N.B., Dec. 31; Drummondville, Que., Dec. 6; in the Ottawa area Dec. 8; Canada's National team in Winnipeg Dec. 19; Brandon Dec. 21; Fort William Dec. 13; Canada's Eastern National team in Hull Dec. 14; Sault Ste. Marie Dec. 17 and in Ontario Dec. 19.

The Italian National team will play in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens Jan. 7; North Bay Jan. 8 and in the Montreal area Jan. 10.

Moscow selects will play Canada's Eastern National team in Hull Dec. 16; in Quebec province Dec. 17; in Kimberley, B.C., Dec. 19; in Trail, B.C., against the Western International Hockey League all-stars Dec. 20; Canada's Winnipeg - based National team in Victoria Dec. 22 and in Winnipeg Dec. 23; Calgary Spurs in Calgary Dec. 26; in Ontario Dec. 28 and in Sudbury Dec. 29.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said Friday that the games schedule for Finland's National team are not completed, but the Finns will play Canada's national team in Winnipeg Dec. 17, followed by Games in Calgary Dec. 18, Saskatoon Dec. 20 and Edmonton Dec. 21. They will play in Spokane Dec. 22 en route to an annual tournament in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Finland's games with the National team, Calgary, Saskatoon and Edmonton are part of the regular schedule of the Western Canada senior hockey League and count in the standings.

Argos Prefer Tiger-Cats So Must Beat Them Sunday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For the first time since 1961, the final weekend of the Eastern Football Conference season means something to Toronto Argonauts.

The Argos, who meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats at home Sunday to wrap up the regular season, cannot improve their third-place position but they can decide who will be their opposition in a sudden-death semi - final Nov. 11.

"I'd like to meet Hamilton," says Argo head coach Leo Cahill.

The alternative is to meet the high-powered Ottawa Rough Riders, who play the Alouettes in Montreal today. The Ottawa-Montreal game at 2 p.m. EST will be televised by the CBC Eastern network and the Hamilton - Toronto clash Sunday will be televised on the CTV eastern network.

If the Tiger-Cats win, they clinch first place. A tie with Ottawa is possible in points, but Hamilton would be awarded first place on the strength of two victories in three regular-season meetings.

Cahill's reason for preferring to meet the Cats in the semi-final is based on his respect for Ottawa's offensive strength. The Rough Riders outscored 28 points in each of their last two games to earn a win and a tie with the Argos.

Despite the presence of Tommy-Joe Coffey, runaway scoring leader, Hamilton does not seem capable of producing points as quickly as Ottawa.

Coach Ralph Sazio of the Tiger-Cats is convinced the bye would help his club.

"You have only one opponent to prepare for and you have extra time to do it," he said. "You get a chance to heal your injuries and the team you're going to meet is liable to pick up a few."

Toronto's health generally is good. Flanker Bobby Taylor is still hampered by abscoted bruises and fullback Joe Williams has been labelled a doubtful starter because of a rib injury. If Williams cannot play, Cahill is likely to move Bill Symons into his spot and give Pete Manning a job at flanker.

Perhaps Toronto's most severe injury has been done to the club president by president Lew Hayman. He was fined $200 by commissioner Alan McEachern Friday for expressing an unpleasant opinion about football officials.

A week earlier, president Sam Berger of Ottawa paid $100 for similar comments.

Ottawa's major concern is that the cellar-dwelling Alouettes will come up with one final effort to salvage a dismal season.

Montreal coach O. K. Dalton said Mickey Sarron will be used at defensive back and Dave Lewis could play offence beside Charlie Seiker.

National Ballet First Rate In First of Two Performances

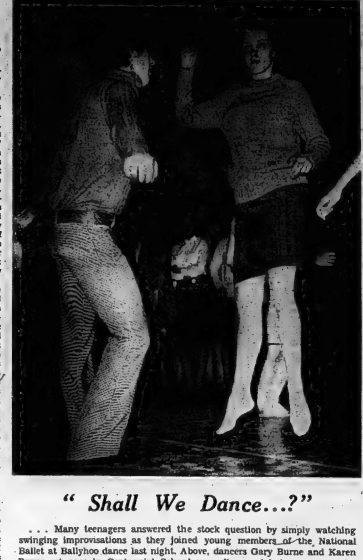
By EUGENE LANG

The first of two fall performances of the National Ballet of Canada was presented in the auditorium of Centennial Secondary School last evening before a near capacity audience primarily made up of teenage students from the city and district. With an early curtain at 7:30 and ends to be a full smash for the young mods in their Carnaby Street get up that gives them a full evening of first rate ballet, an after theatre supper in the cafeteria, the concluding 'Ballyhoo' in the gymnasium with music supplied by the Capitals and MC'd by the man with the most — Dave Charles.

Herein however, we shall remain with the make believe world of the ballet and then adroitly (if possible) wend our way through the crowded corridors to the theatre leaving the rest of the evening to the takeover by teenager attitudes and dance.

Under the direction of Celia Franca, the National Ballet, as is its wont, gave a first rate showing on the spanking new Centennial stage. The depth of this stage proves a great improvement for the troupe over the more cramped quarters of the B.C.I. stage which city visitors have always used in past Belleville appearances. Also the orchestra pit is a real advantage for the instrumentalists. Sure, we all love dear old C.C.I., but the fact is simply that for presentations such as ballet, the old order changeth giving way to the new.

Five attractions were on the program, four of them utilizing the minimum in settings with a solid blue wall providing the background. Ballet is a difficult art form to describe by the printed word, thus attempts at verbal description from visual perception could falter decidedly in the translation. We shall brave a try or two.



The opener was One in Five with music by the Strauss brothers, 19th century purveyors of Viennese dance music. The six principals were models of poise and polish here. "Eh!" a full ballet based upon chamber music by Francis Poulenc was a startler that left the spectator in a phase of haze from a maze of gaze. Colorful costuming in a psychedelectic arrangement was offset by dances of unusual motivations carried along by the meandering strivings of Poulenc's score. The bride and groom with corps for lamb all added up to a climax that could only come away with the exclamation "Eh!"

Two prime examples of the Pas de Deux were executed by dancers Martine van Hamel and Rasarro Surmejan in Le Corsair with music by Ricardo Drigo followed later by Veronica Tennant and Peter Schaufuss in Don Quixote supported by strains from Ludwig Minkus. Both presentations were exceptional with pensive feelings exuded from the former yet enticingly devised as a sequel to the stately majesty and fluid grace from the latter in their offering. These two familiar sets of variations from the classical ballet were illustrated with lightness, charm, and varying agility by the performers.

The final production was Solitaire with a languorous yet at times tense music by Malcolm Arnold. The large troupe of dancers delivered a splendid portrayal of the vivid and fast paced "kind of dance for one" with sinuous modelings by Lois Smith etc. Powerful lamentries were voiced by the National Ballet Orchestra conducted by George Crum that added to the thrilling effects decorated and attained by all in their co-ordinated conception of this entrancing entertainment.

For those in attendance it was an exhilarating experience that no doubt will be duplicated again this evening by an entirely different program based upon music by Tschaikowsky, Rossini, Minkus and Chaminon.

Will you be there? I hope so.

"Shall We Dance...?"

. . . Many teenagers answered the stock question by simply watching swinging improvisations as they joined young members of the National Ballet at Ballyhoo dance last night. Above, dancers Gary Burne and Karen Bowes set pace in Centennial School gym after special stage program for high school students.

Ballet Members Join Teen-agers at Dance

Hundreds of dance-happy Belleville teenagers joined the National Ballet last night.

They weren't necessarily stage struck — but the event was an exhilarating experience just the same.

It was all part of an evening of entertainment designed by the city's National Ballet Guild to quicken the interest of the young people in the presentation of the famed dance corps — departing Belleville tonight on the next leg of its current annual tour.

About 450 high school students responded to the attractions of an evening of theatre tailored to teenage enthusiasm.

It kicked off with a lively two-hour stage presentation at Centennial Secondary School by the ballet corps. The program consisted of short works and excerpts.

Immediately after, the young audience repaired a get-together at the school cafeteria then trekked over to the gymnasium for the highlight of the evening — a Ballyhoo!

Until midnight, they joined younger members of the ballet as they relaxed from the strains of precision dancing in a workout ranging from the shimmy to the frug.

The young ballet dancers drew scores of watching eyes as they kicked off their shoes for the final fling of another successful opening.

Marlies Have No Success In Halting Flyers' String

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros are still looking for a way to derail the undefeated Niagara Falls Flyers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The Marlies apparently had a solution for two periods Friday but Niagara Falls erupted for four third-period goals and a 6-5 decision before about 4,000 fans in Niagara Falls.

As a result, Toronto remains tied for second place with the idle Kitchener Rangers and Niagara Falls owns eight successive victories.

In the only other game Friday, London Nationals pulled into a sixth-place tie with the idle Oshawa Generals by trouncing Ottawa 67s 8-3 at London. Ottawa, a new franchise this season, remained in the basement with three points in 11 ways 3.

Rookie Doug Brindley paced the Flyers with two third - period goals to overcome Toronto's 4-2 margin. A few minutes later, Gary Swain notched the winner. Karl Haggarty, Ross Webley and Dan Makey shared the others for Niagara Falls.

The Marlboros, whose only two losses have been administered by the Flyers, received three goals from captain Tom Martin. Frank Hamill and Rick Kessell scored the others.

London scored five goals in succession to break open a 3-3 tie. Barry Boughner scored two goals. Al Sutherland, Bob Pate, Brian Murphy, John Gould Gerry Bradbury and Darryl Sittler notched one each.

Jean Potvin scored twice and Guy Smith once for Ottawa.

Rich Allen Surgery Satisfactory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The injured hand of Philadelphia Phillies slugger Rich Allen is progressing satisfactorily, doctors reported.

Allen, third baseman for the National League club, severed cut his right wrist in August, putting him out of action the last month of the season. He was examined by orthopedic specialists at Temple University Hospital.

The report said Allen's tendon repair, wrist function and movement were very good. He didn't have much control of his last two fingers because of nerve damage which was not expected to be healed so yet, a team spokesman said.

Hormone Levels Affect Endometriosis

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that I have endometriosis, and have been bothered with it for about eight years. Having had one child in this time has helped some.

How long can one have this without an operation? Could one get through the menopause without surgery for it? Would the trouble then disappear? — Mrs. J. M.

You must understand the nature of endometriosis in order to be able to understand the answers to your questions.

The tissue which lines the inside of the uterus is called the endometrium. This type of tissue, as you undoubtedly already realize, responds to the rise and fall of certain hormone levels in the system which govern the menstrual cycle.

Sometimes some of this tissue becomes misplaced, or should I say displaced? Patches of it, in some curious fashion, sometimes find their way into other areas of the abdomen.

This seems to do little harm except for one important fact: These migrant tissues, wherever they are, still respond to the hormones. Hence there can be bleeding, just as though the tissue were still in the uterus. This, obviously, may cause irritation and hence pain, until the bleeding has had time to be absorbed.

How long one can have this "without an operation" depends entirely on how troublesome it is, and on whether treatment with hormones can ease the symptoms. If it troubles a woman too much, then surgery is the logical answer.

If the trouble is not too severe, then it is reasonable to wait for menopause — because when menopause occurs, and the hormone action is altered and menstruation ceases, that also is the end of the misplaced tissues reacting and causing trouble.

Thus the basis of the decision comes to this question: How uncomfortable are you?

Your age also is of some significance. If you are close to menopause age, you (and your doctor) may prefer to wait and let menopause take care of the trouble.

But if you are some years away from menopause age, it is likely that the problem will tend to get worse through the intervening years.

The decision also is complicated by the difficulty in trying to predict when menopause will begin, since there can be a difference of several years from one person to another. If you know your mother's age at menopause, that may give you a hint, although it is not a certainty that you will have menopause at the same age.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard that cataracts cause cloudy vision. On certain days both my eyes become cloudy. Then in a day or two they are clear again. I'm 19 and wear contact lenses. Could I have cataracts? Or could my lenses have something to do with it? — E. G.

Cataracts don't come and go; they just get gradually worse. So I don't think you have cataracts. You may be encountering some irritation from your lenses, or maybe you are wearing them for longer periods than you should. Next time you notice this cloudiness I'd have the eye doctor take a look — but don't expect him to find cataracts.

Dear Dr. Molner: Should a decalcified spine have ultra violet treatment or any other application of heat? — A. N. R.

I presume you refer to osteoporosis, which involves a loss of calcium from the bones. Neither ultra violet nor heat will help this condition. Treatment is a high protein diet (and being sure to get adequate calcium). Hormones, and appropriate exercise, the latter two encouraging the deposit of sufficient calcium in the bones.

Students Rehearse Play on Sandburg

One of the most intimate productions yet staged by the Belleville Theatre Guild also seems slated to draw among the largest total audience in local theatre record.

Now in rehearsal is The World of Carl Sandburg to be presented later this month in Belleville and Trenton.

The production is based around the poems, songs, and stories of the famed American poet whose death earlier this year left the public scene of one of its popular and beloved commentators.

The presentation is probably the most novel entertainment form yet organized by the Guild as it launches its 1967-68 season.

Written earlier in this decade, it successfully culled the essence of Sandburg's long literary career for presentation in dramatic form.

It uses only three characters and its main props are reading stands and stools.

The dialogue byplay — witty and dramatic — among the trio form the framework in which the Sandburg selections are presented to the audience.

But the apparent simplicity of dramatic style is deceptive, since it calls for a wide range of intricate stage effects to supply dramatic emphasis.

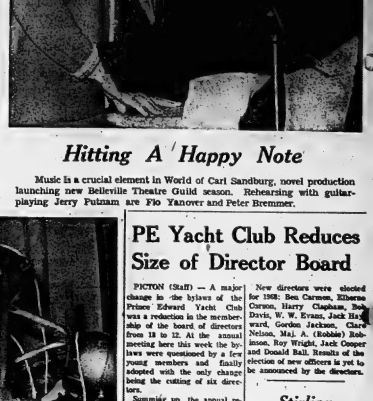
So much so, director Jim Alexander recently called his cast and stage crew together for a special technical rehearsal at Belleville Collegiate.

Lighting and scenic effects were plotted in preparation for opening night which is still two weeks away.

The production, while between acts of stock scenery uses a big projection screen as a backdrop.

Trenton artist Tony Lassing created 40 special paintings from the presentation, had them photographed and transferred to slide transparencies for projection during the stage action.

On stage throughout the entire evening are Flo Yanover, Peter Bremmer and Gerry Putnam, young Belleville artist and musician who supplies musical highlights.



Reason for the certainty of big audiences is the decision of the Guild to link the World of Carl Sandburg into local high school curriculum.

As entertainment-cum-education it opens in Trenton High School Nov. 15 for an afternoon student performance, followed by an evening presentation for adults.

It will also play Belleville Collegiate Nov. 22, Moira and Centennial secondary schools in later weeks.

For Belleville adult audiences, the Guild has decided to match the intimacy of the production with the surroundings. Hence the Pinnacle Room of the Hotel Quinte will be converted into a small theatre Nov. 23-25.

Seating capacity is limited to 140 people at each performance.

Hitting A Happy Note

Music is a crucial element in World of Carl Sandburg, novel production launching new Belleville Theatre Guild season. Rehearsing with guitar-playing Jerry Putnam are Flo Yanover and Peter Bremmer.

De Gaulle Seen Firm Against British Bid

PARIS (AP)—A Paris newspaper says it is clear from President de Gaulle's interview with Irish Prime Minister John Lynch that "de Gaulle is closing the door to the English" attempt to join the Common Market.

Another paper says another de Gaulle veto might cause a substitution of Britain for France in the Common Market, which it says West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger hinted Friday.

The first paper, Paris Jour, which supports de Gaulle, says in a page one editorial: "A categorical refusal to the English candidacy. That is the conclusion that can be drawn from the interview."

It says de Gaulle told Lynch that "the six of continental Europe should remain tightly tied and the only solution to be considered would be an association between the six and the other continental states."

It says "de Gaulle is posing no more conditions to Britain's entry, but is espousing the entry purely and simply."

De Gaulle vetoed a previous bid by Britain to join the economic community, Britain now is trying again.

L'Aurore editorialist Roland Faure says that Kiesinger "warned Gen. de Gaulle against the consequences of a new veto."

"This destructive crisis, whose menace the German chancellor evoked, cannot help but lead to a new community constituted by our five partners and Britain: a new Atlantic Common Market to which America will be associated. And France will find herself alone, terribly shaken by her retreat."

The result to the French would be "a 25-per-cent reduction in the standard of life," the page one editorial in the right wing anti-Gaullist newspaper says. "That is impossible. De Gaulle knows it."

Premier Ike Smith Unopposed For Stanfield's Former Post

HALIFAX (CP)—G. I. (Ike) Smith will return to business as usual in his premier's office Monday morning to face bigger problems than he contended Friday in the first leadership convention of the Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative Association in 19 years.

The 59-year-old premier was officially chosen successor to Robert Stanfield, now national PC chief, when no other candidates filed nomination papers before the deadline at midnight Friday.

Mr. Smith, finance and economics minister and right-hand man in the Stanfield cabinet, got only a temporary challenge from a 29-year-old accountant and salesman from neighboring Dartmouth. That was taken care of in an 11th-hour chat between the premier and Edward Richard Teleshe.

Mr. Teleshe, a Conservative worker but not a registered convention delegate, caused a brief stir when he took out nomination papers while Mr. Stanfield was addressing the association's annual meeting. He failed to get the required 25 signatures of registered delegates and withdrew after his corridor conference with Mr. Smith.

Mr. Teleshe had earlier said he was seeking nomination because he felt "the democratic process should be served."

A threatened closure of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. steel mill in Sydney sparked any opposition to Mr. Smith three weeks before the leadership contest.

Attorney-General R. A. Donahoe, who admitted he was considering candidacy, announced his support for Mr. Smith after Premier Stanfield Oct. 13 announced he had shown the big steel plant next spring.

The entire cabinet closed ranks behind the premier and further speculation about a leadership fight ceased.

It was expected the premier would touch on the Sydney steel problem in his address to the 1,200 delegates and guests at the opening session this morning. At an open reception Thursday night, he praised Cape Bretoners for their stamina and in turn received plaudits for the government's actions in seeking a solution.

Mr. Stanfield attempted to lift some of the burden in his speech to the association's annual meeting Friday night.

He what he described as his valedictory to provincial politics, Mr. Stanfield said the federal government must accept a major share of responsibility for finding a solution to the crisis.

The former premier received a standing ovation when he rose to speak. He was elected at the provincial party's last leadership convention in 1948, when the latter held no seats in the legislature. He led them to victory in 1956 and to an unprecedented fourth term for the party last May.

Royal Canadian Legion News

Last weekend was the scene for over one hundred Legionaires from District "F" with eleven branches taking part, each branch had a team of eight players battling for the Championship in district shuffle board. The branch teams taking part were all winners in Zone play-offs. The local branch team, Branch 99 Royal Canadian Legion carried off the championship, under the captaincy of Comrade Alvin Loyer, Chairman of Sports for Branch 99, they received a beautiful trophy for their efforts. The local team now journey to Milton on November 18th and 19th for the finals when they will get a good opportunity of winning the Provincial Championship. The team from Peterborough Branch was second in the tournament.

During the past two weeks, Branch 99 Royal Canadian Legion presented their annual bursaries to the graduating students at the four secondary schools and Nicholson Catholic College. At Bell and VS Comrade Dick Kirby presented the award to Miss Jane Kerr, Moira Secondary School, Miss Dawn Thompson received the award and this was presented by Comrade Everett Liddle; Quinte Secondary School bursary, was won by Herb Huffman and presented by Comrade Tom Purdey; Centennial Secondary School award won by Jim Carrie and presented by Comrade Tom Purdey, Nicholson Catholic College award won by Sylvia Lloyd and presented by Comrade Jack Rasbotts.

The committee in picking the winners are as follows: to a deserving student who has completed Grade 12 and is continuing his or her education and must be a son or a daughter of a veteran. The amount of the bursary is $25 to each student. Along with these students continued success in their studies and let us hope that one of them wins the Ontario Command's large bursary which is presented each year to some students in every district Command of the Legion in Ontario. There are around forty scholarship of $400 each, given out. This same plan is in effect in all provinces of Canada, the Legion having over 2000 branches and a membership of 273,000. The Provincial Bursaries are for University entrance.

LaMarsh Calls Ouimet Query Arrogant

OTTAWA (CP)—Open postal warfare broke out Friday between J. Alphonse Ouimet and Judy LaMarsh.

Mr. Ouimet, president of the CBC, wrote a letter to Miss LaMarsh, the secretary of state, demanding she turn over the facts on which she based her public statement that many areas of the CBC are subject to "rotten management."

In a letter of reply, Miss LaMarsh categorically refused. In the Commons she described Mr. Ouimet's letter as "arrogant."

Speculation about immediate resignations of the two was tempered by the positions of both Mr. Ouimet and Miss LaMarsh.

The CBC president submitted his resignation 13 months ago, but agreed to stay on until new broadcasting legislation now before the Commons was put on the rails. Miss LaMarsh has talked about leaving the cabinet and not contesting the next federal election.

The paper war brought Miss LaMarsh and Mr. Ouimet down squarely on opposing sides.

Mr. Ouimet referred to Miss LaMarsh's statement on the Pierre Berton television program of "rotten management" within the CBC, and asked for "all information in your possession" on which she based the charge.

The CBC "cannot allow your public charges to remain unsubstantiated," he said.

"If your charges are correct, they must be confined to those responsible and the corporation will take appropriate action. If they are not justified then the reputation of the corporation and its people must be cleared at the earliest possible moment."

Miss LaMarsh ticked off Mr. Ouimet for "the implication in your letter that I, a minister of the Crown, am in some way responsible or answerable either to you or the corporation. . . ."

"My responsibilities are not to appointed officials, but to the prime minister and to Parliament."

Miss LaMarsh, who reports to Parliament on a broadcasting matters, then flatly rejected the Ouimet request for information.

* * *

On Thursday in the Commons, when she was asked what she had done about instances of poor management that had been brought to her attention, Miss LaMarsh said:

"Such instances have not been brought to the attention of the individuals concerned since the bill now is before the House and there is at least a reasonable probability that within the next few weeks or months there will be some changes in personnel and presumably some very great changes within the corporation's management."

The debate in the Commons often touched on the conflict between the two personages.

Miss LaMarsh, elaborating on her television remarks in the House, said they derived from things she learned only within recent weeks. Her discoveries were much worse than anything she had known before.

But she stressed that there was nothing new in her claim that something was wrong with CBC management.

The Fowler committee study of broadcasting, the standing Commons committee and the Glassco royal commission on government operation had all made this clear, Miss LaMarsh said.

David Lewis (N D P—York South) said Miss LaMarsh could have called for resignations from CBC board members and could have appointed new top officers for the corporation.

Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) said hundreds of CBC managerial personnel were left under a cloud from Miss LaMarsh's statement. Both Mr. Lewis and Mr. Nielsen called on her to name names and specify just where her charges applied.

Miss LaMarsh said she didn't expect that her Wednesday statement would have been taken to heart by a CBC supervisor in Newfoundland. She had obviously meant top management.

Mr. Nielsen said Miss LaMarsh "is a very charming lady." He would like to see her free of her latest troubles but she was obviously "in it up to her neck."

Miss LaMarsh noted Mr. Nielsen "is charming but not always well informed."

When Mr. Nielsen said Mr. Ouimet's letter was one of the strongest he had ever read, Miss LaMarsh replied:

"Arrogant is the word."

Lewis Blames CBC Directors

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor lawyer David Lewis told the Commons Friday that the members of the CBC board of directors are responsible for the evil days that have befallen the public broadcasting agency.

Mr. Lewis, a New Dimocratic Party front-bencher, said board members are eit nice fellows and have impressive academic backgrounds.

But the board's failure to act decisively in moments of crisis —such as the This Hour Has Seven Days blowup—was a clear indication it was incompetent to administer the CBC.

He stated Secretary Judy LaMarsh as saying board members had "good education, good background, good everything.

"But they just don't seem to manage."

"If these people cannot manage it, what right have they to be there?" demanded Mr. Lewis.

The debate on the government's new broadcasting act will continue Monday, pushing back the scheduled debate on the government's bill to abolish capital punishment except for murderers of policemen and prison guards.

Mr. Lewis, MP for York South, said the success of the new broadcasting act, which scraps the present regulatory board, the Board of Broadcast Governors, and creates a new one, the Canadian Radio Commission, depends on the appointments to be made.

That being so, the government should do away with political appointments, said Mr. Lewis.

Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) accused the government of setting up a broadcasting junta and a system of thought control policy over private radio and television. The Conservative member said the bill puts private broadcasters at the mercy of political influence.

Mr. Nielsen also said the radio commission would be able to control scheduling and control of programming in private stations with the threat of a $100,000 fine for infractions.

As for CBC-TV programs, Mr. Nielsen had this to say:

"For nonesk, Canadians were treated to an unending parade over the CBC of drug addicts Black Power advocates, prostitutes, purveyors of filthy literature, Nazis and pseudo-Nazis."

Mr. Nielsen took a swipe at management by concluding that "no one, apparently, at CBC was able to exercise any control over what went on."

French-language TV was little better, he said.

"We have had on the French network a parade of separatists and advocates of the destruction of Canada."

He said this included 30 minutes or more of Fidel Castro explaining in detail how a revolution can be successfully carried out.

John Munro, parliamentary assistant to Manpower Minister Marchand, said the Commons should put its own house in order before being critical of someone else's.

He said Gilles Gregoire, the independent MP for Lapointe and a separatist, was espousing a cause which, if successful, could destroy Canada.

Mr. Gregoire had broken every principle of his oath as an MP. What was the Commons doing about that, demanded Mr. Munro.

Brave Toronto Doctor Battles Establishment

TORONTO (CP)—When an individual takes on the whole panoply of federal authority, he should at least as much as he can check—

He has to be an extraordinarily resolute soul to face the full array of cabinet, the party in power and the bureaucratic establishment, especially when he is an amateur in politics, as is usually the case.

Dr. Michael C. Hall of Toronto is the latest individual who has decided to test the might a government can bring to bear to defeat itself and counter-attack.

The government began marshalling its case Friday against Dr. Hall's charge that Canadian aid to Vietnam is a mess.

The two witnesses before the Commons external affairs committee were External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, not known as a political amateur, and Maurice Strong, chief of the External Aid Office and former head of Power Corp. Ltd. of Montreal.

On Thursday, when Dr. Hall was the witness, the 24-member committee had to wait 26 minutes to get a quorum of 13.

On Friday, all Liberal members were in their places on time. And arrayed around them were at least as many officials of the external affairs department and the aid office.

A government always has at hand oceans of statistics and legions of officials it can call on to buttress its case.

One Liberal, less partisan than most MPs, said Friday he is extremely upset about the bearings on Dr. Hall's charges.

"Here we have two dedicated men, Dr. Hall and Mr. Strong, both striving to do what they think best for our foreign aid," he said.

"Why do we have to get into a wrangle over their opposing views? We should just accept them and go on to discussing something else."

But the committee is far from finished with the subject. Mr. Martin, Mr. Strong and Dr. Hall are all scheduled to appear as witnesses again—and probably more than once.

TV in Schools Opposed

TORONTO (CP)—A university professor, an expert on television programming expressed opposition Friday night to the use of TV in the classroom.

As a "magnifying glass" through which a student could see a difficult experiment or as a teaching supplement, television could be useful, but it is not the answer to all present-day teaching problems, said Dr. Donald G. Ivey, principal of New College, University of Toronto.

He told a dinner meeting of the centennial science teachers' conference that reports on studies of the use of TV in the U.S. and U.K. have always concentrated on that which can be measured.

"What was measured was the comparative performance of the different groups of students in examinations. . . .

"While television teaching can probably do as well or better than a live teacher for the measurable part of education, it cannot do nearly as well as a good teacher for the unmeasurable part."

Dr. Ivey, a professor of physics, told his audience—1,500 science teachers from Canada and the United States whose three-day conference ends today that public opinion argued that a university education with a degree was essential for the good life. This was not necessarily the case.

"What worries me, is that the emphasis too often is on the degree and not on the education."

Earlier, Dr. R. Nicholls of York University, Toronto said the new math that was brought into the schools three years ago left students weak in algebra. Particularly in physics, the emphasis was on "gee-whiz science" which glamorized science rather than giving the students the bread-and-butter facts.

Not all high school graduates were equipped for university. Universities could receive only a fraction of them.

U.S. Anti-missile System Could Destroy Orbital Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Sentinel system to be deployed against a Chinese nuclear missile threat is expected to be capable of intercepting and destroying orbital bombs of the type Russia is reported developing.

The U.S. defence department replied with a terse "yes," when asked Saturday whether the anti-missile system will have the capability of intercepting warheads launched at the U.S. by satellite-type orbital weapons.

But the Pentagon declined any further discussion of such a capability on grounds the details are secret.

The U.S. anti-missile system will not be ready for three or four years — and the Soviet orbital bomb may be operational next year.

Recognition of Israel Is Offered by Hussein

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan Sunday made the strongest Arab bid for peace with Israel so far, telling a television audience that Arab leaders are willing to recognize Israel's rights to exist and possibly to let Israeli ships through the Suez Canal if Israel meets "the right conditions."

Replying to questions on the CBS program Face the Nation, Hussein said a pre-requisite to direct peace talks is the withdrawal of Israeli troops from all Arab soil it occupied in the June war.

Israel has said it never will let go of Old Jerusalem, which Jordan seized in the 1948 Palestine war, and Israeli Prime Minister Levi Eshkol indicated a week ago that Israel intends to keep other Arab areas it captured in June.

Artillery and tank fire punctuated the pre-dawn stillness on the Israeli-Jordanian ceasefire line Sunday, marking the third border clash in three weeks between the two countries.

An Israeli army spokesman said Jordanian guns opened up to cover Arab saboteurs who blew up a building at a farm settlement and were trying to cross the River Jordan to safety.

Jordan charged that Israel opened the two-hour artillery duel by firing on homes in the Ghor area of northern Jordan. No fatalities were reported on either side.

Hussein meets with State Secretary Dean Rusk in Washington today and with President Johnson Wednesday.

Arab countries have refused to recognize Israel's right to exist and have maintained that the 1948 state of war never has ended.

But Hussein said the Arab leaders at the Khartoum summit conference in September agreed to offer "to recognize the right of all to live in peace and security" in the Middle East.

Asked if Egyptian Petsident Nasser would allow Israeli ships to use the Suez Canal and the Strait of Tiran, Hussein replied: "I think if the right conditions were met, yes."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban repeated Israel's insistence on direct peace talks with Syria, Jordan and Egypt in a speech in London Sunday night. He told a Zionist Federation celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Balfour Declaration that new borders must be negotiated between Israel and her three Arab neighbors.

New Yemen Regime Plans to Seek Peace

SAN'A (AP)—Yemen's new republican regime indicates that it will seek reconciliation with the royalists to end the five-year-long civil war.

The new regime came to power Sunday in a bloodless coup while President Abdullah al Sallal was out of the country. It said its goal is to "correct the situation" in Yemen.

Cairo's Middle East news agency quoted the new acting president, Abdul Rahman Iriani, as saying contacts were under way with pro-royalist tribes with the aim of bringing them into the republican fold.

Iriani is a conservative and is believed to have great influence with the warring tribes.

The new premier, Mohsen el Aini, said all tribes have expressed backing for the new regime. He also said Yemen would follow a "good neighbor" policy with all sister states, including the neighboring monarchy of Saudi Arabia, which backed the royalists in the civil war that began when Sallal led the overthrow of Yemen's 11-century-old monarchy in 1962.

Egypt sent 40,000 troops to Yemen to keep the republicans in power, but its losses in the June war with Israel forced President Nasser to agree with King Feisal of Saudi Arabia to end their involvement in Yemen and try to restore peace there.

The Fruits of Victory

David Prudhomme, left, was the first Trenton High School student to complete a Trenton-to-Belleville and return march on Saturday. He made it in five hours, 20 minutes. Linda Spence, right, was the last to complete the trip. It took her eight hours. But both of them, together with Ian Forbes, centre, and all others participating, were winners. They raised $291 for Christmas cheer for needy Trenton families. Here they enjoy their reward, a cooling bath for aching feet. (For story see Page 2.)

Plane Crashes Increase Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disaster struck often and hard during the weekend and more than 250 persons were reported dead or missing in a typhoon, floods, a train wreck and three plane crashes from the Philippines to Britain.

In the Philippines: About 200 were believed dead or missing as casualty counts poured into Manila after typhoon Emma rampaged across the island and sank an inter-island passenger ship.

In England: Fifty-one dead and 111 injured when an express train careered off the tracks coming into London Sunday night. Another 37 died in the crash on Saturday of a Spanish airliner arriving in London from Malaga, Spain.

In Hong Kong: Only one person died as a huge Cathay Pacific Airlines Convair 880 tilted on takeoff and slid into Hong Kong harbor. The other 126 persons aboard escaped unhurt from the floating fuselage.

In New Guinea: All seven persons aboard a light plane died today when it crashed while taking off from Goroka Airport in the New Guinea highlands.

In Italy: At least 11 persons died in highway crashes during hard rains that pushed rivers in Venice and the Po River Delta over their banks to flood roads and highways.

The owners of the Philippine ship Mindoro reported 67 persons are missing and presumed drowned while 14 others are known dead after the 200-ton vessel sank in rough central Philippine seas churned up by Typhoon Emma two days ago. They said 134 passengers were rescued.

The vessel sank at the height of Emma's fury. Her howling winds, up to 125 miles an hour, cut a swatch of destruction across the Philippines. The Philippine News Service reported 106 others dead or missing in five provinces, and the Red Cross listed 16 dead in two other areas.

In southeast London this morning firemen cut through a tangle of crushed passenger cars with acetylene torches, freeing trapped passengers and recovering bodies from the derailment Sunday night of the express train from Hastings, on the south coast.

Many of the dead were believed to be children returning with their parents from the weekend to the country.

Cars began jumping the track as the train whizzed across a bridge at about 70 miles an hour. Four cars careered along the ballast and pickaxed into a giant letter "W" while another turned upside down and skidded along on its roof.

Race Issue Factor In U. S. Elections

WASHINGTON (CP-AP) — Scores of U.S. cities will elect mayors Tuesday in a little general election and governorships are at stake in Kentucky and Mississippi.

In addition, there are thousands of office seekers at the county, state and local level in many parts of the United States.

But the main attention is focused on elections for mayor in Gary, Ind., Cleveland and Boston where the race issue predominates.

A federal court may decide today whether voters in Gary even will go to the polls as scheduled. If the steel city does vote, state police and national guardsmen are ready to move in because of apprehensions of racial disorder.

Richard G. Hatcher, Negro Democratic nominee, charged in a suit filed last Tuesday that 5,000 names of Negroes had been removed from the voting rolls and 4,000 names of persons of whites inserted. He blamed the county Democratic organization whose candidate lost to him in the party primary.

Since his suit was filed, the county election board has restored thousands of names which had been erased from the rolls.

Gary, population 178,000, is about 55 per cent Negro, but white registrants are believed to outnumber Negro voters.

These are the other mayoralty contests of top interest:

Cleveland—Carl B. Stokes, a Negro lawyer and state legislator, is the Democratic nominee and is opposed by Republican Seth Taft, a grandson of President William Howard Taft.

Boston—The question it whether Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, a 47-year-old housewife, can make it all the way to the top. She led a field of 10 in a preliminary election, getting strong support in working and middle-class areas where there was applause for her stand as a school committee member against transporting Negro children to white schools outside their home neighborhoods.

Chrysler Strike Date Set

WINDSOR (CP)—The United Auto Workers Union in Canada is poised for strike action against Chrysler Canada Ltd. on Nov. 15 following a 97 per cent vote in favor of a walkout.

About 8,000 members of Local 444 of the UAW cast ballots here Sunday giving solid membership backing "if and when the union gives the go-ahead," a spokesman said.

Another Target Off Banned List

SAIGON (CP)—Another target came off the Pentagon's out-of-bounds list today as U.S. Air Force planes bombed North Vietnam's biggest military storage area—a little more than half a mile from the international airport serving Hanoi—a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The target, was at Gia Thuong, a half mile from Gia Lam Airport, where international traffic, including planes of the three-nation International Control Commission, land.

Indian, Canadian and Polish representatives serve on the ICC, and so by the U.S. Geneva conference to oversee truce arrangements in Indochina.

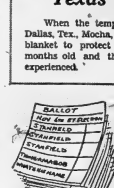
American bombs hit buildings and anti-aircraft sites in the area, three miles northeast of the centre of Hanoi.

The Gia Lam air base, across the Red River from the heart of Hanoi, is the only MiG airbird U.S. planes have not yet attacked. It is on the Pentagon's restricted list. Among the others are the Haiphong docks and rail terminal and the power plant in Lao Cai, on the border of China.

American F-105 Thunderchief pilots reported MiG-17 and MiG-21 interceptors in the area, and one F-105 had a brief clash with one of the MiGs, but the U.S. command said neither plane was hit.

The spokesman said Gia Thuong is considered one of the largest military storage areas in North Vietnam, with 72 storage buildings, 11 support buildings and eight administration buildings in the compound.

In another major strike Sunday, air force Thunderchiefs again raided the Pue Yen MiG base northwest of Hanoi and reported damaging at least two MiG-17s on the ground.



In the South, Viet Cong guerrillas invaded five Montagnard villages in the central highlands early today and kidnapped 343 of the mountain tribes people, a U.S. spokesman reported.

Government troops also battled Viet Cong troops near Loc Ninh Sunday.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Voters today began casting ballots in three federal constituencies across Canada in byelections to fill Commons seats vacated earlier this year.

Newly-elected Progressive Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield, former Nova Scotia premier, after campaigning for only two days in Colchester—Hants, is seeking a federal seat for the first time in his political career.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Northwest winds streaming across Hudson Bay and the Great Lakes are picking up moisture from the relatively warm waters to keep skies cloudy as well as producing some snowflurry activity.

Ottawa Policy Called Gutless

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rene Levesque, independent member of the Quebec legislature for Montreal's Laurier riding, Sunday accused the federal government of making "bloody money" out of the Vietnam war through arms contracts from the United States.

Mr. Levesque, who prefers to call himself a sovereignist rather than a separatist, told 1,600 persons at a meeting of the Canadian Aid for Vietnam Civilians' Organization that the government is a "gutless camp follower of the U.S."

He said Canada is a accomplice in the war because this country was involved in agreements made in 1954 to keep the peace in Vietnam.

Canada stood by, he said, when these agreements were thrown out.

"This is one of the biggest natiens in the world just destroying one of the smallest," Mr. Levesque said of the war in Vietnam.

Walkathon Idea Used in Picton

PICTON (Staff) — It appears that 1967 has been the year for walking marathons. Again Saturday, for the second time, students of Prince Edward Collegiate engaged in a walkathon. This time from Picton to Wellington a distance of some 13 miles. Only a mouth or so ago, the students staged a rather strenuous walk from Picton to Belleville Ewick's Island.

Saturday the students competed in a much better organized event and they competed for a cash prize of $100 donated by Dr. Lionel Dockrill of Picton. The money will be donated to the new school for the Mentally Retarded at Yerexville. A trophy (to be passed on annually) The Warden's Trophy, to be presented to the winning team, was donated by Warden of Prince Edward County Robert Boyce. This trophy will be presented at a later date at Prince Edward Collegiate.

Some 50 students started off from the collegiate at 10.20 a.m. Saturday - first to arrive at the Town Hall in Wellington were three boys who made it in 2 hours, 16 minutes. They puffed into Wellington at 20 minutes to one. They were Dennis Howard, 14, 17-year-old Donald Markland and Kevin Dockrill age 13.

Although first to arrive the boys did not officially win the race because walkathon participants were organized into teams for this race and the first complete team in were the winners. The first team arrived at 12.55 Peter Wilson, Betty Terpstra, Lynne Norton and Douglas Ross being the lucky winners.

Students, during the race, were strung out along the twelve - mile route and carefully watched by OPP of the Picton detachment.

On arrival at the finish post a lunch was awaiting the walkers by Wellington Women's Institute, cost of sandwiches, donuts, pickles, coffee and soft drinks was provided by village council. On hand to represent Reeve Boyce and representing council was Councillor, Mrs Roxanne Blower, who welcomed each of the tired contestants.

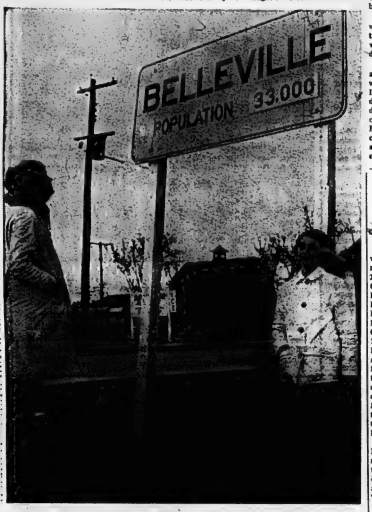
Trenton Students Get $290

TRENTON — Foot-weary they may be, but a group of local high school students made every blister count.

Sponsored on a 30 cents-per-mile basis by merchants and private donors, the 22 students and two of their teachers staged a 25-mile "charity walk" round trip to Belleville Saturday.

The final tally — some $290 from 40 sponsors — will provide food, clothing and presents to supplement Christmas celebrations in a number of Trenton homes.

The students are members of the Amicitia (Latin for "friendship") Society, and each month volunteer time and pocket money for projects of their own choice.



Starting point for the walkathon was Trenton's Centennial Park, where the hikers set out Saturday morning in drizzling rain and 30-degree temperatures.

Several cars accompanied the pedestrian participants along their Highway 2 route, ready to pick up any drop-outs.

But there weren't many of those, at least not until they had rolled up enough mileage to pad the walkathon fund.

Nine of the walkers completed the 25-mile circuit back to Trenton, and one of the first finishers was Amicitia founder and president, David Prudhomme. His time? — five hours and 29 minutes flat.

Most of the group were wet and weary, but content in the knowledge their footwork will be appreciated by the families whose Christmas may be a little better than it might have been.

Only A Little Way to Go

Two of the Trenton walkathon youngsters made it to the city limits sign anyway. Mary Ellen O'Neill, 16, and Pamela Mountenay, 17, were part of a group of walkers who travelled to Belleville at 50c a mile. The money will be given to needy people for Christmas.

A Sign of the Times

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys — and girls — are marching and this time from Picton to Wellington. Dennis Howard, Donald Markland and Kevin Dockrill give their names to official handling marathon walk.

Major Gordon Walmsley, Q.C. Had Years of Public Service

PICTON — Funeral service was held this (Monday) afternoon at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene for Major Gordon T. Walmsley, Q.C., E.D. His death in Kingston General Hospital late Friday ended a long career of public service. He served as Clerk of the County of Prince Edward from 1924 until 1935 and he enlisted in World War II. He was appointed Crown Attorney for Prince Edward in 1933 and continued in this office until November 1960, with the exception of a period of military service. He was then named Judge of the Juvenile Court for the County, relinquishing this office last August.

Major Walmsley was born in Picton 69 years ago, the son of a lawyer, Thomas Walmsley, and the family tradition is being carried on by his sons, Robert and Douglas here. He attended Toronto University and Osgoode Hall, and before returning to Picton went overseas in 1917 to serve with the Imperial Army. He returned to Picton in 1923 and had since practised law here. For five years, prior to his sons joining him, he was in partnership with Wilfred S. Lane, now a judge.

When World War II broke out, Major Walmsley was served as regimental commander of Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment here. Enlisting for active service, he was posted for a short time to No. 2.A District Depot at Fort Frontenac, and in 1940 became Assistant Judge Advocate General at M.D. 3 headquarters in Kingston. He received the Efficiency Decoration in recognition of his long military service.

Major Walmsley had a long record of community service. He was a member for 26 years and a former chairman of Prince Edward Collegiate Board and a former chairman of Picton Public school board; a member for many years of Picton Library Board; member of the Tenanyon Club; member Picton Golf and Country Club; member of the Historical Society and a keen student of County history; member Prince Edward Curling Club; member of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, delegate to the Synod, warden and member of the Vestry Council; a member of Branch 78 Royal Canadian Legion.

He was the senior Past Master of Prince Edward Lodge, AF and AM, No. 18 serving in that office in 1929. Members of the Order held a memorial service at his home Sunday night.

Survivors are his wife, the former Helen Kerfoot; two sons, Robert and Douglas and six grandchildren.

Funeral service conducted by Rev. R. H. Stewart with interment in Glenwood cemetery. The bearers were Thomas Walker, Thomas Walmsley, John Graydon, William Lane, Charles Fletcher and Herbert J. Coliver.

IN MEMORIAM

GORDON — In loving memory of our father Jack Gordon who was killed while going deer hunting in Nov. 3, 1955

It brings back memories we shall never forget.

Our hearts still ache with sadness, When evening shades are falling, And we sit in quiet alone,

To our hearts there comes a longing

If only he could be home.

Friends may think we've forgotten, When at times they see us smile, But they little know the heartache, Our smiles hide all the while.

Time flies and many a year,

Our loss is still as dear,

As it seals twelve lonely years

—Always remembered and sadly missed by daughter Sharon, and sons Donald and Alan.

MANLEY — In loving memory of a dear mother, Cecelia Manley, who passed away Nov. 6, 1964. There is a link death cannot sever, Love and remembrance last forever, —Lovingly remembered by son Joseph, Billie and James.

Man Rescued From Lake

NAPANEE — Clarence Eugene Betts, 26, of Bath, was saved from drowning in Lake Ontario Sunday by a fortunate train of circumstances. Just before noon he was attempting to take his 18-foot cabin cruiser to Picton to lay it up for the winter, and it sprang a leak and began sinking when about 300 yards from shore. His plight was discovered by Everett Galt, who notified the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police and his neighbors, Albert Davy, 23, and his brother Earl, 18.

The Davy brothers loaded their 14-foot cedar strip on to a truck, drove the mile or so to the nearest spot where they could launch it, and rescued Mr. Betts from the bow of the boat. A certain amount of air in the hull kept it afloat long enough for a boat from the Bath Marina to attach a line and bring the cruiser to shore. The O.P.P. had notified the marina.

Students Awarded Diplomas

PICTON (Staff) — Some 240 graduates passed across the stage of the Prince Edward Collegiate Saturday night to receive their diplomas.

Proud parents and students alike jammed the school auditorium to capacity for the graduation ceremony.

This year saw 49 honor graduates, 107 secondary graduates (in five year arts and science, technology and trades and business and commerce).

There were ten grade thirteen subject awards, six scholarships and bursaries. Many other awards, prizes and pins were presented to deserving students who through the year maintained a high standard of proficiency.

Valedictorian this year was popular Roger Wight, who dramatically portrayed the events of the school year and inspired students with the responsibilities they will be facing in the future.

"The class of 67," said Mr. Wight, "have a great deal to look forward to. As Canada starts a new century of progress so we start a new life — as Canada opens up her northlands, so do we open our minds to new ideas, new thoughts. As Canada takes on new responsibilities in an atomic age with a new maturity, so do we take up the responsibilities of adulthood with a new maturity." "Tonight," he added, "we pause to look back to say thank you and farewell. We shall spend our tomorrows in a new land, in a new growing Canada where horizons are unlimited."

During the course of the evening ceremonies congratulating messages were given by Hutton Martin, Mayor H. J. Farland, and tribute was paid to the late Major Gordon Walmsley QC., who last week passed away in Kingston.

Firemen Build Floats

The Santa Claus Parade still seems to be treading on this ire this year, say committee members trying to keep the parade alive.

"Work on the parade seems to be pretty slow," George Rutledge, treasurer of the event, stated. "Work on the floats is the slowest."

Fire Chief, Ted Fosie, chairman of the parade, echoes Mr. Rutledge's comments. "We're short of help to build the floats. We're trying to get buildings with heat and light for the floats to be built. Now they're in the fire stations and we can't get them out fast enough."

Part of the parade's salvation could be the tag day that's coming up for the bingo games at the Elk's Lodge Wednesday evening. Half of the proceeds will go to the Santa Claus Parade.

Another committee meeting will be held tomorrow night at 8.90 p.m. to try to stir up a little more interest.

"We want a good parade," says Ted Fosie.

Department of Highways Uses Beehive Shaped Dome at Marysville for Sand and Salt Storage

Expo '67 at Montreal has ended and many of its buildings are slated for the wreckers' beemers.

But for Quinte district residents, as long as a new Ontario Highways Department structure at Marysville remains, Expo's examples of far-out architecture need not be forgotten.

The beehive shaped structure at the Marysville DHO maintenance patrol yard is called a sand dome and is used to store salt-treated sand for winter time use on the highways.

With a diameter of 100 feet and a vertical height of something less than half that figure, the Marysville sand dome is the biggest of its kind in Ontario and one of only three in the province. The dome holds approximately 5,000 cubic yards of treated sand — enough to keep area provincial highways ice free all winter.

The pre-fabricated structure was patterned by a Calgary, Alta., firm and was erected by highways' department workers at the Marysville patrol yard. It took the better part of two months to build the dome and roof it with asphalt shingles.

Normally highway sand is stockpiled in the open but this results in considerable "run-off" of chemicals because of heavy fall rains.

The idea of the sand dome is not to protect the sand from snow, but to keep it dry and prevent the loss of salt through run-off.

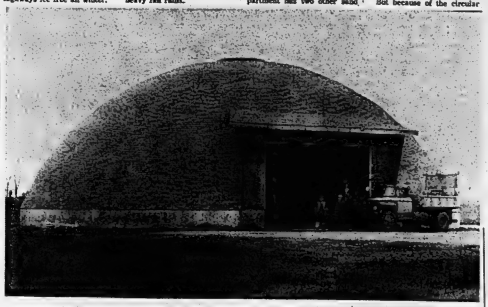
Not only is run-off costly from a dollars and cents standpoint, but the seepage of the brine through adjacent farmers' fields can result in crop production loss.

The Ontario Highways Department has two other sand domes — both of them 80-footers — one west of Toronto and the other at Berry's Bay.

Despite the light framework the big sand domes are completely self supporting. They are put together in circular sections, the top section being the last to go into place. The framework is covered with ½ inch plywood and then with ordinary asphalt shingles.

But because of the circular dome shape, all the thousands of shingles had to be cut to fit.

Despite assurance by the suppliers that the dome would be self-supporting, local highway workers had their misgivings.



"We expected the whole thing would fall flat when we knocked out the supports," said one worker, "but nothing happened."

What did happen was that a conveyor was used to fill the dome with 5,000 cubic yards of treated sand.

The original intention was to put the sand in through the domed skylight section but a sufficiently long conveyor was not available.

The Marysville patrol yard does maintenance work on Highway 401 from Marysville to Trenton, on No. 2 highway from Trenton to Napanee and on 302 from Marysville to Napanee. Added this winter will be the snowplowing on the new Quinte Skyway and the north end of 49 highway connecting the bridge with highway 401.

The Camden East patrol yard looks after 401 east from Marysville.

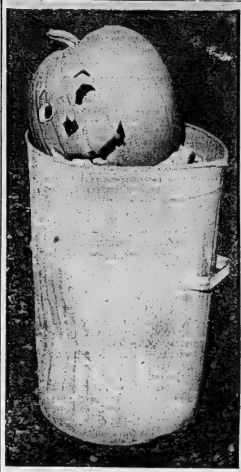
Highways Department "Sand Dome"

New Ontario Department of Highways structure at Marysville patrol yard protects salt-treated sand from "run off" caused by heavy rains. Sand dome, with diameter of 100 feet, holds about 5,000 yards of sand — sufficient for area winter control.

City Workers Start Clean-up Of Leaves

The annual fall cleanup of leaves and rubbish will get underway by the city works department next week with the main East Hill arteries — Dundas and Bridge Street, and Victoria Ave. to get the first treatment commencing on Monday, Nov. 6.

Householders having leaves and rubbish for pickup are requested to place them in piles at the edge of the travelled portion of the street.



Leaves and rubbish on the west side of the river will be collected during the week of November 13.

The schedule of leaves pick-up on the east side has appeared in the press and pickup times for the west side will also be advertised.

All three have been charged with breaking and entering and will appear in juvenile court.

Air Force Memorial Given Strong Support

TRENTON — Response to the idea of establishing a permanent air force memorial at Trenton is "overwhelming."

A spokesman from the office of CFB Trenton commander, Group Captain D. R. Adamson, says 442 replies have been received to date, out of 600 inquiries sent to senior RCAF officers across Canada.

Almost all of these are in favor of the concept of an air force memorial, said the spokesman, and more than three-quarters chose CFB Trenton as the site.

The plan was revealed by G/C Adamson at the annual national convention of the RCAF Association in Montreal recently.

The air force veterans' group and the Ontario section of the Air Cadet League have indicated their support for a memorial.

Approval in principle for the idea has been given by the defence department, with the stipulation that any memorial must be built on DND property and handed over to the department for upkeep.

As the site of an air station for 40 years, and now the home base for Air Transport Command operations, Trenton is widely regarded as the unofficial "home" of the RCAF, says the base commander.

G/C Adamson told a local service club group in October the memorial would fall in the "multi - million - dollar category."

Although no decision has been announced as to the possible form of the memorial, the base commander says it will probably be the outstanding piece of architecture between Toronto and Montreal.

Newfoundland's Gain

Newfoundland is a combination of northern bleakness, vast untamed beauty and tremendous potential for economical and social progress.

In Confederation since 1949, Newfoundland's isolation has been a natural barrier to the kind of progress Canadians in mainland provinces are accustomed to. Nonetheless, the Island is making strides. Forestry, hydro development (including the great Churchill Falls project in neighboring Labrador) and fishing are among the basic enterprises of the Island province.

But Newfoundland is not all wilderness and primary industry linked with a few natural resources. More and more it is developing its own cultural traditions. The Island is unique in one respect in the informal friendship it has with Portugese fishermen who have been plying the Grand Banks for many years. To these men, Newfoundland is a second home.

In the sphere of higher education, Memorial University in St. John's enjoys a growing reputation both in the academic field and in research.

Now Premier Smallwood has taken the province a step father along the road to a growing appreciation of the humanities. And this after some keen bidding by Canadian interests for one of the plums of the Expo 67 site — the highly-regarded Czechoslovakian pavilion.

The Czechs have presented the pavilion as "an outright gift to the government and people of Newfoundland," the premier has announced. Newfoundland's gain is all the more remarkable when it is considered the redoubtable Mayor Drapeau of Montreal, who might be described as "the father of Expo," was also interested in the $4 million structure.

But then Mr. Smallwood and Mr. Drapeau are two of a kind — fast-thinking, confident, capable men who know how to get things done and win friends and influence people. In this particular piece of bartering it was Mr. Smallwood who won the day. And with the pavilion coming as an outright gift, so much the better. A nice gesture it is from the Czechs.

Czechoslovakia is a communist country, a satellite of the Soviet Union. But it was not always thus, and remains so today only because it has little alternative. The Czechs, however, retain their native skills and Industrious and appreciative of the Arts. These traits were reflected in the Czech pavilion at Expo and in the highly original Laterna Magika film presentation at La Ronde.

The two-building pavilion will be used as arts and cultural centre at Grand Bend Falls. Such an exchange between the communist bloc in Europe and the easternmost political region of Canada is remarkable under and circumstances. A few years ago it would scarcely have been thought possible. But times have changed. So too has the political climate between east and west. It is the kind of exchange between people that the world needs more and more.

Royal Critic

The Duke of Edinburgh, a frequent critic of the British industrial establishment, has been directing some further barbs in that direction. William Kirk, an industrialist in Wolverhampton, reacted by suggesting the prince put in some work on the factory floor, while at the same time citing some of the headaches of management.

Prince Philip replied, admitting a closer inspection of industry doubtless "would do me a lot of good."

"But have you considered the possibility," he added, "that I might come out even more irritated and frustrated by judging by the problems you list in your letter."

Reading between the lines, that sums up neatly the problems faced by British firms — and particularly the problems of customers in this country who buy goods during a time of time. Still, Mr. Kirk had the last word. He is inviting Prince Philip to visit his plant.

Keeping Fit

Remember the 5BX craze. For a time it seemed as if everyone interested in the exercise cult originated by Dr. Willard Cureton and adopted by the RCAF and the armed forces of other countries.

There is of course no easy path to real physical fitness — especially in these busy times when people spend all day at work and a good part of the evening watching television.

Yet businessmen in many centres try to keep up with physical training schedules offered by such organizations as the YMCA. Dr. Orban himself has been conducting keep-fit clinics at Vancouver Central YMCA of late.

The kind of urban practices what he preaches was shown in a Vancouver Sun picture of him doing a handstand on a counter top.

Vietnam...Race Relations

Young Americans A Growing Force in Shaping Events

By JAMES MARLOWE
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is going through a kind of convulsion over the Vietnam war.

Some of the public disagreement over the Vietnam war can be blamed perhaps for some of this year's lazy performance in Congress where the war has consumed much of the time, thinking and talking.

President Johnson, in a press conference Thursday, once again complained about the slow pace in Congress, which is good evidence he has lost his political mastery over the men in the Capital.

But Congress, like Johnson, also has been watching a sickening sight at home—growing violence—which may have taken a lot of the salt out of both of them.

There was nothing to match the present violence and protests in the Korean War. More and more the question is being asked: Why now?

The origin probably has its roots in the last 10 years, on a road that began in the 1950s, when young white people from the North went South to help Negroes wipe out segregation. Some were beaten, some were jailed, some were killed.

This was direct action by the young people of both races and it paid off as the racial barriers began to crumble. All this helped give American youth a sense of being able to shape events by directly taking part in them.

The search for power grew and, as civil rights soon expected, took new turns. For instance, on college campuses youths began to assert themselves against college authority but claimed what they sought was justice in one form or another.

No longer were the issues as clear cut as they were in protests against injustice to Negroes. No doubt often, if not most of the time, the college youths' protests were not against injustice but had a root in personal problems.

For instance, the youth who felt frustrated, undistinguished, or ignored. As the idea of protests and participation in them grew, more young people could feel freer to take part in them.

Then came the two Negro extremists, Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown. They didn't have thought-out plans or programs.

Their chief weapon was the big mouth, chanting Black Power and calling for violence. They found a responsive audience among Negroes who felt frustrated by their dilapidated economic condition and by white indifference.

This also opened the door for Negro criminals, waiting for a chance or an excuse to perform. Increasingly Negro riots spread across the country.

Meanwhile, more and more members of Congress added to the national confusion about the war—since most of them in 1964 had approved Johnson's waging it if he thought necessary—by criticizing the government's handling of it.

Much of this no doubt is the result of deep reflection. Some of it probably has its roots in political experience since a lot of the voters back home are unhappy with the war.

On top of all this intellectuals have teamed up against the war. Some of them by intellectual processes may have arrived at logical reasons for being critical.

Some of them are probably joining the chorus because they think it is time his intellectually stylish thing to do and fear the condemnation of their colleagues if they say otherwise.

Civil Rights Problems in U.S.

Boston Globe

The House is beginning debate on a bill making it a federal crime to cross state lines in order "to incite, promote, encourage or carry on . . . a riot or other violent civil disturbance."

This measure, sponsored by Rep. William C. Cramer (R-Fla.), poses the gravest constitutional questions, for it violates a basic principle of law that failed to commit a crime and the commission of the crime itself be contemporaneous.

The bill, as one congressman said, "would make it a criminal offense to think the wrong kind of thoughts while crossing a state line." It is a distinct threat to the constitutional rights of free speech and assembly.

But quite aside from its legal deficiencies, the bill is mischievous and wrong. It is based on the false premise that there would be no riots in the Negro ghettos of our cities if only we could put a stop to the agitation of a handful of militant Negro extremists.

These riots will continue to occur so long as intolerable ghetto conditions exist in our affluent society — bad housing, inferior municipal services, high unemployment, and all the other indignities visited upon Negroes because of their poverty.

Many of the congressmen who are rushing to approve Rep. Cramer's anti-riot bill have dragged their feet on President Johnson's proposed Civil Rights Act of 1967, which would improve the lot of Negroes generally.

In what the N.A.A.C.P.'s Roy Wilkins has aptly called their "punitive passion," these congressmen have not hesitated to support curbs on freedom of speech and assembly through the Cramer bill. But they have been unwilling to approve a modest $10 million appropriation to help impoverished ghetto people pay their rent.

This is not the way of responsibility. It is the way of chaos and ruin.

Nationalism In Britain

Times of Swaziland

As any visitor who has recently toured Great Britain will tell you the nationalist movements in Wales and Scotland seem to be gaining ground. Sturdy Scots and wiry Welsh seem determined to force the issue.

How the situation is quite fascinating. What would happen should Scotland, Wales and the Isle of Man become self-governing?

What is forgotten when such dreamy issues are discussed is that such action would automatically mean self-rule for England.

And there are many sectors of the population that would welcome independence as much as Scotland and Wales. England would be free of Scottish Prime Ministers and future Lloyd Georges. And what other amazing prospects it offers!

The World of Books

The following book review is the first of a regular series that will appear in The Intelligencer.

The one that got away haunts the dreams of all auction-goers. Don R. Sleweka's Guide to Pre-Confederation Furniture of English Canada contains a picture book full of them. The first! steaks hard-cover volume on early Ontario furniture, it makes a fair start at filling the void in organized knowledge of this specialty

If many of the pieces pictured in the book look familiar, a close study will soon reveal the reason. Duplicates of most of them exist—for a song at district auctions in the days before centennial madness and snob appeal priced them beyond the pocket books of modern counterparts of their original owners — humble people of modest means for whom the pieces reached their present owners through the good offices of local peddlers and dealers. Seven of the more than 200 illustrations in the book are of items owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Bowthy of Lonsdale, long one of the district's most discriminating collectors of Canadiana.

Mr. Stewart, formerly an antique dealer in the Guelph area, now works as a consultant on interior restorations of old houses. His book is an imaginary tour through an Ontario house, showing chapter by chapter, the typical furnishings of each room from the Loyalist to the Confederation period. The trip is a quick one, leaving no time for serious study. Lacking the Canada Council grant that made Jean Paradey's book on French Canadian furniture a comprehensive reference text, Mr. Stewart deliberately limited his book's size to price it within the reach of the average collector. The quality of the photographic reproduction rates near-perfect; the paper and format excellent.

The four full-page color plates of rooms furnished with authentic antiques will help answer the wail, "What do we do with the

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

40 YEARS AGO

November 6, 1927.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson and family left for Galt today where Mr. Thompson will become a member of the city police force. He was a member of the local police force for a number of years and latterly was superintendent of the post office building.

The Women's Society in connection with John Street United Church held their annual thankgiving offering meeting on the evening of the 16th with the president, Mrs. J. W. Cook, presiding. The speaker was Dr. Anderson who lately returned from China.

50 YEARS AGO

November 6, 1917.

Dr. Alfred Coleman of Toronto, Wash., is home on a visit to his mother here.

Judge Fralick has returned home from the north country with a fine deer.

A Victory loan rally will be held in the city hall on the evening of Nov. 12th. The speakers will be the Rev. J. R. Patterson of Toronto, Mr. Justice Maston, Mr. Matthew Bowell and J. W. Johnson, M.P.P.

Their chief weapon was the big mouth, chanting Black Power and calling for violence. They found a responsive audience among Negroes who felt frustrated by their dilapidated economic condition and by white indifference.

This also opened the door for Negro criminals, waiting for a chance or an excuse to perform. Increasingly Negro riots spread across the country.

Meanwhile, more and more members of Congress added to the national confusion about the war—since most of them in 1964 had approved Johnson's waging it if he thought necessary—by criticizing the government's handling of it.

Much of this no doubt is the result of deep reflection. Some of it probably has its roots in political experience since a lot of the voters back home are unhappy with the war.

On top of all this intellectuals have teamed up against the war. Some of them by intellectual processes may have arrived at logical reasons for being critical.

Some of them are probably joining the chorus because they think it is time his intellectually stylish thing to do and fear the condemnation of their colleagues if they say otherwise.

Valid Even Today

Guidelines For The Young—In The Victorian Era

The answers of a group of Canadian teenagers in a recent television program were as good an indication as any of the hold that the so-called "new morality" has obtained on the younger generation.

The program was on the theme of pre-marital relations and the answers given by the young people, most of them girls, were revealing. Clearly the youth of today take a much more liberal view of such subjects as pre-marital sex.

Interesting in this general context is a letter to Toronto Globe and Mail advice columnist Mrs. Thompson. Here is the letter and Mrs. Thompson's reply.

* * *

It is a pity there are not more guidelines for young people to follow today. It seems as though all form has been scrapped in our society and we are letting the children run headlong willy nilly in any direction they choose. I agree with you they are an interesting lot — certainly more honest with opinions than we ever thought of being at the same age. But it is the parents I feel sorry for. It is a awesome task trying to equip children for an unknown world, using experience learned in a world which is already an anachronism.

You have your ear to the ground. Can you provide a few quick rules for poor parchutes on what to tell the young about getting along?

* * *

ANSWER

I came across a turn of the century book called Safe Methods of Business which is a delightful miscellany of information on coping in the world of almost 70 years ago. And do you know—it hasn't changed all that much although the rules are more simple that one can't help feeling a prick of wistful nostalgia.

This isn't exactly what you asked for — but take the rules that suit you and smile at the others.

Although rules in those days were rigid, it must have been easier for young people then since all they had to do was learn the list—and there were rules on just about everything.

Although the more relaxed way of life has many advantages, it does have drawbacks for—more is left to the individual and this demands of him a certain clan that he might not have.

Here are some practical maxims for getting on in the world:

Remember, there is always room at the top.

Do you know that all our prominent statesmen, jurists and philanthropists 40 years ago were poor boys?

This is a grand age with great opportunities, and the youth who is willing to work with an honest purpose for honest results, will make life a success.

Shun lawsuits, and never take money risks that you can avoid.

Remember that the rich are generally plain, while rogues dress well and talk smoothly.

Avoid the tricks of trade; be honest, and never misrepresent in the hope that you desire to sell.

Don't cultivate a sense of over-smartness.

True intelligence is always modest.

Remember that trickery, cheating and indolence are never found in connection with thrifty and progressive man.

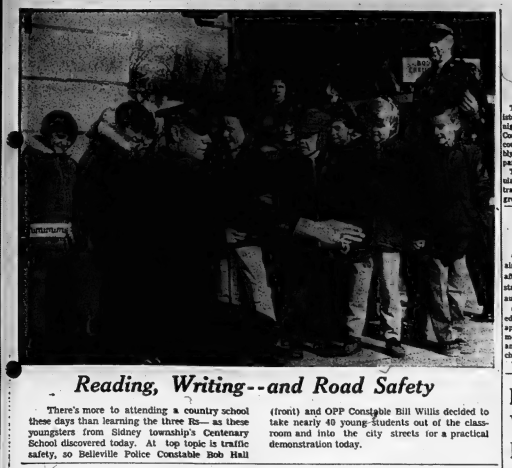
Endeavour to be perfect in the calling in which you are engaged.

A man of honor respects his word as he does his note.

Always live within your income; never spend more than you earn, but always save a little, and in time you will be found independent.

The only safe rule is never allow a single year to pass by without laying up something for the future.

Keep your eyes on small expenses. Small leaks sink a great ship.



Do not be ashamed of hard work. Work and be cheerful, any you can get, but work for anything rather than to be idle.

A great many are looking for good salary and little work. Those who are rather scarce and only an idle man will look for them. They are never found.

The book goes on to cover such problems of the young as self control, temper and control over outward circumstances are alike the duty and the birthright of man. But self-control is the highest and noblest form of dominion. He that rules his own spirit is greater than he that taketh a city".

Another chapter is called A Bad Habit and says profanity is the most inexcusable of bad habits. "On the 29th of July, 1779, General (George) Washington issued a special order at West Point in reference to the profane use of profanity." Many and pointed orders have been issued against that interesting and abominable custom of swearing, notwithstanding which, with such results, the evil does not appear that it prevails, if possible, more than ever; his feelings are constantly wounded by the oaths and imprecations of the soldiers whenever he is in hearing of them."

Another directive is aimed at young men for it is headed: "Young ladies wanted." From the street corners, from the saloons and playhouses, from the lookers' rendezvous, from the idlers' promenade, from your steps on the highway of noble aim and earnest work. There are prizes enough for every successful worker, crowns enough for every honorable brow and good throughout the smoke of conflict to victory."

Reading, Writing--and Road Safety

There's more to attending a country school these days than learning the three Rs— as these youngsters from Sidney township's Centenary School discovered today. At top topic is traffic safety, so Belleville Police Constable Bob Hall (front) and OPP Constable Bill Willis decided to take nearly 40 young students out of the classroom and into the city streets for a practical demonstration today.

Hunters Face Cold Weather

Cold weather nipped the beels of deer hunters in the Quinte district as the 1967 season opened this morning.

Throughout the area temperatures ranged below freezing with some flurries reported in the northern townships at The Outlet, at the south end of Prince Edward County.

Coldest spot in the region was Bancroft in the heart of hunting ground — where an early-morning low of 18 degrees above was recorded by the Department of Lands and Forests.

In the Belleville-Trenton area the duty forecaster at Canadian Forces Base Trenton reported an overnight low of 25 degrees — normal for this time of year.

Thousands of hunters flanked out through the nothern reaches of the district Sunday to prepare for the seasonal opening.

However, no indications on the kill rate were expected before tonight by the Department of Lands and Forests district offices.

Before the season closes two weeks from now north out Highway 7 — game wardens have estimated at least 20,000 hunters will have stalked district bushland.

Bright Future for Young Farmers

PICTON (Staff) — Too many farmers today do not realize that farming is big business. Today's farmers don't keep their pencils sharp enough was part of a message delivered by Byron E. Beeler, program supervisor, Department of Agriculture and Food, Ontario. Mr. Beeler was delivering an address to 4-H club members and their parents at the annual Prince Edward County 4H Awards night held in Queen Elizabeth School Friday night.

Mr. Beeler's words were directed to the young farmers for whom he predicted a bright future. Speaking on the farm labor shortage Mr. Beeler said this was forcing agriculture into an era of mechanical harvesting. "We have only scratched the surface so far," said Mr. Beeler, "and great things are to come in the future." It is only a matter of a short time he predicted before an apple harvester will be available. Models have already been tested, he said and they can pick faster and with less damage to the apples than humans can. Production wise, Mr. Beeler compared the role of the farmer in the past with the problems facing the farmer today. "In 1900," Mr. Beeler explained, " a farmer had to provide for himself and three others. In 1940 he provided for himself and 12 others, in 1960 himself and 23 others and today the farmer must provide enough for himself and 53 others.

Farm financing will play an important part in the operating of a successful farm of the future according to Mr. Beeler and many benefits also are in store for tomorrow's farmers. Mr. Beeler stressed the value of 4-H club work in building character and citizenship. "You are the one's," he said, "We'll depend on. Your future is as bright as you make it".

The awards night saw a large crowd with the school auditorium packed to capacity. Winner of the Imperial Bank of Commerce award of a Bulova watch to the member making the most outstanding contribution to 4-H club work during the year, was Donald Smith. Donald was the winner of Canadian National Exhibition $600. scholarship award for the Province of Ontario. Winners were chosen by a Provincial selection committee.

Also speaking at the awards night were Ivan Bell, Prince Edward County Agricultural representative and Mrs. Margaret Woof, Home Economist for Prince Edward and Northumberland Counties. As a lasting memento of 4-H club work during Canada's Centennial year each member who had completed a project was presented with a specially designed wall plaque by A. Douglas Allenbrack, MP who congratulated all the award winners and 4-H club members on their achievements.

Decision to Restrict Imports Blow to World Trade: Pearson

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Saturday night that proposals in the U.S. Congress to restrict imports could strike a serious and possibly fatal blow to efforts to expand world trade.

These proposals are of particular concern to Canada, whose trade with the United States is greater than that between any other two countries in the world, Mr. Pearson said in a speech to the closing dinner at the world congress of Junior Chambers of Commerce.

While the outcome remained uncertain, the U.S. government had assured Canada of its "continuing support for a liberal trade policy," despite congressional efforts to eliminate or reduce tariff concessions exchanged in the recent Kennedy Round of international trade negotiations.

A small group of demonstrators, most of whom appeared to be in their 20s, shouted at Mr. Pearson when he arrived in the lobby of the Royal York Hotel to attend the dinner. They protested against the war in Vietnam and accused Canada of complicity in the U.S. prosecution of the war.

A few demonstrators broke through a police cordon and got closer to the Prime Minister, but he was quickly met by policemen who linked arms around him and whisked up to the convention floor.

He made only one reference in his speech to Vietnam, stating that the fighting there, "a tragic, savage and always in danger of spreading if it is not stopped," provides "dramatic evidence of how far we have to go to reach the objective of world security and how difficult the road will be towards it, even without the roadblocks of ideology, chauvinism and prejudice scattered along the way."

His subject was trade and he told his international audience that if restrictive action is taken in Washington, Canada and other trading nations will have to re-examine the concessions they granted at the Kennedy Round bargaining in Geneva, Switzerland.

The Prime Minister flew back to Ottawa ahead of schedule late Saturday night after spending two days out of the capital. He had planned to stay in Toronto until Sunday.

Driving Charge Issued

A 23-year-old CFB Trenton airman spent the night in jail after leading a town police constable on a half - hour chase in an auto chase through east Trenton.

Claude J. Mercier was released on bail this morning and will appear in magistrate's court tomorrow charged with dangerous and careless driving said police chief R. J. Rutherford.

The chief said that further charges against Mercier are pending.

Constable R. E. Miller reported the Mercier car failed to observe a caution flasher on Byron St. around midnight, and sped away when he got out of the cruiser and flagged it down.

The car turned and proceeded north with Constable Miller in pursuit.

Police say Mercier evaded a road block attempt by Constable Miller on a dead-end street by driving over a lawn.

The chase ended about half an hour after it began on another dead-end street after speeds Constable Miller estimated as high as 70 m.p.h.

Mercier was charged with dangerous driving and detained overnight in a cell.

Teach-in Day Held By Presbyterial UCW

Belleville Presbyterial United Church Women held a "Teach-in Day" at Tabernacle United Church Belleville on Thursday, November 2.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Stirling, president Belleville Presbyterial, presided and the opening worship service was conducted by Mrs. Jack Bush, Stirling.

Mrs. C. W. Smith, Redneersville, introduced the team of guest speakers from the Conference United Church Women. They were Mrs. L. F. Richardson, Whitby; Mrs. Clayton Thompson, Campbellford and Mrs. F. J. Smith, Newburg.

Mrs. Richardson spoke briefly and explained that the Board of Women of the United Church of Canada felt that allocations are not in keeping with mature stewardship and so have decided on a program of self-determination. In order that the locals would know what the need is, the team presented a skit telling how the money that is sent in is used.

A question and answer period followed and some of the findings were given.

All locals are asked to set their own share of the unified budget for 1968. They are to use as a basis the allocation for 1967, the amount sent for, over and above gifts, the Presbyterial expenses and the rising cost of living expenses, and to arrive at an objective. The finance committee for 1968 is asked to bring a recommendation for the objective in the general meeting as soon as possible so that the amount can be filled in on the annual report.

The team was thanked by Mrs. Roy Brickman, Belleville.

The closing worship was conducted by Mrs. J. Matthies, Picton.

MARMORA IODE

MARMORA — Education was the theme of the October meeting of Marmora Chapter of the IODE held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Jack Jones.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Kenneth Gillies of Central Public School, who explained and demonstrated some of the methods used in her special education classes, and the new approach known as spiral learning. Her presentation was followed by a resume of the guidance services offered at Marmora High School, given by Mrs. Charles Brady.

The educational secretary, Mrs. D. P. Maret, completed the program with a report on children's prizes donated by the Chapter to Marmora Fair, assistance given to the adopted school in Labrador, and the annual awards to be made at the High School Commencement Nov. 3. Arrangements are being made to display a portfolio of pictures of the history of Canada in Marmora Public Library.

Mrs. Douglas Miller was formally inducted into the Chapter.

At the business section of the meeting the following decisions were made: a wreath will be laid at the cenotaph again this year on Remembrance Day on behalf of the Chapter; a rummage sale will be held Nov. 10-11 in the Glover building downtown; the usual Christmas draw for a basket of groceries will be held with Mrs. Mayzes as convener; the 25th anniversary of the Chapter will be observed at a dinner party early in December, convened by Mrs. Glen Wentworth.

The next meeting will be held at the home of the regent Mrs. Leith Stetson, Nov. 27.

Woman Serves Young and Old Gets Small Remuneration

Dear Doris: For several years my mother and father have been living with me, both old age pensioners. My mother is bedridden (both legs amputated), gives me $15 per month for caring for her. My father gives me $60 for groceries per month. I do all their work, washing, ironing, cooking, cleaning. Besides this I care for my husband and three children.

I am not despising my parents but I feel my month's pay is small remuneration for all this work. Could you advise me as to what to do such as ask for more money or —? Where there are children there are many inconveniences with old people living around the house. — Concerned.

Dear Concerned: What happens to the rest of their $215 a month? Saving it for their old age?

Please around and find out the going rates for nursing care in a nursing home. Your mother would take plenty of waiting on, even if she did all she could to help herself.

Knowing what's being paid — when the service is paid for — would give you a figure to talk around. Costs of living are up. Say so to them; make a point of it, in as gentle a manner as possible.

Could you discuss a nursing home as an alternative? Might be seen as a release from the noise and disturbance of a home with growing children in it.

Dear Doris: I am 15. My legs are very thin in comparison with the rest of me. It is awful when I go out and have a dress on I know everyone is saying "Gee, she has skinny legs." People even say it to my face.

I was wondering if you had a pamphlet on exercises to help your legs get fatter? I eat fattening foods and foods rich in vitamins and proteins, and I hardly ever miss meals.

I am rather nervous and Mom says that being jittery all the time doesn't help it it true? — Jittery Jill.

Dear Jill: Don't you think you were been shooting up instead of out? This does happen.

I agree with your mother that the jitters jinx the putting on of pounds. My "Girdle for Curves" is on its way. Better do what it says, then relax, counting on time to round you out.

Confidential to Living Alone: Believe it or not, what you do right now can make or break your prospects of a senile old age.

Get out from in front of that comfortable TV; pull your nose out of that murder mystery. Make a new friend, start a new hobby, or take a new subject at night school.

Highly educated persons and skilled craftsmen deteriorate the least in old age; at least partially because of their more absorbing interests and activities.

Confidential to No Color: Don't be sallow. Consult a cosmetic saleslady about a rouge or tinted powder which will give your complexion a better tone. Never apply enough to look artificial.

Practice blending it in over a foundation cream, and powder over it. Remove any extra. Will make clothes, hairdo complexion, look better.

(Are you in doubt about the proper etiquette to use for your special occasion? Ask Doris, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for her reply.)

Ann Landers

Mourner Deeply Moved By Farmer's Respect

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few weeks ago I went to a funeral in a small midwestern town — population under 500. In the latter part of the procession headed toward the tiny cemetery. On the way we passed a field where a farmer was planting grain. As we passed, he stopped his tractor, climbed down, removed his old straw hat and stood with his head bowed until the procession had gone.

This struck me as being one of the most heart-warming gestures I had seen in years. In the large city where I live, a funeral procession passes our office almost every day.

I have seen small children make faces at the mourners in the cars. I have seen impatient motorists honk their horns and cut in front of a hearse. No consideration. No kindness. Are people changing or are city people different from small town people? — JUST INQUIRING.

DEAR JUST: A little of each, my friend. A little of each.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are the judge and jury.

The time: 5.00 p.m.

The place: Living room.

The Trial: Plaintiff (whole family) versus the defendant (Tabby the House Cat.)

Charge: Murder of Bella, the pet parakeet.

Defendant argues: It is instinctive for cats to kill birds. Tabby is therefore innocent.

Prosecutor argues: Tabby knew better.

The trial raged for one minute and 23 seconds. The verdict: Tabby found guilty of murder in the first degree.

Sentence: Banishment.

I am appealing the case to a higher court. You, Ann Landers, have the power to reserve the decision.

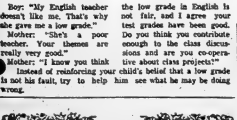
What is your verdict? — DEFENDER OF TABBY.

DEAR DEFENDER: I refuse to pass judgment on the grounds of insufficient information. For example: Was Bella in a cage or was she out of her cage?

If Bella was out of her cage, Tabby is innocent. He did what comes naturally. If someone let Bella loose, he, in my opinion, is the guilty party.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an 18-year-old girl who just got out of a home for unwed mothers. The father of my child was 19 years my senior, had two wives, three children and never did an honest day's work in his life. He gave my father a nice fat cheque and I agreed to put the child up for adoption.



I learned yesterday that the dirty crook is going with another 18-year-old girl who lives 200 miles from here. She is a close friend of my cousin. The girl knows about his two ex-wives but she does not know about me. I can't sleep nights worrying about this poor kid.

I'm sending a carbon copy of this letter, Ann, and I would like to send it to her (anonymously, of course) with your reply. Yes or no? — SORRY TOO LATE.

DEAR LATE: No. The girl probably knows about you and figures you tried unsuccessfully to trap the guy. Mind your own business and concentrate on making a life for yourself.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Boy: "My English teacher doesn't like me. That's why she gave me a low grade."

Mother: "She's a poor teacher. Your themes are really very good."

Mother: "I know you think the low grade in English is not fair, and I agree your test grades have been good. Do you think you contribute enough to the class discussions and are you co-operative about class projects?"

Instead of reinforcing your child's belief that a low grade is not his fault, try to help him see what he may be doing wrong.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Clam Chowder Serves 30

By MARY MOORE

My assignment was to serve lunch to St. at Elders' Session meeting after the 11 o'clock service on Sunday. I did not want the usual sandwiches, cookies and coffee, for several of the elders eat sandwiches for lunch every day.

Impressed with the constant line-up at the Atlantic Provinces Pavilion Restaurant at Expo and having several Marilimers in our Session, I decided to serve Atlantic Clam Chowder. It was a gamble that paid off for when our minister, Rev. Carl Zurbrigg of Olivet United Church arrived late for the luncheon, I had only a half-bowlful of the Chowder for him to taste. I also made Cream of Chicken soup for those who do not like or cannot tolerate shellfish. (See recipe for Cream of Chicken Soup for 20 one-cup servings next week.)

This recipe is based on the one I gave you on June 5th but was multiplied by four times to serve thirty 1½-cup servings and extra clams were added. The aroma of the chowder wafted through the halls and the departing congregation wondered what was going on and how they could get in on it.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Grilled Lamb Chops; Mint-ed Red Currant Jelly; Velvety Mashed Squash; Buttered Fresh Frozen Baby Limas; Fine Slaw with Pineapple; Cherry Cottage Pudding; Tea.

ATLANTIC CLAM CHOWDER
(Thirty 1½ cup servings)

NOTES: 1) Conveners and party givers please clip this large quantity recipe now for future reference.

2) If you can store this thoroughly chilled you may make it in advance up to the stage where seasonings are added. Milk and clams may be added when chowder is reheated at mealtime.

1 lb. chopped back bacon (see below)
2½ cups finely chopped celery
2 cups onions (I used 1 large Spanish)
8 cups boiling water
4 chicken bouillon cubes
4 cups ½" dice raw pared potatoes
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. MSG (Accent)
½ tsp. white pepper
8 cups homogenized milk
Two 10-oz. cans baby clams

In a large heavy kettle mix and stir together over medium-high heat the chopped bacon, celery, and onion. (Note: If necessary you may use chopped side bacon or very finely chopped salt pork instead of back bacon.) Stir until celery and onion are wilted. Dissolve bouillon cubes in 1 cup of the boiling water and add; also add remaining cups boiling water and the diced potatoes, salt, MSG and pepper. Bring to boiling and simmer until potatoes are tender — about 20 min. (See note above re making this much in advance.) Add milk and clams and their liquid and heat to just below boiling. Turn carefully into preheated soup tureen. Provide large soup bowls and since this is a main course, allow 1¼ measuring cups per serving. You can be sure that will give you an exact portion. Incidentally the remainder of the menu was all on the tables; a loaf of Dutch bread on a board with a serrated knife; butter; ½ - lb wedges of old Cheddar cheese on plate with knife; a plate of assorted iced cookies and a lovely bluse prune plums for dessert; coffee. The upshot: requests for the Clam Chowder recipe which speaks for itself.

Sauve Heckled by 2 Liberals As He Gives French Viewpoint

TORONTO (CP) — Maurice Sauve, federal minister of forestry and rural development, was heckled here Saturday by supporters of his own Liberal party when he spoke on Quebec's problems in Confederation.

Two of the chief hecklers at a luncheon speech to the Toronto and District Liberal Association were Ralph Cowan, federal member for York-Humber, and George Ben, provincial member for Humber.

Mr. Sauve warned English-Canadians not to be lulled into false security by centennial celebrations in Quebec and Quebec Liberal support for Confederation, adding:

"Do you share our ideal of an equal partnership of power and influence?"

"No," shouted Mr. Cowan.

When Mr. Sauve proposed a federal capital district that would be "officially and realistically" bilingual, Mr. Ben demanded in a loud voice if English Canadians would be allowed to remain in the country.

Mr. Cowan told reporters as he stamped out of the room that Mr. Sauve adjusts Hansard "to suit himself and then denies he said it."

"You go ahead and print that," said Mr. Sauve. "Ralph Cowan is not a Liberal."

Mr. Sauve said French-Canadians are convinced they do not have an effective share in Canada's social, economic and governmental decisions and are "more disenchanted, disillusioned, frustrated and bitter than ever before.

"Constitutional reform was only part of the answer.

Fundamentally, the problem was "whether, through the whole of Canadian society, there is sufficient willingness by English-speaking Canadians to share what have been their prerogatives of power with French-Canadians."

He said French-Canadians now makes up only 13.5 per cent of senior civil servants and only one Canadian industry of 100 leading companies is headed by a French-Canadian."

Russian Troops Train in France

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops are training with French forces in France as part of a France-Soviet military exchange program, the Sunday Telegraph reports.

The newspaper also says the Soviet Union has made "secret overtures" for bilateral military contacts with Canada and Belgium, like France members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It says Canada rejected an invitation for Gen. J. V. Allard, chief of the Canadian defence staff, to visit Moscow.

Gordon Brook - Shepherd, assistant editor of the Sunday Telegraph, in a dispatch from Brussels says France is being increasingly regarded by her 14 NATO partners as an "outright security risk as well as a huge operational question mark."

He reports France and the Soviet Union are discussing joint military staff talks and even the exchange of staff officers at each others' headquarters.

France last year terminated its participation in the military side of NATO, but still is a member of the Atlantic alliance.

26 Families Left Homeless By Fire on Sunday at Sarnia

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—Ten persons were rescued Sunday, two from a smoking second-storey apartment building, when fire struck the downtown district for the second time in less than 48 hours.

There were no injuries in the three-hour fire that left at least 26 families homeless.

Destroyed was an old four-storey apartment building and two stores on each side of it. The building, facing the St. Clair River on Front Street, is only a few blocks from the site of a $1,000,000 fire which ravaged the area Saturday.

At no time did the weekend fires threaten to spread to oil refineries about a mile away. Police launched an immediate investigation to determine if arson was to blame.

Lost in Saturday's fire was a bakery and two business offices. Embers from both fires were still smouldering today.

There was no estimate of damage.

The ground floor of the apartment building had been vacant and boarded up for about two years ago. But the apartments above were occupied.

At the height of the blaze, a second fire, caused by an electrical defect in a drugstore, broke out less than a block away, but was quickly extinguished.

While firemen fought to contain the blaze, more than 2,000 spectators gathered in the immediate area, forcing police to cordon the entire downtown area.

When Does Erudite Become Pedantic?

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Antics with Semantics:

The scholar whose views I agree with is "erudite"; the scholar whose views I disagree with is "pedantic."

Before I sign a contract, I want it to have "provision for contingencies"; before you sign it, you want it to have an "escape clause."

We are "liquidating"; you are "selling out"; they have "gone broke."

A "playboy" is simply someone who hasn't yet learned that all jack and no work makes play a dull joy.

An "officer" is a civil servant whose help you need; a "policeman" is a civil servant whose presence you ignore; a "cop" is a civil servant whose interference you resent.

Some words come to represent the opposite of their original intention. For example, nobody refined ever uses the word "refined," except as a joke; and to call somebody "classy" signifies the utter absence of class in the speaker.

"Indecency" is what everyone enjoys in private and deplores in public — which confuses no end to the confusion of young minds.

Another word of codified hypocrisy is "regret" — which is the way one expresses one's happiness at not being able to attend a social function.

I am "trusting"; you are "credulous"; he is "naive."

A "kleptomaniac" is a thief with affluent relatives.

Our invading army seized "contraband"; their invading army looted and pillaged for spoils of war."

I am "circumspect"; you are "wary"; he is "suspicious."

I "rested on my dignity"; you were "at a loss for words"; he was "speechless."

Some couples think they are engaging in "dialogue" when they are simply pushing two monologues along parallel lines that never meet.

"Tolerance," to most people, means tastefully concealing their areas of superiority until the creatures have departed.

The only person who doesn't seem absurd looking up his family tree is an Indian gazing at a totem pole.

The millenium in candid communications will arrive when a TV announcer finally says: "And now a message of importance to the sponsor."

Toronto Housing Head Says Mayor Not One Bit Interested

TORONTO (CP)—The director of the Housing Authority of Toronto charged Sunday Mayor William Dennison is not "one bit interested" in Toronto housing problems.

Robert Bradley, a civic employee, said during a panel discussion the mayor "comes to the meetings of our authority and the questions he asks are elementary."

"He (the mayor) thinks he represents the people from a poor area of the city, but I challenge that. There's not much support for him in our part of town."

Mr. Bradley told a meeting of representatives from a major Roman Catholic representatives from the Metropolitan area that four of the five members of Toronto's Board of Control are trying to abdicate the city's responsibility for housing.

He exempted Controller Margaret Campbell—another panel member—from the charge. Other members of Board of Control are Mayor Dennison, June Marks, Allen Lamport and Frederick Bevis.

Mrs. Marks and Mr. Davis joined by Board of Control.

"The members of the housing authority are getting frustrated," he said.

Mr. Bradley said a solution might be revision of a Metropolitan Toronto housing authority housing.

later said they were concerned about housing. Mr. Lamport was not available for comment.

Mr. Bradley said the authority had prepared four programs to help ease housing problems but the first three had been rejected.

with greater provincial support to aid low-income families in Toronto.

Mrs. Campbell told the meeting more investment by the federal government is needed in housing.

Bennett Assails Expo's Big Deficit

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett angrily told the British Columbia Social Credit League Saturday the huge deficit incurred by Expo 67 is "a national disgrace."

The premier lashed out at federal Liberal government's handling of Expo finances in a speech at the closing banquet of the league's two-day convention.

"Expo was terrific, better than anyone expected," said the premier. "But if you know you're going to have a success, you budget for it and it reflects in the financial statement."

Expo 67, which the Liberals initially budgeted for a $20,000,000 loss on the world's fair. Their estimate now has climbed to $250,000,000 "and it's going to be more than $400,000,000" when the final tab is calculated.

Premier Bennett devoted much of his 40-minute speech to a scathing indictment of Liberal Financial policies, which he says are leading the country down the path to disaster.

Thousands March for Hungry

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thousands of persons in various parts of Canada participated Saturday in a "miles for Millions" march to raise money to combat world hunger.

The project was sponsored by the Ecumenical International Development Program which seeks to co-ordinate the activities of various international relief agencies and foster interest of Canadians in them.

Participants were asked to find sponsors who paid a certain sum for each mile walked.

In Hamilton, approximately 17,000 marchers started out on a 25-mile walk to raise money for aid to Africa. About 10,000 finished the journey.

Mayor Victor Copps took part, was 65.

In Toronto, an estimated 2,000 marchers covered a 38.5-mile route in a project promoted by Share-Canada and organized by the Mid-Scarborough Youth Centre.

Stapley on Cars

Never Trust A Jack

A reader of this column suggested that I pass along a close brush with death he experienced while changing a flat tire, which he thought might prevent other motorists from making the same error.

After firmly applying the parking brake and blocking a front wheel, he jacked up the rear of the car and removed the wheel bolts. Just as he was about to crawl underneath to retrieve it, the car crashed down, just missing his head. A defective rivet in the ratchet mechanism of his one-year-old jack, that he was using for the first time, caused the failure.

It is alarming how many motorists and even technicians will entrust their lives to a jack and crawl under the car when one or more wheels are removed. A mechanic I knew once agreed to help his friend overhaul his car. He dropped around about two hours after his friend had started and was confronted with a gruesome sight.

His friend had apparently used two bumper jacks to raise the rear of the car, and had then removed both rear wheels. The car must have slipped off both jacks while he was straining to loosen the various components underneath, and it crashed down and killed him.

So seldom do we have a flat tire these days, that the jack remains unused and neglected sometimes for years. It's wise to examine the jack at least once a year, lubricate the mechanism, test it, and make sure that no parts are missing.

Never, under any circumstances, get under a car unless it's solidly supported with blocks, and if something inadvertently drops under the car while it is supported by a jack, use a stick or a piece of wire to retrieve it.

Remember, too, it's wise to remove all passengers before proceeding to raise the car — the less weight, the less the danger of failure.

These cool damp days, much hard earned cash is wasted on needless service calls. Possibly half these starting failures are due to moisture on the ignition.

Oil frequently seeps from upper sections of the engine (usually the rocker cover gaskets) and coats the ignition system. The fan draws in road dust and in winter salt spray that adheres to the oily ignition components. This gradual accumulation of foreign matter, particularly in damp weather, absorbs moisture from the air and drains away the vital high voltage long before it reaches the spark plugs. This condition can sometimes be pinpointed by watching the coil, distributor, spark plugs and high tension wires as the engine is being cranked over to start. If it fails to catch, usually a spark or many minute sparks can be seen flashing somewhere in the ignition system. Before calling the tow truck, with the ignition off, try drying the area where the sparks are apparent with a dry cloth or paper tissue.

This could get you going, but it will not be a permanent cure. The failure could recur the next day.

While it is seldom included in a tune-up, a washdown of the ignition system before starting the job, plus a good spraying with a protective sealant that resists moisture, is the best assurance of minimizing damp weather starting problems.

Rocker cover gaskets and any points that could cause oil seepage should be checked, and repaired as necessary, when the car is being serviced.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1967

Clarification of the amateur side of the pro-amateur agreement between the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the National Hockey League was aired to delegates to the Ontario Minor Hockey Association annual convention in Toronto Saturday.

Speaking at the association dinner, Earl Dawson, CAHA second vice president from Rivers, Manitoba told delegates the last under the new regulations the CAHA will register more players in the next ten years than it has in the past five decades.

"We shall have absolute voice in the rules of hockey; absolute control of regulations governing amateur players and we will create an image that will be accepted and respected by all hockey people of the world."

"There was a rift across the country calling for a new agreement with the professionals," Mr. Dawson said. "We were told to 'get tough' with the pros and accordingly sent a strong delegation to meet with them.

"We got a lot of things we wanted but in the getting had to give a little. About the only thing we gave was the issue that caused such a furore here this morning, the change in age dates of minors."

We had the draft age changed from 16 to 20 years and no boy can play professional until he is an over-age junior."

A real accomplishment, said Mr. Dawson, was the development of a CAHA-NHL committee to govern the money to be given by the pros to the CAHA. Its branches need so much money each year to operate. This year it will amount to $600,000. The CAHA accepts the budgets of the branches and a sub-committee looks after its financial needs.

"We scored a point for the education of the younger boys. We also scored in reinstating pros the first year instead of having to wait three or four."

"The best thing the pros did," Mr. Dawson said, "was to give us the chance to help you promote hockey."

Financial grants to the branches have been increased by $5,000 he said. All branches will be properly staffed to help increase efficiency. The Ontario Hockey Association is a model in this respect, the speaker said.

Mr. Dawson points out that the operation of Canada's national teams is not part of the CAHA-NHL agreement. "We did not want them to be tinged with professionalism in their competition for players with the amateurs.

"It could be in the future that the national teams will have no source of finances," Mr. Dawson said. "But it is decided and on the basis the teams belong to every Canadian, a foundation of affluent and influential men across Canada has been formed."

"The foundation will not only operate the club but will raise a million dollars with the interest providing operational expenses for the teams. It will also provide scholarships up to $2,500 for players and it will work closely with the CAHA in this respect."

In one of the noisiest sessions in its 34 year history, delegates rejected a CAHA move that would change the age limit of minors which does not come into effect until next year.

The biggest "beef" was the new limit will keep juvenile boys out of hockey for an extra year.

They did, however approve a motion requesting the OHA to seek a change in the CAHA rule setting the age limit for juvenile at 19; midget, 17; bantam, 15, peewee, 13 and 11 for novice on January 1st in the season of competition.

The CAHA rule sets the age limits set at juvenile under 18; midgets under 16; bantams under 14; peewees under twelve, and novices under 10.

The age-limit change was made by the CAHA and affects all branches. The OHA executive was against the move but were unable to defeat it.

OMHA secretary Gary McLeod warned the delegates non-adoption of the CAHA age-limit change could lead to disintegration of the OMHA and an entire league taking its place. He spoke strongly against it.

Herb Parker, OMHA past-president, and OHA president Jack Devine made no bones of how they stood in the matter. Both pointed out the folly of the move and the loss in privileges and grants it would entail.

Both speakers said organized hockey cannot operate without the general frame. Both urged the delegates to consider the matter with care and caution.

Both Parker and Devine pointed out their organizations were against the CAHA move and would do their best to have it changed.

"I succeed you stay within organized hockey," the OHA proxy said. "If you can work from within but you cannot work from without. I will guarantee you the OHA will stand 100 per cent behind your executive. The only decision made by us will be with 100 per cent co-operation of your elected representatives."

Mo-Hawks Snatch Last-Seconds Tie

BARRIE — If the Indians of old didn't shoot any more than the Belleville Mo-Hawks, it's no wonder the white man rules this country today.

The Mo-Hawks were outgunned for the third consecutive time here yesterday but pulled out a 3-3 OHA Senior "A" tie with the Flyers on a diving-seconds goal by George Godson.

Godson's tally came at 19:41 of the third period. It was the third time that the Mo-Hawks had come from behind and they narrowly missed getting a win in the sudden-death, 10-minute overtime bout.

Barrie blasted 36 shots at Joe Junkin in the visitors' cage and only his excellent work, especially early in the third period, kept the Mo-Hawks in contention.

They came to life somewhat in the later stages but over the route Jim Cusack had an easy choice in the Flyers' goal, facing only 20 shots. Belleville tested Cousin only once times in the first period and five in the second and trailed 13-4 in third period shots just past the half-way mark.

Dubeau potted his goalmouth pass.

Dubeau, Nicholishen and Adams bowed to Junkin's puck-stopping magic before Menard and Baker missed close-in chances for the Mo-Hawks in the early minutes of the third.

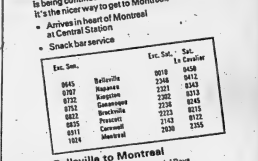
shooting and Bob McAlpine failed to reach the layup with the net wide open on one occasion while Junkin stole goods from Al Stitt twice.

Ralph Plane finally made persistence pay off when he scored unassisted at 13.32. Plane's shot from behind the net settled back of Couch and the Mo-Hawk jabbed it over the line. Couch stopped Menard with his club down a man but shortly after the penalty was up, the Flyers again took the lead.

Stitt made sure on this one, rapping a queer rebound off the backboards into the corner as he swooped past the net, seconds after Godson hit a post. That was at 17.51.

Junkin was out near his own blueline, ready to leave for a sixth attacker, when Godson won a faceoff in the Barrie zone at 19.31. Minnie Menard kept the puck in Mo-Hawk control and fed it back to Godson.



The centre - ice smoothie cut in quickly and backhanded a beauty low in the rigging for the 3-3 deadlock.

Belleville held a 8-5 shooting edge in overtime and buzzed all around the Flyer net when Barrie was penalized for too many men on the ice. Jones and and Cherevaty came close around the seven - minute mark and Junkin gloved a hard drive with three seconds left on the clock.

The Mo-Hawks next meet Kingston Aces in an 8.30 game in Belleville Tuesday, then go to Guelph Friday.

Coach Floyd Crawford hinted yesterday that forward Gary Greschak may have worried himself out of a spot on the club. Now living in Kingston, Greschak failed to show up for the bus trip to Barrie.

The Vancouver club in its eastern swing managed only a 3-3 tie which came Saturday night against Rochester.

That game marked the pro debut of goalie Tony Esposito who turned aside 27 drives in the Vancouver nets.

Tiger - Cats, Rough Riders Wins Featured By Errors, Fumbles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A comedy of errors in Montreal and two costly fumbles that didn't look a bit funny in Toronto left the scene unchanged after the final weekend of regular-season action in the Eastern Football Conference.

Ossie O. E. Dalton of Montreal admitted Saturday the Alouettes 15-1 loss to Ottawa Rough Riders was a "comedy of errors."

Hamilton Tiger-Cats defeated Toronto 8-5 Sunday after turning the Argonauts first-quarter fumble into the only touchdown of the game and holding their lead late in the game by forcing another fumble.

The victories left Hamilton in first place to await the winner of the Nov. 11 sudden-death semi-final between the second-place Riders and third-place Argonauts.

The Ticats meet the Toronto-Ottawa winner in a two-game total-point series for the Eastern finalist in the Grey Cup game at Ottawa Dec. 2.

Bill Symonds' fumble on the Toronto 21-yard line set up the Hamilton touchdown. Bill Redell recovered for Hamilton and Tommy Joe Coffey took a pass to the six-yard line on second down. Toronto was called for pass interference, the ball was moved to the two-yard line. Willie Bethea scored on the first play.

Hamilton's other three points came on a wide field goal attempt by Coffey that went for a single and pair of punt singles by Joe Zuger.

Dave Mann scored all five Toronto points: a 32-yard field goal and two punt singles.

There was less than two minutes remaining in the game when Symons carried 13 yards and Wally Gabler ran 24 after being unable to locate his receivers, to take Toronto to the Ticats' 14-yard line.

Ted Page hit Gabler on the next play and the ball bounced loose. Hamilton recovered and Zuger ran out all but three seconds to preserve the victory.

Gabler, swathed in tape from waist to chest after the game, said he thought it's a "miracle" Angelo Mosca was responsible for his still undetermined rib injuries.

"I was just going down when Mosca hit me and flipped my legs up and over. I guess I should have had it frozen for the second half."

Gabler completed only four of 18 passes for 58 yards. Symonds' ran 123 yards in 17 carries to lead the Argos 203 yards on the ground. The Argos totalled 12 first downs.

Hamilton picked up 16 first downs on 190 yards passing and 148 yards rushing as Zuger, the Ticats' quarterback, completed 10 of 21 pass attempts.

Mann's average of 42.4 yards on 13 punts, two yards better than Zuger, gave him the league's punting title for 1967.

Flanker Bobby Taylor caught two of Gabler's completions and apparently won the IFC receiving championship over Whit Tucker of Ottawa.

The Riders struck early on a field of mire, with an 18-yard first-quarter touchdown run by fullback Bo Scott, and another by Ron Stewart in the second quarter. Don Sutherin converted both and counted the other point on a wide field goal attempt.

The game was played in a driving rain storm, with only 8,000 spectators on hand for kickoff and less than 4,000 remaining at half time.

Quarterback Carroll Williams hit on only two of 12 passes and had two intercepted. Russ Jackson was good on four of 10 for the Riders.

Montreal accomplished 212 first downs and gained 132 yards. Jackson led the Riders to nine first downs. His passes were good for 45 yards and the Riders ran for 163.

Scott was the top ground gainer with 102 yards on 19 carries. He also caught two passes for 26 yards.

Colts Rally To Win

Unitas Beats Packers In Last Minutes

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Green Bay turned back the clock on Johnny Unitas, but Unitas turned the tables on the Packers.

Unitas, who fumbled away Baltimore's last hope for the 1965 National Football League title when the Packers caught him on the run, was a frantic fourth-down footwork in Sunday's rematch and then pitched the unbeaten Colts to a 13-10 comeback triumph over the defending NFL champs.

With less than two minutes in play and the Colts behind 10-8, Unitas, forced out of his pasket by the Packer rush, scrambled through a hole of daylight and picked up six vital yards for a first down on the Green Bay 23-yard line.

On the next play, the magnificent quarterback fired a touchdown strike to Willie Richardson, ending the Colts' five-game losing streak against Green Bay and keeping them smack in the NFL's Central Division with a 6-0-2 mark.

Unitas' second TD pass in the final 2¼ minutes—after rookie Rich Volk recovered Lou Michaels' onside kick—averaged a 14-10 loss to the Packers at Baltimore last Dec. 10, a loss that eliminated the Colts from the Western Conference race.

In Sunday's other games, Los Angeles' Rams rewarded one game behind the Colts in the Coastal race by trimming San Francisco 49ers 17-7; Cleveland Browns buried Pittsburgh Steelers 34-14; St. Louis Cardinals outscored Washington Redskins 27-21; New Orleans Saints whipped Philadelphia Eagles 31-24 for its first NFL victory; Minnesota Vikings 27-17 took New York Giants 27-24 and Chicago Bears bounced Detroit Lions 27-13.

The Packers stymied Unitas through three quarters and built a 10-0 lead on Don Chandler's 43-yard field goal and Bart Starr's 21-yard TD pass to Boyd Dowler.

Unitas got the Colts back in the game on a 10-yard payoff pass to Alex Hawkins with 2:19 to go in the final period. Michaels flubbed the extra point conversion, then sliced a short kickoff Volk fell on the ball at the Green Bay 34 and the Colts put over the winning touchdown with 1:28 on the clock.

Flyers Finally Beaten

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Niagara Falls Flyers ran into the red-hot Kitchener Rangers Sunday and went down to their first defeat of the season in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

The Rangers trounced the first-place Flyers 8-2 for their seventh win in nine starts and moved into a two-way tie for second place with Toronto Marlboros, who downed Peterborough Petes 8-6. Each team has 14 points.

Another streak was ended Sunday when St. Catharines' Black Hawks, after losing seven straight, whipped last-place Ottawa 67s 8-1. Montreal Junior Canadiens defeated London Nationals 5-1 in another Sunday game and the Nationals edged Oshawa Generals 4-3 in a game Saturday.

- The Rangers scored six goals in the second period to clip the Flyers, who had won their first eight starts. Jack Egers and Cam Cosby each scored two goals for Kitchener and Walter Tkaczuk, Mike Robitaille, Dennis Dupre and Don Luce added the others.

The Tire that Makes Fun of Winter Driving
CANADIAN TIRE
STILL ANOTHER BREAK THROUGH
NOW MADE WITH POLYESTER
The Miracle Tire Cord
Nearly two years ago, Canadian Tire introduced Polyester miracle-cord in their high performance summer tires. Come spring, most major rubber companies are expected to follow with Polyester in their most expensive summer tires. Right now, a year ahead of most others, as usual, another record falls to Canadian Tire. Polyester Winter Tires . . . here RIGHT NOW!
If you ever experienced the sheer delight of being behind the wheel of an automobile equipped with "Hiway-Byway" winter tires, you have doubtless told others about the fun of bulldozing through drifts and wheeling past cars struggling for traction. You've also taken for granted the confidence of being master on ice and hard-pack snow. Now with better-than-ever Polyester "Hiway Byways" you'll get more miles and an incredibly smoother ride — more like summer tires — be it at 70 mph, "Morning thump", even on the stiffest cold mornings, will be a thing of the past. Initially of course, Polyesters do cost more; but, you'll soon agree they're worth every penny of it.

THEY RE-GREW HAIR!

IN 3 MONTHS
Hair Specialist Here Tuesday
Will Show Men and Women How to Save Hair and Prevent Baldness
OTTAWA, Ont. New home treatment methods for saving hair and growing it fast will be demonstrated in Belleville on Tuesday, Nov. 7, 1967 at the Hotel Quinte.
Specialist J. Albert will be in charge representing the dynamic Roberts Hair & Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1.00 to 8.00 p.m.
This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all". It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked at regular intervals by Roberts Specialists.
Who Can Be Helped?
Will the new Roberts' treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!
Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair-loss — dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea — can be corrected. Mr. Roberts home treatment if caught in time.
"DON'T WAIT UNTIL IT'S TOO LATE"
Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced. If you're going to keep right on losing hair 'til you're bald — unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair-growing condition again.
Examine You Free
We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.
Your only obligation is to yourself. We do not accept cases that will not respond.
Guarantee Satisfaction
The Roberts' Specialists will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it will cost you nothing.
For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk for Mr. Albert's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.
Examinations are given in private.

Parsons Edged 1-0 In Final

Belleville Parsons are wearing the bridesmaid's veil once again.

They lost a 1-0 decision to the Linfield Thistles in Kingston Saturday in a sudden-death game for the Kingston and District Soccer League's "B" championship.

- The loss marked the fourth year in succession that the Belleville club has reached one of the group's finals and lost.

The game's only goal came about ten minutes from the end when Linfield's Dixon headed home a well-placed free kick taken from the edge of the penalty area.

Neither club was able to mount a consistent attack due to a field covered with mud and pools of water. The game developed into a battle of the defences with both goalies having little to do. Herb Mosher, in the Parsons goals, was called on for only three saves during the game but the Belleville forwards were unable to do any better at the other end.

Joe Romano was the losers' most dangerous scoring threat while Bill Butcher played outstanding soccer at centre half throughout.

City, District Runners Help Win Big Race

The Central Ontario team, which included two Quinte area members, ran away with the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union's Arvelds cross country event held in Calgary Saturday.

Belleville's Glen Easton, of Quinte Secondary School, and Trenton High School's Duncan Rogerson, ran on the championship five-man team.

"Our team swept the team championship," Easton said this morning, "with the other three members taking the top three positions."

Rogerson finished 11th and Easton 12th in the field of about 55 competitors.

The top three positions of each club determine the team championship. Central Ontario's Ken Hamilton was first, Mark Shiells second and Randy Smith third.

"Duncan and I prevented other clubs from picking up positional points with our 11th and 12th-place finishes," Easton said.

He added that "the race was run in about 4½ inches of snow with the temperature around 22 degrees."

Bruins, Leafs Battle To 2-2 Tie After Blood-Spattered Brawl

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Color the ice at Boston Garden red today—the result of a free-wheeling, blood-spattered brawl Sunday night between Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins.

The fight was the wildest dust-up in the National Hockey League this year and no winner was declared. The game ended in a 2-2 tie and injuries and penalties were about even on both sides.

In other Sunday night games, Montreal Canadiens rallied for the second consecutive night to defeat Philadelphia Flyers of the expansion Western Division and had to settle for a 1-1 tie.

The amazing Los Angeles Kings scored four times in the third period to pound Detroit Red Wings 6-4 and Chicago Black Hawks, paced by Bobby Hull's 11th goal of the season, tied 3-2 with California Seals in interlocking contests.

The fight in Boston started when Brian Conacher of Toronto collided with Bruins defenceman Bobby Orr, knocking the former junior star to the ice.

Conacher skated off down the ice, but three Boston players followed him and threw him down at the Toronto blueline, meanwhile, scattered to his feet and joined the foray—blood dripping from a gash on the bridge of his nose.

Then the entire Toronto bench poured onto the ice, freeing Conacher and sparking a set of minor skirmishes around the rink. Even the two goaltenders, Johnny Bower of Toronto and Gerry Cheevers of Boston, started struggling.

Referee Art Skov stepped in and started calling penalties. Orr, who required three stitches, received a five-minute major for fighting and shared the box with Conacher.

Allen Stanley, Johnny McKenzie and Ken Hodge drew minor roughing penalties and Boston's Ted Green was given a 10-minute misconduct for remarks to the officials. Other injuries included six stitches to Johnny Bucyk of Boston, three to Dallas Smith and one to Stanley.

Meanwhile, Pete Stemkowski saved the game for Toronto with a goal with less than three minutes to play. Ron Ellis got the other Toronto goal and Orr and Hodge scored for Boston.

The tie moved the Leafs into a tie with New York Rangers for first place in the East. Both have 15 points, but the Leafs have seven victories compared to New York's six.

Toronto downed the Rangers 4-2 Saturday in one of five games. In the others, Philadelphia surprised Montreal 4-1, St. Louis Blues nipped Detroit 3-2, Pittsburgh Penguins defeated California 1-0 and Los Angeles tied 2-2 with Minnesota North Stars.

Leon Rochefort, a former Montreal player, scored three goals for the Flyers' Sunday night and assisted on Ed Hoekstra's goal Sunday night. Garry Peters got the other Philadelphia goal Saturday night and Gilles Tremblay assisted in Montreal.

Yvan Cournoyer's seventh goal of the season with less than six minutes left gave the Canadiens the tie Sunday night.

Bill Flett scored three times for Los Angeles as the Kings mustered one of the best comebacks of the season to take the Red Wings. They trailed 4-2 at the end of the first and 4-2 after the second.

Los Angeles, in first place in the West, outshot Detroit 20-8 in the decisive final period and got other goals from Bryan Campbell, Bill Inglis and Bill White. Gordie Howe scored twice for Detroit. Gary Bergman and Paul Henderson got the others.

California Seals, trailing in their game with Chicago, replayed Gerry Ehman's goal at 1:41 of the third period into the tie. George Swarbrick got the other California goal, but the Seals dropped behind 2-1 pt the end of the second period on Chicago goals from Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, 1967 NHL scoring champion who got his first of the season.

Saturday night, the last-place expansion Seals watched Billy Dea's first period goal stand up for Pittsburgh as Penguins couldn't get past Penguins goaltender Les Binkley to get the equalizer.

In the other game, Ron Stewart broke away midway in the third period for a goal that gave St. Louis its 3-2 decision over the Red Wings. Roger Picard and Ron Schock got the other Blues goals before a hometown crowd of 9,455 and Bruce MacGregor and Henderson scored for Detroit.

In Toronto, Murray Oliver broke a scoreless tie in the second period and assisted on two more goals as the Leafs snapped New York's eight-game unbeaten streak and notched their third consecutive victory.

"It's Raw Injustice"

BOSTON (CP)—Coach Harry Sinden doesn't think it's fair his Boston Bruins are liable for fines because they left the players' bench to take part in a wild-swinging National Hockey League brawl Sunday night.

"It's a raw injustice," said Sinden in the Boston dressing room after the Bruins tied Toronto Maple Leafs 2-2.

"They left the bench first. What is the other team supposed to do? Our players had to act when all those Toronto players went on the ice."

The donnybrook broke out in the second period after Brian Conacher of Toronto knocked Boston defenceman Bobby Orr to the ice, dazed and bleeding from a gash on the bridge of his nose.

"Nothing could have been more deliberate," Sinden said. 'He (Conacher) just brought his stick up and hit Bobby. It happened at the blue line almost directly in front of our bench. We saw what happened. It was a cheap shot."

Orr recovered after Conacher had been knocked to the ice by another Boston player and charged into the foray. Toronto defenceman Alan Stanley joined the battle and then, the entire Toronto team led by captain George Armstrong stormed onto the ice.

The Boston bench also emptied within seconds, making both clubs responsible for fines to league president Clarence Campbell.

Hawaiian Open

Wysong Nips Casper In Playoff!

HONOLULU (AP)—Dudley Wysong addresses a golf ball as if afraid it was going to hit him back.

He started the $100,000 Hawaiian Open playing so badly he said he wasn't sure where the ball was going after he hit it.

But when it came to the final holes, the quiet Texan refused to fold under the birdie pressures of veteran Billy Casper, and Wysong won the $20,000 first prize in a sudden death playoff.

Wysong and Casper finished the 72-hole tournament, played over the wind-swept, 7,000-yard Waialae course tied at 284.

That was four under par for the four rounds.

Only four other players broke par, Doug Sanders, Babe Hiskey, Bruce Devlin and Gay Brewer.

Weiskopf, who tied for the third spot with 287, three strokes behind the leaders.

Defending champion Ted Makalena finished an even par 288, after an opening round 78. Arnold Palmer never got going and scored 72-74-74-72—292 for a 12th-place tie and $2,136.

The first prize check was Wysong's largest, and the victory his second. His won the Phoenix Open last year.

He has a strange address. He puts his golf clothes in the car and then moves it three or four inches to the right until the club head is behind the ball. The ball aren't facing each other at all.

"It drives you crazy to watch him," said Casper, "but he hits the ball solid. He is a good player and he can do many things in golf."

On the sudden death hole, Wysong had his second shot a bunker, blasted out nine feet away and missed the putt. Wysong hit what Casper called a "fantastic shot, around a tree and onto the green." He two-putted for the win.

Defeat Bombers, Lions

Saskys, Eskys In Playoff!

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan Roughriders kept their momentum going toward Saturday's sudden-death playoff clash with third-place Edmonton by thumping Winnipeg Blue Bombers 34-14 Sunday in the last Western Football Conference league game.

The Riders, defending Grey Cup champions, were favored to meet the tough Edmonton Eskimos after Calgary Stampeders beat British Columbia Lions 35-30 Saturday night in Vancouver to clinch their second WFC crown in three years.

Although Saskatchewan and Calgary finished in a first-place tie with identical 12-4 records, the Stamps earned the title because of a better record against the Riders over the season.

The Eskimos could be a big stumbling block for the Roughriders. They have won their last four games, including a 20-11 win over Calgary and a 21-17 victory over Saskatchewan.

The game, however, will be played in Regina.

Saskatchewan's last contest was once before, 11,015 Blue Bomber fans in Winnipeg, was a rough one. Referee Al Dryburgh of Winnipeg was attacked by several fans at the final gun after he ejected Bomber guard Dwayne Crozier, who was involved in a fourth-quarter fracas with Roughrider centre Ron Atchison.

Saskatchewan used the long pass to chalk up their second straight win after two losses.

George Reed scored two Roughrider majors and Gord Barwell collected the other touchdown when he grabbed a Don Lancaster pass and ran 88 yards.

Jack Abendschan kicked three converts and a 27-yard field goal.

Home From Russian Prison, Briton Calls It Sheer Hell

LONDON (AP)—Soviet prison life is sheer hell with plenty of work and not enough to eat, and "I feel sodden;ess as though I'll never get over the things I saw inside," says a British seaman who was just released.

John Weatherly, 29, arrived Saturday at London Airport from Moscow still wearing prison garb. He was freed ahead of time under a special decree of the Supreme Soviet.

Weatherly was jailed last March on a charge of hooliganism after a fight at a wedding party in Leningrad. He does not dispute the charge.

But he said conditions in the prison camp where he was held were abominable and added: 'I saw people die, mostly from lack of food."

"You could see old men practically dying on their feet," he said. "Lots of them suffer from tuberculosis and malnutrition.

He said that Gerald Brooke, an English lecturer jailed for seven years on a charge of distributing anti-Soviet propaganda, was in the same camp and seriously ill.

The Soviets have persistently sought to exchange Brooke for Morris and Lola Cohen—known in Britain as Peter and Helen Kroger—who are serving 20 years for their part in a Soviet spy net gathering British and American naval secrets.

Weatherly said that by bribing a guard he was able to see Brooke frequently.

"He's very ill. If a doctor has to see him and prescribe treatment or a special diet, it's always stopped," he said.

Weatherly said the camp contained about 250 non-Russians, including Americans, Chinese and Greeks. Their food, he said, was watery soup, black bread and cereal.

Once, because he refused to work, he said, he was ordered to spend 15 days in a cell 20-by-23 feet with 20 other men. After five days he gave in and went back to work.

Ballet Troupe Matches First Performance

By EUGENE LANG

For the second night in a row the auditorium of Centennial Secondary School was filled to near capacity as the National Ballet of Canada concluded its Belleville engagements before a most appreciative audience. This highly varied and accomplished troupe has been appearing in this city for a number of years and with each successive showing has added new lustre to its presentations and loving laurels from its fans.

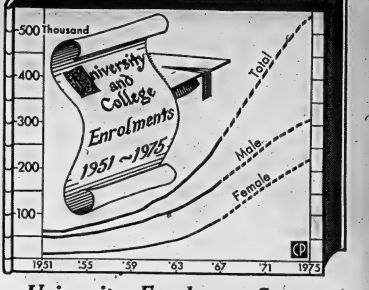
As a result of Saturday's performance it would be very doubtful if there was one single patron who could possibly come away without being thrilled to the core at what he had witnessed, besides being prone to pride at the thought of how the world stature of this Canadian dancing aggregation has consciously been ascending in recent years.

Five productions were presented, all using no stage enhancements whatsoever except the deep blue backdrop. Actually, this was enough because the dancers so captivated their audience with their superb artistry that anything but the bare essentials in scenery would detract from the finely wrought performances enacted.

Act Four of Bayadorka with music by Ludwig Minkus brought the full corps de ballet into the limelight along with three soloists and two principals. Here was the typical classical styling of the gold dominated century with polished precision from the corps and a vesting of silken sheen from Martins as Hamel and Harrarra Surmeian. Phyllis Spira, Vanessa Harwood and Nadia Potts glided gracefully in their respective roles.

Mazzo composer for the ballet, Tschaikowsky was represented by two excerpts from well known creations of his genius. Phyllis Spira and Gary Burne traversed the familiar Pas de Deux from The Nutcracker with poignant postulings that soared to a vibrant conclusion backed with stirring orchestral declamations. Veronica Tennent and Jeremy Blanton turned in a thrilling achievement in the Black Swan Pas de Deux which was negotiated with subtle poise that metamorphosed into thrilling potencions in the Tschaikowsky composer inserted into the score.

A delightful respite was the Rondo Giocoso played upon chamber music by Rossini, alluring movements from his Woodwind Quartets Nos. Six and One. In this production Lois Smith and Earl Kreal were in top form as they gave exceptional readings that combined smoothness and flawless technique. Nadia Potts provided coquettish appeal in her characterization.



The quartet of woodwind players were in fine form with Rossini barring no holds in any of them when it came to virtuosity of the various instruments. Charming music this with impeccable taste shown by dancers and players alike in their total involvement in scene.

Ernest Chausson's Poeme for Violin and Orchestra provided the musical backdrop for the final item for the evening. Lilac Garden was poignant sorty for scenarih. From the atmosphere of mystery that opens the composition, Ballerina Lois Smith and partner Jeremy Blanton immersed themselves in a delectable portrayal of two lovers who are doomed to separation and heartbreak.

With music of quiet contemplation and gentle melancholy pervading these lovers as dancers at times by soaring flights of violinist John Gomez the four principal dancers executed the moving performance of emotional appeal to the audience. Assistant Ballet Mistress Lois Smith and Jeremy Blanton immersed themselves in a delectable portrayal of two lovers who are doomed to separation and heartbreak.

With music of quiet contemplation and gentle melancholy pervading these lovers as dancers at times by soaring flights of violinist John Gomez the four principal dancers executed the moving performance of emotional appeal to the audience. Assistant Ballet Mistress Lois Smith and Jeremy Blanton immersed themselves in their respective dancing tasts which culminated the evening in a feeling of regret that the program had to conclude. George Crum, the musical director and conductor saw to it that his 20-odd piece orchestra tonally shaded the dancers & did the ballerinas orchestrally enhance their attributes for those performances.

So ends two nights of varied presentations by the National Ballet that could simply be summed up as deliriously delightful. No more to say —

University Enrolment Soars

Full-time university and college enrolments will increase on an average of 30,000 to 35,000 students each year over the next eight years, reaching a level of about 540,000 by the fall of 1975. These figures, contained in a Economic Council of Canada survey, estimate that by the mid-1970's one in every six Canadians completing his formal education will attain at least a first-level university degree. Presen nt ratio is about one in 10.

Towns Competing to Lure Film Making Away From Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From New York City to Monterey, Calif., towns are competing to lure film producers away from Hollywood.

Mayor John V. Lindsay's campaign has been so successful they're calling New York "Hollywood on the Hudson."

With such inducements as streamlined issuance of permits, a recent tabulation showed 51 features filmed there wholly or partly in 30 months.

A Florida producers association hopes to subsidize Hollywood production there. Oregon sends producers brochures lallyhooing its scenic attractions. So does Sonora, Calif., reporting current costs of renting horses, cattle, sheep and railways.

A Monterey, Calif., representative helps with hotel accommodations, hiring extras and finding locations. New Mexico has a movie-luring committee. Arizona has used Governor Fannin's persuasion law and Colorado its state tax to encourage movie-making. A Wimberley, Tex., ranch resort offered to build sets free.

Why? Money, mostly. Slims location of the local economy and tourist-attracting publicity.

In Moab, Utah — population 5,100—where Paramount filmed Blue and Fade—In simultaneously this summer, the weekly Times-Independent reported:

"Both bankers agree the movietary impact has upgraded the town's ceremony. Extra service has been established to facilitate cheque cashing. Markets note an increase in business over last year.

"Old bills are being paid, at most all businesses confirmed, and they are often paid direct with the Paramount cheques."

"I wrote cheques totalling about $500,000, including $100,000 for the construction of sets," says Joe Keogh, production manager of the project. "We hired a lot of kids who were finishing high school.

"They made enough money to outfit themselves and have money for college."

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' Bonnie and Clyde left more than $400,000 in and around Dallas. Locally-hired extras got about $60,000. Townspeople are delighted to turn actors, but a studio official warns them not to start off if you're best sitting around, waiting, sometimes in atrocious weather.

Girls' Hockey Organized

A Belleville Ladies' Hockey Association was formed and an executive named at a meeting on the weekend.

The Association will look after the two Belleville clubs, Barrirage Landcapers and Ellis Painters, entered in a women's league which plays in Picton.

Sandra Claus was named president, Joanne Dafoe vice-president, Betty Boomhower secretary and Doreen Cook treasurer of the city body. The manager and coach of each Belleville club is added.

The two teams will play exhibitions in Picton this coming Saturday and league play is expected to start November 18.

Chiefs Trample Jets 42-18

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas City Chiefs appear on the truck again and picking up steam, looking more and more like the Super Chiefs of 1966.

Still hopeful of another shot at the Super Bowl, the once-fabulous defending champions ran over New York Jets 42-18 Sunday.

The victory enable the Chiefs, 5-3, to hold their ground against Oakland Raiders and gain some breathing room over the track against Miami Dolphins 25-13.

Mike Garrett, slowed by injuries earlier season, had 101 KC yards, a club record, and a touchdown against the Jets.

"It's the best overall performance we've had this year," Coach Hank Stram of the Chiefs said. "It's obvious we're getting better each week and this victory is encouraging."

The Jets lead the Eastern Division by a game over Houston, Dallas and Kansas City second defeat and they trailed only 13-10 at the half before the Kansas City offensive line overpowered Joe Namath and the Chiefs' offense began moving.

Western quarterback Bob Israel combined a short passing game with a running attack that put the London University 180 yards during the first half.

The Mustangs led 7-0 after the first half.

Israel and Bob McTeer scored the London touchdowns, while Ottavio Colosimo converted both and added a 29-yard field goal. Dennis Walker's 36-yard punt single gave Western its other point.

Glen Markle and Mike Eben went across for Toronto's touchdowns. Markle also kicked a 36-yard field goal and two converts.

Eben caught eight of Amers 11 completions for 96 yards, while Bill Hendershott of Western caught three for 80 yards. Walker caught four for 38 yards as Israel completed 17 of 24.

Bruce Hough topped the Mustangs' running stack with 41 yards on 11 carries.

A beautiful trophy to the memory of Charles Lovett, a longtime member of the Quinte Curling Club competed for the first time in the mixed bonspiel that opened the season in this city was won by Dan Cowley and his rink of Madge Cowley, Hugh and Betty Sullivan.

Dan Cowley, Bill Meagher and "Goldie" Livingston were in charge of the bonspiel while Dick Barrett and his entertainment committee were in charge of the social evening that followed the spiel. Lucille and Ernie Dempster were in charge of the musical backing and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The trophy was presented to the winning rink by Ron Lovett, a son of the former member.

In second place with three wins was a rink of Bill and Jean Riley with Keith and Rita McCoy, while Ron and Agnes Benn with Garry and Grace Lougheed finished in third place. In the fourth spot was a rink of Charles and Jean Cox with Jack and Ev Preston.

The two-game winners were Ralph and Miriam Graham with Ron and Betty Walmsley and in second place Murray Johnson, Jennie Baber, Bill Downing and Ed Stephenson. Lorne and Mary Boyd with Doug and Lorna Bennett won first place in the one-game winner class with Dick Beare and Kate Cook with Jack and Helen Embleton in second place.

Blues Win College Crown

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Paul McKay has drop kicked the Yates Cup back to Toronto.

McKay punted a 36-yard single on the final play of the game Saturday to gain University of Toronto Blues an 18-18 tie with Ottawa Gee-Gees, Ontario Mustangs in Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association football action.

The tie gave the Blues the League championship and the Yates Cup and eliminated Western's chances of forcing a championship playoff.

The deciding champion Queen's University Golden Gaels defeated McGill Universities Redmen 15-10 in other scheduled action.

The tie marked the fifth consecutive game without a defeat for the Blues, although they had been less than spectacular during the first half.

Quarterback Bob Amer had been held to 50 yards, while completing only seven of seven passes for Toronto. Meanwhile,

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bramalea Satellites and Chateauguay Chamblers meet Sunday in Montreal for the Eastern Canada senior football title.

The Satellites, formerly East York Argos, overpowered Halifax Marcom Flyers 47-7 Saturday in an Eastern Canada sudden-death semi-final while the Chamblers nipped Sudbury Spartans 8-7 Sunday in Montreal in another sudden-death semi-final.

Evanshen Captures Score Race

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Terry Evanshen, record-setting split end of the Calgary Stampeders, collected two more touchdowns Saturday against British Columbia Lions to win the Western Football Conference individual scoring race with 102 points.

Evanshen, with 17 touchdown pass receptions, tied the WFC record set by flanker Hugh Campbell of 1951 Saskatchewan Roughriders last year.

In his 16 games this year, Evanshen caught 81 passes for 1,430 passing the old mark of 58 set by Hal Patterson of Montreal Alouettes in 1958.

Saskatchewan Roughriders fullback George Reed wound up in second place with 1,409 yards on 15 touchdowns, two of them in Sunday's 34-14 win over Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Sunday's action also brought him a record as he carried the ball 12 times to bring his season total to 302 for 1,411 yards.

Reed's team-mate, place-kicking guard Jack Abendschan placed third among the scoring leaders with 86 points after kicked a field goal and three converts Sunday, boosting his field goal total to 18 and his convert total to 33. Abendschan also kicked five singles during the season.

Ted Gerela, soccer-type kicker for the Lions, tied a CFL record Saturday with five field goals, equalling a record set by Jackie Parker of Edmonton Eskimos in 1958. Gerela's other point was a single, and two converts as well to end the season in fifth place with 77 points.

To Your Good Health

Infection's Cause Determines Cure

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: You were explaining about yeast infection in the vagina but you gave no treatment for it. Would you give some form of treatment for yeast and fungus infections? Would douching be beneficial, and with what? — D. R.

No, I didn't give a treatment, and won't, and can't, because there is no treatment for it. Rather, there are quite a few treatments for "them."

Vaginal infections are of quite a few types, and there is no way that I know for a layman to determine which is which.

Is the discharge and - or itching due to yeasts, trichomonas, monilia infection? Is it irritation from soaps, or undergarments, or even irritation from too much powders do-aching? Diabetes is one possibility which must be considered too.

In some cases in older women, deficiency of hormones is responsible, and hormone treatment brings relief.

Asking whether douching will be beneficial also is a question impossible to answer in a way which will fit everyone's need.

If the type of infection is determined, then a medicated douche may be the right answer — but it has to be the appropriate type of medication.

Indiscriminate douching will not get at the causes of the trouble, and it certainly won't be of benefit if the source of the trouble is, say, either diabetes or hormone deficiency.

If there were a handy, simple treatment for all of these troubles, it would be an welcome to doctors as it would be to patients, but there isn't any such cure-all.

Dear Dr. Molner I have had nearly a dozen cysts. I asked the doctor if I would have any thing done and he said he didn't know, so I told him I would write and ask you. He told me to go right ahead as what you wrote was accurate, so evidently he reads your column, too. — Mrs. S. J.,

Well, thanks, but I can't tell whether you have had any surgical cysts all your life, either. Nobody can say for sure, but there is some evidence of subject to cysts formation than others, but sometimes cysts stop occurring just as unpredictably as they began.

Acne is a plugged gland. If it is troublesome, then remedial is the only effective course. Once that particular gland is removed it can't become plugged up again. Merely lancing it, however, leaves the probability that it will become plugged and swollen again.

Dear Dr. Molner My 16-month-old daughter has a habit which concerns me. She has several furry stuffed animals and dolls of which she is very fond. When she gets sleepy she pulls the furs out and tickles her nose. I don't know how much goes up her nose, but some does, because I have gotten it out. Will this habit affect her breathing or health? — Mrs. J. M.

Cuddling a soft toy is normal enough; the fuzz-pulling, however, is not healthful. It can get beyond your reach and produce irritation and a discharge from the nose. Some can actually be inhaled. I suggest that you supply only fuzzless toys for this child.

Dear Dr. Molner What Diet supplement would be advisable for a person, aged 18, who is trying to fulfill the training necessary besides a one-a-day type vitamin? — Mrs. J. B.

Any good multiple vitamin capsule will furnish Vitamins A and D; in addition, a calcium supplement, in either liquid or wafer form would be advisable.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

$2,000 Damage In Accident On Highway

BRIGHTON — Provincial Police here are investigating a Friday afternoon accident that caused nearly $2,000 damage to the two cars involved.

The crash took place westbound on Highway 401 east of Highway 30, were owned and driven by George Ellwood of Carrying Place, and Kay Giles of Castleton.

Investigating officer Const. A. D. Tremeer said about $1,000 damage was caused to each vehicle.

There were no injuries, police said.

Police Find Tire Wheels In Another Car

BRIGHTON — William Wilson, 24, of Carleton Place, Ont., was fined $100 in magistrate's court Wednesday charged with stealing the wheels from another motorist's car.

Provincial police say three wheels from a car owned by Lorenzo Lantz of Ferry St., Trenton, were found Friday by Constable T. Kemp in Wilson's car.

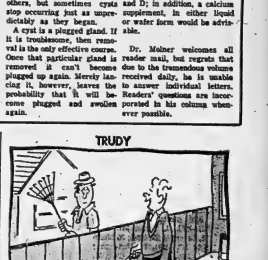
Lantz told police he always parks his car at the junction of Highway 33 and the 401, and drives to work in Oshawa with someone else.

Wilson was charged with theft over $50 when Const. Kemp, on cruiser patrol, noticed a car parked without any wheels on it.

Three of them were found in Wilson's nearby auto.

Scoharie

SCOHARIE — Bloomfield United Church held its 96th anniversary Sunday with Dr. Elsie Andrews, principal of Queen's Theological College, as guest speaker. Mr. and Mrs. Gerrylee Channel placed four standards of 'mums in the church and Mrs. Lorne Peterson arranged.



Mrs. Louis Peterson visited her daughter, Mrs. Leo Johnston and family in Collins Bay and was a patient Wednesday in Kingston General Hospital.

Mrs. William Hinch, a patient in Kingston General Hospital, has been spelling the relief worker at Scoharie.

Mrs. Merton Hennessy has returned home from Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital.

Sympathy is extended to the relatives of Mrs. Osborn Foster, who died Tuesday.

TRUDY

"Trudy will be home tomorrow—she's visiting her mother."

UCW Hold Turkey Supper

DESERONTO — Well over 260 people attended the annual turkey supper held in the United Church Wednesday evening. The United Church Women sponsored the event, with Mrs. Howard Transue, Mrs. Georgia Hinch, Mrs. W. H. Sills, Mrs. Sidney Brown, and Mrs. L. H. Tunnicliffe forming the committee in charge. All the tables were filled for both sittings, at 5.30 and 6.30. The minister, Rev. William Hendry said grace and spoke a few words of welcome on each occasion.

The tables were attractively decorated with arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums, and potted 'mums placed here and there about the hall added to the decor.

N.H.L. Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Gordie Howe scored two goals and an assist Sunday night to move into a tie with left winger Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League scoring race.

But Howe's output still wasn't good enough for Detroit as the Red Wings lost 6-4 to the amazing Los Angeles Kings of the NHL's expansion Western Division. Hull fared better with one goal as the Hawks tied 2-2 with California Seals.

But Howe and Hull have 16 points, but the Chicago Ace leads the league in goals with 11. Howe has 10 and six assists.

Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal picked up another goal Sunday night to move into sole possession of third place as the Canadiens tied 1-1 with Philadelphia Flyers. Cournoyer has 14 points on seven goals and seven assists.

Six other players are tied for fourth place with 13 points. They are: John McKenzie and Fred Stanfield of Boston Bruins, Jean Ratelle of New York Rangers, Dave Keon of Toronto Maple Leafs, Alex Delvecchio of Detroit, and Andy Bathgate of Pittsburgh Penguins.

Argentina Wins Crown

Violence Marks World Soccer Final

MONTEVIDEO (AP)—Racing of Argentina won the world soccer crown Saturday by defeating Celtic of Scotland 1-0 in a bruising playoff game marked by violent melees.

Five players were expelled and a policeman was carried off the field with a bloody eye as Racing clinched the World Soccer Club Cup in the third and decisive game on a neutral field before 75,000. Among them were 20,000 Argentinians who crossed the River Plate in hordes.

The Argentinians scored the lone goal in the 10th minute of the second half on a commonball kick by Juan Carlos Cardenas from about 30 metres out.

The shot swept past the stretched hands of Celtic goalkeeper John Fallon.

The game was so violent that one radio commentator said: "This is not a soccer game, this is war."

The European-champion Scots had defeated the Argentines in Glasgow Oct. 18, but lost 2-1 in Avellaneda last Wednesday in a game also marred by frequent fouls.

"It was everything but a football match," Celtic coach Jack Stein told reporters after the game.

"The first five minutes of play set the tone for the whole game," he said as the Celtic team left the stadium.

There was a lot of brinkmanship, bad and dirty play. And that upset the Celtic players and they lost control over themselves."

Three Scots and two Argentines were ordered off by Paraguayan referee Rodolfo Perez Osorio.

Argentine sports commentators agreed the game was a pitched battle but they said the Scots were more to blame than the Argentines.

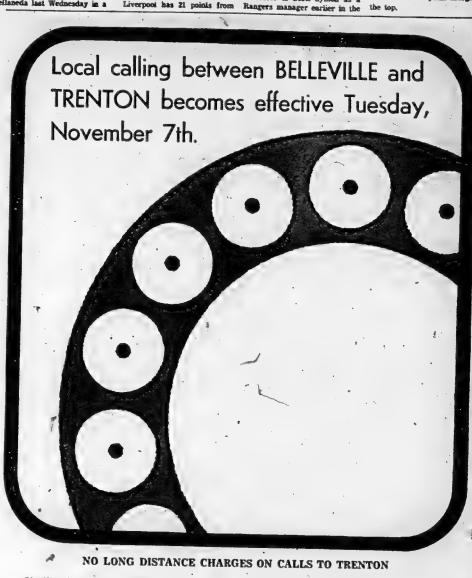
Fans, Police Clash

Spurs Tie Liverpool 1-1

LONDON (CP)—Liverpool's lead at the top of English soccer's First Division was cut to one point Saturday after it was held to a 1-1 tie by Tottenham Hotspur in a game marred by clashes between fans and police.

About 50 police were posted behind one goal after half time and there were reports of numerous fights in which several persons were injured.

Liverpool has 21 points from 15 games. Manchester United, which has played one game less, and Sheffield Wednesday, Liverpool's closest challengers, both won and have 20 points.



Heavy rainstorms, especially in Southern England, caused waterlogged fields. Nine English League games were postponed and a 10th was abandoned after half an hour.

In the Scottish League First Division David White—surprise successor to Scot Symon as a Rangers manager earlier in the week—had a fine start. His team increased its league lead with a 3-2 win over St. Johnstone.

Stirling Albion won its first league game of the season, beating Hibernian 4-1.

In the Scottish Division II, leading St. Mirren was beaten for the first time this season, 3-1 by East Fife. But St. Mirren still has a four-point margin at the top.

Mao: Power Grows Out of Gun

TOKYO (AP)—Quotation from Chairman Mao:

"Every Communist must grasp the truth, 'Political power grows out of the barrel of a gun.'"

Every day since Nov. 1 the New China news agency has reposted those words between news items and at regular transmission breaks.

It was perhaps no coincidence that it did so during the week the Russians celebrated the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

For this familiar quotation from Chairman Mao Tse-tung epitomizes the struggle between the two big Communist countries and explains why China is boycotting the great Communist festival.

Mao says people's wars and permanent, violent revolutions are the keys to Communist victory. The Russians say it can be won through peaceful coexistence.

Mao's ideas are undergoing a searing test in the Vietnam jungles and rice paddies. Thus he is reluctant to have it end until the Communists there have won a clear-cut victory over the Americans.

The trouble with this is that China is not the only country helping the Vietnamese. Should they defeat the United States, the Russians would be able to say that without their massive aid it could never have been done.

Taunting Mao with his refusal to form a joint front, Moscow radio has said: "The Mao group is evidently afraid of peace in that country and hopes that the flame of war will continue to blaze fiercely."

Against these broadsides, the Chinese have no answer except that to play ball with the Russians over an insignificant an issue as Vietnam would be an alliance with the devil.

Another result Peking uses has been largely ineffectual. It says the Russians are plotting with the Americans to get peace and sell the South Vietnamese down the river. No one, least of all the Vietnamese Communists, gives any sign of believing this.

In a series of articles aimed at the 50th anniversary celebrations, the Chinese say there is widespread unemployment, a shortage of daily necessities and no political freedom in Russia.

A minority of "degenerate elements is having its dictatorial way with the good 90 per cent of the population, said the agency.

"It exercises strict control over the armed forces, ceaselessly strengthens police measures, plants plainclothes agents in every nook and corner of the country, sets up many concentration camps and ruthlessly suppresses the discontent and opposition of the working people, the news agency said.

Ironically, these act almost the same charges often aimed at Mao's faction in the Chinese party.

Foot-and-Mouth Disease Hits Rich British Dairy District

OSWESTRY, England (CP)—A fast-moving epidemic of foot-and-mouth disease is sweeping through rich farming country in this north-west area and more than 21,000 animals already have been slaughtered.

The desolate work of slaughter and mass burial, which may cost the government millions in compensation to farmers, involves cattle, pigs and sheep.

Infected animals and others in contact with them must be killed as a means of halting the disease, symptoms of which take the form of blisters affecting the feet and mouth. The disease causes death in some cases.

In one district of Cheshire, a single case was found infected and three dairy herds had to be destroyed.

As the epidemic headed into the most densely stocked of Britain's dairy regions, about 1,000 men worked in a massive counter-action.

Foot and mouth is a virus disease which can be carried in the bone marrow of carcases and by humans from one animal to the next.

The current outbreak has spread with what some specialists call unprecedented speed. One theory is that migratory birds, especially starlings, may have figured in the spread.

Estimates of slaughter compensation owed to farmers has risen to about $2,250,000. There is no sign of any abatement in the epidemic. The agriculture ministry announced during the weekend that the disease was reported in 14 new locations bringing the total number of outbreaks to 75. The counties involved are Shropshire, Cheshire, Lancashire and Stafford-shire.

An epidemic in 1960-61 cost the British government $8,100,000 in payments to farmers. There are fears that the disease may soon mean higher prices for dairy products.

Hong Kong Air Mishap Kills One

HONG KONG (Reuters) — A South Vietnamese woman was the only fatality when a Cathay Pacific Airways jet carrying 127 persons plunged into the harbor here while trying to take off from Hong Kong Airport for Saigon.

The 11 members of the crew and a number of passengers were injured but only 29 persons were kept in hospital. Their condition was not serious.

The survivors praised Australian pilot J. R. F. Howell for his coolness. He freed himself from the wreckage of the cockpit and helped passengers out of the floating fuselage.

Some of the passengers stepped straight from the wallowing airliner into rescue boats without wetting their feet. Others were soaked.

No Canadians were on the passenger list released by Cathay Pacific.

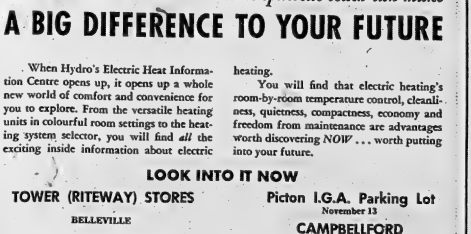
Few Will Get Holiday On Monday, November 13

By THE CANADIAN PRESS



Provincial civil servants in Saskatchewan and Alberta are the only provincial employees in Canada who expect to enjoy extra holiday this year because Remembrance Day falls on a Saturday.

A cross-Canada survey by The Canadian Press shows that only in those provinces will public employees get a holiday on the following Monday, sharing it with most federal employees and workers in industries under federal jurisdiction.

Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba and British Columbi aeivil servants will work as usual Monday, Nov. 13. There was no report of a decision made in either New Brunswick or Newfoundland.

Chartered banks will be closed Nov. 13, under provisions of the Canada Labor Standards Code.

Unlike other statitory holidays, Remembrance Day must by law be observed on a fixed date. The pertinent act says it must be Nov. 11. Other holidays for which observance is established by law, such as Christmas, New Year's and Dominion days, can be observed on the nearest Monday. Dominion Day this year was also a Saturday ,giving most Canadian workers a long weekend holiday.

New Arena Decision Left to '68 Council

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

The controversial matter of the proposed arena complex for the Belleville fairgrounds has been tabled for consideration by the 1968 city council.

The tabling action was taken yesterday, following an hour-long debate on the question of whether to call for tenders for the project, the cost of which is now estimated at close to $1,000,000.

The tabling motion, presented by Mayor J. R. Ellis, was carried by a 7-4 recorded vote.

Approving the motion were Mayor Ellis and Aldermen Allin, Boyle, Carruthers, David, Deacon and Keegan. Opposing it were Aldermen Joss, Scott, Soden and Williams.

During recent months the arena complex proposal has been a controversial topic, both in and out of city council. And as the discussions continued the estimated costs of the project rose.

Originally the city's share of the cost was estimated at $300,000 and approval was given by the Ontario Municipal Board for this amount in the capital works budget.

But revised plans boosted the estimated overall cost to $667,000 and raised the city's share to well over $400,000.

This figure was again approved by the Ontario Municipal Board with the warning, however, that an equivalent amount might have to be pared off somewhere else in the works budget.

But later still it was learned that arena costs could soar far above the $667,000 figure — the latest estimates being well over $900,000 even if the complex was built on the fairground so as to obtain possible grants.

City Hall Snooping?

No, that character nosing over Mayor Ellis' shoulder isn't from the Ontario Municipal Board. It was all part of a visit from fantasy characters — including Snoopy (above) — to promote a children's Christmas show in Toronto. The mayor's seven-year-old son, Ray, tried on mask while dad was busy at his desk. (For details see Page 3.)

Everybody's Job Depends On Costs Curb

OTTAWA (CP) — Every Canadian must fight rising costs and prices because everyone's job depends on it, Finance Minister Sharp told representatives of 40 major municipalities Monday.

He spoke at a meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. Other speakers included Prime Minister Pearson and 10 cabinet ministers.

"We have got to protect our competitive position," he said.

Defeated Mercenaries Will Be Flown Home

GENEVA (AP) — An international airlift for white mercenaries and Katangan soldiers who fled to Rwanda from the east Congo city of Bukavu was announced Monday by the Red Cross.

A Red Cross spokesman said more than 1,000 European soldiers of fortune will be repatriated to their native countries as far as possible. About 900 Katanga troops are expected to be ferried to Zambia.

The white mercenaries and Katangans, led by Col. Jean Schramme, a Belgian rose against the Congolese government last July. The Congolese army reported Sunday it had driven the mercenaries out of Bukavu, where they had been holed up.

The Red Cross spokesman said a Belgian plane will leave for Rwanda at once. He said he hoped four U.S. aircraft, one British one French and one Canadian will follow. Two Zambian planes also are standing by.

Soviet Rejects U.S. Proposal For Middle East

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Western hopes that a compromise resolution circulated by the United States might break the Middle East stalemate in the United Nations were dimmed today by Soviet rejection of the proposal.

Soviet sources said the American plan, which calls for positive action by both Israel and the Arabs, was unacceptable because it gives the Arabs less support than an earlier draft proposed by six African, Asian and Latin American members of the Security Council.

Hamilton Mailmen Walk Out

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mailmen stayed off their jobs in Hamilton today in a move to back 77 mailmen who began a work stoppage Monday in St. Catharines.

Workers in Niagara Falls reported for work as usual, but several other Southern Ontario communities were expected to be without mail deliveries today.

Members of the Canadian Letter Carriers Union Local 17 in St. Catharines quit work to protest suspension of Robert Ensbury, the local's secretary, for allegedly holding up mail delivery to help another mailman with a heavy load.

Reprisals Planned If Quotas Used

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Sharp said Monday the Canadian government will seek legislative authority to delay Kennedy Round trade concessions in response to any possible trade-restrictive measures by the United States or other countries.

He gave this reply in the Commons in response to pleas by opposition spokesmen that the government make sure Canada can retaliate if the United States or other trading partners impose import quotas on Canadian goods.

NDP Leader Douglas and George Hees (PC-Northumberland) both said Canadian tariff laws, now up for revision, must be "flexible" enough to enable the cabinet to answer any restrictive action by delaying or even withdrawing Canadian trade concessions.

Some members of the U.S. congress, including Senate Minority Leader Everett Dirksen, are advocating import quotas, despite the fact that the United States, along with Canada and 49 other countries, recently agreed to make sweeping tariff cuts.

The issue came up when Mr. Sharp gave notice that the government will soon introduce legislation enabling Canada to implement this agreement. He said it is proposed to reduce some tariffs in one step on Jan. 7, 1968, and others by stages over a period no longer than four years.

Russians Parade Orbital Bomb

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union showed off today six new weapons, including a huge intercontinental ballistic missile, and also hauled through Red Square an orbital missile. The occasion was the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

While boasting of Soviet weapons, defence Minister Andrei A. Grechko warned that the war in Vietnam causes "deep alarm." He attacked the United States, accusing it of conducting "a criminal war."

Claiming "the most up-to-date weapons," Grechko then reviewed from Lenin's tomb a parade of Soviet military might from cavalry units of 50 years ago to modern superpower weaponry.

The red-nosed new intercontinental missile, 100 feet long, cam- just before a previously shown missile that has been claimed capable of striking from orbit.

Another new missile, with two stages hooked together, appeared to have a range of between 100 and 1,000 miles, and a new tactical missile was shown with a possible striking distance of 100 to 300 miles.

The Soviet Navy showed a smooth, solid-looking missile with a blunt nose that probably is designed for launching underwater.

Long silver anti-aircraft missiles appeared on a tracked carrier as a new weapon. Official commentaries apparently referring to a nuclear-warhead missile shown in earlier parades, claimed an ability to knock down clusters of enemy planes.

The sixth new item in the quick 10-minute rumble of weapons through Red Square was an armored reconaissance vehicle with a gun and a small tank missile mounted on it.

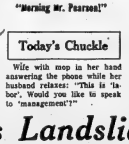
Mineral Rights Belong to Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Offshore mineral rights on the West Coast are the property of the federal government, the Supreme Court of Canada said in an opinion today.

Sharp Says PM Will Retire Soon

CALGARY (CP) — The Herald quotes Finance Minister Sharp as saying Prime Minister Pearson "does not intend to take the Liberal party through the next election" unless one is called soon.

The newspaper says Mr. Sharp made the remark at a meeting of Young Liberals Saturday and was unaware reporters were present. It says reporters had been invited to the meeting.



Mr. Sharp said there was no doubt Mr. Pearson intends to retire soon and it was "a question of when."

He said later he thought the meeting had been closed to the press and said he had been "far franker than I would have been" if he had known reporters were there.

In Ottawa, Mr. Sharp said he was speaking at the meeting in terms of problems facing the Liberal party. One of these, in his view, was that Mr. Pearson would probably not be the leader of the party in the next election.

He added:

"As far as I am concerned, it is a problem, because I believe Mr. Pearson would be the best man to face Mr. Stanfield in the next election." Robert Stanfield is the new Conservative leader.

"Morning Mr. Pearson!"

PC Chief Will Take Seat After Wednesday

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — Robert Stanfield returns to Ottawa early today after winning a landslide victory over two independents in a federal byelection in Colchester-Hants Monday.

The national leader of the Progressive Conservative party said he would be unable officially to take his seat in the House of Commons until after declaration day in the riding Wednesday.

Mr. Stanfield received 15,961 votes, independent Liberal Robert Kirk of Truro, 3,148 and independent Elwood Smith of Sodberry, Ont., 228.

In an interview at PC headquarters here, he said he would return to Ottawa today to start writing a speech for a national telecast on CBC's National Business program Wednesday. He has not started work on a speech for his inauguration as Opposition leader in the Commons, he said with a chuckle.

Asked what his tasks will in ve, the 53-year-old former Nova Scotia premier said:

"To continue with the work of the Opposition. An important part of our job is to subject the government to careful scrutiny and criticism where that's deserved. I don't intend to oppose things just for the sake of opposing them."

Inflation Here High as U.S. Rate

EDSON, Alta. (CP) — Progressive Conservative Doug Caston held Jasper-Edson constituency for the Conservatives in a federal byelection Monday night, then promptly criticized the federal government over inflation.

"This country has an inflation rate as high as the U.S., which has 10 times the population and is fighting a war."

Mr. Caston won by a comfortable margin over Liberal Alan Sulatycky and New Democrat Bob Christenson, although by a smaller plurality than his Conservative predecessor, Dr. Hugh Horner.

Dr. Horner last spring vacated the seat, destined to disappear under redistribution, to make a successful bid to enter the Alberta legislature. He had 50 per cent of the votes cast in the last election in 1963.

Grit Wins Bonavista

BONAVISTA, Nfld. (CP)— Charles R. Granger, 56, enters the House of Commons as a successor to former transport minister J. W. Pickersgill following Monday's byelection in Bonavista-Twillingate. But he received a smaller margin of victory than Mr. Pickersgill ever got in the district.

The Liberals retained the seat they have held since 1949 with about a 1,500-vote edge on Conservative Wilfred French, 48. Independent Samuel Drover polled fewer than 600 votes.

On Mr. Pickersgill's resignation, Mr. Granger was made a minister without portfolio.

Scott Opens Election Campaign With Charges on Arena Issue

Mayoralty candidate Dr. J. Russell Scott charged last night that Belleville city council should have called tenders on a new community centre for the Quinte area.

In what he termed his opening campaign speech to the Belleville Kinsmen Club, he said: "Council tabled the arena until 1968 and they do not even have a realistic price on the proposed structure."

Earlier in the evening at a city council meeting Ald. Scott was one of four aldermen to vote against a motion tabling the arena issue.

"The new arena will serve thousands of people from surrounding areas and if the federal and provincial governments are approached properly we can get an increased amount of money," he said.

On another controversial issue Dr. Scott claimed he supports the idea for a bridge across the Moira River at Dundas street. "Present plans call for building other phases connected with the bridge — but I think we should build the bridge first."

Dr. Scott claimed progress in the city over the years has been spotty and pointed to Pinnacle Street which goes "from nowhere to nowhere" and Dundas Street east which develops into a four lane highway where it is least needed.

ALD. J. RUSSELL SCOTT

"We're going to have to build one or two bridges across the Moira river and complete the widening of Dundas Street to patch up this spotty effort," he said.

Speaking further on the arena issue Dr. Scott said grants for the project should equal a fair percentage of the cost. "They should be the same as we get for education," he said.

He claimed one-third of the users of the community centre would be from outside Belleville and could see no reason why the city should provide the service without extensive help.

"The cost of the proposed arena started out to be $100,000, then it jumped to $200,000, it was further increased to $445,000, and now we find it will be close to $1,000,000 and we still don't know the exact cost. We should have called tenders.

"In this day and age no community can call itself a city unless it has a modern recreation centre. There is no question that the proposed structure is needed."

Council Approves

Permanent Entrance to Parking Area

On recommendation of the city parking authority, city council will move to make permanent the entranceway open-ed a year ago to the off-street parking area in downtown Belleville.

The city will take options on the two now vacant West Robertson block properties over which the entranceway runs with the view of purchase for the parking authority.

The parking authority request to council was presented by Cleo Oaking, charter member of the Authority and was supported by Stan Albert, chairman of the downtown business-men's association.

Mr. Colling noted that the present leases for driveways at Kresge's and Metropolitan stores would expire next year leaving only the entranceway opened last year to the off street parking lot south of the Foodtown passgway.

Mr. Colling said there were 136 parking spaces in the off street area developed by the parking authority and these should be protected through a permanent entranceway.

He said the parking area was developed at a cost of $2,000 per parking space.

He said action on the matter was urgent as the remaining two spaces in the vacant Robertson block area were now for sale. The entranceway was needed to provide a suitable entrance for fire fighting equipment as well as for passage of private automobiles and delivery trucks.

Mr. Colling said that the cost of purchasing the two lots as a permanent entranceway would be borne out of parking authority receipts and would not be a charge on general funds of the city.

Presentation

Mrs. Mary White, an employee of the Treasury Department at City Hall for 19 years, was honored on her retirement with a potluck supper sponsored by women of the City Hall staff.

Mrs. White played the piano for a sing-song and later was presented with a gift by her co-workers.

The Canadian Union of Public Employees also presented Mrs. White with a gift.

Bridge Issue May Be Re-opened

City council may get another opportunity this year to discuss the Dundas Street bridge and roadway project which two weeks ago was unexpectedly shelved.

At the previous council meeting the Dundas Street project was shelved when members voted to take no action on any phase of the project until a report was received from a special committee named to investigate the possibility of having the CPR tracks removed.

The other two phases of the project are the proposed bridge over the Moira River, and the connecting roadway between the railway overpass and the river bridge.

At the time councillors apparently felt they were stopping action only on the railway overpass scheduled for construction last week at the foot of Elmer on West Dundas Street.

However the vote actually served to stop further planning work by consulting engineers on all phases of the project.

But before the matter can be re-introduced to council two members, who voted for the staying action would have to change their minds and ask for the subject to be re-opened.

Yesterday Alderman Don Joss said he felt that the Dundas street project should be reconsidered and presented a notice of motion to this effect.

"I feel that the matter would be brought before council again soon and it will be if I can get a seconder at the next council meeting," said Alderman Joss.

He said the whole Dundas Street project had become immersed in politics and red tape.

He suggested that immediate steps be taken to find out if the Ontario Highways Department has any intention of soon building a high level bridge over the Bay at Belleville.

He also urged a meeting with the CPR to determine "once and for all" if there was any possibility of the tracks being moved.

If the tracks were moved the alderman said the proposed railway overpass would not be necessary and neither would two other overpasses at the cemetery crossing and at Union Carbide in the east end of the city.

"We shouldn't spend five dollars on the overpass if the railway is to be moved," he said.

A cost estimate of phase 1 of the Dundas Street project (railway overpass and connecting roadway) indicates an expenditure of $448,000 of which the city share would be $52,000.

However, with the inclusion of certain utilities costs and lighting, it was claimed by Alderman Enos David that the city share actually could amount to closer to $70,000.

The balance of the phase 1 costs would be paid by the Board of Transport Commissioners ($324,000) the CPR $20,000, and the Department of Highways $48,000.

Mayor Ellis noted that the city had already committed itself to $56,000 in plans and other costs for the Dundas street project.

He stressed that this was more than the city's share of phase 1 and would not be subsidized if the project did not go ahead.

"Does the $56,000 cost for plans apply onto to the overpass or to all three phases of the project?" asked Alderman Allin.

"To all three phases," replied the mayor.

Council Puts City Property Off Limits for Election Signs

Its getting tougher all the time for the politicians.

Soon there won't be any place left where they can legally post election signs.

First the utility poles became off limits" for election posters and now the city has moved to make it even more difficult.

Yesterday council passed a motion prohibiting election signs from all city-owned property and directed the city solicitor to prepare the necessary bylaw. Penalties will be assessed for infractions of the bylaw.

Mayor J. R. Ellis brought in the recommendation, stating he had received a number of complaints of unsightly election posters on trees around the recent provincial election.

Councillors went along with the recommendation but there was some doubt expressed whether the city's ability to enforce the bylaw.

One councillor even visualized someone going around with a tape measure to determine which trees were on city property and which were privately owned.

Mayor Ellis observed that the no election posters on city property edict was in force in many urban centres.

Proposal Aimed to Ease Traffic Conditions in Area

A proposal aimed at easing traffic conditions in the Great St. James Street area calling for eventual extension of the artery through to Albion Street was introduced at city council yesterday.

Alderman Arthur Keegan said that a combination of winter snow, parked cars and the CN railway siding made traffic conditions intolerable in the Great St. James Street area.

He proposed banning of parking on the south side of Great St. James St. as well as on Ashley, Burrell and Brown streets and said the extension of Great St. James Street to Albion would relieve traffic on Station Street.

Alderman Jack Allin agreed that the traffic situation in the area was "terrible" noting that because of the railway track and parked cars it was difficult to get down Great St. James Street.

Ratepayers in Tax Arrears To Pay Higher Interest Rate

Local property owners with tax arrears are going to have to pay higher interest for the privilege of using the city treasury as a bank.

Yesterday, on recommendation of city manager J. R. Reynolds, council voted that effective January 1, 1968, the penalty on tax arrears be increased to two thirds of one per cent per month or eight per cent per annum.

The penalty previously had been one half of one per cent per month or six per cent per annum.

The city manager said as a result of higher bank interest rates, most municipalities were increasing their tax arrears penalty rate accordingly.

Alderman Enos David said the recommendation had merit as many business people were taking advantage of the situation and were using the city as a "cheap way of borrowing money."

Council also voted for the costs of private works authorized by property owners be made payable within 30 days of the date of invoice and be subject to a six per cent charge for non payment.

Belleville Hospital Maintains Liberal View on Smoking

Where there's smoke there's fire but necessarily true or Belleville General Hospital would be in trouble.

With the increasing pressure on banning the "habit" some hospitals have banned smoking in patients' rooms and even in the corridors. Belleville General maintains a more liberal view though and patients and visitors are allowed to smoke in all areas, excluding those where oxygen tents and other equipment cause a fire hazard.

It is the fire hazard rather than the health hazard that the hospital administration is worried about and Phillip Rickard, administrator, feels that "legislating for a person's morals or their good schieves very little."

It appears that the consensus is that patients are going to smoke and all that can really be done is to offer them advice not do.

Picton hospital on the other hand does have more stringent restrictions and there is no smoking in the corridors or the elevators.

E. E. Cooke, administrator, mentioned that "the rules are broken quite often but it is usually the visitors who smoke with a cigarette in their hand."

Patients are also prevented from smoking according to the ailment they are suffering from and of course there are the fire hazard restrictions as well.

Trenton hospital also follows along the rules imposed at Picton rather than the more liberal attitude at Belleville hospital.

Cigarettes are sold at all three hospitals.

Committee to Select City Athletes for Awards

The city of Belleville is to have a special committee whose responsibility will be to see that local people with outstanding athletic achievements are recommended for awards.

On recommendation of Mayor J. R. Ellis, city council last night voted to form the committee, consisting of a member of council, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, together with Jack Devine, CJBQ sportscaster, Gerry Carver, Intelligencer sports editor, and Kenneth Carr-Brant, Amateur Athletic Union director.

In presenting the recommendation for committee appointment, Mayor Ellis told council that over the years the city had honored many local people in the world of sports, but there had been no uniformity in the presentations. As a result of the lack of uniformity he felt that many deserving people may have gone unnoticed.

As Mayor Ellis saw it, the committee should be empowered to design a suitable memorial for various events and present the design to council for approval. Then from time to time, the committee would recommend to council the names of various persons who they feel are deserving of the award.

Mayor Ellis did not feel the awards policy would be very expensive and he anticipated a good deal of value in the recognition of persons who bring honor to the city.

Girls Assume Football Role

What a mix-up! Yesterday's football game at the Belleville fairgrounds was neither the same or was it very sane. In uniform were the cheerleaders and their feminine fellow students — leading the cheering crowd were the football heroes themselves (in cheerleader apparel.)

The reversed game was sponsored by the student council of Nicholson Catholic College and even with the cold they drew a good crowd. It was a perfect day for the girls to get a taste of tackle football. The field was wet and muddy and if you were at all sensitive to the elements the air did not help much.

However, the unorthodox game surprised everybody, including the girls. The ladies carried the ball well and there was no hesitation at executing a flying tackle or helping a pile-up pile up. In fact, one young player had to be carried off the field.

It wasn't one sided either. The men made a good showing in leading the cheers. If you excluded the unsightly display of legs they were excellent cheerleaders.

It looks as if the girls are considering joining the Canadian Football League and of course the men are going to Radio City to join the Rockettes.

Ten Women Curlers Needed

TWEED — Ten more girls are needed who are in good physical condition, for the curling season G. Heeney, the draw captain of the Tweed Curling Club. This, he told the members attending the recent pot luck supper held in the Tweed-Hungerford Community Centre.

Mr. Heeney further explained that the men's league was completely filled, but there are openings for approximately ten women curlers in the mixed leagues as well as for associate members who curl as spares.

Members do not have to be residents of the Tweed area in order to join the club, he said.

President, Donald Chisholm, of Roslin, reviewed the club's financial position. Ice time will cost in the neighborhood of $2,900. A new set of rocks has been purchased for use this season at the cost of $105 a pair.

Membership fees have taken care of the costs, and the president hoped that club bonspiels would take care of other expenses. He added that associate membership at $2.00, plus $1.00 a game was the biggest bargain in curling offered anywhere in the district. It was ideal for beginners to try the game, and also for those persons who did not have time available to become regular curlers.

MAYOR JACK ELLIS.

Belleville--Trenton Hookup Completed

Belleville and Trenton today are only eight seconds apart.

That's just about how long it now takes to make telephone contact between both major Quinte - district population centres

The two communities today were linked by direct-dialing for the first time, replacing the long-distance hookup which has served as the main method of making personal contact between both municipalities since the late eighteenth century.

Now, instead of awaiting the service of a long-distance operator, Bellevillians and Trentonians are in local dialling distance of each other.

Elimination of the middle man (or woman) means speedier smoother contact for the thousands of Bell Telephone subscribers on both sides of the Bay of Quinte shoreline.

However, for Trenton residents the exchange switchover means they have to dial two more digits when making a local call.

Hitherto, Trentonians could phone each other by dialling the last five of their listed numbers. Now, they must dial the extra two numbers which signals their local exchange.

MAYOR JAMES MacDONALD

Rotarians View Poignant Film

Vimy Ridge . . . Arras . . . Amiens . . . Ypres in World War I Dieppe . . . the Normandy beaches . . . Cassino . . . Hong Kong in World War 2.

Memories came crowding back yesterday when Belleville Rotarians turned their thoughts to the more than 100,000 Canadians who sacrificed their lives in the cause of freedom in two great conflicts.

Jack Lundberg, president of the Belleville branch of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association, introduced "Fields of Sacrifice," a graphic and poignant film of Canada's war effort.

The film, made by the National Film Board for the Department of Veterans' Affairs, included scenes from documentaries of the fighting in Europe and returned to the now deserted trenches and airfields where once there was the sound of battle and the roar of aircraft.

Today the beaches of Dieppe and Normandy echo only to the laughter of children and the carefree patter of vacationing families — where more than 25 years ago Canadian stormed ashore, many of them never to return.

Is graveyards lovingly tended throughout France, Italy and the Low Countries, Canada's role in the liberation of Europe finds its ultimate expression.

And in Holland, schoolchildren who today live in freedom walk solemly to the cemeteries where they place flowers on the graves of the Canadian fallen.

Young Canadians are also made aware of this country's great war effort when, as Mr. Lundberg pointed out, the film is presented in schools.

For naval men on wartime convoy duty, scenes of the strategic port of Londonderry, in Northern Ireland, were reminders of the rigors of the Battle of the Atlantic.

Rotary President James Marker led members in observing a minute's silence.

Graduates Told to Use Talents

The Stirling Theatre was filled to capacity Friday night but it was for a closing rather than opening performance.

J. L. Lambert, principal of the school, in his opening remarks, offered a challenge to the 1967 graduating class of the Stirling-Rawdon District High School and asked them to use their talents for worthwhile purposes in the future.

The remarks of Harry Morrow, chairman of the High School Board, preceded the presentation of the prizes. "This is called progress," he began, referring to education and to the commencement. Praising the school and the students who helped make it so successful he also congratulated the teachers who helped the students in all aspects of their school life. "Ours has been a School of Promise" was his closing remark.

After Mr. Morrow's address the prizes were awarded by various members of the faculty and by representatives of the community. Secretary-Treasurer of the High School Board, C. Gordon Bailey, presented the honor graduation diplomas to the 10 students having at least seven papers in Grade 13.

The highest award for scholastic achievement was the presentation by J. L. Lambert of the certificate of an Ontario scholar to Peggy Mallory. Besides the $400 cash prize Peggy also received the Stelco Bursary, a $2,000 scholarship from McMaster.

Mrs. Roy K. Jeffrey was the guest speaker. Using the keys, honesty, enthusiasm, adventuring spirit, love of labor, time well spent and humility she spoke convincingly of the more satisfying life that you will have if you build your life on firm foundations.

Peggy Mallory was the representative of the graduating class and presented the valedictory address. "We are not educated now, but we do have within our grasp, the means and know-how to become educated," she began.

Rather than learning information Miss Mallory stressed that a style of thinking was more important and that tolerance of others was more important than clinging ignorantly to ones own beliefs.

She finished her address with Longfellow's words: Lives of great men all remind us, we can make our lives sublime, And departing, leave behind us — Footprints in the sands of time.

A reception was then held followed by a dance in the gymnasium.

Characters Visit Mayor

Toronto's Christmas Fairyland is concoting more magic than ever to cast its spell for 1967.

Promoting the event, Fairyland sent two travelling ambassadors to Belleville yesterday — its Fairy Princess and the spirit of the North Wind.

Both kept a date with Mayor Jack Ellis at city hall for a brief chat and outline of this year's Christmas presentation, of course, Santa Claus.

Fairyland, sponsored by the Toronto Telegram, opens Nov. 10, spread over 4½ acres at the CNE grounds.

There'll be such treats as visits to a sailing ship, rides on a candy mountain train, and a new midget variety show.

As an added touch, there'll be Fairyland characters for everyone to meet — Snoopy, Robin Hood, Cap'n Crunch and

Hamilton Firm Given Contract

TRENTON — A $53,000 contract for reconstruction to the government dock in Trenton harbor has been awarded to Birmingham Construction, Ltd. of Hamilton.

The Hamilton firm submitted the lowest of eight bids for the federal Department of Public Works job.

Government officials called for tenders when it was noticed the dock, located just south of the town bridge on the west side of the river mouth, was leaning outwards over the water.

Work is expected to be under way immediately, and the reforcing work should be completed by Christmas, a Public Works Department spokesman said.

An area behind the dock, which will be torn up during construction, is to be re-paved next spring.

The Economy

Warnings regarding overspending by the public and by the federal and provincial governments, with no commensurate increase in national productive capacity, are prevalent at this time.

The warnings on the danger of inflation, leading inexorably to recession and perhaps even devaluation of the dollar are being heard more frequently. And the governments concerned, from Ottawa on down, are taking at least preliminary steps toward reducing unnecessary expenditures.

And yet, no economy as highly developed as Canada's can afford any substantial cutback in its operations. That is the sure road to recession. Higher production is the key to the maintenance of the economy in a healthy state — and it is to this end that Canadians must work.

Meanwhile it is interesting to note that substantial projects of a routine nature are being carried out across this province. The Ontario Economic Review for the July-August period lists large construction awards varying from one million to 22 million dollars.

The latter project is an apartment complex in Toronto Metro. North York Township has two projects worth 57.4 million each — a college addition and a hospital. Grimsby North Township also has a hospital addition going up at a cost of one million dollars.

Other construction awards include schools at Burlington and Flesherton, a college addition at Guelph, factory plants at London and Ottawa, one of them an extension, office buildings in Toronto Metro, a pumping station in Windsor, sewer systems in Sault Ste. Marie and Welland, and apartments in Hamilton, St. Catharines and Sudbury.

The review notes that on the basis of total unadjusted contract awards, the July 1967 total of $263.4 million was substantially ahead of 1966's $199.6 million for the month of July.

It also notes continued improvement in the number of dwelling unit starts this year in centres of 10,000 population and over. Starts in July numbered 6,326 or 27.6 per cent higher than in July 1966 ago. The overall gain for the first seven months of the year was 25.8 per cent higher than in the same period of 1966.

On the other hand, the number of dwellings completed at 4,057 showed a 53.2 per cent decline from the 1966 total. This represented an overall decline for the seven-month period of 25.4 per cent. At the end of July there were 41,652 units under construction, a decline of some 1,000 units from the same time last year.

Apart from this overall decline in housing construction (for which, incidentally, the review offers no explanation) the work under way in the province, together with other major projects mentioned above, reflect a generally healthy economy. For this to continue, however, presupposes such factors as still higher productive capacity and industrial efficiency and an absence of work stoppages.

Being Involved

Someone has said that "our main business in this life is to be alive." If this seems trite, it is also a classic truism that is all the more effective for its triteness.

It illustrates, too, the increasing involvement of church and welfare organizations in the problems people face today, particularly in big cities.

In Toronto five women church workers have taken part in an interdenominational Christian training project for Christian service which has drawn clergymen from across Canada since it began a year ago.

They discovered what it was like to fend for themselves for a weekend, with only limited funds and in accommodation that was less than adequate. One woman was late arriving at her room, found it taken, and spent a night wandering in the rain.

Loneliness, fear and general purposelessness were what the women felt most during the two days. They found there were places for homeless men but not for women. And they discovered that many young women in such circumstances turn to prostitution.

To obtain a wide experience of city life the church workers spent one evening at the opera, another at an exclusive men's club. They are also studying the organization of city hall, the public welfare system and the Bay Street financial district.

And from London, England, comes word of another kind of involvement in social problems. Here the Salvation Army enlisted the aid of the Playboy organization to raise funds. The Joystrings, a Salvation Army pop group, ended up playing in the Playboy club during the campaign, while bunny girls sold bonds — and all in the cause of the Army's work among Britain's needy.

The Salvation Army's work has always been of an immensely practical nature. Now, in Britain, it is showing itself even more ready to be where the action is.

Status of Women Commission Tightens Purse Strings

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — If you listen very, very carefully, and the wind is wafting in from the right direction, you just may be able to hear those girlish screams of anguish all the way from the posh Kent-Albert Building in mid-town Ottawa where the Royal Commission on the Status of Women has set up shop.

Perhaps you could hardly call it setting up shop, for the ladies have been in the Royal Commission business since last February 3, when Prime Minister Pearson assigned Mrs. John Bird, better known as Anne Francis of the CBC, to make an in-depth study of what is called "The Status of Women."

It is just that in these last eight months with all this public uproar over the waste and extravagance of Federal Government spending, the girls have been quiet as mice.

Seems they have been working on their budget, hoping that nobody would notice them.

And probably praying that if somebody — like perhaps Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp — suddenly became interested in it, he would be too much too gallant to tighten their purse strings.

But they have discovered, to their dismay, that, financially, chivalry is dead.

The Finance Minister finds he just can't afford it.

Not with things in the Federal financial mess they are with Government boods scraping the bottom of the investment barrel and the Administration finding itself forced to pay increasingly dangerous high interest rates for money it must borrow.

Especially not when the Chairman of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, the internationally respected Neil J. McKinnon, usually a cool moderate in the cautious world of the money-men, accuses Ottawa of perpetrating a gigantic swindle on Canadians by over-spending the public kitty in an ever-dizzier spiral of inflation.

So nobody in the Federal Establishment — not even the ladies, God bless 'em — has escaped the crush dollar diet the suddenly hard-hearted Finance Minister has forced on all Government spenders to cut the fat off their budgets.

No Royal Commission on current record has done business for less than $300,000 a year. And there was no reason to believe the investigation into the Status of Women would carry a less expensive price-tag.

But now there is, for the girls are "re-examining," as they put it, just like Government professionals do, their spending estimates.

And not without sighs, and maybe some tears.

This Royal Commission on the Status of Women — and who wants or needs it — was something of a bequest to Prime Minister Pearson from former Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Dief dreamed it up and then dumped the PM about it that the poor chap threw up his hands and said "Oh all right" and could have it — he never said why, (perhaps because he couldn't in all honesty cook up a credible reason).

So away they went eight months ago with the Royal commission, and not a word was heard from the ladies until just the other day.

Now they have their own offices, a staff of 30 and plans to hire "outside consultants" to do the research into the Status of Women, with their report and recommendations to the Government scheduled for October, 1968 — still two years away.

Meanwhile they have announced, breaking their long silence, they will be holding public hearings in every province and territory beginning on the West Coast in April, holding for the Summer and holding a national talk-in here next fall.

What have they been doing these last eight months?

"Thinking," reports Chairman Anne Francis Bird, "I'm a great believer in thinking things through."

The invitation to come and be heard on the Status of Women is a big, warm everybody-welcome sort of an affair.

Although what the experts and non-experts are expected to say, even the women themselves don't know — for one of the things the Commission first must do, smiles our Lady Chairman, is to "advise women's organizations how to ask the questions we hope they will answer." How about that?

Economy - Thought - For - The-Day: There are seven Royal Commissioners, each of them drawing $100 and expenses per working day from February 3, 1967, to October 15, 1969.

And you think the Finance Minister hasn't got problems!

Many Ill...

As Global Noise Levels Heighten

(By William and Allen Raphael in PAGEANT.)

Within recent years there has been a considerable amount of evidence that noise, in addition to injuring hearing or simply annoying us, can actually make us ill. This evidence comes from all over the world—England, France, West Germany, Australia, Canada, Sweden, and the Soviet Union, as well as the United States. Because of jet planes and the concentration of population in urban centres, noise is now an international problem.

In the spring of 1965, a United Nations World Health Organization (WHO) report called noise "another prominent evil of the modern metropolis" and went on to say that it can be harmful even at low levels when it is continuous, as in the case of city traffic. The WHO report added, "It can even be harmful at low levels when it is continuous, as in the case of city traffic. The WHO report added, "It can even be harmful when it is not consciously heard."

At about the same time C.P. Boner, former president of the Acoustical Society of America told a meeting of the organization that urban sound contributes to circulatory problems, loss of hearing, fatigue, emotional disturbances, nagging, and wife beating.

WHO struck out again at noise in a March 1966 report, noting that noise can be responsible for heart and blood vessel disease as well as insomnia and irritability. WHO cited "mental pollution" as being as significant as air or water pollution and identified noise as an important factor, "As major causes of motor traffic which so substantially contributes to nervous disease, insomnia, nervous tension, illtemper, and accidents. The report went on to say that psychosomatic and neurotic disorders are undoubtedly largely associated with the congestion and noise of city life.

Further evidence on the dangers of noise comes from Dr. Julius Buckwald, a New York state medical centre psychiatrist, who has said that excessive noise may cause mild to severe paranoidal delusions, psychoses, hallucinations, and suicidal impulses. Dr. Buckwald's views are confirmed by the United States air force study showing that continued exposure to noise may cause indigestion and even insanity.

Jet noise is already bad, but the director general of the Swedish Aeronautical Research Institute has predicted that the coming global supersonic roar will be catastrophic. Sir Wilfred Hildred, formerly director general of the International Air Transport Association, wonders if people will tolerate it. The British authority has been quoted as saying, "What we're concerned with are the sleepless grandmothers, the sick babies, and the militant citizens who live in crowded shoebine boxes around London airport.

Thoughtful Americans, already plagued by jet noise, wonder how supersonic planes will affect their crowded shoebine boxes" near John F. Kennedy airport in New York, O'Hare in Chicago, Miami International Airport, Los Angeles airport, and others. They expect that the present purgatory will become hell when the new planes scatter noise over 70 or 80-mile areas. No one can predict the physical ills, except to assume that they will be serious.

President Johnson has called for a broad attack on the problem of controlling jet aircraft racket, admitting that there is no easy solution, he has said, but "it is clear we must embark now on a concerted effort to alleviate the problems of aircraft noise.

Will It Work?

Five-day Postal Service

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

Word has leaked out of Ottawa that the post office department is wondering whether it could save $10,000,000 a year by stopping Saturday delivery of mail to homes.

We can't see much to wonder about. People keep writing letters, seven days a week, and dropping them in mail boxes. In many households Sunday is the letter-writing day.

There's a week's mail to be delivered every week, and it's the same amount of mail to be sorted, post - marked and delivered, whether you have it done in seven days, six days or five.

The method now is to suspend deliveries for the Sabbath, as is proper. We suspect the fact that there is an immense pileup of mail to be delivered every Monday. Mail carriers make an unhappy start every week, because the first day is the worst with its two-day accumulation to weigh down the carrier's shoulder.

What happens if deliveries are also suspended on Saturdays? There will be a triple load for Monday. And there aren't many people available these days to do three days work in one day for one days pay.

In the long run the post office would have its choice of hiring extra carriers for Mondays, paying the regular carriers to work longer hours, or paying them extra to stagger along under heavier loads.

One way or another, the money the post office saved on Saturday would be paid out on Monday. There is no miracle method in sight that is going to get seven days mail handled for five days pay.

It is obvious that some kite-flying is going on. The notion of stopping Saturday delivery has been leaked deliberately to test public opinion.

Behind this pieces of non-news is a piece of real news. The two unions that represent postal workers have announced they are going to ask for a fixed Monday-to-Friday work week.

It may be that in the bargaining process this concession will have to be granted, as the postal workers can get overtime pay for Saturdays. Let us not be fooled into thinking, however, that there is any economy in giving five-day postal service to people who pay seven-day taxes and postal rates.

Five-day delivery would give us worse service for much the same cost.

Letter to the Editor

Water Divining

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

After reading your article on water wiching it seems to me you might do a little more research on your articles before printing them.

In the first place, subterranean springs and streams are two things which in general do not mix.

Secondly, extensive scientific investigation of the diwiner's rod has proven it does not react in any way to the underground presence of water, oil, metals or any substance.

Springy wood or metal should in a 'V' and held firmly by the branches of the 'V' will twist vigorously in the hands of anyone if it is relaxed slightly, without any regard whatever for its surroundings.

Slight muscular fatigue can lead to such relaxing of pressure without the operator ever being aware of it. Divining rods have been used in the past to find precious metals, oils, buried coins and even criminals. I find it extremely difficult to believe that any of these substances could ever be found with a piece of wood.

British Withdrawal May Spark Civil War in South Arabia

By CARL MOLLINS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain's decision to pull out of South Arabia ahead of schedule this month advanced the chances of civil war in that corner of the Arab world.

Ironically, announcement of Britain's speeded-up withdrawal from its last Middle Eastern stronghold of consequence came on the 50th anniversary of the Balfour Declaration, a policy statement that has touched off British relations in the Middle East ever since.

Foreign Secretary A. J. Balfour's 1917 support of a Jewish homeland in Palestine conflicted with British pledges to her Arab allies in the First World War and also with a private Anglo-French deal dividing spheres of influence.

The ambivalence introduced into British policy 50 years ago has been reflected in British dealings with Aden colony and the surrounding protectorate sheikhdoms that make up the shaky South Arabian Federation.

Britain first tried to restrain nationalist ambitions in the area, then set up a half-hearted federation under puppet sheikhs between 1959 and 1963, and finally yielded to the nationalists early in 1965 when Arab political pressures forced the British enough to talk.

The decision to withdraw now instead of January and to abandon plans for a protective naval and bomber force during the early months of independence is another reversal of policy with echoes of Balfour.

Six months ago, British policy in South Arabia and elsewhere in the Middle East was dictated by a determination to counter the Arab nationalism preached by Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser.

In South Arabia, that policy meant propping up the Conservative sheikhs in the federal government and combatting the rival Aden nationalist groups, both the one supported by Egypt and the one without Egyptian support.

The pledge of a British naval and bomber presence in the area after independence and a buildup of the British-led South Arabian army also was designed to counter the danger of an Egyptian - backed takeover from neighboring Yemen.

The defeat of the Arabs in the June war with Israel changed the picture in British eyes. The Egyptian threat from Yemen seemed diminished and Egypt's closure of the Suez Canal hurt British trade. Britain now is wooing Nasser.

The sheikhs of the federal government were abruptly dropped last summer and Britain has been angling for talks with the Aden nationalists exiled in Cairo.

On the eve of Foreign Secretary George Brown's visit to drawal announcement, the feuding Aden nationalist groups announced they were ready to talk about a power transfer with Britain.

The outlook for the estimated 700,000 South Arabians, however, is grim. Four of the 20 protectorate sheikhdoms, including all of the eastern protectorate, remain outside the federation. Nobody seems certain who has control in some of the rest.

Barring a political miracle, civil war of the ruinous type that has plagued Yemen for five years seems certain to follow in South Arabia when independence.

Chrysler Faces Deadline

First Car Since Strike Rolls Off Ford Line

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co., its U.S. operations strike-bound for 69 days, got some of its car-building lines into operation Monday while Chrysler negotiated with the United Auto Workers union, hoping to avoid a similar shutdown. When a Mustang rolled the final few feet at an assembly plant in suburban Dearborn, it marked the first car Ford had built since Sept. 4 when 180,000 UAW members walked off the job.

Ford assembly plants in San Jose, Calif., and Mahwah, N.J., also began turning out cars and trucks.

A company spokesman said Ford had hoped to have all of its assembly plants which have settled local contract disputes back in operation by the end of the week. Four of Ford's 18 assembly plants still are without local agreements.

At Chrysler Corp., meanwhile, negotiators for the union and the company bargained toward a new national contract facing a strike deadline of midnight Wednesday night.

The union says it expects the general economic terms of the Chrysler contract to follow the pattern laid down at Ford, where workers won roughly $1 an hour more in wages and fringe benefits above the previous Big Three auto-makers' level of $4.70.

Equal pay for Canadian and American workers promises to be the toughest issue facing the negotiators at Chrysler.

Canadian workers make about 40 cents an hour less than the average hourly straight-time wage of American workers, which was $3.41 under the old contract.

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of General Motors Corp. declared Monday a regular dividend of $1.25 a share on Common stock, compared with $1.50 for the same period last year.

This brings total 1967 payments to $3.80, compared with $4.55 last year.

Chairman James M. Roche said the amount being distributed "reflects the operating results attained this year together with the corporation's forward requirements for working capital and plant investment necessary to maintain up-to-date plants of adequate capacity throughout the world."

Earlier, GM had reported a 45-per-cent third-quarter gain in earnings for a nine-months drop of 15 per cent. The nine-month earnings totalled $1,980,372,550, or $3.68 a share, compared with $1,239,623,077, or $4.31 a share last year. Sales for the nine months slipped to $14,276,369,437 from $14,590,188,932.

Campbellford Council Votes To Resurface Arena Floor

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Municipal Council decided the Arena floor issue at its regular meeting and decided to pay the contractor, Ross Del Rio ⅝ to 29¾. Husky Oil 22¾ to 22¾ and Pacific ⅛ to 18¾.

The Arena has been without activity since August, when cracks developed in the new concrete and made it unfit for recreational use. In correspondence between Mitchell Construction, the engineers Totten, Sims and Hubbell, and Mayor Bowen, no one could determine whether the original specifications were wrong or whether lack of supervision during construction caused the difficulty.

Mitchell Construction exonerated its firm and demanded payment of a holdback on construction costs. Council, to avoid legal action, decided to pay the $14,705 demanded.

The engineers recommended that cracks be filled with a liquid plastic floor adhesive. The suggestion was unsatisfactory to the Arena committee and Council. After much discussion, Councillor Newman recommended that Council notify the engineers that a coating of polyurethane be applied sufficiently thick to fill the cracks and give a floor covering suitable for say use. The work is to be done at the engineers' discretion and it was suggested they contact Crown Diamond Paint Co. in connection with the work.

Councillor Newman asked that a copy of the refrigeration system be sent to the Department of Labor so the system could be inspected and put into use as soon as possible. Mayor Turner was asked to check minor details such as the hot water tanks and special electric heating.

Farm Population Down 8 Per Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—Last year's census showed there were 1,- 960,365 persons living on farms, a decline of nearly eight per cent from the 1961 census count of 2,128,400, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Monday.

Junior Mining Companies Facing Capital Shortage

TORONTO (CP) — Shortage of capital financing affecting junior mining companies appears to be an area of major concern following hearings by a committee into investment practices affecting the mining industry, the committee chairman said Monday.

D. S. Beatty, Ontario Securities Commission commissioner, said other areas of concern include the need to improve the unlisted market for speculative mining shares and the effects of high-pressure stock salesmanship on the inexperienced investor.

One feature to emerge from the first two hearings at Port Arthur and Sault Ste. Marie has been an apparent general dissatisfaction with the unlisted market for junior mining securities.

The committee has appealed for written or oral submissions from the mining and investment industry and the public.

The terms of reference call for a review of the security commission's underwriting, vendor consideration, escrow of unlisted market for speculative mining shares and the effects of high-pressure stock salesmanship on the inexperienced investor.

OMB Rules in Favor Of Williamson Clinic

The issue of the Williamson medical clinic on East Dundas Street has finally been settled — in favor of Dr. Williamson but with a limiting condition on the area to be used as an off-street parking lot.

Yesterday the Ontario Municipal Board decision on the last OMB hearing held some weeks ago was received at city hall.

In summary rescoing of the Dundas Street property is provided for to allow for operation of the clinic but a buffer zone will be established along the east side of the off street parking lot as a protection for adjoining property owners.

The original application by-law was hurriedly prepared for passage at last night's council meeting.

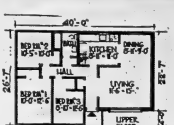
CARMEL WOMEN'S INSTITUTE



A tour of the American Optical plant in Belleville was the highlight of the October meeting of the Carmel Women's Institute. Two guides explained and showed the visitors through the plant where members saw the making of lens for glasses. Lens were placed in moulds. Each side was moulded separately and put through various grinders, polished, inspected and packed in pairs and sent to all parts of the world. Nine thousand different types of lens are made at American Optical. Raw material is brought in from the United States and some from Germany. American Optical have their own machine-shop where they do their own maintenance. They also grind glass down, which is made into emery dust and exported to all parts of the world. Following the tour the ladies met at the home of Mrs. Allan Gowthorpe where the regular meeting was held. Mrs. Russel Bitz, vice-president was in charge. It was decided to give a donation to the C.M.H.A.

The November meeting will be a tour of the Intelligencer at 1.45 p.m. and C.J.B.Q. radio station at 2.30 p.m. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Gowthorpe for arranging the tour of the American Optical plant and also for opening her home for the meeting. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.

HOME OF THE WEEK

DESIGN No. CH-808
Ground floor area 784 Sq. Ft.
Lower Fl. has garage 360 Sq. Ft.

The clean cut lines of this contemporary split level emphasize the modern trend in architectural design. There are three bedrooms on the upper level, and underneath is an extra room which would be suitable for a study, den, office, or even an extra bedroom. There is a handy washroom convenient to the back door. Furnace and utility area are located in the full basement beneath the kitchen-living area. There is also ample space for a large recreation room if desired. This home offers an exceptionally convenient layout for a growing family. Because of the very efficient use of the floor area, cost of building would be quite reasonable.

Standard blueprints for this Design No. CH-808 cost $25.00 for the first set, and $6.00 for additional sets. Blueprints comply with the National Building Code of Canada, and are obtainable by return mail. (Ontario residents must remit 5 per cent sales tax.) The 1967 edition of "Suburban and Country Homes Designed for Canadians"—price $1.00 tax free is now available at this newspaper office. Home and School Association News

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

Queen Mary Home and School Association held its first meeting of the 1967-68 season Nov. 1. The new executive was installed by George Rutledge, vice-president of the Belleville and District council of Home and School. The new report cards being used at Queen Mary were explained to the many than 70 members present by the principal, Bruce Munro and Donald Wishart, the vice-principal.

Ray Gunsolus is again president, P. Clare is 1st vice-president, Mrs. R. Fargey, 2nd vice-president. Secretary is Mrs. T. Pratt, treasurer, Mrs. B. Vecchiarelli, Mrs. C. O'Connor and Mrs. G. Lancaster are social convenors, Mrs. R. Norton, membership convenor, Mrs. G. G. Leggat, publicity convener and Mrs. R. S. Francis, member-at-large.

Mr. Munro and Mr. Wishart, both new members of the school's teaching staff, used a projector to help explain the report card being used this year. Rather than the usual A-B-C-D-E type of report, the children will be bringing home a narrative-type of progress report. This type of report card is optional, used at the discretion of the principal.

According to Mr. Munro three of the basic reasons why children fail is fear, boredom and confusion. He quoted extensively from John Holt's book, Why Children Fail. There are six points necessary to achieve "fail and satisfying education:" As understandable report card; Knowledge of the "aim" of education; The means necessary to achieve an education; The method of reporting that achievement; Knowledge of what is required of the teacher; Knowledge of what is required of the parent.

Samples of the new style report card (average, good and slow learner) were shown. It is hoped to increase, through this new reporting system, the three-way communication between parent, teacher and child.

A question and answer period followed the lecture. A bake table was set up before the meeting, and lunch (provided by Mrs. O'Connor and Mrs. Lancaster) topped the evening off. The classrooms were open for inspection following the meeting.

Oldest Building in Saskatoon Restored

SASKATOON (CP)—The oldest building in Saskatoon has taken a new lease on life.

The old Victoria stone schoolhouse, restored and refurnished by the Saskatoon Council of Women as a centennial project, was originally built in 1887 for students in school district 13, then part of the Northwest Territories.

Although a landmark on the University of Saskatchewan campus for many years, the building stood empty and deteriorating until the women's council undertook to restore it.

The school had also undergone a change when it was moved from its original site on the present Victoria school grounds to the university campus in 1911. Each stone was taken down, marked and placed in its corresponding position at the new site.

Young men in the early community had gathered the stones originally and the building had been both a social and learning centre in the community.

It also served as a church. According to records from St. John's Cathedral in the city, Canon E. H. Matheson drove by horse and buggy from Battleford in the summer of 1887 to conduct the first Anglican services in Saskatoon in the old Victoria stone schoolhouse.

Attending the opening ceremony this summer were many former pupils of the school and one of the early teachers, Mrs. T. A. Girvin. The shuttered windows had been opened for the occasion and on each window sill was a red potted geranium.

Desks, which had been donated by the Saskatoon West school district, came from Lanaham and there were a number of the old double desks among them.

The old water pail and washbasin along with a roller towel and two lard pails which served as lunch boxes in those days graced the entrance of the building. Also in evidence, and quite unknown to today's students, were the oil oil lamps.

A display case showed early exercise books, a photo of the first teacher and an old fashioned penholder. On the walls were pictures of Queen Victoria and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Even the dunce cap and the stool were there.

Good Words of Advice From Farmers' Almanac

Dear Readers: Just a thought to share. — The Art of Getting Along

Speak to people. There is nothing as nice as a cheerful word of greeting.

Smile at people. It takes 72 muscles to frown and only 14 to smile.

Call people by name. The sweetest sound to anyone's ears is the sound of his name.

Be friendly and helpful. If you would have friends, be friendly.

Be cordial. Speak and act as if everything you do were a genuine pleasure.

Anon.

My thanks to Ray Geiger, Editor, Farmers' Almanac for the year 1968 for the United States and Canada.

Dear Doris: My girl friend and I took a ride from a friend one night. One of the boys in the car was at one time living common law. Well, his so-called wife saw us and phoned my parents that I am out with her husband. This hits my parents very hard. Now they say if they ever catch me talking to him I won't be let out at all. I'll be 18 next month and don't want to be treated that way. When I go out with a guy I have to tell them where? Where? After school I have to come straight home.

If I can't have a little more freedom I will leave home as soon as I get your reply. — Not Understood

DORIS CLARK

Dear Not: What you don't understand is that a male who has lived with a woman has a completely different attitude to girls and sex than a boy whose age and social experience about matches yours. Let's hope it won't take an unhappy adventure to teach you the truth of this.

If you want to be given more trust, merit it by showing maturity in many small things; like being reliable, helpful, and prizing the truth.

Dear Doris: We are much in love but terribly unhappy. I notice in my husband a despairing attitude. As the work load increases and problems come up he fails back into his despair. It seems whenever I would like to lean on him, I find myself carrying on for both of us.

He leaves me, goes out with other women, then comes back and says he can't eat or sleep without me. He says I drive him to these things. Yet if the truth be known, I have begun to see that it may not be as much me as an unhappy childhood.

I don't think any wife can always fill in for an omission in another's character. However, the bonds between us are so strong that we are just miserable apart. Still Hoping.

Dear Still: Then hold on. Many a partnership gets its strength from the willingness of each partner to fill in where the other is weak. Find something, anything, you can lean on him about.

Longer, fuller replies went privately to those correspondents who enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Larry, for goodness sake, get off that cabinet. Don't turn on the faucet. Can't you play quietly while I give the baby her bottle?"

Mother: "Larry, will you sit here where you can hold the baby's bottle when I have to burp her. Then I can tell you a story while she drinks her milk. I'm lucky I have a big boy to help me."

Getting into mischief when a new baby needs attention is one way to battle for what seems like a mother's waning love and concern.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Unbaked Chocolate Squares With Vanilla Cream Filling

By MARY MOORE

From Cleveland, Ohio came a request for a recipe for New York squares similar to, but an improvement on, a recipe Lillian W. had enclosed. Her attempt at making them was less than a success because the chocolate frosting was difficult to cut. On the same day another request arrived from Kingston also asking for New York squares. So I went to work on them and the result is lovely. They are unbaked and more of a confection than a pan dar. They even freeze well for a short time but if you freeze them, be sure all air is excluded or the topping might whiten a mite.

NEW YORKERS (unbaked chocolate squares with vanilla cream filling)

Vanilla Cream Filling:
- ½ cup sugar
- one third cup flour
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 2 cups scalded milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Chocolate Base:
- 2 cups fine graham cracker crumbs
- ½ cup desiccated cocoanut
- ½ Cup finely chopped walnuts
- ½ cup butter
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ cup plus 1 tablespoon cocoa
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Topping:
- 3 squares semi-sweet chocolate
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 tablespoons hot water

Make Filling first: mix together in top of double boiler the sugar, flour and salt. Stir in eggs well, then scald milk and cook, stirring, over boiling water until thick then cook, covered, for 15 minutes, beating frequently with rotary beater to keep filling smooth. Remove from heat, add vanilla and cool at room temperature.

Make Base by mixing together fine graham wafer crumbs, cocoanut and nuts. Set aside. In top of large double boiler mix together the butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla and place over boiling water and cook stirring until blended and thickened a little. This takes only 4 or 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir crumb mixture into chocolate mixture thoroughly. Butter a 9" square pan and pack mixture into it smoothly. Spread cooled vanilla cream filling over evenly.

For Topping, in a small saucepan over low heat, stir together the semi-sweet chocolate mixture all over top. plate, butter and hot water until melted and blended. With small spoon drop chocolate. Then with tines of fork spread it evenly over all. Run tines of fork evenly and lightly one way to score it. Then turn pan and run fork lightly in the opposite direction to give a fine criss-cross pattern. Chill. Cut into very small squares or bars to serve.

A lovely find for career girls who do not want to bake but do want to create a popular toothsome sweet.

Ann Landers

Brother-in-Law Has Emotional Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Two years ago I married a wonderful bachelor. I was 42 and he was four years older. I considered myself lucky to get such a fine man, and I still do.

ANN LANDERS

The problem is his older brother, Arnie. Arnie has had severe emotional problems all his life. Although there is another brother and two sisters in the family, my husband was the one who always made a home for Arnie. I knew when I married that this arrangement would have to continue. But Arnie was gentle and non-interfering and never created any problems. So I didn't mind.

The past year Arnie has become childlike and cannot be left alone for a minute. I must take him marketing, on all my errands, everywhere. I've had to give up bridge, club work, all the things I used to enjoy because I can't take Arnie with me and I can't leave him home alone.

I don't like to complain, but I am becoming a nervous wreck. Please give me an answer to this depressing problem. I feel like — A PRISONER IN MY HOME.

DEAR PRISONER: Arnie's sisters and brother should work out a program to relieve you, and your husband should call them together and tell them. They should take Arnie to their homes or come to your home and stay with him, or hire paid help to do so. In my opinion, three days a week would be about right.

If they are absolutely no good and refuse to help, by all means hire a sitter for Arnie and return to your social and community activities before your husband has to hire someone to sit with you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I share a duplex with a nut. We both rent. This woman has two cats. One is a Persian who wears a diaper when she runs loose in the house. The other is a cross-eyed Maltese who is famous for her contact lenses. If you think I am kidding let me assure you that I am not. The nut has already been written up in the papers because of the cat with the contact lenses.

My problem is that the cats are supposed to sleep in their boxes which are in the back hall. Instead, they prefer my baby's carriage. I've asked the woman 10 times to please keep the cats in her kitchen but she says it is not sanitary. When I asked how sanitary it is for her cats to sleep in my baby's carriage she replied, "My cats are cleaner than your baby."

You're the gal with the answers. Have you one for me? — SIZZLING.

DEAR SIZ: Make a muslin cover for the carriage and the cats won't be able to get in. Then check the paper for available duplexes. There are some nice ones around.

DEAR ANN: I must comment on the mother who made her son wear a sign around his neck saying, "I am 7 years old and I still wet my bed." My little boy wet the bed until he was 11. I bought tablets recommended by the doctor. They did no good. I kept him off liquids after 3:00 p.m. It didn't help. I got him up at midnight. Nothing. My neighbor and friends all had sure-fire remedies. They didn't work.

I'll never forget the morning my son leaped out of bed and ran to me in the kitchen where I was preparing breakfast. His heart was jumping with joy. He shouted, "Mom, Mom, come see! The bed is dry."

I realized then that the bedwetting had made him as unhappy as it had made me. All I could say, "Thank you, God, for giving me the patience to endure this trial without hurting my child." — LESSON LEARNED.

DEAR LEARNED: It was good of you to write. I hope other mothers will learn from your letter.

Labor Federation Seeks Law To Control Closing of Plants

NIAGARA FALS, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Federation of Labor Monday called for legislation to make it impossible for a company to close out operations without adequate notice to the community in which it is situated.

The resolution, also asking legislation ensuring that social responsibilities be accepted by the closing company, resulted from the announced closing of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. in Sydney, N.S., by Hawker Siddeley Canada Ltd., the parent company.

The 800 delegates attending the federation's annual convention asked that the federal government join Nova Scotia in keeping the Dosco steel mills in production.

Eamon Park, assistant Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America, repeated statements made in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., last Thursday that the Dosco problem could face any other community reeling solely on one industry.

He said the impact on Nova Scotia is a greater threat to Confederation than separatism in Quebec.

He said the USWA is concerned that the federal government may be less interested in saving the steel mills than it should be.

The cost of unemployment insurance, welfare and of social dislocation would more than offset costs of public maintenance of the mills.

Murray Cotterill, public relations director for the USWA in Canada, said Dosco over the years had withdrawn all of its profitable lines from Sydney.

Unions can no longer contest themselves with negotiating only for wages, hours and working conditions, he said. They must also concern themselves with negotiating the future of the plants.

"It is the obvious belief of the government of Canada that nobody gives a damn if the Sydney plant goes down the drain . . . that they won't lose any votes," Mr. Cotterill said.

"We must make it clear to every federal politician that the labor movement will not stand by while free enterprise corporations deliberately produce an unprofitable operation."

The convention ends Wednesday.

Canada Alone Profits by War

TORONTO (CP) — Canada is the only nation making a profit from the war in Vietnam, Dalton Camp, national president of the Progressive Conservative party, said Monday night.

"We are involved in that war to the extent that, as it continues, United States' purchases in defence materials in Canada increase," he said in a speech to the Board of Trade Club.

"In the past eight years, it has become a billion-dollar business, and last year our total exports in defence materials exceeded $400,000,000—the bulk of it, of course, to the United States."

He described Canada's military policies as having no tactical meaning and wasteful of both money and effort.

He said the Canadian Army brigade in Europe is a suicide force which would not survive the first assault in either a conventional or a nuclear attack.

"This force, of course, also has a nuclear capacity—which if employed would do more than hasten its suicide."

Mr. Camp said continued Canadian presence in both NORAD and NATO might be significant diplomatically, but Canada's participation should not involve massive spending on new military hardware or an anti-ballistic missile system.

He said Canada is consulted less and less on U.S. plans because in times of crisis "we are rather irrelevant."

"The demonstrable role is that the greater the danger the less our capacity. We must accept the fact that the United States will be prepared to respond to any threat to our continent, preferably with our consent, but without it if necessary."

Indian Act Liquor Ban To Vanish

OTTAWA (CP) — Amendments to the Indian Act to be placed before parliament in the next month or so are aimed at wiping out discriminatory clauses in the old act and giving the Indians more say in their own affairs, an Indian affairs department spokesman said Monday.

All sections of the present act dealing with liquor will be thrown away, thus fulfilling one of the recommendations of an exhaustive study of Indian problems recently carried out by the Canadian Corrections Association.

At the request of the Indians, sales of Indian land still will be subject to approval by the federal government. But leasing of land and other transactions will be more and more a decision of the Indians alone.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and greatly relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Quebec Premier Is Seeking Wall Street Money for Bonds

NEW YORK (CP)—Premier Daniel Johnson of Quebec arrives here tonight for talks with leading Wall Street financiers.

New York in the past has been the main market for bonds of Hydro-Quebec, which requires $250,000,000 of the provinces projected borrowings of $450,000,000 in this fiscal year.

Experts in the New York bond market note that the situation at the moment is "tight." They emphasize, however, that Quebec bonds have enjoyed a good reception in the market in the past and say Quebec should have no special difficulties now if the needed money.

A spokesman for one Wall Street investment firm said: "The condition of the bond market is not very good—not unlike that in Canada, although probably a little bit tougher here. Everyone is having trouble raising money and if Quebec should encounter difficulties we should not read anything political into it. It's just the state of the market."

"We should take it in perspective. I don't think Canada or Quebec would be discriminated against on the market."

Another spokesman concerned with the bond market suggested Quebec does not have as much difficulty raising money here as Canadians think it does."

A spokesman from another major investment firm said Quebec "probably would have more trouble raising money in Canada than it would on the market here."

He noted, however, that the market in general has been in bad shape and for the last 10 days "has been as bad as in the worst days of last year."

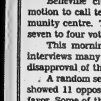
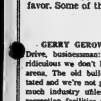
Man on Street Doesn't Favor Centre Decision



Belleville city council last night tabled a motion to call tenders for a new $1,000,000 community centre. The decision was reached in a seven to four vote.

This morning during man on the street interviews many Quinte area residents expressed disapproval of the city's decision.



A random selection of the views of 12 persons showed 11 opposed council's decision and one in favor. Some of the views are expressed below.

GERRY GEROW, 237 Farrell Drive, businessman: "I think it's ridiculous we don't have a modern arena. The old building is dilapidated and we're not going to attract much industry unless we provide recreation facilities for employees. We can't afford not to have a new arena."

BARBARA POPILCHAK, 322 Charles Street, telephone operator: "I don't think there's any question that we need a new arena. Belleville is certainly big enough. In other cities this size they have two or three arenas. We are way behind the times in recreation facilities for the people that live here."

MARGARET SEAMES, Westpark Village, secretary: "We had better get a new arena soon because the old one is hardly usable. We need more recreation facilities in the community and I think this arena would have given us at least a start on what we need."

BRUCE LYNCH, Belleville, businessman: "The idea of building a new arena is excellent — but I think there are other things we need first. I'm concerned about an increase in taxes if they build the rink. There are roads and public works projects required at the present time."

LEO MURPHY, Belleville R. R. 2, clerk: "I'm a hockey fan and I don't think council should have turned down the new arena. It would have served the whole area and we would really benefit from a second ice surface. Let's face it — we need an arena."

CARL ROLUF, 175 Albert Street, businessman: "If the arena is going to be properly operated and the people are going to use it — the new recreation centre should be built. But if it's only going to be used for hockey in the winter by limited numbers of people — forget it."

Mayor Wins Approval of Council for Motion To Table Arena Plan for 1968 Council Action

A week ago, at a joint meeting with the parks and recreation commission, the special council committee appointed to work with the architects on the arena plans, recommended to council that the plans and site chosen for the building be presented to council for approval.

That was where the issue stood at the opening of yesterday's council meeting, and it remained for Alderman Kenneth Soden to bring the matter to a head with the recommendation to call for tenders.

Following the hour - long debate, committee of the whole chairman Ald. Doug Boyle was prepared to call for the vote. This, however, was forestalled by the mayor's motion for tabling.

Later council turned down a recommendation from Ald. Thomas Carruthers asking the arena committee to fully investigated a type of artificial rink being built at Kingston, which he said could be constructed for $145,000.

In the lengthy discussion on the arena proposed for the fair grounds, Alderman David said it was unfortunate that planning for the arena had been based more on fantasy than on fact.

He said the term "community centre" was a misnomer as the project under discussion was actually an arena.

He admitted that a good recreational program was important for a city but said downtown redevelopment, the Dundas street bridge, servicing of industrial lands and upgrading of city streets should have priority. He urged deferment of the arena question.

Alderman Arthur Keegan said he was well aware of the lack of ice time for peewee and other junior league hockey but claimed that artifical ice rinks could solve this problem.

He said he was alarmed at the rapidly increasing ratio of residential assessment to commercial and industrial assessment in the city and also by the increasing tax rate, which already was posing a hardship for the lower income families.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I would love to have such as this proposed arena — but we must do necessary work, such as sewers, roads and services for industrial areas, schools and hospital.

"In 1968 we must cut back on our program and do only those projects which are on the priority list," he said.

Referring directly to the arena proposal, Ald. Keegan said the cost was too great, while the fairground site was wrong and would create a traffic problem.

Alderman Kenneth Soden, as one of the main supporters of the arena proposal, said the need for the arena had been well established.

The issue before council, he said was whether the city could afford the arena. He contended the city could afford the structure and quoted figures to support the claim.

He said that an arena with a direct cost to the city of approximately $700,000 amortized over 20 years at seven percent, would require a debenture retirement payment of $66,000 each year.

This would mean a six-dollar tax increase on an assessment of $10,000, $3.00 on a $5,000 assessment, and only $1.20 on a $2,000 assessment.

The above assessment range would include 90 per cent of the city's residential assessment, he said.

Neither would the increased tab on industrial assessments be prohibitive, contended the alderman.

He said the plant of one Belleville manufacturer, a $2 million-dollar-a-year business was assessed at $243,720. The increased tax on this property for the new arena would be only $146 per year, Ald. Soden said.

He said the total debt of the city was well within OMB guidelines and the per capita tax in Belleville was considerably lower than in many other Ontario centres of comparable size.

"Now gentlemen, does anyone say we cannot afford to give the citizens of Belleville the same opportunity to enjoy their leisure hours that are available in other cities, many of them much smaller than Belleville?"

Parks Board chairman Ald. Don Williams took a swipe at the objectors to the arena proposal, stating that some had based their objection on whether or not there was a need — all had been concerned with the "almighty dollar and have lost the value such a centre would mean to the youth of the community.

"What is our greatest asset?" he asked.

"Its it sidewalks, roads bridges and so on, or is it the youth of our city?"

Alderman Williams said that before a start was made on construction it was certain the building would be used 63 hours per week.

"This is twice as many hours as youth spends in a week. Yet we spend millions of dollars on education and only a few thousand on recreation which is just as important."

Failure to provide recreational facilities was most much in the lives of the children, he said.

Ald. J. Allin agreed that the arena issue boiled down to whether the city could afford it. This he doubted, claiming that it should go to a vote of the people.

"It is too late now to have a vote this year," interjected Ald. Williams.

Ald. Dr. J. Russell Scott wanted to know whether or not calling tenders committed council to proceed with the arena project.

He was told this was not the case.

Ald. Jack Deacon said he was sorry that he had brought all the discussion on the arena out into the open.

"We are all agreed that we want the arena, but the project was not approached in the right manner," he said.

He said he hoped the arena proposal would not die but would be developed in the proper manner. An arena such as was proposed was bound to cost as much or more than the Oshawa arena built some years ago, he said.

Alderman Thomas Carruthers charged that council had not been given all the facts by the arena committee.

He said the city had originally budgeted $300,000 for the project, but now the cost was up to a mill on the tax rate and he prophesied it could cost more by the time tenders were called.

Looking into the future, Alderman Carruthers saw an increase of at least five mills to pay for wage increases for at least four city groups, and for other needed services.

"I cannot conscientiously vote another mill for the arena," he said.

"But I have a solution" (for needed additional ice time), he said.

He went on to say that Kingston was building enclosed artificial ice rinks providing buildings 210 by 90 feet and with ice surfaces of 175 by 75 feet at a cost of $145,000 each.

In addition to the ice surface, the buildings provide change rooms, washrooms, limited bleachers and an upstairs hall 90 by 24 feet.

He urged that the local arena committee investigate the possibility of providing such small arenas in Belleville.

He claimed that such rinks need not prevent the construction of a larger arena at a later date. "We already have the money to go ahead with them," he said.

Ald. Donald Joss said the proposal by Ald. Carruthers was an entirely different proposition to what the arena committee had in mind.

"What is the issue: Do we want a community centre and arena in Belleville?" he asked.

He said there had been a lot of complaints regarding Ald. Williams' handling of the arena proposal.

Alderman Williams may have erred, but if so, it was in the light of getting an arena for the city."

He suggested there were many more people in favor of an arena than there were opposed. Some of the objection to the arena had come from planning board staff and the chamber of commerce.

Ald. Joss urged that tenders for the arena be called "to remove the curtain and find out the cost."

Alderman Scott suggested that on the basis of calling tenders all the speechmaking was out of place.

"Let's call tenders and find out the exact cost," he said. "But this doesn't commit me to approve of the arena regardless of the cost."

It was here that Mayor Ellis brought in his motion to table the arena question for consideration by next year's council.

He said that the Ontario Municipal Board had approved in principle the expenditure of $445,000 for an arena but suggested if the city went back for approval for $667,000 the board would order a vote of the people or else turn it down completely.

However, he said there was a brighter side, suggesting that there was still a possibility that additional grants might be received from the senior governments.

His motion for tabling asked the arena committee to continue its work with the view of reducing the cost to the city.

Later when Ald. Carruthers asked that smaller rinks, such as were being built in Kingston, be investigated, Ald. Soden and Williams said this type of rink had already been considered.

They said such rinks were "ugly" and doubted if they could be constructed for the price mentioned.

In any event such accommodation would be useless to the fair board and there was no spectator accommodation.

Ald. Carruthers' motion to investigate the Kingston rinks was turned down by council.

Trenton Requires More Land - - Industrial, Housing Expansion Cited in Tripp Report

TRENTON — Annexation has been suggested as the vehicle to carry this town to greener industrial and housing pastures.

Councillor Paul Tripp, chairman of town council's Industrial and Economic Development Committee last night tabled a seven-page report calling for the addition of large parcels of land to existing town boundaries to boost industrial and residential growth.

Council immediately adopted one of the report's recommendations and authorized the creation of a Co-ordinating Committee for the Expansion of the Boundaries of Trenton.

The committee, which will submit its report by March 31 of next year, consists of Councillor Tripp, W. J. Wilkinson (chartered accountant), George Kempf, general manager of Erie Technological Products, Albert Ward, general manager of Pyrotenax, Mrs. E. Forchuk, realtor, and Wayne Simmons, pharmacist.

Mr. Tripp, Mr. Wilkinson and Mr. Kempf are members of council's industrial committee, and the additional members represent local industry, the Real Estate Board and Trenton retail merchants, respectively.

As set down in the report, the Co-ordinating Committee's function will be "to examine the economic needs of Trenton and to relate them to the physical requirements to meet the established needs."

The creation of fully-serviced industrial "parks" to attract prospective industries and the annexation of land, preferably on both sides of the Trent River, says the report.

Councillor Tripp's submission said industrial inquiries to his committee are most often in the five to 25-acre category.

"We must have lands in large parcels which can be developed for industrial purposes. We must draw within our boundaries land which can be fully serviced if the town is seriously going to attract industry and continue to grow," the report says.

The report also recommends the creation of a Community Industrial Development Corporation to assure the availability of buildings and land for industrial development.

Visits to thriving industrial centres in western Ontario make clear the advantages of having an organization that can and will build "factories" on speculation, says Councillor Tripp's report.

Such a corporation would be non-profit, and comprised of, the mayor and council, and representative businessmen. Its funds could come from the municipality in the form of grants and from land sale proceeds.

To cope with pressing housing shortage problems, the report would devise incentives to encourage subdividers and builders to construct homes on speculation.

But, as in problems of attracting industry, the primary step toward providing the required large parcels of land would be annexation of additional property into Trenton's boundaries.

The Industrial committee, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Ontario Municipal Board findings would be evaluated by the new Co-ordinating Committee.

The last annexation move in Trenton came in 1964, when 185 acres of Murray and Sidney Townships were added to the east and west sides of town, increasing population by 1,000.

Effective Jan. 1, the Knox Gelatine plant at Trenton's southern extremity will also come into town boundaries.

Clerk - comptroller O. W. Larry says there are at present a number of "bits and pieces" of potential industrial property in Trenton, but that most prospects are looking for a minimum of five acres.

Similiar Problems

Tweed, Deseronto Councils Face Decisions on Police Question

The crucial issue of police protection is under scrutiny in two Quinte-district communities — but both could find different answers to a similiar problem.

Both Tweed and Deseronto municipal councils face decisions on whether to seek protection from out-of-town provincial police detachments or install a municipal department.

The issue is more immediate in Tweed where tonight Reeve Barbara Allen says she will recommend that council approve a local police force.

In Deseronto, town council last night decided to continue with temporary OPP service from Belleville and review the issue at a later date.

Tonight's recommendation brings the situation in Tweed full circle in a matter of months.

The issue was first precipitated in mid-summer when police chief Joseph Paquette resigned to head the bigger Napanee town force.

Tweed councillors decided to retain protection for the village from the provincial police. The municipality has been plagued by officers from both the Madoc OPP detachment and district headquarters in Belleville — 25 miles away.

However, Reeve Allen says, there is one drawback to OPP service which is now being felt in the village.

The provincial government will not contract the OPP for enforcement of local bylaws.

Municipal ordinances and any resulting prosecutions — are left to a locally-appointed official.

So far, says Reeve Allen, the village has been unsuccessful in procuring a bylaw enforcement officer.

One official was appointed shortly after the OPP began policing Tweed, but quit shortly after.

No replacement has been procured.

Reeve Allen said if council approved her recommendation tonight, it also has an application pending for the position of local police chief.

Provincial police protection in Deseronto comes into force Thursday when Police Chief Lynn Thomlinson resigns to join the Napanee force as a constable.

Town council already had decided to temporarily contract OPP services but sought an expression of public opinion at its regular meeting last night.

However, only about a half-dozen ratepayers showed up in the council chamber and there was little discussion on the question.

Mayor Gerald Lott said council would leave unchanged its earlier decision to leave policing of the town to OPP officers patrolling the area out of Belleville.

In other Hastings County centres the OPP police Marmora, Madoc and Bancroft. The villages of Stirling and Frankford still have local law officers.

Trenton Council Briefs

TRENTON — The $7,875 in funds needed to meet the recent raise was in arbitration by Trenton's policemen was granted the local police commission by council last night.

The 20-member force was granted $250 across-the-board wage increases and other benefits in the arbitration decision.

The funds cover the policemen's 1967 contract.

The Public Works Committee has unanimously endorsed Councillor D. R. Fraser's recommendations concerning the former post office property.

Mr. Fraser, himself a member of the Public Works Committee, submitted a brief at council's last meeting calling for a shuffling of town office, police, and court facilities.

Other Committee members, C. V. Graham and Paul Tripp, agreed the old post office should be renovated to provide adequate municipal office facilities, and that the existing town offices could accommodate the police department and courtroom.

The comments on Councillor Fraser's proposal were tabled by council, pending study of his report by other council committees.

SPORTSLICES

By Geo. H. Carver

Sports Editor

"They may not win the league championship; they may not get into the playoffs but, by the Lord Harry, if morale and spirit are criterions they're the top business of the lot."

That is Jim "Snipe" Matthews' opinion of the Belleville Junior "Bs" who operate under his managerial aegis.

"They haven't won a game in all their five starts," Mr. Jim James quoth to this department," but you would never know it in the dressing room."

"Defeat," added the G.M. quoting an ancient adage "stiteth lightly on their shoulders, and some of these nights they're going to knock that gremlin out of existence, and hell will have no fury like these youngsters when they finally crash the win column."

Any other club would have suffered depression through the disappointment of continued defeat, but not the puck-chasing cockerels of the Drake - Matthews aggregation, according to Mr. Matthews.

"Their dressing room morale is very high," he says. "And it is bound to pay off some of these days. There is no sign of let-up or the 'Aw, what's the use' feeling. They have been beaten in every game played thus far, but I'm danged if they show it."

"Snipe," who can be cheilleut at times, means every word of it. "We are proud of these kids and only hope the luck and breaks of the game will give them victory soon. They deserve it."

One thing is definite and can cause no argument. The juniors have yet to leave the rink deafened by the applause of the fans.

And if there were any sentennial year medals hanging around waiting to be draped around the necks of worthy winners, they should go to the "front office" of the Juniors for their guts and courage in trying to provide hockey for these youngsters of the category age.

Many another executive would have thrown in the sponge, beaten by the lethargy and apathy of hockey fans.

On the two or three occasions I have covered the Junior games, I thought a minute or so before game time the management would have to import somebody from outside to make a fourth for specials' ey bridge.

Messrs. Matthews, Mavety, Drake and "Soupy" Smith have done and are doing an excellent job trying to keep the breath of life in Junior hockey here.

And in spite of lack of public support they keep the ball rolling night after night just for the love of the sport and giving youngsters a chance to play hockey which otherwise would not be possible.

Junior "B" hockey is a far cry from National League and sometimes from senior "A". But the juniors here and visiting clubs come up with a highly pleasing brand of the sport that warrants much more fan support than it has been getting todate.

I do not know the exact attendance todate but the games I saw brought out a little better than the traditional corporal's guard.

I asked a fan one night how many fans he thought were in attendance. He looked at me and said, "You can count up to 100 can't you?" And he wasn't far off the beam.

If it is any consolation to the junior management, junior clubs in other centres of the "B"-league are not knocking any records at the box office. Peterborough and Oshawa, I'm told rarely attract over two hundred or perhaps three hundred.

The Junior "B" management and team deserve a better fate. They are battling disappointing odds in an effort to give the city a sport it is said to like. The hockey public should be damned well ashamed of itself.

'Lost His Confidence'

Crozier Quits Red Wings, Hockey!

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pressure of playing in the National Hockey League claimed a second victim in less than a week Monday when Roger Crozier, the pint-sized Detroit goaltender, decided to quit hockey.

Demoted to Fort Worth of the Central Professional League earlier in the day after allowing 18 goals in the Red Wings last three games, Crozier told Detroit management he and his wife had decided Sunday night to return to their Bracebridge, Ont., home.

Crozier's departure appears permanent although club officials hope he will reconsider.

The 150 pound, 25-year-old said general manager Abel Abel he "had lost his confidence."

"He might have been near a nervous breakdown and rather than get to that stage he decided to hang it up," Abel said Monday.

"I don't believe he has seen a doctor. I actually think he will reconsider—but he said 'don't try and talk me out of it.' "

Abel earlier in the day had recalled goalie Roy Edwards and centre Jim Peters from Fort Worth.

Edwards is expected to play Thursday against Pittsburgh Penguins while Peters is a straight swinging left-winger John Brenneman.

"He has taken this thing (slump) more than anyone," said Abel. "He needs a rest very badly in order to keep his health."

Crozier is a worrier who developed an ulcer at 17.

"When I'm playing hockey I'm worried all the time that someone is going to get my job," he once confided. "The only time I really forget about my problems is after a game when we've won. But by the next morning I'd be worrying again.

"Detroit has had such great goalies as (Terry) Sawchuk, Glenn Hall and Harry Lumley," he once said. 'And now they're stuck with a little runt like me."

Runt or not, Crozier has shown his value to the team by winning the Calder Trophy as the best NHL rookie in 1964-65 and the Conn Smythe Trophy as the most valuable player in the 1965-66 Stanley Cup final.

He almost died of pancreatitis during the summer of 1966. He returned to the Detroit nets in the fall to have his most dismal NHL season with a 3.35 goals-against average.

Montreal coach Toe Blake joined the ranks of the worriers Monday when team captain Jean Beliveau was lost to the Canadiens for three weeks with a sprained left knee injured Saturday against Philadelphia Flyers. Right-winger Claude Larose also is out with a bruised elbow picked up in the same contest.

ROGER CROZIER

Blake also announced that Bryan Watson has been called up from Cleveland Barons with Steve Hunt moving to Cleveland from Houston of the CPHL to replace him.

In other league activities, 23 members of the Leafs and Boston Bruins were assessed $50 each in fines by league president Clarence Campbell following a brawl Sunday night at the Boston Garden.

The only two players to escape fines were Toronto defenceman Duane Rupp who was already serving a penalty, and Boston's John Bucyk who was in the Garden's clinic when the donnybrook exploded.

The most severe injury was a broken nose and three-stitch cut taken by Boston defenceman Bobby Orr from the stick of Toronto forward Brian Conacher in the incident that sparked the brawl.

Kingston Here Tonight

Aces Up; A Full House?

The Mo-Hawks will be trying to shake a mild slump here tonight when they tangle their arch rivals, the Kingston Aces,

FLOYD CRAWFORD

in OHA Senior "A" hockey at 8:30.

This marks the first of four appearances that the Aces will make here during the 40 - game schedule.

"We need a win Tuesday",

Mo-Hawk coach Floyd Crawford said yesterday.

And how right he is. Belleville has but one point, gained in Sunday's 3-3 tie in Barrie, to show for the last three starts.

The Mo-Hawks are a much better club than last until they produce 60 minutes of hockey a game and start shooting instead of trying for that "one extra stride or pass", it may not show up in the standings.

The Aces' appearance here may be just what the Mo - Hawks need. The heated feelings between the clubs carries over from game to game - and it was only stirred up a little more when the Mo-Hawks got Dave Jones from the Aces' clutches this year.

Kingston's lineup includes returnees like hardrock defencemen Bill Burega, Jim Gebhardt, John Ford, Garfield Ball and Bob Olajos; forwards Ron Earl, Charley Convery, Bob Rawson, Jim Sproul, Tom Carty, Bob Collins and Eddie Long. Added are rookies Syl Apps Jr., Red Graham and John Mercer, who are playing very well, and likely ex-pro Lorne Ferguson.

"If we correct a few lapses, start every game with the proper mental outlook and play consistent hockey, look out above," says Crawford.

And there's no club the Mo-Hawks would rather commence against than Kingston.

Minor Hockey

Close scores featured the opening games in the Belleville Minor Hockey Association's junior division last night.

Ontario School for the Deaf and Melrose battled to a 2-2 deadlock and Tigers clawed the Aces by a 5-3 count.

J. Sheehan and T. Turbin triggered the O.S.D. markers with M. Perry helping on one. B. Beecher fired both Melrose goals. B. Pascoe had J. McLaughlan collected an assist each. According to the scoresheet there wasn't a penalty in the game.

F. Jury sparked the Tigers' victory with a brace of goals and one assist. Hunter, Garland and Royea also scored. Thompson picked up two assists, Harrison and Sero looers. J. Dafoe, Boulter and Acquafreddo were Aces' scorers and Hill had an assist.

The nine-man Apollo team came through with a highly creditable performance winning a first, a second, two thirds, two fourths a fifth and 10th position in the all-over tournament.

E. Scriven, featherweight had a second place total of 731 pounds. M. McMahon, bantam and B. Walt, lightweight took third places with 319½ and 666 pounds respectively. G. Evans, lightweight had a fourth with 649 and P. Barrett, middle had a fourth with 673. G. Walt scored a fifth place with 639 in the middles with A. Walt lifting 601 in the same division. M. Morris should be eligible for one of the Ontario Government medals to be presented to outstanding Ontario athletes.

Dillard, Gabler Injured

Hurts Worry Argonauts!

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts came out of their lacklustre Eastern Football Conference game against Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday with more than a 9-5 loss.

Coach Leo Cahill faces a sudden death playoff semi-final Sunday in Ottawa against the Roughriders—with the sinking sensation that many of the men who have carried the Argos to their first playoff in five years won't be in action.

Two causing concern are quarterback Wally Gabler and fullback Jim Dillard, mainstons for Toronto's change of face this year.

Gabler, who has been having trouble hitting his receivers, came away from the devastating Hamilton rush swathed in bandages.

Ticats tackle Angelo Mosca inflicted bruises to Gabler's ribs and even a day off Monday did little to ease his discomfort.

Dillard, who has had wobbly knees for several years, tripped over team-mate Danny Nykoluk in the first quarter and wrenched the knee that allowed him to a bobble the week before at Ottawa.

He will play Sunday only if the knee shows enough recovery.

Coffey, Jackson, Scott, Taylor, Mann Win Eastern Top Honors

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

TOMMY JOE COFFEY

Quarterback Joe Zuger of Hamilton Tiger-Cats is one of the last triple threat men in professional football although he wasn't among the winners of individual honors in the Eastern Football Conference this season.

Zuger's 163 completions in 319 pass attempts for 2,775 yards and a .511 per cent completed average is second only to Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders, according to final EFC statistics released Monday.

But the 27-year-old former quarterback with Arizona State University also proved his worth as a rusher and punter.

Zuger carried 60 times during the season for 196 yards—13th among EFC rushers—for a 3.1-yard average gain and a long run of 25 yards.

His 125 punts for 5,726 yards and a 45.8-yard average is second only to Dave Mann of Toronto Argonauts.

Meanwhile, Tommy Joe Coffey of Hamilton kicked aside all opposition in the individual scoring race with 107 points on three touchdowns, 20 converts, 18 field goals and three singles.

Bo Scott of Ottawa was second with 16 touchdowns for 60 points.

Walt Tucker of Ottawa and Jim Dillard of Toronto Argonauts finished in a two-way tie for third with 54 points on nine touchdowns.

Scott was the leading rusher in the East, with 762 yards gained in 126 carries for a 5.6-yard average.

Willie Bethea of Hamilton was second with 737 yards on 147 carries for an average five yards a carry. Dillard finished third with 670 yards on 124 carries, but had a 5.4-yard average.

Bobby Taylor of Toronto led all pass receivers with 53 catches for 903 yards and an 18.2-yard average, although Tucker's 52 catches has netted him 1,171 yards and a 22.5-yard average.

Tucker's longest gain of 94 yards was also the best in the East this season. Taylor's longest gain was 85 yards.

Margene Adkins of Ottawa finished third in pass receiving with 46 catches for 864 yards and a 21-yard average.

Jackson is the undisputed leader of the ball throwers. The Ottawa quarterback completed 189 of 323 attempts for 3,332 yards and a .585 average of completion. He had only nine incomplete passes, compared to 17 for Zuger.

Wally Gabler of Toronto finished third among the passers, with 137 complete for 2,007 yards and a .502 per cent completes.

Ed Learn of Toronto led the East in punt returns. Learn returned 63 for 660 yards, a 7.1-yard average and a long gain of 31 yards.

Coffey's 18 field goals in 27 attempts gave him 673 yards for a 26.3-yard average and long field goal of 42 yards.

Moe Racine of Ottawa led in converts with 23 in 27 attempts.

Milwaukee Seeks Franchise

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A private camp seeking the return of big league baseball to Milwaukee announced Monday that a locally owned expansion franchise would receive virtually free use of County Stadium for 25 years and would get a city record broadcast contract.

The Milwaukee Brewers Baseball Club, Inc., which is comprised of local businessmen seeking to find a replacement for the National League Braves, who departed for Atlanta after the 1965 season, made the offer in the form of a brochure summing up the package.

Under the plan, which was presented to National League owners and president Warren Giles, rent for Milwaukee County Stadium would be $1 a year for the first 1,000,000 paid admissions each year for the first 25. And, the seating capacity for baseball would be increased from 45,000 to 53,000.

The brochure said also that if the Brewers obtain a franchise, they will be assured a three-year radio and television pact worth $3,300,000.

Says Mr Nicklaus

Gold Not Golf Barometer

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Professional golf's leading money winner, Jack Nicklaus, said Monday a financial report is not an accurate measure of a golfer's ability.

"There should be a point system," says Nicklaus. "Give a tournament winner 50 points and so on down the line to the last payoff slot, the 50th."

Nicklaus said a player who finished in the top ten three out of four tournaments is a better golfer than one who wins a couple and fails to do much in between.

"In baseball, a .300 hitter is a better player than a fellow with a .200 average who hits a home run now and then," Nicklaus said.

He said even the method of figuring golfers' winnings is faulty.

The PGA lists Nicklaus as having won $188,998 in "official" tournaments—those sponsored by the PGA—and $22,568 in "unofficial" prizes from unsanctioned tournaments.

The PGA figures do not include $50,000 he won in the World Series of Golf. "If you win it playing golf, it's all money," Nicklaus contended.

Nicklaus said as a new member of the Professional Golfers Association Tournament Committee, he will push for a different method of rating golfers.

World Golf Course

Demands Accuracy Not Distance

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Long ball hitters won't have much of an advantage Thursday when play opens in the $70,000 World Cup golf tournament at the Club de Golf Mexico.

"This is a very narrow course," said Gary Player of South Africa. "Accuracy will be more important than distance."

Martin Roesink of Holland, one of professional golf's longest hitters, was inclined to agree.

"The fairways are very narrow and it'll be easy to get in trouble," he said. "The ball carries farther at this altitude so even people who normally aren't long off the tee will be getting more distance than they would at sea level.

"But accuracy will be the most important thing."

Eighty golfers from 40 countries tee off Thursday morning in two-man teams to play for national prestige and personal honor in the 15th running of what used to be called the Canada Cup. The United States' Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer are favored to repeat the team championship they won last year in Tokyo.

Canada will be represented by George Knudson, the Winnipeg native now playing out of Toronto who won the individual honors at last year's tournament—then called the Canada Cup, and Al Balding of Toronto.

The par-like Club de Golf Mexico, site of the 1958 tournament, has been stretched to 7,350 yards to make the longest course ever used in the tournament.

Player, 1965 winner of the International Trophy signifying the individual championship, was pleased with the layout after 27 practice holes.

"It's a beautiful course, perhaps the most beautiful the tournament has ever been played on," he said. "But it is difficult. There are a lot of trees and I doubt that the long hitters will open up because the fairways are so narrow."

About half the 40 teams got in practice rounds Monday. The rest were due in Mexico City tonight in time for a dinner at the club.

It still was not certain that Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, a former team and individual winner, would appear. He was reported ill in Buenos Aires.

Tiger Challenges Rule

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Nevada state boxing commission is expected to hear a complaint today from the American representative of world light heavyweight champion Dick Tiger.

Lew Burston, who represents the Nigerian fighter in the United States, was expected to challenge a rule which will permit three judges to decide the winner of the Nov. 18 championship bout between Tiger and Roger Rouse if it goes 15 rounds. Under the rule the referee has no vote.

"They're making a traffic cop and a messenger out of the referee," Burston said Monday.

The rule, which has been in effect for two years in Nevada, will be invoked for the first time in a championship bout.

One of the duties of the referee in the new system is to collect the voting slips of the three judges and carry them to an announcer after each round.

"He's still the best judge of the fight," said Burston of the referee.

Luck Will Help

Ottawa Sods Field; Up To Weather

OTTAWA (CP) — A few snowflakes fell Monday as workmen began laying new sod on the Lansdowne Park football field.

Shivering fans at the game lines waited to get first chance at tickets for the Dec. 2 Grey Cup game.

But Ed Friel, head grounds keeper at the city - owned field, was worrying more about this Sunday's Eastern Football Conference semi-final than the December CFL final to be played here.

"The field shouldn't be too bad if we get same decent weather this week," he said as a small tractor pulled a roller over the first section of new sod.

"But when you do anything to a field this late in the year you have to depend on luck."

Friel expects the sodding operation—third this season for the field—to be completed to night. This will leave only four days before Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders meet in the EFC sudden-death playoff to determine which team meets Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the two-game, total-point Eastern final.

Monday, the new sod looked ragged and lumpy as it was placed. But it improved after rolling.

To Ottawa players used to a mixture of mud and loose sand in their last three homes games, the still-green grass may have looked like a well-manicured lawn.

"It'll be a big improvement over that sand," said Billy Kline, the defensive halfback and punter who is Ottawa's backup quarterback.

After the semi-final, the entire playing surface will be covered by a clear plastic tarpaulin. Warm air will be blown under the covering to keep the field dry and unfrozen.

Grey Cup tickets went on sale Monday to season ticket holders. Fans had to stand in line for as long as two hours in 35-degree weather to get the $12.50 tickets—but there were few complaints.

Exercises Can Cure Swayback

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 12 and have swayback and hate it! What can be done to stop it? I have been doing exercises, but isn't there an easier way? — A.N.N.

Swayback is most common in girls from 11 to 14. The possible causes are imbalances of the back muscles resulting from rapid growth, poor nutrition, or faulty posture, whether sitting or standing.

Instead of looking for "an easier way," you'd better stick to the way that works in correcting swayback.

Exercises are the first treatment, the most important, the most effective. And they must be continued.

I agree that you will not notice any sudden improvement, but if you keep on with proper exercises, you can be sure that you will improve. You'll never see a difference from one day to the next, or even one week to the next. Yet after several months, the truth will dawn on you: You are improving!

Exercises for swayback consist of:

...ying on back, arms across your chest, then sitting up.

Lying on back, arms across and raising head and shoulders.

Lying face down and raising legs off floor.

Lying on side, raising leg and flexing it at hip and knee. Repeat. Lying, on the other side.

Of course it is essential also to pay attention to your postures every waking moment, whether you are standing, sitting or walking.

Physical activity of any kind is excellent: Sports, calisthenics (pushups, etc.), or anything in the way of vigorous exercise will do a great deal to help.

Depending on how extensive your problem is, you may or may not need further recommendations from your doctor.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please answer two questions. What will happen if one takes Vitamin B 6 and does not need it?

Does one color attract the heat of the sun more than another? A friend complains terribly about the heat and I notice she wears red clothing much of the time. Would that be a factor? — Mrs. H.

First question: Nothing would happen, except that your body would, without trouble, get rid of any excess.

Second: Color or clothing will not "attract" heat as such. But if it is radiant heat — bright sunlight being the prime example—light-colored or white clothing will reflect more of the heat, just as it reflects more light. That is why white is worn in the tropics, because white fabrics reflect the light and heat instead of absorbing them.

Dear Dr. Molner: Because of stiffness of the neck, I have been advised to exercise by rotating my head in a circular motion.

I can't bear the "scrunching of bones" noise that results, and wonder if my ears magnify the sound, or if I may be doing some damage. I am 55 and have been subject to aches and pains in joints for some time. — M.J.H.

The crunching noises may be annoying, but I can see no reason to think the neck exercises, could harm you. You probably have some joint changes of the osteoarthritic type that occur at your age which causes the aches and pains. This type of joint pain involves a thickening of the edges of the bone at the joints, and the crunching sound is the result of these thickened edges coming in contact. This does no harm. The exercises are primarily to keep the joints from stiffening, and to limber up muscles in the area.

Note to D.V., age 12: Very often when menstruation starts, it will be irregular, maybe for a year or two, before it settles into a regular pattern.

Thirty Solid Years as Actor Lot of Fun Says Crenna

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The real hang-up of being in motion pictures is trying to find the material. If you find the right property, the time is not available. If you have all the time in the world, the property's not there."

Richard Crenna speaking. You probably remember him as Walter Denton, the scratchy-voiced adolescent on Our Miss Brooks with Eve Arden. He played the role from age 21 to 27 on radio and from 27 to 30 on television.

"Hell," says Crenna, "a very delayed puberty."

Slattery's People, in its 1½ years on television, broke the adolescent mould for him and to mostly movie roles: rancher-gunboat captain in The Sand Pebbles; companionate heavy in Wait Until Dark and Julie Andrews' husband in Star!

At 41, Crena looks back on 30 solid years as an actor. The years have been "a lot of fun," and in all of them he missed only eight days of school, including the University of Southern California.

Six feet one, blue-eyed and a non-nightclubber, he lives in the San Fernando Valley with his wife Penni and their three children. Between films he engages in do-it-yourself home projects and reading scripts, five of which he had turned down in six weeks.

Actors are more selective now than they used to be," Crenna reflects. "It's a business now. Actors have to play for next year—and the year after that.

"To me, that's what stardom represents—selectivity. But I'll probably do some bombs—and be as selective in choosing them as any others."

Andy Williams Had Splendid Variety Program for Viewers

NEW YORK (AP)—It was pleasant indeed to have Andy Williams back in the living room Monday night.

This season Williams is doing the special instead of a weekly show. In his case, this only means that he won't be around as often since the program happened on more elaborate, the guest stars made about the same contributions and the musical sound was about the same as it was when Williams was turning out a program every seven days.

And that means it was a good show.

But then Andy Williams is one of those naturals for television variety. So are Dean Martin and Perry Como. They all stroll on where so many others run. They sing smoothly and effortlessly, but without the kind of that brings chuckles rather than roars. They just don't try to force an issue, and the result is usually a happy, relaxed hour for the viewers.

Williams' NBC show, abandoned the rigid format of his old series but maintained that fine quality of himself. Working with guest stars Henry Mancini and orchestra, Pianist Erroll Garner and his wife, Claudine L. get, Andy really loaded in the songs.

Since the departure of Dr. Kildare from the networks, Richard Chamberlain has rarely been seen by the viewers—not even as a guest celebrity on panel shows. He will return, however, on next Monday's CBS Carol Burnett Show, but sing

Garbage Man's Wife Wins $124,000

MELBOURNE (AP) — Red Handed, a 44-1 favorite, captured the 107th running of the Melbourne Cup, Australia's greatest horse race, before a crowd of 75,000 Tuesday.

Ridden by Roy Higgins, Red Handed outlasted Red Crest by a neck and then two miles in 3:20.4 while carrying 121 pounds. Floodbird, an 80-to-1 shot, finished third. Red Handed's time was nine-tenths of a second off the Cup record.

The victory, worth $46,000, marked the third straight year that Bart Cummins of South Australia has trained the winning horse in the running of the Melbourne Cup.

Margaret Hamence of Mildura, 300 miles northwest of Melbourne, a mother of 13 and wife of a garbageman, won $124,000 by drawing the winner in a Cup lottery.

Timbrell Hearing Resumes

CAS Psychiatric Case Worker Herself Undergoing Treatment

FRESTON, Ont. (CP)—A psychiatric case worker, whose report accused Mrs. Arthur Timbrell of improper behavior, has been under psychiatric care herself, a judicial inquiry was told Monday.

The inquiry, under Judge Harry Weinberg, was ordered by Premier John Robarts after two foster children were removed from the Timbrell home by police and Children's Aid Society officials after Mrs. Timbrell refused to give them up Sept. 28.

Ruth Conley, of the Waterloo County Children's Aid Society, accused Mrs. Timbrell as a psycopath and was a key in the refusal to allow the adoption of Peggy, 5, and Valerie, 3, society officials said.

Thomas B. O'Neill of Toronto, layyer for Mrs. Timbrell, suggested the society should have known that one of its case workers had marital problems and had been under psychiatric treatment.

Wilmot Hunsberger, director of the Waterloo Society, said he knew Mrs. Conley was in the midst of a divorce action, but said he was not aware she was being treated by two psychiatrists.

Judge Waisberg stopped further questioning on the subject, but it is believed Mrs. Conley will be recalled later.

When Mrs. Timbrell went into the witness box, she admitted that in 1961 her son Rodney, 22, had been convicted on five counts of forgery and had been sent to a reformatory.

The inquiry also heard that another son, Wayne, 21, was once convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile after photographing a nude female adolescent.

John O'Driscoll, commission counsel, also introduced evidence showing that Rodney was charged in March, 1966, with breaking and entering, but had failed to appear in court. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

"As far as I know, that bench warrant is still outstanding," Mr. O'Driscoll said.

Mr. Hunsberger said he became concerned that the Timbrell home was inappropriate for adoption when he heard of all the offences that had been committed by the family.

Earlier, Mrs. Timbrell testified she has cared for 19 foster children since her marriage in 1943, but that Peggy and Valerie were the first she obtained through a welfare agency.

Her first foster child moved into her home after she discovered a newspaper advertisement early in her marriage.

Asked about her religion, Mrs. Timbrell said she was raised in the United Church and her husband was a Baptist, but since they had been in Preston they had attended a nearby Anglican Church.

Testimony in a previous session of the inquiry stated that the two foster children were removed from the Timbrell home and adoption refused because of religious reasons. The two sisters are Roman Catholic.

No mention was made of the psychiatric tests of Mrs. Timbrell, which prompted an adjournment of the inquiry last week.

The hearing continues.

The initiation of new members that was to have been held on Thursday, Nov. 9th has been postponed until Thursday, Nov. 23rd. There will also be a stag night held in the canteen with the ceremony when excellent entertainment and refreshments should make for a pleasant evening for both the old members and the new. This Thursday, Nov. 9th is the general meeting night and a good turnout is expected when several important matters will be up for discussion. Make a point of attending and have your say.

Information has been received that the tickets for the Remembrance Day banquet will be available at the Armory, as had been advised last week.

The Saturday dances are beginning to have a nice sociable crowd and something to remember is that while you are enjoying yourselves, your remission charge is also helping out the Children's Christmas Party Fund. Fetch your friends and help the kids have a good time also.

Owing to the very inclement weather and the excessive rain fall, the construction of the bandshell has been considerably delayed as the ground has become too sodden for the trucks to reach the site. It is still hoped that it can be finished and dedicated in this Centennial year.

This is the time of the year when veterans especially remember the comrades they lost. Some are poignant, and memories that are deep inside them but are too sacred for mention to anyone. The one that are heard are the humorous and happy ones that were spent with these comrades who are their all. Memories that will be cherished as long as life lasts.

The president and members of the Duke of Edinburgh Unit 201 wish to extend their deep sympathies to the family of the late comrade, Milton Quirt, a World War 1 veteran and a long time member of the Unit. He was well liked by all and will be sadly missed. The Chairman would again like to emphasize to all members that it would be greatly appreciated that, if they know of a member, who is either sick at home or hospitalized, that they would either notify him or leave a message for him with the steward, giving any pertinent details. The phone number is 888-8116.

The following comrades have been visited and taken care of. In Belleville General Hospital are Earl Herrington, room 215 and R. C. Wood, room 117. Ernie Gray is now convalescing at home and is recovering nicely. It also has been reported that a long time member and World War 1 veteran, Geo Cherry, was admitted to the Belleville Hospital for surgery.

The Unit sponsored minor league hockey team, got into action in their first league game last Saturday. It was a wild and woolly game and finished in a three-three tie against the Leafs. The coach has high hopes for the team and says that they will be doing better as soon as they get a few more games under their belts. The Saturday afternoon doubles darts contests are booming again and there was a good number competing. This is open to all members and a pleasant way to spend an afternoon with a chance to win some of the numerous prizes.

A busy week with the general meeting Thursday, Remembrance Banquet Friday and the parade to the Cenotaph, Saturday.

Our Physical Environment Sacrificed to Production

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

At lunch, not long ago, with Elmo Roper, the highly-respected researcher and pollster, I was pleased to hear him sound off on what we both agreed was the most pressing problem of our time — the control of our physical environment.

"The American system, call it capitalism, or what you will," he said, "has pretty much licked the economic problem. I don't mean we don't have ugly patches of poverty and unemployment — but we have the resources and the knowledge to bring everybody to a decent level of living, which we've not done.

"But in reaching the economic level we have," he went on, "the system has ignored its drastic effect on the physical environment. We've pushed ahead so far and so fast in raising the standard of living that we've shamefully neglected what this productive pace has done to the country."

"I mean in terms of air and water pollution, in decaying cities, in a countryside that is ravaged by unplanned suburban slums and cut up by highways. And what's the good of material prosperity if the air we breathe and the water we use, and the places we live in are smelly and contaminated and an offence to the eyes?"

'What can we do about it all?" I asked.

"The first thing we can do," he said, "is stop patting ourselves on the back about our past successes in raising our Gross National Product to the highest level of all time — and start asking about the living conditions we've actually provided for ourselves and our children."

"If our lakes are going to die of pollution, if our air in urban areas is the equivalent of everyone smoking two packs of cigarettes a day, and if sites of beauty and leisure are sacrificed for drive-ins and gas stations and junk yards — then what can we do with all our money and prosperity but try to escape the very culture we have created?"

"Are we willing to spend enough to rectify these ills?"

"I don't know," he shrugged. "But we must recognize that every system has its negative side as well as its positive side — and the negative side of our system is its flagrant disregard for human values in its relentless quest for greater economic productivity. But productivity must be for people — not an end in itself — and how we're faced with the problem of making America as clean and beautiful and pleasant to live in as it is prosperous."

"Amen," I said, "your words will not die on the wind, but will be scattered to the farthest corners of the country. I promise."

British Railway System In for Some Changes

LONDON (CP) — Britain's state-owned railway system is in for some big changes if a petite redhead with an itch for many actions gets her way.

Mrs. Barbara Castle has much more than female wiles as weapons in her planned sprucing up of British railways, a money-losing but still vital cog in this crowded country's transportation machinery.

She happens to be transport minister in a Labor government that still commands a whopping majority.

The Utah sponsored minor league hockey team, got into action in their first league game last Saturday. It was a wild and woolly game and finished in a three-three tie against the Leafs. The coach has high hopes for the team and says that they will be doing better as soon as they get a few more games under their belts. The Saturday afternoon doubles darts contests are booming again and there was a good number competing. This is open to all members and a pleasant way to spend an afternoon with a chance to win some of the numerous prizes.

A busy week with the general meeting Thursday, Remembrance Banquet Friday and the parade to the Cenotaph, Saturday.

"Financial discipline" will be enforced inside British railways and administration will be streamlined.

Mrs. Castle is intent on ending by 1975 the organization's annual deficits, which now average more than $300,000,000.

The railway's plight has received extra attention because of a disastrous weekend train crash near the London suburb of Lewisham, which killed 54 people.

Officials say a broken rail joint might have caused the tragedy.

Lately, British railways has slashed its working expenses by about $345,000,000 in a massive move towards modernization. But it also has lost some tops managerial talent.

Mrs. Castle's newly announced plan for reform is only the start of an over-all integration program involving road and rail services.

She has a band of brilliant young men working for her, giving the transport department a reputation as the brightest, most original ministry in the government.

But much of the basic rest seems to come from the 56-year-old minister herself, tutored in socialism by a left-wing father and married to journalist Ted Castle.

Oct. 9, another of her projects, breath tests for drunk-driving suspects, went into effect.

She is reputed to retain some traditional female techniques for pushing her ideas. They include tears, which one veteran socialist say she can turn on "like a tap."

Judy LaMarsh Stands Alone in Her Dispute With CBC Brass

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Judy LaMarsh refused again Monday to disclose names or specify charges in her claim that the CBC suffers from "rotten management" in many areas.

And Paul Hellyer, transport minister and acting prime minister through much of Monday's Commons sitting, gave strong indication that Miss LaMarsh will stand or fall on her own in her dispute with the publicly-owned CBC.

"She has taken this on in her responsibility as a member of the government and I do not think anything I could say would be useful," Mr. Hellyer said.

Miss LaMarsh, who reports to Parliament on broadcasting matters, turned aside a series of questions seeking amplification of her "rotten management" statement.

Her strongest implication was that it would be useless to talk to present management about problems that only a new management could correct.

Asked whether she had brought specific areas of what she considered to be rotten management to the attention of the CBC's present management, she replied:

"No, I have not brought it to their attention, the reason being that I felt that the only way it could be cleared up was by bringing it to the attention of the new management."

The statements came as the Commons considered the government's new broadcasting act at the stage of second reading approval in principle.

Debate on the broadcasting bill continued to be overshadowed by the feud raised by Miss LaMarsh's criticism of the CBC and the reply by President J. Alphonse Ouimet calling on her to state just when and where mismanagement occurred.

Miss LaMarsh has already refused, terming Mr. Ouimet's request an arrogant one and saying she is responsible only to the cabinet and Prime Minister Pearson. She repeated her refusal Monday.

She also refused to reveal sources of her information, saying no secretary of state could expect in future to get confidential information from sources within the CBC if she did so.

Conservatives were blocked in an attempt to refer the new broadcasting act back to the Commons broadcasting committee to deal with the specific issue of Miss LaMarsh's charges.

Lewis Brand (PC—Saskatoon) described the feud as an "incredible spectacle."

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux said Commons' rules do not allow bills to go to committee before getting second reading.

MPs could consider the bill the why it stood or could bring in a motion to send it back to committee in effect killing the whole bill. But they could not send it back to committee with instructions that the rest of the bill stand while the question of the LaMarsh-Ouimet feud was considered.

Sixth Surveyor Off on Perilous Moon Mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (Reuters) — The United States today launched another Surveyor space shot designed to take a closer look at a possible astronaut-landing site right in the middle of the moon's face.

Sixth in the Surveyor series, the latest unmanned satellite is a robot chemist with a revolving camera eye. Its mission is to analyze soil on a crater-pocked lunar plain so rugged the spacecraft was given less than a 50-50 chance of landing safely Thursday after a 65-hour journey.

Riding atop an Atlas-Centaur rocket, Surveyor VI shot away from a Cape Kennedy launch pad at 2:29 a.m. EST.

Surveyor VI is to make a soft-landing in the rocky crater-filled Sinus Medii (Central Bay) almost in the dead centre of the moon's visible surface.

A successful landing would break the even-number jinx in the Surveyor program.

Surveyors I, III and V, successfully soft-landed on the lunar surface. Surveyors II and IV failed.

Surveyor program manager Benjamin Milwitzky gave the spacecraft only a 67-per-cent chance of a safe soft-landing on the moon in this rough area.

"There is a significant increase in risk in this mission," he said before the launch. "It is much rougher than the Sea of Tranquility or Ocean of Storms where the other Surveyors landed, there are many craters of all sizes and also rocks. Furthermore, we don't have a pilot to manoeuvre the spacecraft to a smooth spot in the moon terrain."

Moon project officials want a number of landing sites spread from west to east across the middle of the moon, so a choice could be made depending on launch times and lighting on the moon.

Experiments aboard Surveyor VI should also turn up some new information about the chemical composition of the moon and how it was formed.

The television camera aboard Surveyor VI will use polarized filters instead of color ones as on previous craft.

The new filters, used by geologists on earth to determine rock types, may help them to find out what kind of rocks exist on the moon.

At launch time the moon was 231,416 miles from the earth. At touchdown Thursday, the distance will be 228,710 miles.

Parliament Celebrates Its Hundredth Birthday

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament celebrated the 100th anniversary Monday of the first parliamentary sitting in the Dominion of Canada.

While most of the day's debate was devoted to broadcasting, the Commons paused at the outset of the sitting to hear statements by the prime minister and other party spokesmen marking the centennial.

Then, in a ceremony evoking the atmosphere of a parliamentary opening, Chief Justice John R. Cartwright rode to Parliament Hill in a horse-drawn carriage, reviewed a guard of honor as cannon boomed, and entered the Senate.

As deputy for Governor-General Michener, who is visiting Western Canada, the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Canada gave royal assent to several bills.

Mr. Justice Cartwright said the parliamentary system inherited from Britain "stands unchallenged as the most successful method of democracy."

Earlier, in the Commons, Prime Minister Pearson spoke of the centennial as "the most important occasion in our history, the day the great Canadian parliamentary debate began."

Defence Minister Cadieux, senior Quebec minister in the cabinet, said the anniversary is an opportunity "for the formulation of an act of faith in our parliamentary institution and in the future of our country."

He said national unity "is the only valid choice before us."

Michael Starr, the interim Opposition leader, endorsed Mr. Cadieux' statement about national unity, saying Canada must be protected "against those who would surrender it to division."

New Democratic Leader Douglas said the one common purpose uniting members of all parties is "the desire for a united and vibrant Canada."

Creditiste Leader Caouette said national unity is the biggest current problem. He urged the English - speaking provinces to respect the rights of French-speaking minorities within their borders, just as Quebec respects the rights of its English-speaking minority.

Canadian Pulls Gun At UN

NEW YORK (AP) — United Nations security guards seized a 38-year-old Canadian after he had drawn a loaded submachine gun in the lobby of the General Assembly building and thrust it against a guard's stomach Monday night.

Police said Branko Paljusic of Hamilton, Ont., thrust the automatic against the stomach of Sgt. Frank Worobell, 43, of the UN security force and said: "I came here to kill myself and I'll kill anybody who stops me."

Additional security men were called. They disarmed Paljusic and seized him before any shot was fired.

A UN spokesman said Paljusic, a native of Yugoslavia, refused to leave the lobby when visitors were asked to leave at 6 p.m., the closing time for the public. Worobell was threatened when he approached Paljusic and ordered him to leave, the spokesman said.

Paljusic was turned over to police, who booked him on charges of endangering life and violation of the anti-weapons law. He was sent to Bellevue Hospital for mental observation.

Patient Led to Safety

A woman patient wrapped in a blanket is led from the St. Joseph's Wing of the Hotel Dieu Hospital in Kingston yesterday. One patient died from smoke inhalation in a fire that forced the evacuation of patients from the hospital and claimed the clothes of this evacuee.

Smoke Fills Kingston Hotel Dieu

Fumes Kill Woman

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—An inquest has been ordered into one of two deaths that occurred Tuesday during a fire at the Hotel Dieu Hospital when 125 patients were forced to evacuate the burning building.

Coroner Stewart Patterson ordered the inquest into the death of Mrs. Stella Breen, a patient whose death was attributed to smoke poisoning.

Eight-year-old Tracy Farrelly of Kingston died during the fire of head injuries suffered when struck by a car Saturday.

Dr. Patterson said the girl's brain activity had stopped before the fire broke out and she was being given oxygen to sustain her respiratory system.

Mrs. Breen, who was in traction, was moved to a smoke-proof room for treatment of smoke poisoning, from which she later died.

Eric Brown, administrator of the hospital, said: "One adult patient died following evacuation, and one child during the fire, but to the best of our information, not as a result of the fire."

Firemen said the blaze involved a piece of electrical equipment in the hospital's basement storage area.

Fire Chief Warren Gibson said the biggest problems were acrid fumes which spread up the service shafts of the 131-bed Brock Street wing, built between 1908 and 1928. He said firefighters restricted damage to the basement.

Mr. Brown credited 80 members of the nursing, medical and administrative staffs with leading patients through corridors, down stairs or to aerial ladders.

The evacuated patients, including those in intensive care, were transferred to five other institutions in the city and area, including Kingston General Hospital, one mile away, and to Canadian Forces military hospital.

Fifty firefighters helped carry patients from the smoke-filled, five-storey wing and took some down hook-ladders placed on window sills.

Firewalls kept the smoke from travelling to other wings of the hospital. Some firemen blasted the harshness of the fumes and smoke on burning x-ray films.

Orderly Albert Short, operating technician Monique Proulx and Capt. Kenneth Cowdy of the Kingston fire department, were admitted to Kingston General Hospital for observation after collapsing from breathing smoke.

During the blaze, Dr. Gian Polacchi suspended surgery on Arthur G. Funnell, a hunter from Gananoque who was having shotgun pellets removed from his body. Dr. Polacchi completed the operation at Kingston General.

An inspector from the fire marshal's office will investigate the blaze.

Egypt Seeks UN Showdown

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The UN Security Council, already divided over rival proposals for a Middle East settlement, consulted today on Egyptian demands that it deal with Israel's refusal to withdraw from territory it occupied in the June war.

Delegates expressed belief that the 15-nation council would take up the Egyptian request Thursday.

A council meeting scheduled for 4 p.m. EST today was called at the request of The Congo, which accused Portugal of letting foreign mercenaries in Portuguese Angola invade Congolese territory.

One diplomat charged privately that Egypt was exerting a "disruptive influence" in calling at this stage for debate on territory that Israel captured from Egypt, Jordan and Syria last June.

Many diplomats felt the purpose was to prevent Jordan from accepting an American proposal, one of the two rival plans submitted.

The American draft, already rejected by the Russians, calls for the withdrawal of armed forces from occupied territories and stresses the need for "a limitation of the wasteful and destructive arms race in the area."

Informed sources said that King Hussein of Jordan now visiting in the United States had told U.S. officials that he would not "interpose any objection" to the U.S. plan.

Priest Raises A Stink

LINCOLN, England (AP) — For years the churboys of Lincoln Cathedral have enlivened Sunday morning services by setting off stink bombs, small glass vials containing a solution of sulphurated hydrogen.

Monday, an Anglican priest marched into Walter Lees' pub shop in the shadow of the cathedral and demanded:

"Lees said it was.

"One packet, please," said the priest, handing over a shilling.

"I suppose the inconvenience they cause is no concern of yours?" the parson asked Lees. Then he dropped a stink bomb on the floor, ground it under his heel and walked out as the smell of rotten eggs rose.

SALISBURY (Reuters) — The government forced a race discrimination bill through Parliament Tuesday, despite a ruling by the Rhodesian Constitutional Council that it conflicts with the Rhodesian Declaration of Rights.

The bill—would permit local authorities to provide separate public facilities such as parks and swimming pools for the different races and enforce segregation at them.

Also passed Tuesday by a similar majority was a bill to make anyone found in unauthorized possession of arms liable to the death penalty.

Negroes Win Election To High U. S. Offices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Negroes won a variety of offices in Tuesday's U.S. elections including some historic firsts. Here is a list of Negro winners:

Democrat Carl B. Stokes won his battle to become mayor of Cleveland—and the first Negro chief executive of the eighth largest American city.

Another Negro Democrat, Richard G. Hatcher, came out of the mayoral ballot counting ih Gary, Ind., with a margin of 1,496 but his white opponent, Joseph Radigan, charged fraud and certification of the result was held up.

In a third race-tinged contest for mayor, Boston voters rejected the white backlash-oriented campaign of Louise Day Hicks.

Dr. W. Ferguson Reid, a surgeon, became the first Negro member of the Virginia state legislature since the reconstruction days following the American Civil war. He is a Democrat.

The Mississippi state legislature also saw its first Negro since the Reconstruction era with the apparent election of Robert Clark, an independent, by the voters of predominantly-Negro Holmes County.

James M. Brady was easily elected sheriff in Charles City County southeast of Richmond, Va., defeating a white incumbent who had held the post 43 years.

Mrs. Jean W. Adkins, a housewife and teacher's aide, won the Charles City County clerk's post by a substantial margin.

William C. Ross Jr., was elected to the school committee in Pittsfield, Mass., and James H. Wynn to the regional school committee in North Adams, Mass. They were both the first Negroes elected to public office in those towns.

In Boston, where the race issue was an often unspoken factor in the mayor's race, Thomas Atkins, 28, a Harvard law school student, was elected to the city council—the first Negro to sit on that body in modern memory.

Municipal Court Judge William Parker was re-elected in Waterloo, Iowa, the site of racial disturbances last summer.

In Jacksonville, Fla., three of four Negro candidates won Democratic nominations over whites.

Republicans See Victory Pattern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans claimed a pattern of victory and an omen for 1968 in Tuesday's elections.

The Republicans captured the governorship in Kentucky and took over the state legislature in New Jersey where a Democrat, Richard Hughes, is governor.

Ray C. Bliss, Republican national chairman, saw in the election returns evidence "that the upsurge in Republican strength which began in 1966 is continuing."

Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey said he discerned no trend at all.

Democrats reclaimed the mayor's office in Baltimore, and held Philadelphia's city hall despite internal discord and a stiff Republican challenge.

On the Republican balance sheet, the Kentucky victory of Louie B. Nunn, rated something of an upset, put Republicans in charge in 26 of the 50 U.S. governor's offices. The states in the Republican column now represent 304 electoral votes, 34 more than the number needed to elect a president in 1968.

In Tuesday's other contest for governor, Representative John Bell Williams, a Democrat, predictably triumphed in a Mississippi landslide.

The off-year contests were scattered from New Egland to San Francisco, marked in many spots by the racial issue, and touched—Republicans said—by the failing political popularity of President Johnson and by the war in Vietnam.

Mail Strike May Spread--But Not Here

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Postal employees in St. Catharines, Hamilton and Welland today defied a direct union order to return to work and remained off the job to continue a dispute that began Tuesday.

There were indications the wildcat strike in the Niagara Peninsula might spread. Kingston postal workers said they supported the strikers, and in Toronto the executive of Local 1 of the Letter Carriers Union of Canada warned its members to be prepared to support the strikers.

"The fire is there if we want to stoke it," said the local's president, Alex Brown.

In Belleville, postmen apparently are leaving the issue alone.

J. W. O'Sullivan, president of the Belleville local, said the dispute in the Niagara peninsula was a matter for the regional union organization and there was no indication the protest would spread to Belleville for its union district — embracing an area from Cobourg to Pembroke.

In the affected area—Burlington, Stoney Creek, Hamilton, Grimsby, Welland and St. Catharines—470 workers remained off the job. The only services available were the purchase of stamps and deposit of mail. Some persons expecting important letters were allowed to search for them among unsorted mail in post offices.

Gail Dean, president of the St. Catharines local warned Tuesday night that his members would defy an order by their national leaders in Ottawa to return to work.

"We are not going back to work. We are going to stay out until this man has won his case."

The man in question is Robert Embury, secretary of the St. Catharines local. He was suspended Monday for allegedly holding up mail delivery to help another postman with a heavy load.

Mailmen are not allowed to carry more than 35 pounds and union officials called their members out in sympathy for Mr. Embury. The strike spread during the night and by Tuesday involved five other centres and 2,000 men.

Mr. Dean said Tuesday night he only represents 76 men in St. Catharines but he warned the workers in the other centres—Hamilton, Burlington, Welland, Stoney Creek and Grimsby—will also refuse to return to work today.

The national council of postal unions, made up of the LCUC and the Canadian Union of Postal Workers, has withdrawn from Ottawa to the striking locals calling for a return to work pending negotiation.

Brazil 'Brass' Study Trenton

TRENTON — The cream of the Brazilian Air Force's top brass disembarked on CFB Trenton tarmac yesterday in their current 12 - day study mission of Canadian airport facilities.

The group, headed up by Lieutenant - Brigadier Carlos Sampaio, Brazilian Air Force Chief of Staff, was welcomed by Air Vice - Marshal Chester Hull, officer commanding Air Transport Command.

In Canada at the invitation of the federal Department of Trade and Commerce, the Brazilian visitors are gathering data to assist their country's program of airport construction.

Brazil's air force is responsible for all aspects of civil aviation with the country.

Brazil's five - member Airport Commission, charged with establishing a new international airport at Rio de Janiero, was in Canada last month to tour the multi-modern Toronto and Montreal air terminals.

Lieut. - Brig. Sampaio's delegation arrived in Ottawa Oct. 30, and their itinery has included talks with Trade and Commerce and federal Transport officials, tours of CFB Uplands airport and Toronto's De Havilland Aircraft plant, and meetings with Defence Department production and military staff.

Discussions and a tour of CFB Trenton facilities will wind up today, an air force spokesman said.

Other concerns of the Brazilian delegations have been plans to modernize and build as many as 100 airports in Brazil's Amazon region, and updating of their airport equipment.

Appointed Chief of Staff of Brazil's Air Force in June, Lieut.-Brig. Sampaio has previously been on missions for his country in France, Germany, and Sweden.

His delegation is being accompanied on its Canadian tour by R. J. Rushka of the Department of Trade and Commerce.

A Trade and Commerce "Airport-for-export" program is currently promoting Canadian airport experience abroad.

The scheme's aim is to put together a complete airport "package" of Canadian design and offer it on the international market.

Engineering and consulting firms are now preparing presentations to put Canada in the running for the $100 million Rio de Janiero airport project.

Trenton Hospital Gets Grant For Phase One Expansion

The first stage in a 15-year expansion program for Trenton Memorial Hospital is virtually financed before it is completed.

A spokesman for Quinte MPP Dr. Richard Potter said this morning the provincial government has approved a $765,202 grant for expansion and renovations. The initial expansion to be completed by September will cost an estimated $1.2 million and represents the first phase in a $4,000,000 program aimed at providing the Trenton area with a 400 - bed hospital.

Hospital Board chairman S. O. Graham, said today, "The grant is substantially what we had expected." Mr. Graham said the figure was slightly less than the two-thirds capital assistance grants awarded for approved additions.

The announcement from the Queen's Park office of Health and Welfare Minister Dymond, itemized the expenditure as follows: 34 chronic beds; 13 active beds; new autopsy quarters; an occupational therapy unit; a new dining area; and renovations to the existing X-ray and laboratory.

Construction got underway on the project last month.

"We don't think we'll have to go to the public for additional support - on this initial phase," said Mr. Graham.

"Our hospital has made money since a few years after its inception. For 1952 we had a surplus of $60,000 and we've never lost money in following years."

"As far as funds for the estimated 1.1 million dollar first stage are concerned," the board chairman said, "the government grant and existing hospital surplus should be sufficient."

Mr. Graham announced the 15-year program last month.

"It is designed to increase from 140 beds to a total of 400 beds. When Miron-Wiggers Construction Ltd. of Trenton completes the first addition in September the hospital will house 200 beds."

Marmora Students Honored

Marmora High School's graduation exercises Friday night crowded the auditorium with graduates, staff and guests.

After the processional and invocation the principal of the High School introduced his staff and welcomed the audience to the school. Harry Roscoe of the High School Board also welcomed the guests and introduced members of the board.

Unlike most of the graduation the valedictory address at Marmora was made at the beginning of the ceremony. Janet Tompkins, representing the 1952 graduating class defined school and the challenge it presents as "a call to conduct."

She expressed on behalf of herself and her peers the gratitude for the teachers and people who helped them through the years and recognized the incentive that these people gave the students to do a little better.

"Now we are graduating into a new way of life," she said, "I am happy to be going ahead but a little saddened to be leaving a familiar way of life," were her closing remarks.

Presentation of awards and prizes followed the valedictory. The prizes and bursaries were awarded by various members of the faculty and representatives of the community.

Professor L. D. Chapman, B. Sc., M.A., of Trent University was the guest speaker at the commencement and examined the reasons why young people are rebellious against society.

He also questioned why they are so cynical and at the same time so idealistic. "We can look at young people today as a kind of conquered people — conquered, that is by society". He spoke of the way young people have become disillusioned with society, a society that has become confused about its own aims and objectives.

He criticized the rebellion into "student activities" and "the hippies" and said that such groups were confused in their rebellion. He finished his address commenting that "it will be an extremely difficult but worthwhile task if this generation of young people are able to re-direct society's objectives . . ."

The evening finished with the recessional and a dance was held for the graduates and their school mates.

City Elections Month Away But Interest Is Building Up

Belleville's upcoming city election picked up new impetus last night with these incidentals:

Public school board chairman, Macdonald Smith, announced he would quit education affairs and run for council.

Alderman Jack Keegan indicated he would likely seek a new term.

Mayor Jack Ellis hinted negotiations were afoot to introduce more industry and bolster assessment.

It all happened at a meeting of Hillcrest Ratepayers Association where attendance was likely sprinkled with would - be members of city hall officials and politicians as civic elections loomed less than a month away.

Mr. Smith first indicated his intentions as he discussed local school problems with the ratepayers.

He noted he had served the school board 13 years — three of them as chairman.

"I've finally decided after 15 — and that they've had enough of me," he added.

Later, Mr. Smith said he was definitely resigning, then added: "I'm going to run for council."

Mr. Smith is a leading figure in local Conservative politics — with Mayor Jack Ellis — unsuccessfully contested the provincial election convention that nominated Dr. R. T. Potter for Quinte riding.

Alderman Keegan also was on the platform with the school board chairman but deliberately steered away from election talk.

"I'm not going to talk politics tonight," he told the ratepayers.

However, later Alderman Keegan confirmed there was "every likelihood that I may seek re-election."

Mayor Ellis also brushed aside an open invitation from the ratepayers to make a campaign speech, but referred to his 1951 campaign promises to boost Belleville's industrial assessment.

Negotiations to locate industry are long and painstaking, he indicated, but two new industries were now organizing in the city.

Superior Electrosmith Controls may start employing 110 - 115 early next year, while International Cooperage will follow some time later.

Negotiations were also underway with other industrial prospects, he added.

"I never promise you pie in the sky," he told the ratepayers. "But I promise you this: There'll be more industry."

He said he also had promised a start on the Dundas Street bridge scheme linking Highway 2 across the Moira River.

"The Dundas Street bridge we will have," said Mayor Ellis. "If we don't get it now, then, by gosh, we'll get it next year."

Also speaking at the meeting were Alderman Don Williams, chairman of the parks and recreation committee, Lorne Williams, the committee's administrator and Public Utilities chairman Lyle Langabeer.

New School Board Set

Pending approval by the respective municipal councils and by the Department of Education, representation in the new enlarged Bay of Quinte High School District has been decided.

The enlarged high school district will take in part or all of 11 municipalities.

Belleville will have five municipally appointed representatives on the board, Sidney and Thurlow, townships two each, and Frankford, Tyendinaga and Ameliasburg townships, one each.

The Stirling-Rawdon district will send one representative with the municipalities making up the Centre Hastings District to share three members.

Hastings county will appoint one board member while the Separate and Public School systems with the highest average attendance will appoint one member each to the board.

It is possible that the two elementary school board appointees could come from Belleville, thus bringing the city's membership to seven.

Stirling and Rawdon would share one board member, while Marmora and Lake townships with Marmora and Deloro villages combining to send one member. Tudor, Cashel, Madoc, Elzevir and Grimsthorpe townships would combine for one member, as would Madoc village and Huntingdon township.

In the present make-up of the Bay of Quinte High School district, Belleville city council members with two other board representatives — from the Separate and Public school board — also coming from the city.

In the new enlarged board the city will have 57.2 per cent of the total equalized assessment, but will have only 26.3 per cent of the board representatives.

The total equalized assessment of the enlarged school district is given as $107,000,000 of which the city's amount is $158,-900,000.

The above are previously equalized assessment figures for school purposes. The actual assessment in the new school area is given as $140,000,000 of which Belleville's total is $107,000,000.

Belleville city council Monday gave approval to the enlarged school board representation, agreeing to all the number of municipalities in the enlarged area now having indicated counsel approval.

At Monday's meeting of city council Mayor J. R. Ellis said the decision for a 19-member board had been the result of a four-hour meeting of municipal representatives. The original proposal had been for a 28-member board.

Mayor Ellis said he would have liked to see an even smaller board but realized this would have meant the smaller municipalities would have no representation.

Youth Panelists Split on Role of School

To the amazement of a good part of the adult audience, at least two of Belleville's teenagers seem to be quite satisfied with the way things are — at least in the field of education and opportunity for youth. Jane Bailey and Robert Reid, two of the four panelists taking part in the third session of the Youth in the Modern World series sponsored by the Canadian Mental Health Association, presented a very positive view of their present world.

According to Jane and Robert, the schools are doing an excellent job of giving the students a total education, providing opportunities for broadening social experiences in clubs and other extra-curricular activities, and in preparing youth for taking a responsible role in an exciting future.

The only complaint they had was dissatisfaction with the lack of weekend activities in the city of Belleville, and the need for something more constructive for young people to do with their spare time.

Not quite so satisfied with the status quo, Henry Kafka expressed the view the schools could not be expected to provide the total educational experience for the youth of today. Because of the restrictive social experience available to the student in the school setting it was necessary for the community to become involved in the educational experience as well, he said.

The community must provide the opportunity for the young people to learn more about the world outside the school and to stimulate and challenge them to become involved.

At the same time that he criticized the present system, both educational and social, Henry expressed confidence in his generation. He had faith that through science, education, and a sincere desire, you "will overcome."

He criticized the local community for its narrow approach to the recreational needs of the young and its reluctance to spend money in this area.

Barry Grills, the only teenage panelist now in the working force was much more critical of today's world as it relates to the young adult. He felt that the schools could not be left with the total responsibility for education, claiming they were failing to meet this challenge.

The schools often provided a narrow and stultifying experience where the students were told what to think and given very little opportunity to question he said and suggested less emphasis on specialization and subject matter and more concentration on people. He said students need to be prepared for the social and moral problems they will encounter in life.

He saw the main problem in the community as the adult attitude toward youth — its repeated attempts to categorize the young, to pen them in one group and themselves in another. He felt there was more need for communication between generations with respect for the attitudes and feelings of one group for the other.

Robert Henderson, guidance director of Moira Secondary School, and moderator for the evening, complimented the panelists on the articulate expression of their views. He felt that they were obviously giving serious thought to the future and their responsibilities.

Next Monday evening, Rev. Lorne Fetter from Brantford will speak on the topic Youth and Morality.

Workshop for Retarded Holds "Open House"

Association for Retarded Children, on Canniffon Road, offers graduates of the Retarded Children's School and the opportunity classes in the public schools a chance to continue learning.

Last evening, these people gave the public a chance to see what they have accomplished by holding their second annual "open house." Although only one third as many people came through last night as last year it was much more profitable for ARC financially.

The first "open house" last year was so crowded that nobody had enough room to buy anything but "we got rid of a lot of crafts last night," said Bill Cook, director of ARC.

The workshop was originally started by the Belleville and District Retarded Children's Association when the retarded children's school had its operating costs taken over by the provincial government.

The local association still owns the buildings and has to maintain them but the government aid was the reason for the expansion into a workshop. This allows the children to continue their learning until they are ready to take their place in society.

"Quite a few of the children are from the day school system," said Mr. Cook and "the primary purpose of ARC is not to make arts and crafts or fulfill small contracts but to train these people so that they can be self-sufficient."

Pillows, gift - tags, candle stick holders, beach bags, coffee tables and Christmas wreaths were some of the wares sold last night.

Besides making wares the workshop also have contracts with local industries such as Northern Electric and the bottling firms. While making articles and fulfilling contracts Mr. Cook pointed out that "the kids are receiving training, and at the same time producing and making a profit."

The association for retarded children has even more plans for expansion and if progress so far is an indication success must be inevitable.

Citizens' Rights

The appointment of ombudsmen in Alberta and New Brunswick is an indication of the acceptance the idea of an independent arbitrator has achieved in some regions of Canada.

It may well be the ombudsman is the answer to the problem Eldon Woolliams (PC-Bow River) has in mind. In the Commons recently, Mr. Williams appealed to Justice Minister Trudeau to eliminate obstacles that mean "the poor can't arrive at the door of justice."

Mr. Woolliams claims there definitely is "a law for the rich and a law for the poor," and suggests for instance, that the question of property expropriation should be removed entirely from the Exchequer Court.

A citizen who wants to bring action against the "all-powerful Crown on an expropriation has to initiate the action himself, according to—Mr. Woolliams, and would probably have to pay for many expensive trips to Ottawa before his case could be wound up.

Significant in any consideration of the ombudsman idea is the fact that thus far they have been appointed on a provincial basis. This would tie in with the fact that the administration of justice is mainly a provincial matter — a point made by Harold Winch (NDP-Vancouver East) in supporting Mr. Woolliams.

Mr. Winch urged the minister to use his influence with the provinces to see what be described as a "miserable and despicable situation." He said he had investigated many cases of persons in prison who had had no legal aid and whose fate was worse than it should have been because of this lack.

An ombudsman's investigation, of course, has less to do with people sentenced to imprisonment than with citizens who feel they have been victimized by the civil authorities. But the feeling persists that the rights of citizens would be strengthened further if say Ontario would appoint such an officer.

Expropriation cases such as those mentioned by Mr. Woolliams would seem to fit into the category of those in which an ombudsman could be called upon to protect the rights of citizens involved.

The Drug Phenomenon

The great marijuana debate continues to rage across Canada. No one — medical men included — seem absolutely certain what intrinsic dangers there are in using the drug, or smoking "pot" to use the current vernacular.

It would seem, however, that marijuana is not as dangerous as either the legends surrounding it or its very name suggest. The name itself is of Mexican origin and stems from the name Maria Juana, or Mary Jane. And maybe when one woman in the Mexican eyes whose temperament was gentle, just as "pot" is said to produce only a relatively mild heightening of the senses, and is not necessarily habit-forming. Indeed marijuana is not strictly within the classification of narcotic and cannot be compared with the catastrophic effects of say heroin, which is an acetyl derivative of morphine.

Nowhere is the current display of morbid interest in drugs more apparent than in British Columbia. Here there is a clinic where LSD is dispensed under controlled conditions, and under perhaps less-controlled circumstances in Vancouver — along with marijuana.

A seven-man committee of the British Columbia Medical Association recently observed: "It should not be thought that they (drugs) are indulged in solely by the so-called hippy element . . . While these drugs seem to be pillars of the hippy culture, there is evidence that marijuana particularly and LSD to a lesser degree are used by non-hippy or square people who are economically productive and derive from every social and economic stratum in society."

And this, despite a clear warning issued recently to a youth conference in Prince George, Dr. Jones, a panelist at the conference, told delegates that no one in his right mind who has taken LSD would advise others to take it. He said he had decided to stop taking the drug after experiencing its terrifying effects.

And Dr. Conrad Schwarz, a Vancouver psychiatrist, said he would present "a mass of evidence that LSD is very dangerous."

Meanwhile there are those who argue that marijuana should be legalized. But as we have noted on more than one occasion, who needs the stuff? Like any other artificial stimulus which works on the nervous system, its effects at best are unpredictable, and at worst liable to create a sense of false dependence from which there is no turning back.

Spectre of War with China

Soviets Accuse Peking of Seeking Status of "Superstate"

WASHINGTON (CP) — Soviet celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the Communist revolution this week took help illustrate the deepening isolation of China.

The Chinese representation was tolerated and ignored until when Soviet speakers coupled the usual denunciation of the U.S. with what has become the customary attacks against Mao Tse-tung.

The authoritative Soviet Literary Gazette, in much the same fashion as State Secretary Dean Rusk, accuses China's leaders of seeking an Asian superstate to include Soviet territory.

Rusk points to the spectre of 1,000,000,000 Chinese in a decade or two, armed with nuclear weapons and perhaps wedded to "doctrinaire and ideological adventurism abroad," as China is today by his reading.

American analysts in fact generally agree that China has replaced the U.S. as public enemy No. 1 for the Soviets.

China's self-inflicted isolation grows, whether from design, miscalculation or a simple desire to deal with the leadership divisions internally.

Relations have been broken with little Burma. The Chinese representation of 612 has returned to Peking.

The break with Indonesia is final. So with that for an alliance with the country which once had the largest Communist party outside the Soviet Union and China.

Albania still is a 100-per-cent ally.

Cambodia, militantly anti-U.S., has had to warn its big neighbor to mind its manners. Prince Sihanouk got a qualified apology from Chinese Premier Chou En-lai after saying friendly relations would be impossible "if China continues to insult us and interfere in our affairs."

Coolness has touched contacts with Japan despite the large volume of trade involved. That also applies to relations with India, Ceylon and African states. Hostile British colony at Hong Kong remains under intermittent attack.

There have been no discussions since June with the U.S. at Warsaw by Chinese request. The talks have been sterile but still useful for assessing points of view between the two countries.

Even North Vietnam, anxious to get all the aid it can for its war effort, apparently has dared to take a middle-of-the-road attitude between Moscow and Peking.

All this suggests there may be less real menace to be feared from China than U.S. or Soviet spokesmen suggest.

American policymakers still pay lip service to practising "containment without isolation." But what urged to do more to encourage the slightest there, they have the easy answer that China just won't have it.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

November 8, 1947

Several interesting addresses of importance to the trade featured the semi-annual meeting of the Quinte District Druggists Association held in the Quinte Hotel. Chief speaker was A. Johnston, Canadian manager Weco Products, Ltd., Toronto. Chairman of the meeting was Mark Sonskin, president of the Association, while George Pauley, who is vice-president of the Ontario Retail Druggist Association, as well as secretary of the Quinte District organization, briefly addressed the druggists.

"If there's a deer left in the north country after the 1947 season closes, it won't be the fault of the hunters," Ed. Thomas, issuer of licences, said today after scanning the list of the "papers" sold to potential nimrods who start on the annual deer-hunting trek over the weekend. Over 300 licences have been sold already, Mr. Thomas said, "this number is away in advance of those sold a year ago."

Industry . . . Wages

Is Belleville Dragging Its Heels?

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

Employment in Belleville has apparently been a problem here for some time. Those in a position to have a close insight into it have passed it off "as just a seasonal or temporary slump in the economy."

Of course, there are those who deserve credit for their efforts to improve these conditions, but as they realize, it has been and most likely will continue to be (unless conditions improve), a long, hard struggle.

You occasionally hear rumors that Belleville is experiencing an industrial and economical expansion! This is wonderful. But under these conditions, one can only wonder why there are firms and businesses within the city and in nearby communities closing down due to various problems. Could it be that most of these problems have arisen due to untrained personnel in important positions?

Assuming this may be, what can or should be done? Possibly consider employing much higher skilled personnel? But this in itself would pose a problem to the immediate industry. For, in order to attract this type of personnel, they would have to increase their wage scales.

By doing this, they might cause repercussions throughout the area, as well as generate hostilities by some industries and persons, for as things are, Belleville is dragging its feet in regard to wage scales. Of course as if you were to enquire as to the reasons they are so low, you would most likely receive the answer "that the cost of living is lower." Lower than where?

I feel I do not need to elaborate on this statement. As long as there are those who are content to "put in time" for these mediocre wages, this condition will most likely remain the same. Not to mention that it will "drive" its younger, upcoming labor force from the area.

I for one, having lived in Belleville for only a short period of time, find it to be a friendly city, but lacking in public response to problems concerning their own immediate welfare.

As Demand Increases . . .

Canada Is Seriously Short of Capital

Montreal Gazette

Canada is seriously short of capital. It is seen in the high and rising rates of interest on borrowing in Canada. Even government securities now have to pay rates of interest that would have seemed fantastically high ten, even five years ago.

The problem is seen not only in the scarcity and cost of capital in Canada; it is seen in the increasing difficulties in floating Canadian loans in the United States. Too many American portfolios have too many Canadian bonds. And the difficulties of the United States with its own balance of payments is leading to increasing pressures to curtail the outflow of funds.

Just at the time when capital is already hard to find, Canada faces the prospect of needing vastly more capital than ever before. The new Chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, Arthur J. R. Smith, speaking in Vancouver, has given an indication of what Canada's demands for capital will be in the years ahead.

The Economic Council estimates that between 1965 and 1980 — in only 15 years — the Canadian labor force will increase by about 50 per cent. It will swell from seven million to ten and a half million. The expansion in these 15 years will be about half a million more than the total increase over the 40 years from 1920 to 1960. The growth in the 15 years will be about half a million greater than the expected increase in the labor forces of Great Britain Germany and Italy combined. And it will be more than half again as high as the rate of increase expected by the United States during this same period.

These Canadians will not find jobs unless enough capital has been somehow found and put to work to provide jobs for them. As the Chairman of the Economic Council says, the great expansion will, of course, bring enormously increased demands for capital investment in the form of machinery and equipment, factories and office buildings, and other forms of capital."

In a country already capital-hungry, the need will be intense. Will the capital be found?

It is unlikely to be found until Canada is able to present to Canadians and to the world a more confident outlook. The fact is that Canadian money is itself moving out of the country in enormous amounts, to seek more attractive opportunities for investment elsewhere. When Canadian money is moving out, it can hardly be expected that foreign money will be encouraged to move in. Canada is becoming rather like the restaurant owner who is seen too often filming in somebody else's restaurant.

Charles B. Neapole, the President of the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges, has said that on a recent tour of Europe "it did not take long to gain the distinct impression" that Canada's security issues "are not the glamor items they used to be." He has since remarked that there is "an uneasy feeling" about this country and particularly when one mingles with people from abroad. The problem exists not only in Quebec but in Ottawa also.

Earlier this year Jean Ostiguy, the former President of the Canadian Investment Dealers' Association, said "the way our governments have conducted their affairs in the last six or ten years has produced an environment that is not altogether encouraging to investment capital."

No country can be morbidly obsessed with its divisions, or perpetually involved in debate whether the country is likely to break up, and then turn round to invite its own people, or the people of other lands, to invest their money in Canada's future.

Canada, with its present urgent need for capital, has the grim fact staring it in the face that unless it somehow obtains capital in unprecedented amounts, it will have a massive army of the unemployed. If more attention were paid to that grim fact, and less to magnifying and manipulating internal divisions, some of the faded glamor of Canada's security issues might be restored, and even Canadians might be induced to invest more in their country's future.

It would be the height of irony if a country with Canada's immense resources and other advantages should bring massive unemployment upon itself by the worst sort of inflation, the inflation of its doubts, when it might, far better, have been glorifying its blessings.

Cost Factor

Heavy Going for Medicare

Kingston Whig-Standard

Attempts to wreck Canada's chance of having at last a full-scale medicare plan — or a series of provincial plans which will be comprehensive, paid for out of taxation, and operated by government — are going on apace. The latest strategy is to claim that the country simply cannot afford such coverage. As Charles MacNaughton, Ontario Provincial Treasurer, put it at a recent conference of Dominion and provincial finance ministers and treasurers: "I'm not sure this country can afford to pay for the new surgical insurance should. It shouldn't be a total burden on public funds."

The fact is that only the very rich can afford the expense of the kind of illness which could at any time afflict any one of us. Would Mr. MacNaughton dare to tell the Canadian people that the important part of comprehensive medical care which we already have in the provincial hospitalization plans should not be in existence; that we can not afford it; that it should not be partly or wholly paid for out of our taxes? He would not dare of course. And neither would any other politician in Canada.

Coverage by a variety of private carriers and the doctor-sponsored plans is not adequate — nothing but a full-scale, government-controlled system can provide full protection.

The latest instruments certainly should find ways of spending less money, especially just now when our economy is suffering from inflation. But nobody ever seems to think of spending less on equipment and men for war in an age in which war is quickly made full suicide and in a country which has no business concerning itself with foreign wars except, perhaps, to meet U.N. commitments. There is seemingly no limit to the money the frill or gimmick which our governments are not eager to spend money on. It takes no particular analytic skill to point to possible economies which, taken together, would easily cover the costs of universal medical care.

It is always with cries of "creeping socialism" and "state-ism" that this greatest, most humane of benefits to organized society is attached by political and other demagogues.

That Time of Year Again

In a way man recognizes the full and spicy autumn as the finale of the year. Harvest and colour seem as final curtain for the natural cycle which began it with the warmth and fertility of spring.

The ancient Romans had ten variable months in the year, and when a reformer tried to pin a twelve month calendaar to what Shakespeare later called "the remnant mosst" their year was ten days shy of the total racked up by the sun. In a rare display of "amateur fixing" they inserted an eastic month to make up the shortage every second year. They never quite matched the vagaries of the sun and birthday celebrations would have lasted a modern computer.

Julius Caesar took over the yearly deficit of sixty odd days and pushed in two extra months to try to cope with another factor, the vernal equinox. Thus, the Julian calendar began a complicated tenure on January 1, 46 B.C.

Pope Gregory XVI decided to stop the flagging but he still had a shortage to make up of over a week of time before his schedule took over on a calendar in 1582 A.D. Aware of the basic problem of naturil phenomena not taking new rules for differing circumstances, he took a precaution. The double new century leap year will be a leap year unless it can be divided evenly by 400. So don't count on a leap year in 2100!

The Gregorian year is some twenty-seven seconds too long and reformers would have to stabilize it. They want thirteen month months of twenty-eight days each and one day a year as a cial holiday, probably honoring Canada's leaders. Days and dates of the year would remain constant.

Nelli Gardi, the American poet, once suggested we readopt the Hebraic calendar. He said the Jews, with more time than the Romans to learn themselves by heart, had the good sense to choose September as the year's end and the beginning again. In these frenzied days of September the idea makes sense to any man's heart.

Ald. Enos David Pledges $500 for Arena

A Belleville city councillor has committed himself to a personal $500 pledge as a private citizen toward a new arena.

The gesture by Ald. Enos David followed a city council majority vote Monday to decide a decision on the controversial arena issue until 1968. The city council's plan apparently calls for a combination of private subscriptions and a city property-by-donation to receive an issue which has perplexed community opinion in recent months.

In a formal statement today Ald. David declared willingness to subscribe "at least $500" for purchase of voting shares in any corporation formed to build a recreation complex in the city.

Such a corporation should raise at least $100,000 by private subscription and make a determined effort to obtain "substantial funds" from energy governments.

An "adequate site" would have to be provided by the city, the alderman said.

Any additional funds needed after these conditions had been resolved might be raised through debenture sales, said Ald. David.

"I sincerely believe that there are residents in this city in sufficient numbers and affluence who believe it would be a great asset . . ." he added, "especially for the younger generation."

He believed there would be a willingness to pledge amounts — "according to . . . ability" — over a three-year period.

"I would encourage these people to come forward at this time and demonstrate this desire so we can get on with the job," he added.

Smaller Dairies in County Now Buying Bottled Milk

With the trend of the times showing a growing preference for the paper carton and "pure" milk, a new type of operation has been forced on the smaller dairies in the South Hastings area.

Since the first of October, dairies at Frankford, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc and Tweed have been buying their bottled milk from Brookdale - Prince Dairy in Kingston instead of bottling their own.

And by the same token, milk formerly purchased by the local dairies is now being sent to the Kingston processor with tank trucks making daily deliveries.

Van type trucks return the processed milk to the Hastings area for customer delivery by the local dairies.

Ray Moran, operator of Frankford Dairy Ltd., says the five south Hastings area dairies were best or less-forced into the new procedure.

First, the government did away with the former "franchise" milk distribution territories under which all milk distributed in a particular area had to be bottled in the respective dairies.

This government action allowed outside dairies to delivery in hitherto protected areas — and forced local dairies to meet the competition.

"It meant the installation of specialized bottling equipment to handle the growing demand for paper cartons and jug milk," said Mr. Moran. "And some of the dairies just did not want to go to the extra expense."

The result is that milk is no longer bottled at any of the above dairies which now purchase all their milk from Kingston.

Mr. Moran doesn't feel the new system is any cheaper than their dairies processed their own milk.

"For one thing we have the added trucking costs," he says.

One the other hand the dairies have saved the expense of installing the specialized bottling equipment to handle the paper cartons and three quart jug containers.

Out of it all is the indication that the glass milk bottle is on the way out.

Mr. Moran admits the three quart plastic jug "will stand a lot of wear and tear" but he still thinks the bright idea boys will have to go a long way to find something better than the old fashioned glass milk bottle.

In Belleville the amalgamation has resulted in a change in dairy operation.

Last Spring Grills Dairy was sold to Brookdale-Price at Kingston and all that dairy's milk for the Belleville market is bottled in Kingston.

Robbins was their carton milk put up in Kingston.

The Reid's Dairy in West Belleville, sold dairy to Riverside Dairy in Kingston, still does its bottling in Belleville and recently installed a paper machine here to put up carton, milk for both dairies.

150 Pigs Destroyed In Fire

More than a dozen sows and close to 150 pigs ranging in age from a few weeks to near shipping weight, were killed in a fire which yesterday afternoon destroyed the piggery on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Robson, 8th Concession Thurlow.

Belleville firemen were credited with saving the main Robson barn situated close to the burning piggery.

Four years and about ten young pigs were saved from the burning piggery. A number of others were lost to the doors had to burned back into the burning building and were lost.

Mr. Robson was in a nearby field plowing when the fire broke out about 4.15 p.m. He managed to free some of the 17 sows tied in the building but was quickly forced out by the heat of the flames.

The cause of the fire is unknown.

George Cole Tweed Police Chief

Canadian Forces Headquarters announced recently the promotion of Flight Lieutenant W. C. "Bill" Clarke to the rank of Squadron Leader effective November 1, 1967. S/L Clarke is at present Officer Commanding the Operational Flight and Tactical Trainer based at Greenwood. He is a native of Belleville, son of Mrs. Eva Clarke and the late Mr. Carl Clarke. He is married to the former Helen Mae Parr of Campbellford. The Clarkes have two children and have resided at Greenwood since January 1962.

TWEED — A former Belleville city police constable has been hired to re-introduce local law enforcement of this village.

A 3-2 vote of this municipality's all-woman council narrowly approved the decision to end the brief administration of law and order by provincial police and place policing in the hands of a locally-appointed officer.

The new chief of police is George Cole, who was hired and signed as a constable on the Belleville city force. He began his duties Nov. 1.

The decision was precipitated by Reeve Barbara Sabin who introduced a recommendation calling for re-establishment of a home-town police department, vacant since mid-summer, when the OPP took over patrolling the village.

Reeve Allen cast the deciding vote for the recommendation after her fellow councillors tied 2-2 on a decision.

The reeve said there were two main reasons behind the move:

(1) Inability to retain a "competent by-law officer at a reasonable salary" for enforcing municipal regulations (the OPP do not police local ordinances).

(2) Inability "of many ratepayers" to accept the fact they had no resident police officer.

Under the new set-up provincial police will aid the local officer when necessary.

"The OPP did an excellent job in policing the village," the reeve said.

The provincial force would also continue to co-operate to guarantee full police protection for Tweed.

Stickers with phone numbers of both the local department and the nearest OPP detachment at Madoc will be distributed so residents become accustomed to having both services if needed.

Support of the provincial police for a one-man local department may be found necessary since a survey by the Ontario Police Commission estimated the village needed at least three officers for proper protection.

However, the cost of operating such a staff was deemed "prohibitive" by Reeve Allen.

"This is absolutely out of the question," she said.

"We're now going to try it with a one-man force and the one-hundred-per-cent co - operation of the OPP."

The reeve also predicted current trends would see smaller forces replaced by the provincial police within years.

However, she said the Ontario Police Commission should "seriously consider" absorbing local departments instead of disbanding them.

"Local officers should be left as residents of the municipality where they are known and respected," she said.

MP Says Best Filter Should Be Cigarette Law

OTTAWA (CP)—Marvin Howe, Conservative MP for Wellington-Huron, says cigarette manufacturers should be required by law to provide the safest filter available.

He said in an interview Tuesday he cannot understand why the federal health department is not doing more in this field in view of new processes and products which will make for a safer cigarette.

Mr. Howe, 51, has been engaged in a better-filter campaign for nearly four years while Barry Mather, NDP member for Comox-Powell Riverwhich has been campaigning for a ban on cigarette advertising or at least some time for anti-cigarette medical groups.

The government Monday gave the Commons figures showing that last year the health department spent $129,612 on education about the dangers of smoking while the agriculture department was spending $465,000 to assist development of the Canadian tobacco industry.

Mr. Howe said facilities should be set up in the health department to check filters and then set a standard for all filters used in Canada.

When he raised the matter in June, 1966, in the Commons health committee, Dr. J. H. Crawford, deputy health minister, said:

"We are so concerned about the impact of cigarette smoking on the health of the population that we would be prepared to do almost anything to assist in the elimination of this habit."

Mr. Howe said blind inventor Marcel Beaudoin of Lucerne, Que., holds a patent on what is reported to be a safe filter he developed from experiments with a Canadian army gas mask.

"And the industry wouldn't talk to him," he added.

Last April 2,796,880,845 cigarettes were entered for sale in Canada. In December, 1965, the figure was 3,500,416,585.

CLUB 4-H NOTES

BETHEL-ION

The Bethel-Ion Centennial Cookettes discussed the effect of Chinese, Japanese and Indian cuisine on Canadian eating habits at the seventh meeting.

Mary Tammon and Brenda Stanley demonstrated how to prepare almond cakes, a typical Chinese cookie. The leader demonstrated preparation of steak and spinach, Chinese style. Later, both dishes along with egg rolls, were enjoyed for lunch.

Plans were made for the last meeting and members worked on their book covers in preparation for achievement day.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Two Easy Candy Recipes

By MARY MOORE

Have the scissors handy when you read my column this month and next for we are working on Christmas foods for your busy social calendar.

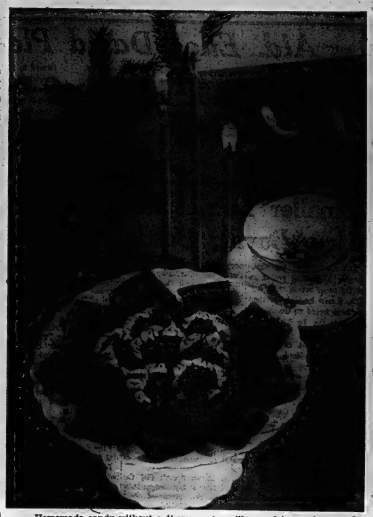
I have made two candy recipes that are easy and require no candy thermometer. One is for Pecan Fudge Log surprisingly similar to the professional product. The other is a faintly coffee- and purple-flavored fudge. They are not cheap but they are easy and I think foolproof.

PECAN FUDGE LOG
(About 1 pound)

1 tbsp. butter
1-3 cup evaporated milk
2-3 cup granulated sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup miniature marshmallows
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips
½ tsp. vanilla
½ to 2-3 cup coarsely chopped pecans (or walnuts or flaked cocoanut)

Measure marshmallows and chocolate chips. Have ready on a large sheet of heavy waxed paper the chopped nuts (or cocoanut), spread out to cover a surface roughly 12" x 8". In heavy medium saucepan, stir together over high heat the butter, evaporated milk, sugar and salt until boiling. Loaf at the clock and boil it over medium heat, stirring for 4 minutes. Remove from heat. Immediately add marshmallows, chocolate chips and vanilla and stir for about 1 min until fudge is perfectly smooth. Turn out on chopped nuts or cocoanut in long strip. Now use the wax paper to help you make a not-coated roll. Keep coaxing until it is even at both ends and measures about 10" long by 1¾" diameter. Allow to stand and cool on same wax paper. As it cools wrap wax paper around it and roll it under your palms to shape into a real, having no flat side. Cut into ¼" or ½" slices when cold.

MAPLE COFFEE FUDGE
(About 2 pounds)



2-3 cup evaporated milk
1 1-3 cups granulated sugar
2 tbsps. butter
¼ tsp. salt
2 cups miniature marshmallows
1½ cups semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 tbsp. instant coffee
¼ tsp. maple extract

Measure marshmallows, chocolate chips, instant coffee and set aside.

Butter an 8" square pan.

In a medium saucepan (I used a 1" diameter Teflon) combine evaporated milk, sugar, butter and salt. Bring to rapid boil, stirring. When boiling all over time it. Reduce heat to medium for 5 min., stirring all the time. Remove from heat and at once stir in marshmallows, chocolate chips, instant coffee and maple extract, until smoothly blended. Pour into buttered 8" pan, level top bit with an artist's swirling strokes and cool. Cut into 1" squares.

Watch soon for a recipe giving old-fashioned fudge made with cocoa.

Homemade candy without a thermometer will appeal to amateurs and young cooks and men. So mothers, have on your shelves the ingredients called for in Pecan Fudge Log and Maple Coffee Fudge. When someone calls "Mother will you make some candy?" you can lovingly reply, "I have a recipe you can make yourself."

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Child: "What can we do now? We've played with all our games."

Mother: "Oh, how I hate rainy Saturdays. Perhaps we can go over to the store and get a new game."

Playthings don't always have to be new. Creating a toy may be as satisfying as the actual play with the object when it is finished. It also may keep young children busy and happy for a whole rainy afternoon.

Successful Living

Husband Prefers to Play in Band Rather Than Accompany His Wife

Dear Doris: Our town is opening a new community centre and I am a member of the Board, with responsibility for making a presentation. There will be several activities, and I asked my husband to escort me.

But he is in the town band, and takes this job seriously. It will be playing at these events. I think that since I need his moral support his obligation to the band is irrelevant.

Throughout the years I have been hurt when the band just had to be served, regardless of my wishes; though it is not a frequent thing. He says I am unreasonable, jealous, childish. Am I? — Fuming

Dear Fuming: What wife wouldn't want her husband by her side at such a time? Yet he may dread the thought of just standing around with you, with no special part to play. I'm having trouble deciding just which of you is the more jealous, childish — or just plain human.

Better he should hide behind his familiar trombone — since he doesn't relish playing second fiddle.

Dear Doris: I've been going with this boy for two years. I thought his mother liked me but she had a fight with my boy friend. She told him I was unclean, hadn't any clean or good clothes and I never washed or combed my hair. She said no one was any good in my family. She also called my brother a leach — because he got a ride with my boy friend to town. I never forgave her for two months but I come around now. My boy friend expects me to let it pass.

How can I? It hurt my feelings. My boy friend and I have fights now and then about this and he tells me to shut up about it. We end breaking up. I love him quite a bit and we have discussed marriage.

I'm still rich but I do have clothes. I get along with his father because he doesn't say anything; just listens. Can you help me? — Upset.

Dear Upset: Sounds like a perennial fight about the same insult. No wonder he wants you to forget about it.

Who passed these choice remarks on to you? Naturally they hurt your feelings. But some mothers just don't think any girl is good enough for their sons.

You sound pretty young to be talking about love and marriage. Better grow up a little more first. And be sure hair and clothes look their best all the time. Take a frank look at yourself.

Dear Doris: I was in the sun a lot and got a bad tan this summer. It has faded some, but still looks sort of dusty and as if I need to wash my face and neck. It is dry too; reminds me of a wrinkled uppers. — Brown as a Berry

Dear Brown: Much the same as if you were deliberately tanning leather! Skin oils are absent and need some help in coming back. A gentle bleach and then a lubricating routine can bring results fairly quickly.

I'm sending you Treatment for a Tanned Skin. (Available to others for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Doris cannot begin to answer all your questions in the column. To make sure of your reply, remember to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chapter 55 OES Installs Officers

An interesting and colorful event took place on Friday evening in the Masonic Temple on Foster Avenue, when the officers of Belleville Chapter No. 55 of the Order of the Eastern Star were installed before a large gathering of members who filled the auditorium to capacity. Officers and members attended from many points in the district, and as far away as Toronto and Kingston. All were welcomed by the retiring Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron, Mrs. Margaret Booth and Mr. Earl Gray.

Among the distinguished guests were: Mrs. Marjorie Morgan, PDDGM and member of the Florence Nightingale Home Board of the Grand Chapter of Ontario; Mrs. Frances Mercer, PM and member of the Grand executive committee; Mrs. Phyllis Berry, PM, and Grand representative of the State of West Virginia; Mrs. Henrietta Huff, DDGM of District No. 12; Mrs. Gladys Hecter, PDDGM of Kingston; Mrs. Marion Heath, PDDGM of Marmora; Mrs. Evelyn Bedley, PDDGM of Trenton; Mrs. Coral Adams, PDDGM of Trenton; Mrs. Helen Cross, P D D G M of Cobourg; Mrs. Luella Brickman, PDDGM; and Mrs. Dorothy McCutcheon, PDDGM of Belleville.

The approach to the East was centred by a floral arch of red roses and white carnations, flanked on each side by tall standards of potted ferns, on which nestled white doves with outspread wings.

After the opening ceremonies, and business, the retiring Worthy Matron, Mrs. Margaret Booth, and retiring Worthy Patron, Mr. Earl Gray, both gave their farewell addresses.

They were presented with gifts from their officers, by Associate Matron, Mrs. Lois Chaplin, and Associate Patron, Mr. George Brickwood.

The Past Matron's jewel was presented to the retiring Worthy Matron by her husband, Mr. Clifford Booth, P.P.; and the Past Patron's jewel was presented to the retiring Worthy Patron by his wife, Mrs. Marjorie Gray.

The officers then retired, and after a short recess, the installing officers and the new officers took their places and the ceremony of installation began.

Chaplain, Mrs. Luella Brickman, P.D.D.G.M.; Inst. organist, Mrs. Bernice Grills; Inst. Warder, Mrs. Olive Jones, P.M.; Inst. Sentinel, Mr. Percy Kerr, P.P. They were assisted by: Mr. Everett Liddle, P.P.; Mrs. Margaret Booth, P.M.; Mr. Earl Gray, P.P.; Mr. Herbert Tomkinson, P.P.; Mrs. Dora Elvidge, P.M.; Mrs. Myrtle Crow, P.M.; Mrs. Hazel Baragar, P.M.; Mrs. Phyllis Barlow, P.M.; Mrs. Ada McMillin, P.M.; Mrs. Leah Pitt, P.M.; Mr. Bruce Simpson, P.P.; honorary; Mrs. Margaret Shaw, P.M.; Mrs. Muriel Smith, P.M.; floral ceremony; Mrs. Phyllis Berry, P.M.; soloist, Mrs. Ann Davidson, P.M.

The new officers installed for the ensuing year are: Worthy Matron, Mrs. Lois Chaplin; Worthy Patron, Mr. George Brickwood; Associate Matron, Mrs. Wanda Clare; Associate Patron, Mr. Orley Glass; secretary, Mrs. Wynne Tomlinson; P. M. Treasurer, Mrs. Pearl Johnston, P. M.; Conductress, Mrs. Isobel Gray; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Dorothy Jones; Chaplain, Miss Freida Matthews; marshal, Miss Jeane Stephenson; organist, Mrs. Cleia Elliott; Adah, Mrs. Beverley Shaw; Ruth, Miss Nancy Reynolds; Esther, Mrs. Laura Simpson; Martha, Mrs. Isobel Jones; Electa, Mrs. Margaret Sherry; Warder, Mrs. Florence Moon; Sentinel, Mr. Robert Jones.

After Mrs. Chaplin had been installed into office, Mrs. Anne Davidson, P. M. sang a solo. She also rendered appropriate selection during the installation of the five Star-Point Officers. In a beautiful floral ceremony, each Star-Point Officer was presented with a golden cup filled with roses and with velvet streamers, in the color of her office. A cup was also presented to the Worthy Matron with roses and streamers in all of the Star-Point colors. Each Officer and the Installing Officers had previously been presented with red rose corsages for the Ladies and white carnation boutonnieres for the gentlemen.

The Worthy Matron's corsage of red roses and white carnations was a gift from her husband and sons. She addressed the gathering and stated how happy she was to have her family with her on this memorable occasion. With her in the East was her husband, Mr. Ray Chaplin, a member of the Chapter, and their two sons, also her mother, Mrs. Everett Liddle, PP and her father, Mr. Everett Liddle, PP of the Chapter, also her aunt, Mrs. Nan Westcott. She gave thanks to all who had assisted her on her way to the highest office in Chapter can bestow.

The newly installed Worthy Patron, Mr. George Brickwood, also spoke briefly. With him in the East was his wife Anne, and their daughter.

A telegram of congratulations was received and read by the Worthy Matron and officers from Mrs. Barbara Grasnick and her husband of Kelowna, B.C. Mrs. Grasnick is the Worthy Matron of Kelowna Chapter and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Reed, formerly of Belleville, and members of Bothwell Chapter No. 55, who are now living in Kelowna. She is also the sister of Mrs. Bobbie Locke, PM. Their mother, Mrs. Reed is also a Past Matron.

The evening was brought to a close with a lunch, served by the new officers, and preserved under the convenership of Mrs. Margaret Finnigan and refreshment committee.

THE WINTER BRIDE — Patou uses Scottish green tweed for an elegantly casual suit. The skirt is pleated and the jacket double-breasted. The sporty cap is of white leather. Jean-Louis Sherrer designed the bridal coat-dress with removable cape. The Yorkshire wool is double-faced. Both outfits were shown in recent Paris collections using British fabrics.

Bringing Up Baby.

Hints Collected by Mrs. Don Gerber, Mother of Five

LATEST BABY BULLETIN

Serving a variety of foods is your baby is one of the best ways I know to make an appetite rise to every occasion. Variety is desirable for other reasons. It teaches baby to like all kinds of different flavours. It lays the foundation for future good eating habits. Most important, variety gives baby a wider assortment of the many nutrients he (or she) needs.

What's new? I know you mothers like to hear about new products. The latest delectable is the Gerber Dessert which comes in the junior size jar for enjoyment galore.

New! Peach Cobbler! Flavour-catch of the year! Juicy, ripe peaches are deftly blended with other ingredients for a "happy ending" if there ever was one. Exclusive with Gerber!

Nice! Cherry Vanilla Custard! Rosy reward for a good little eater. Exclusive Gerber Cherry Vanilla combines flavour-rich and smoothness for a smiling finale to any baby meal.

P.S. Don't forget those "oldtime", all-time favourites: Gerber Strained and Junior, Vanilla and Fruit Custards. Also on the tempting dessert roster: Strained Butterscotch, Arrowroot and Banana Custards. With eight strained, four junior desserts, a variety of taste experiences await your little one. Wholesome as they are delicious!

New! Vegetables & Ham with Benzol! A "grown-up" dinner combination translated into a pleasingly mild food for your baby. Selected garden vegetables, succulent ham blend with flavour-some bacon and other good ingredients. A happy choice for baby's lunch or dinner pleasure.

Main Dish Variety. Vegetables and Beef, Chicken Noodle with Vegetables, Vegetables and Lamb. These are just three of 13 nourishing Gerber Strained Dinners to satisfy a hungry baby. Like all Gerber Foods, they're "custom-cooked" — cooking times and temperatures scientifically controlled to preserve a high degree of nutritive values. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Shopping Bag Exposes Grandma's Secret

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 14-year-old girl who needs advice from an older person. The problem is my grandmother. I am staying with her for a month because my folks had to go to another city on business.

I always thought Grandma was the greatest until last week. This is what happened:

Grandma works in a hospital. I noticed that whenever she came home from work she always took her shopping bag to the back of the house. She did it in a way that made me think she was hiding something. Yesterday the phone rang just as Gran was coming in. She said, "I'll answer it," and put her shopping bag on the chair. I couldn't help seeing what was in it. Grandma has been taking bedsheets, pillowcases, washcloths, soap and all sorts of odds and ends from the hospital. Now I know why she gives linens and towels for Christmas and birthdays and weddings. I am just sick about this. Should I tell anyone? If so, whom? — DISAPPOINTED.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Tell your grandmother that she must have gotten some of the hospital property mixed in with hers when she packaged her shopping bag. To circulate the information around the family would serve no useful purpose. Grandma is the only one who needs to know that you are on to her.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am interested in the letter from the man who operates the coin laundry. He said it was a disgrace the way women come in after supper, weary, often pregnant, dragging their bundles, and sometimes a child or two. Where are the husbands? At the ball game or drinking beer in front of the TV, He made it sound pretty grim, Ann, and I'm sure he was speaking for many women across the land. But he wasn't speaking for me.

My husband offered to buy me an automatic washer three times last year but I said no. Going to the coin laundry is my only chance to get out of the house alone.

Two evenings a week my husband does the supper dishes and puts the kids to bed. I take my knitting and a good book and off I go to the coin laundry. It's the most relaxing part of my whole week. I wouldn't give it up for anything. — K.C. ANN FANN.

DEAR K.C.—Thanks for writing. Your letter is proof that nobody can speak for everybody.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 16-year-old girl who has been dating for about six months. I am allowed to go out on Friday and Saturday evenings. My curfew is midnight and I am permitted to invite my date in for 45 minutes.

It sounds good, but wait till you hear the rest. My 11-year-old brother has instructions that whenever I come home from a date he is supposed to join us in the living room while we visit. Most of the time he is dead tired and hates to be bothered, but Dad wakes him up out of a sound sleep and tells him he has to.

Am I wrong to resent this? When I complain to my folks they said a 16-year-old girl should not be saying anything to her boyfriend that her brother shouldn't hear. What do you say? — M. BARRIST.

DEAR M.: I say a girl who is old enough to date doesn't need an 11-year-old chaperone. Your folks are not being fair to you, to your date, or to your brother.

Nearest Thing to Flying

One of the Soviet Union's latest hydrofoils skims along at speeds approaching 40 m.p.h. as it gives passengers the sensation of flying. Called one of the Soviet Union's technical trump cards, hydrofoils raise their bulk at speed to sail along on slender skt-like structures that don't cause extensive wash as do conventional craft at speed. Fire Destroys Many Trailers In Alberta Oil Boom Town

RAINBOW LAKE, Alta. (CP) —A raging fire destroyed 40 per cent of the trailers in a camp just southwest of this oil boom town in northwestern Alberta Tuesday, leaving about 200 men and eight companies without accommodation and offices.

The inferno, which apparently broke out almost simultaneously in four different spots about 2 p.m., swept over an acre of interm-connected trailers in less than two hours, burned 30 residence trailers, four washroom trailers and laundry, recreation, shop and post-office facilities.

Cause of the fire was not immediately known. RCMP are investigating.

Some of the 50 men in the trailers when the fire started suffered minor injuries escaping through windows and fighting the blaze with extinguishers and fire hoses rigged to hydrants.

About 30 men were evacuated to Edmonton on two aircraft during the night. Some oil industry contractors were making alternate arrangements for their men in Rainbow Lake and about 50 men were expected to find bunks in the remaining portion of the camp where a total of about 500 already were accommodated. The Red Cross sent blankets and other supplies to the camp.

Don Brown, a superintendent with Voice Construction of Edmonton and one of 25 men evacuated, said he smashed his way out of his trailer through a window.

"Fire was raging across the site. Men were trying to fight the blaze with water hoses.

"From the moment I stepped from the smoke and saw the extent of the blaze and the men trying to fight it I knew it was a lost cause. I sent one of my men to the airport to book plane flights out."

Albert Bourgeois of Calgary said "The blaze was so quick and sudden we didn't have time to get our clothes out of the trailers."

There was little wind during the fire and temperatures were close to freezing.

A spokesman for Banff Oil Co., which operates the camp through Genus Camp Services, said in Calgary the burned trailers were worth about $125,000. Also lost was $18,000 in the post office for delivery to a bank.

The spokesman said the fire will cause little hardship since the men evacuated from the area will be back to work in about a week.

'False Premise' Strikes Are Bad Blamed For Invasion of Unionists' Liberties

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — The false premise that strikes are bad has brought about invasion of the civil liberties of trade unionists, Donald MacDonald told the Ontario Federation of Labor Tuesday.

Mr. MacDonald, secretary treasurer of the Canadian Labor Congress, told 1,000 delegates to the annual federation convention that the concept that strikes are bad has led to unwarranted legislation and interference with the rights of workers to withhold their labor.

William Maldera, president of the Peterborough Labor Council, who served two months for contempt of court in breaking the Tilco injunction, said all the Ontario federation does is submit briefs protesting injunctions. He complained there was not enough interest in civil disobedience among federation members.

A resolution was passed calling for the removal of injunctions and for the outlawing of outside strike-breakers in labor disputes.

The resolution also asked that sections of the Criminal Code, dealing with picketing be brought up to date to "meet the needs of the 20th Century."

Earlier, Murry Tate, of the Toronto Newspaper Guild, proposed mass demonstrations and an emergency session of the legislature to bring about action on housing.

Discussing the federation's policy statement on housing, John Whitehouse, education director of the Textile Workers Union of America, said it is fruitless for the federal government to offer 75 per cent of the funds needed for housing if the provinces cannot meet the remaining 25 per cent.

The federation also passed a resolution opposing United States military policy in Vietnam.

In executive elections at the convention, David Archer was returned as president of the federation and Douglas Hamilton was re-elected to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Funeral Today

TORONTO (CP) — Funeral services are held today for Howard Milton Davies, 60, chief accountant for the Ontario department of transport, who died at his desk in Queen's Park Monday. Mr. Davies was born and educated in Lindsay.

Strike Deadline Draws Near

DETROIT (AP) — Representatives of the United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. bargained around the clock today trying to avert what would be the second nationwide strike in the U.S. auto industry this year.

Some Chrysler operations were threatened with premature shutdown before tonight's midnight strike deadline as truck drivers moving parts in the Detroit area and workers at one of the firm's two most important stamping operations walked off their jobs Tuesday.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, and John D. Leary, Chrysler vice-president for administration, led the negotiating teams that have been bargaining for a new contract covering 103,000 workers. The latest session of bargaining began at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

More than 6,000 Chrysler employees refused to work at five operations around the country, including the Sterling stamping plant, the Trenton engine plant, and the interplant transportation office, all in the Detroit area; the Newark, Del., car assembly plant; and the Missouri truck assembly plant near St. Louis.

The company said that if truck drivers did not report for duty today, the firm would not be able to operate Detroit-area facilities for more than four hours.

"The truck drivers will be driving," promised Douglas Fraser, UAW Chrysler department director.

UAW officials at the international level have been trying to keep their men on the job, a union spokesman said, but he pointed out that the work stoppages could not be called "wildcat strikes" since the union had no contract.

Woman Wins Her Plea For Longer Prison Term

EDMONTON (CP) — A 22-year-old Kingston woman was granted a longer prison term after her own request Tuesday so she could go to a penitentiary and learn a trade.

Mrs. Carole Windsor told the Alberta Appeal Court: "I want to learn a trade so I can look after my daughter when I come out."

The court extended her 15-month sentence to two years so that she would be sent to the women's penitentiary in Kingston. Prosecutor J. W. K. Shortreed said the Kingston penitentiary is the only place in Canada for a woman to learn a trade during imprisonment.

Mrs. Windsor, who told the court she was married but separated from her husband, was convicted in Calgary in July for possession of forgery instruments and sentenced to nine months.

In October she was convicted of failing to appear for trial in Kingston of a vagrancy charge and her prison term was extended to 15 months.

Her five-year-old daughter currently is being cared for by the Children's Aid Society in Kingston.

Demonstrators Stone Soviet Embassy and Jeer Guests

OTTAWA (CP) — Anti-Communist demonstrators throughout the gates of the Russian embassy Tuesday night tossing eggs, stones, paint and insults.

Diplomats, politicians and their wives were jeered and booed by the crowd of about 300 as they arrived for a two-hour reception marking the 50th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

One woman was struck by an egg and other guests narrowly missed.

A bottle of red paint hit the embassy steps and splattered the entrance. Three windows were broken by flying objects. Police arrested five persons and charged them with creating a disturbance.

Russian Ambassador Ivan F. Stupredko, who had feared trouble, said the demonstrators were war criminals and German fascists.

But reports found most of the placard-carrying group to be younger than middle age.

There were many teen-agers and a number of tots.

The demonstrators were mainly from the Ukraine and the Baltic states, but a scattering of others identified themselves as former citizens of Hungary, Poland, Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

They shouted "shame" and "thiefs" at arriving guests, and chanted "Down with Russia," "Freedom now," and "We'd rather be dead than red."

They buried their leaflets on the embassy lawn and burned a symbolic black coffin and a red flag.

Police struggled to balance the right of free assembly against their duty to protect the embassy. At one point a representative of the external affairs department formally requested stronger police action to prevent rock-throwers from being broken.

External Affairs Minister Martin represented Prime Minister Pearson at the reception.

He ordered his driver once around the block before heading into the embassy grounds.

Inside, Ambassador Stupedko, grabbed his sleeves and said:

"I'll show you some of your gallantry."

But Mr. Martin conferred later with the ambassador and they emerged smiling and shook hands warmly. On his way out, the external affairs minister tipped his hat to the crowd; as he drove off one of the signs was tossed at his car.

The ambassador said through an interpreter that the demonstration was "a provocative and hostile act and the Canadian authorities are responsible for it."

The crowd occasionally sang nationalistic songs. One lively rendition was translated as a taunt against "blue-ribbon Russians."

On Way to Launch

The Apollo 4, the first space vehicle in the U.S. Apollo-Saturn V program, is moved on the mobile launcher to the launch pad. The 364-foot three stage rocket and spacecraft, weighing 6,286,000 pounds when fueled, moves over the specially constructed crawlerway designed to support loads of approximately 18 millions pounds. The launch is scheduled for this month. (CP Photo)

Committee and Witnesses Heatedly Debate Abortion

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons health committee, studying proposed bills to broaden abortion laws, heard its first arguments Tuesday why they should be clarified and tightened.

The committee spent two hours in sometimes heated argument with the witnesses.

Philip Cooper, a federal government information officer and member of the Ottawa Committee for the Defence of Unborn Children, an affiliate of the Toronto-based emergency organization, summed up its position: "Abortion is the unwarranted destruction of human life."

Another point underlying the group's view is that 'life begins at conception."

Dr. Lewis Brand (PC-Saskatoon) said the organization had presented to the committee "highly-inflammable articles" that were not factual.

Along with Grace Maclnnis (NDP-Vancouver Kingsway), he denied the truth of reports of aborted fetuses crying for several minutes before dying, and of a healthy baby delivered in Magnolia, Miss., in 1966 an hour and 30 minutes after its mother was pronounced dead.

Mr. Cooper, his wife Mary, a mother of six who is chairman of the Ottawa committee, and Mrs. Olive Heron, a mother of five and organization president of Scarborough, Ont., accepted the principle of abortion only when it can be shown the pregnant mother's life is in danger if she does not undergo an abortion.

Organization members declined to withdraw several comparisons between the Nazi position on abortion and infanticide and the views of Canadians favoring broader abortion laws.

The briefs argued against rape being a justifiable reason for therapeutic abortion.

Dr. Brand asked Mr. Cooper whether abortion should be allowed when sound medical opinion was that a woman would commit suicide if she did not have an abortion.

Mr. Cooper said that if it could be proven with "real, true certainty" that the mother was likely to kill herself, then he would accept the hypothesis as a basis for argument.

The brief said there is a danger that broadening the law would lead to women faking suicidal tendencies.

None of the witnesses would agree that abortions should be allowed on the general grounds that the mother's physical and mental health would benefit. There had to be a direct threat to the mother's life.

Stanley Knowles (NDP-Winnipeg North Centre) said the witnesses were inconsistent, arguing at one point that life exists from the moment of conception, then agreeing that in a certain instance they would allow the taking of that "life."

Mr. Cooper said he would favor a prohibition against allowing pregnant women to go ahead for abortions. On another point, he said he personally is not opposed to contraception. It was preferable to abortion.

Michael Forrestall (PC-Halifax) won committee agreement to investigate the possibility of engaging expert staff, preferably gynecologists, to aid the committee in its future meetings.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

Every year we have a winter — and every year thousands of motorists react to the snow and freezing temperatures with a sort of shocked surprise.

They were not ready. And forgetful motorists are turned into pedestrians . . . the walking wounded in the second battle with nature.

"We get the same faces every year" says the OML garage. "Some have forgotten about anti-freeze and everything is frozen. With others, the car simply won't start. It's the same as fresco plates. They have everything to the last minute. That is why we are all tied up with the first cold snap every winter."

The motorist might have to add some anti-freeze to the radiator and windshield washers, put on snow tires and throw a bot of sand in the trunk to give the back wheels more traction. For the person with 10,000 miles on his car, not much more preparation is needed. But he could have trouble starting on a cold morning unless he gets new spark plugs and points — and the carburetor should be adjusted. Drivers of cars with more mileage can expect trouble unless they have a real effort to get ready for the Arctic breezes.

Here's what the mechanics say should be done to avoid frustration and delay and possible damage when the cold comes:

Batteries in all cars should be checked. Batteries more than two years old should be replaced. Battery cables must be checked for corrosion.

Install new condenser, spark plugs and points.

Check hoses leading from the radiator. If they are beginning to feel soft there could be trouble.

Check the heating system and windshield wipers to make sure defects have not developed. Carry a good windshield scraper in the car.

Snow tires are a must and chains could be carried for real emergencies.

Wax the car before salting starts and paint over all scratches.

The manager for road service for the Ontario Motor League, says that for a car in good condition a service station check should cost about $18 and include anti-freeze, plugs and points. The cost rises if other parts like the battery must be replaced.

The main thing is to get the winterizing done now. "People who wait until the temperature dips create havoc at the service stations. Everyone is overworked and the motorist doesn't get as good a job," he says.

Safe Driving Tips

1. - Unless you are signalling for a turn, or to slow down the proper place for both hands is on the wheel.

2. - When you are travelling on a freeway or expressway, plan your exit well in advance. Accidents often happen when drivers spot their exit lanes late and make sudden changes in speed and direction.

3. - When at home or visiting, park your car in the garage or driveway. Cars parked on residential streets are a definite and largely unnecessary traffic hazard.

4. - A clean windshield is a necessity for safe night driving.

5. - Speed rules are set for maximum safety and are based on careful studies. Different speed limits are usually set for residential and business districts, for curves, bridges, parks and school zones. And in some provinces, there are lower speed limits for nighttime driving. Be aware of these limits, says the Ontario Motor League-Eastern Ontario Club, make allowances for the weather and enjoy your motoring safely.

6. - Be considerate of other motorists and don't become irritated at someone else's poor driving lest it affect your own better judgment.

7. - When someone gives you a break in traffic, wave a thank you, and vow to return the courtesy to another driver at the next opportunity. Courtesy is contagious. Remember when you are driving courteous driving is comfortable driving.

Increase in Unemployment Is 'Unusually Large'

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment showed "an unusually large increase" between September and October, jumping to 254,000 at mid-October from 219,000 the previous month and 185,000 a year earlier, a joint federal report said today.

The October unemployed represented 3.3 per cent of the total labor force, up from 2.8 per cent in September and 2.6 per cent in October last year.

A report by the manpower department and the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said non-farm employment, which usually increases between September and October, dropped by 42,000.

Employment in the construction industry was down 33,000 and manufacturing jobs showed a drop of 18,000, partly due to layoffs in the auto industry resulting from the Ford strike in the United States.

Comparing October with the same month last year, the labor force was up 172,000 but employment rose by only 113,000, adding another 59,000 to the ranks of unemployed.

Manufacturing jobs were down 68,000 on the year and the construction industry dropped 29,000. There were increases, however, in the trade, agriculture and service sectors.

The job picture in brief, with estimates in thousands:

	Oct. Sept.	Oct.
	1967 1967	1966
Labor Force	7,691 7,720	7,518
Employed	7,437 7,511	7,326
Unemployed	254 219	192

These estimates are based on a sample survey of 35,000 households conducted during the week ended Oct. 14.

After adjustments to discount seasonal factors, the national unemployment rate was 4.7 per cent in October compared with 4.1 per cent in September and 3.7 in October last year. Two years ago this rate was 2.4 per cent.

The unadjusted rate varied regionally from a high of 5.1 per cent in British Columbia to a low of 1.5 per cent on the Prairies. It was 4.1 per cent for the Atlantic region, 2.6 in Ontario and 4.4 in Quebec.

It was the first time in years that B.C.'s jobless rate has topped the regional breakdown. In September the B.C. rate was 3.7 per cent and was exceeded by the Quebec and Atlantic figures.

The report noted that about half the drop in total employment between September and October was among persons under 25, reflecting the reopening of university courses.

A decline of 32,000 in farm jobs, to 603,000 at mid-October, was about normal for the period.

The rise in unemployment was mainly among men 25 years and over. Unemployed layoffs accounted for 22,000 jobless in October.

Of the total out of work, 190,000 had been seeking jobs for four months or less. Another 25,000 had been unemployed for four to six months and 39,000 for seven months or more.

Slums Have Own Set of Values

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Governor Rooney didn't lose my respect with his "brainwashing" statement—that was merely a loose use of a slippery word. Where he lost it was, a few weeks later, in his tour of the urban slums.

When, during his Chicago visit, reporters asked him a question about Vietnam policy, Governor Rooney replied, "That's a political question and I won't answer it now, because I'm not on a political tour."

If anything could be more politically inspired than his tour of the urban slums at this particular time, I can't imagine what it would be. Moreover, the tour itself was a cheap and vulgar way of trying to dramatize his interest in the slum problem.

There is no need for the governor of Michigan, who presumably knows what the Detroit ghetto is like, to visit the slums of Chicago or any other big city. For the important thing about them is that they are all depressingly alike. For, like a governor's inauguration, once you've seen one, you've seen them all.

Even if there were significant differences among the slums, how could any celebrated visitor distinguish them in a half-a-day of trotting around, shaking a few hands, riding a bus, and chatting with people who have little but sullen contempt for what he represents?

I am not talking politics here, but simply human relations. What is cruel and corrupt and bestial in the slums is not so much the actual physical living conditions — ghastly as they are — but the mental and emotional and spiritual miasma that suffocates its inhabitants from birth.

The whole sub-culture of the slums — anywhere and everywhere — is based on a value system of its own: a system not acknowledged, and scarcely recognized, by upright and hypocrite men like Governor Romney, no matter which party they belong to.

This system has the code of the jungle, where a vicious struggle for existence goes on every day. Words like "law" and "justice" and "liberty" are meaningless verbal counters there; the operative words are "connections" and "pie" and "muscle" and "shakedown" and "payoff" and such realistic colloquialisms.

There, "government" is an abstraction; "authority" is a menace. "police protection" is a sour joke. "Opportunity" is a fast buck. It is a world of rejection, expulsion and profession, bondsmen, bail collectors and runners, juice operators and drug pedlars, absentee landlords and predatory merchants — as far from the clear-eyed and ogling naive world of Governor Romney as Kafka's castle from the Emerald City of Oz.

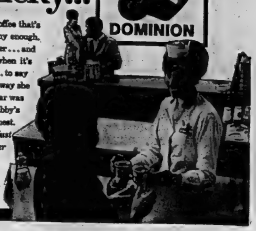
New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran concentrate. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.



If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bothy fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Vivien Rodgers is just plain finicky...

She's finicky about all sorts of things. Little things like coffee that's not quite hot enough . . . silverware that's not quite shiny enough. She's finicky about little spills or smudges on the counter . . . and yesterday's donuts. She even fusses over her uniform when it's wrinkled or her name badge when it's a little crooked . . . to say nothing about the service. That has to be "just so". The way she fusses over all those little things you'd think the Snack Bar was her own kitchen . . . and she was preparing dinner for hubby's boss. She treats every customer like her own special guest. Only the finest is good enough for them. Now that's being just plain finicky. What's more . . . it seems that all our other Snack Bar girls are finicky too! The whole thing has gotten out of hand, imagine . . . now our Snack Bar customers are telling us they like finicky Snack Bar service. FRANKLY . . . we wouldn't have it any other way!

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

They may not grow turkeys out there in a Saskatchewan village called Floral, but they have come up with a hockey player that shows all the feared impressive-with-ups characteristics of the noble bird.

Since that memorable day 22 years ago when a professional scout plucked him from between the goal-posts of his public-school hockey team, Gordie Howe has blazed a trail that is studded with records matched only perhaps by the immortal Ty Cobb.

Howe will blow out forty candles on his birthday cake come March 31st, 1968. Bill Cook a long-time idol of Howes was 41 when he hung up his gear. But because of war service Cook did not make the pro ranks until he was 26.

Howe was a beardless youngster of 17 when Jolly Jewn Adams of the Detroit Red Wings signed him, put blue in the Gait Juniors later to the Red Wings.

If he had a dollar for every time he's been asked "How long do you intend playing hockey?" he'd be able to buy a half share in Fort Knox .He had a stock answer for that some time ago. "Until I'm 46."

That statement was made with the familiar upsidy-down, lip-twisting smile. Right now, it looks as though the famous "quip" could become a reality.

But he...added seriously "I'd going to stick with hockey as long as I can breathe. It's the only life I know. It's my life. I'd be lost with anything else."

...One Howe fan quipped that Expo officials missed the boat when they omitted to open the Howe collection of trophies and awards in a special sports building. "The Russians and Czechs would have gotten a surprising eyeful."

Howe has a story-book record in the National Hockey League.

He has won the Art Ross Trophy a half-dozen times, the Hart Trophy ditto; had 18 straight seasons scoring 20 or more goals, seven NHL championship finishes, four Stanley Cup playoff sweeps and more ice time than any player since the red line came into being.

He told me once in a Rossmere cottage that one of his toughest challenges comes when he goes into a scoring slump. Back in the 1964-65 season he went 12 games without a goal — his longest slump since he came to the Red Wings in 1946-47.

"Every pro athlete has slumps," he said. "There's no sure cure. You just keep plugging and hope you'll come out of it. In my case I think the boys worried as much or even more about it than I did. It isn't any fun."

And if any of the city's anti-arena buffs think that such a thing is an unnecessary

Up-to-date, Howe like Bobby Hull does not let the fact their clubs are doing badly spoil their individual play.

Hull is hitting a fast pace with 11 goals — a goals-game clip — and five assists for 16 points.

The Wings ran into a roadblock in their three games last week as they were unable to pick up a point with three straight defeats two of them at the hands of expansion clubs.

But big Gordie Howe demonstrated why at 39 he is one of hockey's hottest properties. Despite the Wings' poor showing he picked up four goals and one assist to move him into a tie at the top with Hull.

The ageless Howe is ahead of his goal-scoring pace of last season when he scored Number Ten in Detroit's 23rd game. So far this season he has 10 goals in 12 games and six assists for a total of 16 points.

Overtime Battle

Sprott Luck Gives Aces 3-2 Win!

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Coach Floyd Crawford summed it up for his Mo-Hawks following last night's heartbreaking 3-2 sudden-death overtime loss to the Kingston Aces here.

"How can we play that well and still lose? That kid is good for three; must have been unconscious. There's just no way we should have lost that one."

The "kid in goal" was Aces' Neil Perry, who turned in a tremendous game between the pipes. He stole at least a half dozen goals from the Mo-Hawks and turned back the best they had in a hard-driving second-period assault before only 925 paid admissions.

At the other end, the setback was a rough one for goalie Joe Junkin who played another strong game only to lose the puck on the winning goal at 2:44 of the sudden-death overtime.

Tom Carty shot from the corner of the net and Junkin went low to glove the puck. It fell loose and Junkin did not see it as Carty passed out front for Jim Sprott's winning backhand from the goal-mouth jam-up.

"I was sure the puck was in my glove, then when I saw it was loose, I still thought I had it under my pad when he went to pass it across," Junkin said in the dressing room.

The Aces forced overtime when ex-pro Lorne Ferguson, playing only his second game this year, scored on a good backhand at 17:00 of the third. He went in with Bob Rawson and converted the pass on a two-on-one play.

Had it not been for Perry, Belleville would have held a much wider lead but the Kingston goalie robbed Dave Jones down and Lloyd on goals and beat just about every Mo-Hawk at least once.

Junkin brought the fans up cheering, too, when he gloved Charley Convery's shot as he broke in alone at 18:45 of the third.

The Aces, who outshot Belleville 43-37 over all, fell behind 1-0 on a powerplay goal at 12:42 of the opening stanza. Jones slipped the puck back to Wayne Brown at the point and Minnie Menard, perked at the edge of the crease, jabbed Brown's rebound past Perry.

The Mo-Hawks bounced the Aces in all during Jim Gebhardt's penalty at 8:48 of the second but just as he returned John Mercer broke out off his own end. Too tired to catch him, the Mo-Hawks were caught up ice. Junkin stopped the original shot but Gebhardt fired the rebound into the open goal.

Menard, Jones, Godson, McAlpine, Baker and Brown fell victims to Perry's wizardry. Both goalies shone with Convery and Wayne McConnell serving fighting majors and Perry made clutch stops on low blasts by Brown and Jones from the point, when Stinson's penalty overlapped.

Marlboros Bow to Orillia

The slumping Toronto Marlboros continued their OHA Senior "A" skid in Orillia where the Pepsi's scored a 5-2 victory.

Toronto, for the league lead a week ago, have slipped to sixth place, one point up on Belleville and Barrie.

Tail - end Orillia's win was number two of the season and was a taste of revenge for an earlier 9-1 loss to the Marlies.

Bob Forhan led the winners' attack with two goals and Wayne Cheesman, Billy Little and George Vail got the others. Don Fuller scored both Toronto goals.

Bob McAlpine burst through at 6:14 of the third and Mickey Chervesky was on the spot to rap home the rebound to put Belleville ahead for the second time. Jones drew his second assist of the night by starting the rush.

Perry kept it close until Ferguson's equalizer — and the rest is history. The Mo-Hawks, while overshot, had the better scoring chances.

The Aces, with Gary Lewalle and Jim Stinson of Kingston intermediates dressed in place of injured regulars, suffered two more minor injuries. Ed Long stopped a Grey Marchon shot with his mouth and John Mercer was knocked cold by either a shoulder or elbow belonging to Wayne McConnell.

The Mo-Hawks next see action in Guelph Friday.

Meet Oshawa For Title

Quinte Saints Beard Lions 20-1

PETERBOROUGH — Belleville's Quinte Secondary School lost hopes on winning football games.

They won their 20th straight game Tuesday afternoon when they scored a 20-1 victory over Adam Scott Lions here.

The triumph puts the Saints into the Central Ontario Secondary School senior final Saturday afternoon against Oshawa. The game will be played in Belleville at Quinte field, at 1:30.

Quinte are defending COSSA Champions.

The visitors started slowly, just holding a 7-0 half time lead. They broke the game wide open late in the third quarter and the Lions collapsed in the final 15 minutes.

The Saints really didn't make the Lions look bad until they had scored their second touchdown of the game with 40 seconds left in the third quarter.

Belleville stopped the Lions' offense cold time and time again and intercepted four passes by quarterback Tom Evans.

The turning point came late in the third quarter when Evans, fading back to pass, had the ball knocked out of his hand by Al Partington. George Bateman recovered and ran it to the Lions' 45 before Mike Budd tackled him.

Belleville took five plays to score their second major of the game. The highlight of the march was a 30-yard pass and run play from quarterback Paul Whalen to Terry Wellesley. Harold Townsend went over from the one-yard-line on the next play.

Quinte opened the scoring with 33 seconds left in the quarter. Starting on the one, Belleville needed eight plays to go in front.

Whalen and Barry Burnett marched the ball to Quinte's 53 before Townsend galloped 57 yards. He was stopped at the line of scrimmage, but shook himself loose to go all the way.

Whalen's convert was good.

The score stayed that way until Steve Jordan picked up the Lions' lone point with a 35-yard third down punt that went over the dead ball line in the third quarter.

Townsend's second TD of the game took the wind out of Adam Scott's sails.

Quinte settled the outcome early in the fourth quarter, when Wellesley went over on a quick opening, starting from Belleville's 31. Wellesley and Townsend drove to the Lions' 45 and Townsend picked up another five on the next play.

Wellesley scampered 40 yards for the major through the centre. Whalen's convert was good.

Defeat Peterborough 25-6

BCI Juniors Enter Grid-Finals!

By ROBERT SNEFJELLA

Yesterday's weather wasn't 'ideal for' a football playoff, but that didn't bother Belleville Collegiate in the least.

Snow or no snow, the local Junior powerhouse ripped apart Stewart Auburn of Peterborough 25-6 to advance into the General Ontario finals against Oshawa.

The game, played at Quinte S.S., was greeted by a heavy fall of snow which lasted until the half. As a result conditions were sloppery at best, with both sides guilty of fumbles and mayplays.

BCI mounted a strong attack throughout the contest in spite of the tricky footing, with fullback Dave Wright showing the way. The speedy runner scored two touchdowns and rolled the game's only convert. He also threw several key passes to bring his team into scoring position.

The winners managed the only touchdown of the first half with backfielder Mike Scarlett setting up Gord Bridge's scoring plunge with a 45-yard run. Another BCI drive ended on a Peterborough's doorstep when the half came to a close.

Wright scored BCI's next score. He threw a 35 yard strike to Brian Drumm and then completed the drive with a five yard touchdown run. The fullback later gave BCI a 19-0 lead with his second touchdown of the third quarter.

The lovers mounted their only successful drive late in the game. Quarterback Jim Riley tossed a 35 yard pass to end Jim Bignand and moments later halfback Bob Patterson raced 20 yards for the score.

BCI was not finished, though, and scored again before the game ended. Paul Hall ran 30 yards to reach pay dirt.

Ron Huiser's interception gave the Stewart Auburn pass in the third quarter was one of the game's key defensive plays.

Joining Wright as offensive standouts were Jamie Cant, Bill Buchanan, Scarlett and Drumm.

Prior to yesterday's clash both teams boasted 6-0 regular season records.

Quinte Basketball League

Cobourg Merchants showed plenty of scoring punch but RCAF Flyers left most of theirs at the air base in a Quinte Basketball League doubleheader here last night.

Cobourg whipped the winless Belleville Aces 76-49 and the Flyers bowed 48-29 to the Belleville Teachers.

After two games each, Cobourg has four points, Teachers and RCAF two each and the Aces none.

The visiting Cobourg squad broke into a 40-25 half - time lead while trumping the Aces. Days sparked the winners' attack with 14 points but was closely followed by Jeff Ravensdale with 13 and Dennis Clarke with 11.

Brian Langabeer hooped 13, Don Smith 11 and Clair Leahy 10 for the Aces.

The Teachers led 23-11 at the half and increased their spread in the later going. The Flyers missed several key men in their line-up.

Bruce Faules exploded for 19 points to spark the Teachers' triumph. Doug Irvine hit for 10 and Wally Uhryzuk contributed nine.

The Flyers' top scorers were Ernie Clark and Joe Theriault, with six each, and Paul Hargreaves, with four.

Hawks Rally To Defeat The Bulls

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Louis Hawks blew a 17-point lead but came back to defeat Chicago Bulls 111-106 in a National Basketball Association game Tuesday.

Zelmo Beaty topped the St. Louis scorers with 24 points. Bob Boozer led the Bulls with 25 points.

At San Diego, Wilt Chamberlain triggered a 12-point second-quarter rally to lead Philadelphia 76ers to a 130-105 victory over the San Diego Rockets.

Oakland Seals Curtsey To Kings In Eleventh Straight Loss

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barry Van Gerbig may have had more than local patrons in mind when he asked the National Hockey League office for permission to change the name of California Seals to Oakland Seals.

The owner of the expansion team in the NHL may also have been hoping to break a string of ill fortunes that has generally dogged his team through the early part of the schedule.

In 13 games this season, the Seals have managed wins in only their first two games, going winless in the last 11.

They've managed to produce —29 goals—but have allowed more than their share—40—as they continue to drop deeper into the cellar of the six-team expansion division.

Their luck was not any better Tuesday when they blew a 3-0 second period lead before 3,164 home fans and lost 5-4 to division-leading Los Angeles Kings.

The Seals outshot the Kings 33-28, but succumbed when Ed Joyal and Brian Smith beat goalie Charlie Hodge late in the third period.

The other Los Angeles goals were by Terry Gray, Gord Labossiere and Bill White while George Swarbrick and Mike Corbett beat Los Angeles goalie Wayne Rutledge in the first period and Alain Caron opened the second with their third goal.

Only the Kings have allowed more goals—41—in the division while the Seals are third in scoring behind the 41 goals scored by Los Angeles and the 31 by Pittsburgh Penguins.

To make matters even worse, tonight they have to play host to Toronto Maple Leafs, tied for first place in the veteran Eastern Division with New York Rangers.

The Rangers are at home to Boston Bruins, Montreal Canadiens are at Chicago, Philadelphia Flyers are at Pittsburgh and St. Louis Blues are at Minnesota in other games tonight.

Thursday the Leafs are in Los Angeles while Pittsburgh is at Detroit.

Van Gerbig, owner of the Seals, Sunday announced he was applying for the name change because about 70 per cent of his team's support comes from Oakland. He said the league forced him to choose between San Francisco and California Seals as the team name even though their home rink is in Oakland.

The club opened the season by beating Philadelphia 5-2 and Minnesota 6-0, but since has managed only three ties in 11 outings.

The Leafs, who started the season with indifferent results, are arriving for their first western road trip with a four-game undefeated string, including three wins and a tie.

In other expansion division activity Tuesday, Pittsburgh announced that Leo Lapointe's sale of 40 per cent of its stock to Atlanta Braves baseball team of the National League had fallen through.

Cepeda; National MVP

SAN JUAN (AP)—Puerto Rican Orlando Cepeda, named the National League's Most Valuable Player in a unanimous vote, is a very happy and proud man.

The Cards' big first baseman became the first player in the history of the National League to receive unanimous support from the MVP award.

He won with the highest batting average since Pittsburgh's Dick Groat won it batting .325 in 1960. Cepeda finished the season also with .325, hit 25 homers and batted in 111 runs, top in the circuit.

"This is the most marvelous thing that could happen to a ball player," Cepeda said after receiving a telephone call from St. Louis announcing the award. "This is so big, specially when I was to close to quitting the game because of my knee injury. Imagine, for the second year in a row a Puerto Rican player wins the award," Cepeda added.

He was referring to Roberto Clemente, the Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder who won last year and was third in the voting this year. Clemente received 129 points this time and finished behind catcher Tim McCarver of the Cardinals, who got 136 points.

Barons Up Top Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleveland Barons kept on climbing atop the Western Division of the American Hockey League Tuesday night while the race behind them just got tighter.

The Barons dropped Baltimore 6-3 on Howie Glover's three goals while second-place Buffalo Bisons lost 6-4 to Vancouver Canucks of the Western League and Quebec Aces joined Buffalo and Rochester Americans, each with 10 points, by beating Rochester 8-3.

N.H.L. Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The 5-4 victory by Los Angeles Kings over Oakland Seals in the only scheduled National Hockey League game Tuesday night had no affect on the scoring race, except to add two minutes in penalties to the total of Oakland's Bill Hicke.

Bobby Hull of Chicago Black Hawks and Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings still lead the list with 18 points each, Hull on 11 goals and Howe on 18, with Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal Canadiens close behind with 14 points on seven goals and seven assists.

The leaders: (C—Chicago, D—Detroit, M—Montreal, B—Boston, T—Toronto, NY—New York, Pitt—Pittsburgh, O—Oakland).

'Get Out Of Football'

Fans, Press Blast Larks' Owner

MONTREAL (CP) — "Disappointing, disgusting, disillusioning."

Key Dalton, Montreal Alouettes head coach, uses these adjectives to describe his first season at the helm of the Eastern Football Conference cellar-dwellers—a season that produced only two wins in 14 starts.

"A winning team would correct all the problems people feel exist," says co-owner Ted Workman, aware of the rising tide of resentment that has boiled up against the team's owners in the wake of the dismal showing on the field.

Personal attacks on Workman have come through the local press and communications media in an effort to pressure him into foregoing ownership of the team.

These attacks were manifest last Saturday when a banner was unfurled and carried around the park by a pair of fans.

"Workman get out of football and we will get a winner," read the bold letters.

Many of the faithful who braved a steady downpour to watch the Als lose 15-1 to the powerful Ottawa Rough Riders, gave a bigger cheer for the banner bearers than they reserved for the play of the team.

Dalton said the loss of rookie quarterback Carroll Williams before the season really got under way and linebacker Al Ecuyer in mid-season hurt his squad.

He said he had considered George Bork his No. 1 quarterback at the start of the season, but Bork came up with a sore elbow after Bernie Faloney departed for the B.C. Lions and subsequently was cut.

Dalton said the club did Faloney a favor in letting him go.

"Faloney for Mike Webster wouldn't normally be a good trade—but this wasn't normal and Webster is going to make a huge contribution to Alouette football."

Webster is a 23-year-old, 260-pound defensive tackle who figures highly in plans for next year.

Dalton said he was happy with the trade of defensive halfback Ed Learn and linebacker Jim Andreotti in Toronto Argonauts for Ecuyer. However, he had erred in trading place-kicker Peter Kempf to Edmonton Eskimos for Manley Sarnowski.

"Don't blame Ted (Workman) or Joe Atwell, it was me," Dalton said. Atwell is president of the club and co-owner with Workman.

"Kidnap Him"

Argos Problem; Stop Jackson!

TORONTO (CP) — Argonauts feel there is only one obstacle between them and the Eastern Football Conference final — quarterback Russ Jackson.

The Argos contend that if they can stop Jackson they can defeat Ottawa Rough Riders in the sudden-death semi-final in Ottawa Sunday.

The winner will meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats in a two-game total-point final for the right to represent the East in the Grey Cup at Ottawa Dec. 2.

"After our back-to-back games against Ottawa, I'm convinced the surest way to beat them is to kidnap Jackson and lock him up until the game is over," says Steve Sucic, Toronto's defensive coach.

"I had some doubts about Jackson's response to pressure, but not after what he did to us."

The Argonauts managed to tie the Rough Riders 28-28 in Toronto Oct. 22, but lost 28-18 after holding a 14-9 lead in Ottawa Oct. 28.

"I don't think any team got to Jackson the way we did," says Sucic. "On one play we blitzed and dumped him hard for a 14-yard loss. The next play we're running down Jackson's throat and he's looking downfield for Walt Tucker or Margene Adkins ignoring the rush.

"He completed a 34-yard pass for a first down. I take my hat off to Jackson. Just for that coolness under fire he's a better quarterback than Calgary's Peter Liske.

"And that doesn't take into account Jackson's ability to roll out and run with the ball. In my opinion, Jackson is having his best season ever."

Toronto coach Leo Ciahl doesn't admit to any game plan that might plug the barrel of Jackson's shotgun, but he does admit that the Ottawa quarterback has been extremely hot during the final games of the regular season.

That Elusive Grey Cup

Clair; Tough Road Ahead

OTTAWA (CP) — Fans are worrying about Grey Cup tickets. Groundskeepers are worrying about the Grey Cup field. City officials are worrying about Grey Cup arrangements.

But coach Frank Clair of Ottawa Rough Riders probably is doing more worrying about the Grey Cup than anyone in the capital.

He wants to get his team into the Dec. 2 Canadian Football League championship game.

The first hurdle facing Clair on Sunday's Eastern Football Conference semi-final against Toronto Argonauts. If he clears that, he will face an even tougher problem in the two-game final against Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Right now, Clair can't afford to worry about Hamilton. The Argos, injuries and the U.S. draft have combined to provide even an optimist with cause for concern. And Clair is no optimist.

Argos have not been in the EFC playoffs since 1961—the year they finished third and eliminated the second-place Riders 43-3 in the semi-final before bowing out to Hamilton in the finals.

Argos failed to win any of their three games against Ottawa during the regular season, but looked impressive in a 28-28 tie the two teams played in Toronto.

Two injured players are expected to be in uniform for the Riders Sunday but Clair still is not sure how much action they will see.

Billy Cline, defensive half and second-string quarterback behind Russ Jackson, does the Ottawa punting and punting could be the decisive factor if there is poor weather Sunday.

Defensive tackle Ted Collins who has been kept on the bench by an elbow injury has not been missed too much, thanks to the steady work of veteran Moe Levesque.

Riders still have not received any word about the requested DSC draft deferment for rookie Tom Schuette, who was ordered to report to the U.S. army Nov. 17, before the EFC final starts.

OTTAWA (CP) — David H. Orr, 38, has been appointed the CBC's director of information services. Mr. Orr, a native of St. Stephen, N.B., joined the CBC in 1956 as a news editor in Halifax and was transferred to Ottawa last year as co-ordinator of audience relations. He was named corporate supervisor of information services in April.

Western Stars Twinkle In Football Firmament; 3 Set Records

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The word is records and the names are Lake, Evanshen and Reed with release today of final Western Football Conference statistics.

Quarterback Peter Liske and split end Terry Evanshen are the passing and receiving punch that carried Calgary Stampeders to first place in the conference and fullback George Reed is the running power that took Saskatchewan Roughriders to a tie on points with Calgary.

The Stampeders won the bye into the conference playoff final by beating Saskatchewan in two of three meetings although both recorded 12-4 won-lost records on the season.

Reed assembled perhaps the most impressive record by becoming the first player in Canadian Football League history to carry the ball more than 300 times in one season.

He rushed for 1,471 yards and scored 15 touchdowns for second place in conference scoring with 90 points, 12 fewer than Evanshen made on 17 touchdown receptions.

But the 302 carries by the Washington State grad makes him second only to the all-time record of 305 carries by Jimmy Brown of Cleveland Browns of the National League in 1963.

Evanshen, a Montreal native who attended Utah State, established the all-pro record shared by Hugh Campbell of Saskatchewan, Don Hutson of Green Bay Packers, Elroy Hirsch of Los Angeles Rams and Bill Groman of Houston Oilers.

The 86 passes he caught eclipsed the CFL record of 82 taken by Hal Patterson for Montreal Alouettes in 1958 and is third only to the 101 taken by Charley Hennigan of Houston in 1964 and 100 by Lionel Taylor of Denver Broncos in 1962.

But Lake, the 25-year-old Penn State grad who wasn't considered good enough for Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Conference, developed to become the best passer in Canadian and U.S. history.

Of 328 passes he completed 203 for 49 touchdowns—all pro records—for 4,479 yards and a completion average of .590.

Jack Abendschan of Saskatchewan was third in scoring with 80 points, but his 17 field goals were good enough only to tie Peter Kempf of Edmonton Eskimos for the lead in that division and his 33 converts were second to the 37 kicked by Bob Goode of Calgary.

Alan Ford of Calgary had the best punting average—44.3 yards—and Dick Dupuis of Calgary the best punt return average—eight yards. Al Ford of Saskatchewan had kicked return runs with an 26.5-yard average.

Scoring leaders: C-Calgary; S-Saskatchewan; E-Edmonton; B.C.-British Columbia; W-Winnipeg.

Plan Changed

Hurts Spike Argo Guns!

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts may be going into Sunday's sudden-death Eastern Football Conference semi-final against Ottawa Rough Riders with most of their guns spiked.

They started the season as a passing team behind the intricate formations designed by coach Leo Cahill and under the guidance of quarterback Wally Gabler.

But by the end of the 14-game campaign during which they won their first playoff berth in five years, the Argos had become the best rushing club in the four-team league with 2,171 yards to their credit.

This wasn't much more than 2,016 yards gun up by Ottawa, but it was a strong indication that they finally had found the running combination a series of coaches have been searching for over several years.

Toward the end of the season, Gabler unexpectedly lost the range of his receivers—a circumstance that could be near Cahill have been able to explain —and the running game became even more important than before.

Then, when it was most needed, the running game came down with a severe case of the limps.

Fullback Jim Dillard injured and re-injured an already wobbly knee, halfback Joe Williams and halfback Bill Symons suffered severely bruised ribs and Gabler came up with badly bruised ribs in the final scheduled game against Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday.

But the reason for this switch is very much in action with the continued fine play of Toronto's offensive line.

Bill Frank and Danny Nykiforuk have long been regarded as two of the strongest offensive tackles in Canadian football as has guard Kent Francisco.

The Big Plus has been the play of converted fullback guard Bob Swift. Even Cahill is impressed with his development at a strange position.

The winner of Sunday's semi-final meets Hamilton in a two-game, total-point final to decide the eastern entry in the Dec. 2 Grey Cup championship in Ottawa.

Sunday's 2 p.m. EST game will be televised nationally by CTS.

Looking at the strength of Ottawa, which finished second to Hamilton on the season, the Toronto coaching staff saw quarterback Russ Jackson as the big stumbling block.

"I had some doubts about Jackson's response to pressure," said defensive coach Steve Sucic, "but not after what he did to us."

The Argos tied the Riders 28-28 in Toronto Oct. 22 but lost 29-28 after holding a 14-0 lead in Ottawa Oct. 28.

"After our back-to-back games against Ottawa, I'm convinced the secret way to beat them is kidnap Jackson and lock him up until after the game is over."

Minor Hockey

A couple of individual scoring efforts highlighted opening of three BMHA novice division games played last night.

R. Blatchford scored three goals for the winners and H. Means netted four in defeat as Dukes nipped the Aces 6-5. Blatchford added one assist for a four-point performance. Paul Cosino had a goal and two assists—for the Dukes, T. Meagher and J. Wallace a goal each, J. Osbourne, J. Lawson, R. Garish, S. Warwick and G. Cox assists. Means got scoring help from M. Fox, who bagged the Aces' goal and two assists, and B. Adamson with one assist.

The Aces downed the Wings 4-1 as B. McIntyre collected one goal and one assist. S. Welch, M. Allison and John McAuley also scored; and G. Fralick had an assist. Geoff Siddall scored unassisted for the Wings.

Rangers and Leafs played a 3-3 tie, Wayne Bennett potted two and Kerr once for the Rangers, Whalen and Bunnett getting assists. Tony Bennett posted two Leaf goals and John Sturgeon the other. Hay, J. Belanger and Sturgeon drew assists.

Rest Will Help Edmonton

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four extra days of inaction offer a big bonus to Edmonton Eskimos in their Western Football Conference sudden-death semi-final against Saskatchewan Roughriders Saturday.

The third - place Eskimos finished the schedule last Wednesday with a 34-8 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the same club the Riders defeated 26-14 in their windup game Sunday.

While the Riders and Bombers met in a contest that had no bearing on Saskatchewan's second-place finish, Edmonton's wounded convalesced. Coach Orv Still Armstrong used the layoff everyone ready for the contest in Regina.

The effect may be most noticeable on halfback Don Lisbon, acquired in mid-season from Montreal Alouettes.

Lisbon, leading rusher in the Eastern Conference last season, has been hampered by a pulled leg muscle and has been largely confined to blocking duty.

Riders won two of their three games with Edmonton this season but Eskimos are on a five-game winning streak including a 21-17 decision over Saskatchewan at Edmonton.

Both clubs lost twice in three meetings with the first-place Calgary Stampeders, who open a best-of-three series against the winner Nov. 18 in Calgary.

Both did well against the four eastern clubs, Saskatchewan defeating all four while Edmonton lost only to Ottawa Rough Riders.

Who Knows?

"Gramp" Bower, 44, Or More!

TORONTO (CP)—There'll be a difference when goaltender Johnny Bower celebrates his birthday in sunny California today.

He won't be there to escape the dreary Canadian weather and no one will know which birthday he's celebrating. It is only certain that he's under 45.

The National Hockey League has his birth date listed as Nov. 8, 1994, which will make him 43 today.

"I'll be 44," Bower says.

Many think, but no one is certain, that he might never see 45 again.

"I'm a young man—a young 44," Bower says. "I've lied about my age so many times that I'm not really sur out to now myself."

Bower will probably celebrate the birthday by playing for Toronto Maple Leafs against Oakland Seals tonight.

"I told the guy a long time ago to throw away his birth certificate," says Toronto coach Punch Imlach. "Who cares how old he is when he's that great?"

But even Imlach admits that Bower's reflexes, still razor sharp, could go anytime.

"He could just skate out there one day for practice and be an old man," Imlach says.

Strangely enough, Bower does not look like an old man or even a middle-aged man. His face, despite the scars of his trade, is as pink and unlined. There is no bald-tale grey in his full head of brown hair.

He's a stocky five-foot-11 and 190 pounds without one ounce of loose flesh on a body that resembles that of a college greyhound.

His hands are like hams, calloused a bit lightly on the palms and without the tell-tale wags wrinkles across the back of the wrist. Many say his secret is hard work. Bower practices every day. He goes through regular practice with the club and winds it up by working himself into a lather on his own.

His weight is simple. He skates as hard as he can from one side of the ice to the other for 15 minutes in full dress, carrying his heavy goaltender's stick.

Earlier this season rumors filtered through the hockey world that Bower might finally be succumbing to old age. He appeared weak on a number of long shots—a hint that his eyes might be failing.

Bower came up with a new practice. The entire Toronto club lined up across the blue line and shot at him from long range. The next game was against the Montreal Canadiens and he shut them out.

John William Bower suffers from a bad knee when he takes too many member of the club—even when he hasn't played.

Once last season alternate goaltender Bruce Gamble lost 2-1 while Bower watched from the bench. When a reporter approached Gamble later, looking for excuses, Bower flew into a rage.

"Leave him alone," he yelled. "Can't you see he feels bad enough? He had a tough night."

When the newspaper man persisted, Bower stamped out of the dressing room mumbling about "stupid reporters."

Born in Prince Albert, Sask., Bower played junior hockey with Prince Albert Black Hawks and turned professional in the autumn of 1945. He joined Toronto during the 1958-59 season.

Johnny plans to play hockey as long as he can stop the puck with hands and feet faster than those of a karate champion.

"Who knows," says the man who has reigned as the Leafs' top netminder for nine full seasons, "I might be the only senior player collecting my pension."

NHL players become eligible for pension at age 45, which means by the records that he will have to play two full seasons after this one.

The Tire that Makes Fun of Winter Driving

CANADIAN TIRE

STILL ANOTHER BREAK THROUGH

POLYESTER

The Miracle Tire Cord

Nearly two years ago, Canadian Tire introduced Polyester miracle-cord to their high performance summer tires. Come spring, most major rubber companies are expected to follow with Polyester in their most expensive summer tires. Right now, a year ahead of competition, we've introduced another record for Canadian Tire. Polyester Winter Tires . . . here RIGHT NOW!

If you ever experienced the sheer delight of being behind the wheel of an automobile equipped with "Hiway-Byway" winter tires, you have doubtless told others about the fun of bellowing through drifts and wheeling past cars struggling for traction. You've also taken for granted the confidence of being unstoppable on ice and hard-pack snow. Now with better-than-ever Polyester "Hiway Byways" you'll get more miles and an incredibly smoother ride — more like summer tires — be it at 7 or 70 mph.

"Morning Glamour" even on the stiffest cold mornings, will be a thing of the past. Initially of course, Polyesters do cost more; but, you'll soon agree they're worth every penny of it.

A Fine Gun For a Big Buck

Want to win a handsome Winchester 94, 30-30 rifle?

It's easy if you're a hunter and come home with the biggest buck shot in the district.

The Uniroyal Centre, 14 Bridge Street, is sponsoring a Big Buck Contest with the rifle as the grand prize.

The deer must be field dressed and weight recorded officially at Spencer's Lockers on Market Lane.

If there is a tie the winner will be decided by a flip of a coin.

The contest closes November 18th.

The presentation will be made at the Centre on Friday, November 24 at eight o'clock. Mayor Jack Ellis will do the honors.

Better call around that night. There will be apple cider and do-nuts for all.

Americans Under Enemy Fire

U.S. 1st Cavalry Division soldiers huddle behind a mound as small arms fire whips over their heads from hidden North Vietnamese positions near Tam Ky, South Vietnam. The relatively inexperienced GIs were immediately scattered by a veteran noncom who shouted to his men to set up a skirmish line and a perimeter around the depression in which they were caught by the enemy fire. Pearson Has More Confidence in CBC Than Some Opposition Members

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson was asked in the Commons Tuesday whether "he has complete confidence in the management of the CBC."

He said he would be glad to answer the question but did not, claiming it was out of order.

But as opposition prodding continued, Mr. Pearson said he had a "great deal more confidence" in the CBC than some opposition members.

Michael Starr (PC—Ontario), interim Opposition leader, raised for the fourth day in a row the question of state secretary Judy LaMarsh's charge of "rotten management" in parts of the CBC.

After being told to rephrase his question, Mr. Starr asked whether Mr. Pearson would make "a full, frank and clear" statement soon on what the government is doing about Miss LaMarsh's claim that there are many areas of "rotten management" within the publicly-owned CBC.

"On the appropriate occasion, I hope to be able to do that," Mr. Pearson replied.

Judy LaMarsh Receives Some Support From PC and Crediteste House Members

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition spokesmen Tuesday continued a three-pronged attack on the government's broadcasting policy, the CBC and State Secretary Judy LaMarsh as debate on the broadcasting bill went through its fourth day.

Prolonged discussion of the bill to establish a new Canadian Radio Commission to replace the present Board of Broadcast Governors and set out the responsibilities of both private broadcasters and the CBC, has delayed debate on a bill to limit capital punishment.

Veteran NDP member Stanley Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre) said the debate on second reading would probably have ended Friday if it had not been "muddied," by Miss LaMarsh's statement about "rotten management" in some parts of the CBC.

Bryce Mackasey (L—Verdun) chided the opposition for criticism of the CBC at times while at the same time levelling their own criticism at the publicly-owned network.

He found an ally in L. R. Sherman (PC—Winnipeg South), a former broadcaster, who said Miss LaMarsh had only repeated what "thousands of concerned Canadians have been saying for years."

Before the House can give the bill second reading and pass it on to the broadcasting committee for detailed study, MPs will have to vote on an amendment moved by M. T. McCutcheon (PC—Lambton-Kent) which in effect would kill the bill.

The Liberals can count on New Democrat support in defeating the amendment, which if passed, would send the bill to committee without second reading—approval in principle.

An NDP motion to set aside the regular Commons business Tuesday in favor of an emergency debate on railway layoffs failed strong Conservative and Social Credit support, but was ruled out of order by Speaker Lucien Lamoureux.

Prime Minister Pearson told the House that political discussions between federal rights could begin with the provinces now that the Supreme Court of Canada had clarified the legal position.

The court ruled unanimously Tuesday that offshore mineral rights are under federal jurisdiction.

Mr. McCutcheon introduced his amendment to the broadcasting bill with an accusation that the CBC was fostering runaway bureaucracy. He said the bill ignores the public's real and legitimate desire for curb speeding by the CBC.

Robert Thompson, former Social Credit leader, called much of the CBC programming "rotten trash" that undermines and degrades family life.

He promised he would move an amendment later that would prohibit programs that set "Canadians against Canadians, church against church and faith against faith."

Creditiste Leader Caouette said Miss LaMarsh's accusation of rotten management was correct. The quality of news on the English network was "infinitely superior" to that of the French network.

Mr. Sherman said the real culprit was not Miss LaMarsh, but the prime minister who "has dallied for four years."

The capital punishment bill was scheduled for debate on Monday. Now it may be Thursday before it comes before the Commons.

Accused Thinks Police Trying to 'Railroad' Him

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto detective testified Tuesday that Terrance Milligan, charged with capital murder, had accused police of trying to railroad him into a murder charge.

Milligan, 22, is charged with the capital murder of his 19-year-old wife, Jane, whose lyrulised body was found in several inches of bathtub water June 11. A plug-in plastic radio was found beside her body in the tub.

Detective Donald H. Wright told the preliminary hearing that four days after his wife's death, Milligan had told him: "I know you guys are trying to railroad me. Let's say I murdered her, which I didn't. How are you going to prove it?"

Det. Wright also said Milligan had talked about being a rich man as they drove to the city morgue the day of his wife's death. Milligan had taken out a $15,000 double indemnity insurance policy on his wife.

On the day of the funeral, Mr. and Mrs. C. Sills, Roslin, were recent guests at the home of Mrs. H. Ashley.

Mineral Rights Negotiations Will Start Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government was dealt an ace Tuesday for its next round of bargaining with the provinces on offshore mineral rights.

Strengthening the Ottawa hand will be the unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court of Canada that natural resources under the territorial sea and on the continental shelf off the West Coast are the sole property of the federal government.

Political discussions on the resources, estimated to be worth many millions of dollars, can begin shortly now that the legal question is settled, Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner of B.C. said the decision is a crushing blow to his province since Mr. Pearson had promised political discussions would be held on the matter following the court's decision.

Mr. Pearson said the justice department is studying the high court's 25-page decision to see whether it covers offshore rights in the other provinces.

Mines Minister Donald M. Smith of Nova Scotia said his province will continue to regard offshore rights as its property. Premier Robarts of Ontario said the decision does not affect Ontario.

Lawyers for Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, New Brunswick and Ontario, who backed the B.C. argument at the March court hearing, said ownership of mineral rights off the coasts of each provinces must be argued separately.

Quebec always has held the view that the offshore question was one to be settled by political discussions and not by the Supreme Court. It would not accept the opinion of the high court.

Mr. Bonner said Tuesday that B.C. will abide by "the law of the land," an indication it will stop issuing exploration permits for offshore probing. Oil companies have been playing it safe by taking out permits from both federal and provincial governments for the same areas.

Holstein Bull Price $150,000

OAKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The Armstrong Brothers of Brampton, Ont., Tuesday paid $150,000 for Oak Ridges Sarpenne Progress, an 11-year-old holstein bull. The price is believed to be world record.

The bull was owned by Claude P. Pickul of nearby Georgetown and was sold at the annual all-Canadian holstein sale. The bid was the only one received.

An Ontario group of artificial breeders set the previous record of $115,000 last spring with the purchase of a bull at the Short Classic Sale in Glenworth, Ont.

The highest price for a holstein bull in a private sale was $140,000 last spring for Oak Ridges Reflection Emperor, a full brother of the dam of the animal sold Tuesday.

Venereal Disease No Problem

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. A. R. J. Boyd, Toronto, medical health officer, said Tuesday venereal disease is not a problem in the Yorkville hippie district and that the present incidence of the disease is below other years. But, he told a board of health meeting, venereal disease has been increasing throughout the city since 1958.

"The incidence of the disease was the highest in 1960 and when we've heard of Yorkville hippies then," he said.

Meanwhile, Yorkville has another problem—pregnant unmarried girls. Police said 13 of 125 girls charged with vagrancy this year said they were pregnant.

One girl said Yorkville hippies "don't want anything to do with you when you're pregnant."

But, you're welcome back when it's all over."

Mrs. Timbrell Is Mentally Fit To Be Mother, Inquiry Is Told

PRESTON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Arthur Timbrell is a mentally fit mother of above average intelligence and showed no evidence of psychopathic behavior, a judicial inquiry was told Tuesday.

The inquiry, ordered by Premier John Robarts to investigate the placing of two foster sisters in the Timbrell home and their forcible seizure Sept. 28, was adjourned for several days last week while Dr. George Scott, a psychiatrist with the solicitor-general's department, examined Mrs. Timbrell.

Dr. Scott said Mrs. Timbrell has no character disorders that would "place her within the frame of psychopathic or sociopathic personality types."

Mrs. Timbrell, the mother of nine, was described earlier in the inquiry by Ruth Conley, a Waterloo County Children's Aid Society psychiatric care worker, as exhibiting psychopathic behavior.

In a society report, made public at the inquiry under Judge Harry Waisberg, Mrs. Conley said Mrs. Timbrell demonstrated an unhealthy possessiveness toward children and wanted them only to fulfil her own selfish needs.

Dr. Scott said that Mrs. Timbrell was studied independently by another psychiatrist and a psychologist who wrote their reports without consultation.

He said the findings revealed Mrs. Timbrell is not suffering from any degree of mental instability which makes her different in any substantial degree from an average mother of her age and intelligence.

Mrs. Timbrell, testifying for the second day in the eight-day inquiry, said she still wants to adopt the sisters.

She said she would handle matters differently if she could live over the events of Sept. 28 when society workers seized the children during a fracas at her home.

"I'd disappear completely with the children until the Crown decided to maintain blood ties," she said.

She said she fought to keep the children because she feared the society would place them in separate homes.

The inquiry continues.

St. Thomas Board of Trade Wants Police Court Probed

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney General Wishart has received a letter from the St. Thomas board of trade asking his department to review sentences handed out by Magistrate Fred Barnum.

The board wants to know whether the magistrate and Crown Attorney Peter J. Gloin "are properly providing justice to both the community and the accused."

The letter, signed by board president Matthew J. Fleming says: ". . . in addition to a responsibility to protect the accused, our magistrate has an even weightier obligation, namely protecting the personal and property rights of the individual."

"We also believe," the letter continues, "the Crown has a duty to appeal cases where either the finding or the penalty in the Crown attorney's opinion are not in keeping with the seriousness of the offence, do not serve as a deterring factor to the guilty . . . and serve to decrimalize members of our police department or otherwise make them the object of ridicule by those who have been before the court."

The letter also calls for an investigation of the police department.

The Rural Scene

For a considerable number of years an Inter-County Livestock Judging Competition has been held at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto. This competition required a team of three young men from each County taking part. Previous to this year the County staff members were responsible for coaching their own teams. This year all participants assembled at Brampton Sunday evening and during the course of the week the group will visit a number of livestock farms in the surrounding area and will be instructed in judging, selection and management of the various classes of livestock. They will also have an opportunity to visit such places as the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board and the Canada Packers plant in Toronto. The evenings during the Livestock Management Tour will be taken up with discussions and talks on various subjects and the group will complete the week by spending the afternoon and evening on Friday, November 10th at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. Another basic change in the competition is that it is now possible to enter 1, 2 or 3 competitors per County rather than the three which was required to make an entry under the previous system. Prince Edward County will be represented in the competition by George Black, R.R. 7, Belleville.

The annual Zone 2 Farm Safety Conference will be held at the Agricultural Service Centre, Brighton on Wednesday, November 8th at 10.30 a.m. The morning program will include an address by a representative of the Ontario Department of Transport on the new school bus program. Speakers on the afternoon program will include an accident victim who will discuss the causes of his accident, Oscar Snyder, Safety Co-Ordinator with the Farm Safety Council of Ontario and Hal Wright, Farm Safety Specialist.

Six 4-H Homemaking Club leaders from Prince Edward County are able to take advantage of the annual two day trip to the Royal Winter Fair. These eligible leaders are guests of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, November 13 and 14 or Nov. 16 and 17. The women have an opportunity to compare notes with 4-H Homemaking Club Leaders throughout the province, visit the Royal Winter Fair and hear Miss Eleanor Finn tell about her recent trip to the Yukon at a special Leaders' breakfast.

'Ladies Night' By Kiwanis Club Much Enjoyed

PICTON (Staff) The Picton Kiwanis Club annual 'Ladies Night' was held in the new Youth Centre of Picton United Church.

A large crowd of members, their wives, and special guests were on hand to hear the guest speaker Bill McCabe of Kingston speak on the rehabilitation of lawbreakers. Mr. McCabe's talk dealt with the return of both male and female offenders to society. He stressed throughout his talk the urgent need of employers to give the rehabilitated prisoner an even break. Most of the talk described personal experiences of Mr. McCabe when dealing with prisoners before they were returned to normal life. Mr. McCabe represented the John Howard Society and was accompanied to the gathering by Mr. J. Honsman also of Kingston.

Mr. McCabe was introduced to the gathering by Past President of Kiwanis, Ray Lemaze, and thanked by Dr. Earle Taylor of Picton.

Mrs. Blanche Hubbs, President of the Picton Business and Professional Women's Club, was on hand to introduce her ladies and Miss Gladys Lehigh introduced 13 Pilipino nurses who were also guests for the evening.

Entertainment for the Ladies' Night was supplied by the Sweet Adeline quartet from Kingston. Highlight of the night was the presentation of an honorary membership certificate to Wilfred D. McArthur by Past Lt. Governor Carl P. Reid of Picton. Mr. McArthur was an active Kiwanian of the Picton Club for many years and is well known throughout the community for work he has done for so many worthy causes.

Girl Alters Story, Admits Seeing Lemay

MONTREAL (CP) — Defence cross-examination of an attractive 23-year-old girl, a key witness in the Georges Lemay case, ended Tuesday amid tears and furious argument.

Lemay, 42, is charged with burglary and conspiracy in a $633,000 theft six years ago at a Montreal branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

The girl told the court Lemay had seen her as recently as February, 1962 in New York and gave her a $30,000 insurance policy on his life.

In Monday's testimony, she had denied under close questioning by defence lawyer Rene Maranda that she had ever been in New York.

The girl, whose name was withheld from the press, said Tuesday that she had her fiance had agreed Monday night she would tell the court she was the mother of two illegitimate children—one by Lemay.

Her disclosures Tuesday followed her admission to Judge Jacques Trahan that she had made an error in her previous day's testimony, and provoked violent exchanges between prosecution and defence lawyers on legal procedure.

She testified Tuesday she had made three trips to New York during a short period in early 1962, on one of which she met Lemay.

She testified Friday that jewellery presented to her in court "resembled" her gifts from Lemay.

'Aerial Superhighway' Move 51,000 Words A Minute

MONTREAL (CP) — A communications system that will allow corporation executives to sit and chat together from several cities or transmit computer data at incredible speeds was inaugurated Tuesday night by Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Telecommunications.

Called the Broadband Exchange Service, it now is capable of transmitting data at a top speed of 3,000 words a minute and some day will work at as many as 51,000 words a minute over an "aerial superhighway" of microwave bands.

As simultaneous ceremonies were held at centres across Canada, CNR President Norman MacMillan and CP President Ian Sinclair penned a button to start what they described as "a system more for the future than the present."

CNT-CPT sales manager Jim McDaniels told a crowd of several hundred corporation officials and prospective customers that the Broadband system is "the first of its kind in Canada and the second in the world."

Using microwave bands plus telephone, teletype and other business transmitting and receiving equipment, Broadband is a high-speed communications service now in effect between Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. It is connected into the already-established Western Union broadband network joining several U.S. centres.

Broadband will be connected soon by sub-stations in Edmonton, Calgary, London and Hamilton and may eventually serve European cities through the facilities of the Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corp.

The new system can transmit voice, pictures, charts, written information and computer data and is expected to attract big business customers who regularly exchange quantities of information between offices in different cities.

Both telecommunications companies and the RCMP already have been using the system on an experimental basis.

Mr. Sinclair said the day may come when publishers will use Broadband to transmit the contents of entire newspapers, enabling them to publish simultaneously in several different cities.

Customers all over the continent would be able to draw for information on "computerized data libraries" through Broadband facilities, he said.

Seniors Strong? Si!

MEXICO CITY (AP) — David Jimenez and Chi Chi Rodriguez of Puerto Rico form one of the strongest—and happiest—teams in the World Cup golf tournament that starts Thursday.

They came to Mexico to win. No matter what their final score they figure to have more fun than anyone else on the 7,500-yard Club de Golf Mexico course.

Rodriguez and Jimenez will be among 80 golfers—including Canadians George Knudson and Al Balding—when play opens in the 72-hole tournament for national pride and personal prestige. Entries come from 36 countries.

The Puerto Ricans had their first practice round on the narrow, hazard-filled course Tuesday and only a few of the 80 or so members of their gallery abandoned them when word came that Jack Nicklaus of the United States had started his practice round.

Rodriguez said he expects the toughest team competition to come from Americans Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer and South Africa's Gary Player and Harold Henning. He predicted a 277 total, 11-under-par, should win individual honors, won last year in Japan by Knudson.

Palmer was the last golfer to arrive and didn't have time for a practice round.

Roberto de Vicenzo, ill in Buenos Aires, was replaced on the Argentina team by Fidel de Luca. The absence of the 54-year-old British Open champ removed Argentina as a major threat to the defending champion Americans.

The United States is paired against Ireland in the first round Thursday.

"Snowshoes, anyone?, might well have been the question as BCIVS whipped Peterborough Stewart Auburn 25-6 to gain a berth in the COSSA Junior "A" football finals here yesterday. (See First Page Second Section.)

BCIVS travels to Oshawa for the titular contest Saturday. Tuesday's snowfall arrived just in time to dampen the gridiron — but not the Collegians' victory march. (For story see First Page Second Section.)

Eagles Sign Huarte

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It's been three years since John Huarte knew the glory of being a great quarterback at Notre Dame.

Huarte recalled it well Tuesday as he signed with Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League. He was assigned to the Eagles' taxi squad—a group called upon in the event of injury to a regular.

Huarte was everybody's choice in 1964 as the Heisman Trophy winner, symbolic of college football's standout player. The Eagles drafted him sixth.

New York Jets of the American Football League selected him second.

Cinerama Appears to Be Doing Something About Curing Ills

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cinerama, long the sick giant among film companies, appears to be finally doing something about curing its ills.

At least that's the prognosis from Seymour Poe, new president of Cinerama. Poe was Darryl Zanuck's right-hand man in the rebuilding of 20th Century-Fox from near-bankruptcy to blooming prosperity, and he has the same hopes for Cinerama.

The wide-screen process burst on the movie scene in 1952 with its stomach-fluttering roller coaster ride, and its corporative fortunes have followed the same general course. Cinerama has experienced highs with its initial travelogue films and How the West Was Won and lows with The Hallelujah Trail and The Greatest Story Ever Told.

The company's finances were in a jumble when Poe was taken over a couple of years ago by William R. Forman, a California theater chain owner. Poe reported that Forman has since cleaned up Cinerama's money woes, and a new $20,000,000 loan from Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. was announced last week.

"Now we are able to proceed on a three-prong program for Cinerama," said Poe, here briefly to discuss projects.

Poe outlined the general areas:

1. Cinerama outlets will increase from the present 75 U.S. theatres to 200, including two in the biggest cities.

2. Production of other films will be sponsored by Cinerama on its own and in partnership with ABC. The television network, which also owns the Paramount theatre chain, is entering film making in a big way, a move which has brought anti-trust cries from the major movie companies.

3. A distribution company will merchandise throughout the world. By years end, Poe expects to have offices in 10 U.S. cities, plus London, Tokyo, Rio de Janeiro and Paris.

"We will have a lean organization that will offer the independent producer more participation in the profits," he said. "In the past everyone has gotten fat except the producer."

With The Trotters

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Autumn Frost, a three-year-old owned by Hugh J. MacBurney and Harry Allman of Ottawa, won the United Harness Horsemen's Association futurity Tuesday night-feature race at Mohawk Raceway.

Pacing the mile in 2:05, Autumn Frost picked up $5,071 for his owners. George Hawke of Toronto was the driver.

The daily double of Crystal Boy and Peak Pick returned $28.80.

WINDSOR, (CP) — Mr. Kurylowka trotted to victory in the first at Windsor Raceway Tuesday night and combined with Todd Spender in the second for a $19.60 daily double.

The top exactor payoff of the meet was registered in the ninth when Shirley Express and Key Colonel finished one-two to pay $363.10.

In the fifth, Stanley Lad overhauled Fire Jan for a quarter-length victory.

Mutuel handle was $217,615.

Why Is Her Sweat Dark Yellow?

By Dr. Joseph G. Molner

Dear Dr. Molner: My bed linen and underclothes are stained with my perspiration which seems to be a dark yellow. Could this be caused from hot flashes? I am 52 and menopause started some time ago. — R. U.

Except that the hot flashes cause profuse perspiration, there is no relationship that this condition has anything to do with menopause.

Colored sweat is not a common condition. Production of yellow perspiration is very rare (the condition is called chromhidrosis). There are a few reported cases of blue color in the armpits and elsewhere, which may produce a yellowish or dark colored material.

The exact cause of the yellowness is not known. It may be the result of bacterial action on the skin. It is possible also that certain medications may be a factor. Have you reported this to your doctor, and are you taking any medications that he does not know about?

Still, the more likely explanation is something on the surface of the skin, which gives the color chemically. It is possible that some decorative is involved, or even dye in your clothing.

There is, you see, no simple answer, but there are some possibilities which you can pursue.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is gallbladder disease and what causes it? Is it curable? How long can you live with it? Does it come other illnesses? — E. E. B.

Chronic cholcystitis is chronic inflammation of the gall bladder.

Causes? Several. We think it early stones first, since they can incite great irritation, but infection and formation of gas under some circumstances can cause diarrea, too. Infection also tends to bring on gall stones, and vice versa.)

Cure for a chronically inflamed gall bladder usually is surgery — removal of the gall bladder. How long can you live with a chronically allng gall bladder is impossible to say. Some folks tolerate mild irritation for years, but usually regret it eventually.

If chronic inflammation flares into an acute attack, there may be no choice but to remove the gall bladder.

Yes, the chronic condition can cause other illnesses: digestive troubles, sometimes liver disturbances, and sometimes the continued irritation precedes cancer, so there is good reason for not taking chances.

Those are brief answers to your questions. For the full story, read my booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Molner in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill. for a copy of it. Understanding the nature of gall bladder disease can save you from a great deal of discomfort and sometimes extreme pain.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a friend whose rather quiet 5-year-old boy awakens at night and cries for half an hour or so because of pain in his knees and, more recently, his right shoulder.

When the child was taken to a doctor, the diagnosis was a "growing pains." I thought "growing pains" went out with "marking" sulphur and molasses, and the vapors. Please comment.—Mrs. R.M.

Growing never made anyone hurt, and "growing pains" has long since been discarded by pediatrician.

It is not too unusual for an active child, after a hard day at play, to have cramps in his legs occasionally at night but if such pains are repeated, a careful examination of the child is warranted, and not a dismissal as "growing pains."

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Of recent meetings of the Belleville and Environs Planning Board, the Belleville Committee of Adjustment and the City of Belleville Planning Department have had occasion to deal with a number of variance applications where the intent and purpose of certain parts of By-Law Number 7090 were observed but not to several interpretations.

The purpose of By-law Number 8384 is to amend By-law Number 7090, the Zoning By-law applying to the 1958 annexed portions of the City, by:

(1) clarifying the landscaping requirements of the Corporation by an insertion in the general regulations of the By-law;

(2) revising the R-1 and R-2 provisions of the By-law so as to clarify accessory regulations with respect to garages, carports, lots, et cetera, and to re-number certain subsections;

(3) inserting a number of new definitions in the "Definitions" section of the By-law so as to aid in the interpretation of the By-law.

Russia Will Make No Trouble For Canada on Fishing Limits

OTTAWA (CP) — No trouble is expected from Russia if Canada proclaims an exclusive 12-mile fishing zone on the West Coast based on a line drawn from headland to headland, informed sources say.

Officials decline to say at this point whether Canada intends to declare the waters between the Queen Charlotte Islands and the British Columbia mainland—Estevan Strait, Dixon Entrance and Queen Charlotte Sound—as exclusive Canadian fishing territory.

But if she does, Russia is expected to make at most a token protest.

The main reason is that Russia has declared a 12-mile territorial sea—Canada claims no more than three miles—and consequently 12-mile fishing zone.

Russia has enclosed the entire White Sea, its main port on that sea is Archangel, as territorial sea.

The Soviet Union recognizes that it has no historic fishing rights off Canada's coasts. Since 1962, two years before Canada declared its intention to proclaim a 12-mile fishing zone, Russia has respected Canada's request that its trawlers not fish the Bay of Fundy.

Canada has already proclaimed a 12-mile fishing zone on the headland-to-headland principle along the Labrador coast and the east and south shores of Newfoundland.

Negotiations are continuing with eight countries—the U.S., Britain, Norway, Denmark, France, Portugal, Spain and Italy—on proclamations covering the rest of Canada's coastline.

These proclamations will be issued from time to time covering various coastal areas. The one covering the controversial British Columbia coast is expected to be issued in two or three months.

As far is is known, only the U.S. has formally protested Canadian use of the headland-to-headland principle for determining the three-mile territorial sea and 12-mile fishing zone. Previously, the limit was based on the coastline itself.

Half Those in Prison Only Liquor Offenders

TORONTO (CP) — Juveniles were the main topic Tuesday at the opening of a two-day conference of prison chaplains and correction workers sponsored by the Anglican and United Churches of Canada.

Rev. Tom James, provincial chaplain of Manitoba correctional institutions, told delegates churches should open their doors to teen-age groups even though older churchgoers may have to clean up and mend broken chairs afterwards.

"The church must accept them as they are, with their delinquencies, immoralities and vandalism. It has to risk and dare to achieve anything."

W. T. McGrath, executive secretary of the Canadian Corrections Association, told delegates the Criminal Code needs to be trimmed of offences that are not crimes—acts which could relieve the overcrowding of correctional facilities.

"The correctional services are flooded by those who have no need for these services. . . . In Ontario 50 per cent of the people in correctional institutions are there for infringement of the Liquor Control Act."

Rev. Frederick Kropp, chaplain of Matapoi Institution in Abbotsford, B.C., suggested prison guards to be given six-month leaves to work in rehabilitation houses for ex-convicts.

This would be educational for both the community and the guards, he said. It would also relieve the frustrations of many guards who want to help convicts.

Cold Spell Puts Bite On Hunters

A sharp cold spell continued to put the bite on marksmen in the Quinte district yesterday — the second day of deer-hunting season.

However, the dry spell, while freezing bushland already sodden by a record rainfall, apparently has done little to aid the kill of deer.

Department of Lands and Forests game wardens today reported early surveys of deer runs in the northern townships of the district, showed "poor to fair" results for the hunters.

Poor ground conditions have also hampered hunters' hounds, say the wardens.

The weather also may result in a higher bear kill.

With higher water levels and fairly warm temperatures until recent days, bears apparently are hibernating later than usual.

In the Masinaw Lake area, one game count showed three deer and four bear slain by hunters, say wardens.

Council Briefs

TRENTON — Councillors admitted erosion problems on Hoxie Pelton were "serious" and "demanded some attention" at last night's meeting.

The discussion was prompted by a Parks' Board letter criticizing council for allowing homes to be built directly below the mountain in the first place.

The Parks' Board claims that, although they administer the property, they will not assume financial responsibility for any damaged caused by falling dirt or rocks to homes in the vicinity.

Clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry has been authorized to advertise for an assistant.

Council last night adopted the minutes of a recent General Government Committee meeting, and one of the recommendations empowered Mr. Larry to advertise for an assistant.

The recommendation said a deputy-clerk could be hired Jan. 1 if an acceptable applicant was available.

Canadian Chrysler Men Win Pay Parity

12,000 to Get $1 an Hour Raise

DETROIT (AP) — Close to 12,000 production workers for Chrysler Canada Ltd. will be drawing — in straight wages alone — more than $1 an hour above their current pay level, 2½ years from now.

If the United Auto Workers' Union has its way, so will 23,000 General Motors employees and more than 11,000 Ford employees in Canada.

The UAW won a commitment from Chrysler Corp. Wednesday in a new three-year-contract to eliminate the current wage disparity, roughly 40 cents an hour, between U.S. and Canadian workers in five steps culminating in complete parity June 1, 1970. Chrysler workers also got the same wage settlement as Ford—roughly 81 more an hour in wages and fringe benefits.

Wiping out the gap between U.S. workers' earnings without also eliminating the difference in the two countries' productivity levels could cause inflation in Canada, some Canadian government officials fear.

Canadian Industry Minister Drury and Ontario Labor Minister Dalton Bales have expounded this view.

But the UAW argues that a 1965 agreement allowing finished automobiles and new car parts to move back and forth across the border tariff free at the wholesale level started to cut down the productivity gap.

Union leaders also fear it would cut down auto industry labor in the U.S., saying the cheaper labor in Canada offers the Big Three U.S. auto-makers a "standing invitation" to move more production across the border.

No one says the Canadian worker is less efficient individually than his U.S. counterpart.

But the general efficiency of the auto operations in Canada is lower owing to small-volume production.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther contends the trade pact has made one large bi-national operation out of what once were two separate operations.

"Guess what dear! They're recalling our car!"

Price Index Drops

OTTAWA (CP) — Lower food, clothing, and transportation prices pushed the consumer price index down two-tenths of a point to 130.5 early in October, from 130.7 in September.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics said the decline would have been greater but was offset by higher doctors' and dentists' fees, housing costs, and the prices of recreational and reading materials.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, was 145.3 in October last year. Today's report shows that consumer prices at 3.6 per cent higher than a year ago, a narrowing of the spread which prevailed earlier this year. It was 3.9 per cent in September and four per cent in August.

The October food index was down 147.8 compared with 148.3 in September mainly because of lower prices for fresh fruits and vegetables in harvest season.

Pact Seen Spur To Inflation

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Canadian automobile spokesmen reacted cautiously Wednesday to the tentative settlement obtained by the United Auto Workers with Chrysler Corp. in Detroit.

A spokesman for Chrysler Canada Ltd. said his company was pleased that agreement appeared to have been reached.

Canadian negotiations are still taking place and existing contracts expire Nov. 15.

He had no comment on the agreement to give Canadians wage parity with U.S. workers.

George Burt, UAW Canadian director, said he is confident there will be no difficulties in getting wage parity from Ford of Canada and General Motors.

He said the Ford Motor Co. in Detroit has indicated it will meet the situation if its competitors agree to parity.

Mr. Burt said the average wage gap at Chrysler is about 34 cents an hour.

A membership meeting of Chrysler workers in Canada will be held within the next few days to vote on wage and parity terms, and on lifting the Nov. 15 strike deadline or bargaining may continue for an extended period.

D. S. Wood, executive vice-president and manager of the Auto Parts Manufacturers' Association (Canada), said wage parity will tend to make Canadian parts manufacturers less competitive in the United States."

He said some Canadian plants now may find their work cut off or reduced and this may result in "shrinking of the parts industry in Canada with possibly more mergers, more automation and perhaps less employment."

C. W. Andrews, president of the Windsor Chamber of Commerce, said wage parity is bound to result in inflation."

"One segment of the community cannot get $3.70 an hour while another gets $1.25. Others will have to come up the scale."

Hotel Dieu Returns To Normal

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Hotel Dieu hospital was operating at near-normal capacity Wednesday as clean-up crews prepared to move into the smoke-damaged St. Joseph's wing following the Tuesday morning fire which claimed two lives.

Mailman Returned To Job

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Mail delivery in Hamilton and Niagara Peninsula areas resumed today following a government decision to reinstate a suspended St. Catharines mailman.

More than 70 letter carriers in St. Catharines walked off the job Monday when Robert Embury, secretary of local 17 of the Letter Carriers' Union of Canada, was suspended, allegedly for delaying mail while helping another mailman with a heavy load.

The St. Catharines walkout was followed Tuesday by several other area post office stoppages, including Hamilton, Welland, Grimsby and Stoney Creek.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gen. Lauris Norstad, former NATO commander, proposes "serious consideration" of a Vietnam ceasefire, "even if it has to be unilateral."

Cardinal Will Become Missionary to Lepers

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger has resigned as archbishop of Montreal to do missionary work among lepers in missionary lands, the Vatican announced today. Pope Paul has accepted the resignation.

Cardinal Leger, noted as one of the outstanding leaders among progressives in the Roman Catholic hierarchy, is known to have long been pressing for a release from his archbishop's post.

Cardinal Leger, at 63, is still many years from the retirement age of 75 that has been set for Vatican prelates.

The Pope's approval of his plan to leave an important archbishopric in North America to do missionary work caused some surprise here.

Cardinal Leger was named archbishop of Montreal by Pope Pius XII in 1950. He was invested as a cardinal in Rome in 1953.

It was not stated here exactly where the cardinal planned to go.

The resignation was the first by a cardinal for such a purpose in many years.

Cardinal Leger was a leading advocate in the 1962-65 Vatican ecumenical council for basic changes in the Church.

During the council he formulated a view of marriage that placed marital love on an equal plane of importance with child-bearing, this opened the way to a new look at the theology of marriage that pointed toward acceptance of birth control measures.

The special commission that reported on birth control to Pope Paul gave great weight to this view and recommended that the Pope allow birth control methods other than abstinence and the rhythm method. These two are still the only methods allowed by the church as Pope Paul continues to study the problem.

Cardinal Leger fought long and hard to steer church policy abreast of the times while fighting materialistic modern values.

A tireless opponent of poverty, Cardinal Leger has led many drives to raise funds for church work and in poorer countries.

As a young priest he went to Japan in 1933 to found a seminary at Fukuoka, on the southern island of Kyushu.

Saturn Orbits Huge Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The mighty Saturn V superrocket orbited the world's heaviest satellite, a 140-ton space vehicle, today and gave the U.S. man-to-the-moon program a much-needed shot in the arm.

Still on the flight plan today were a critical second burn of the rocket's third stage and a screaming drive back through the atmosphere by an unmanned Apollo 4 moonship that rode atop the rocket on this monstrous test.

Will its engines generating the combined power of more than 500 jet fighter planes, the Saturn V thundered into the sky at 7 a.m. EST in the most spectacular launching in the 17-year history of Cape Kennedy.

Tens of thousands of observers throughout the Cape area watched awestruck as the massive 36-storey-tall rocket rode a pillar of fire more than 300 feet long across the sky and sent an unearthly howl rolling across the land.

Panel Discussion

Integration of School Boards Favored

The integration of public and secondary school boards in Hastings County would cost more money but would provide better education for children.

Those views were expressed by members of a panel discussion at the Avondale — Sir John A. Macdonald Home and School meeting last night.

L. F. Reid, assistant superintendent of the Bay of Quinte High School district claimed a board of education including all education facilities in the area would "bring us nearer to equality of educational opportunity which we haven't got today."

He said the larger unit would cost more money but pointed to a larger tax base which should eliminate many of the inequalities.

The proposal to integrate the public school systems in Frankford, Sidney Township, Belleville, Ameliasburg, Thurlow township and Tyendinaga township with the new amalgamated secondary school system has been under discussion for several months.

Macdonald Smith, chairman of the Belleville public school board told the home and school members he expects the department of education will force boards to be set up by 1969. "It would provide facilities for further training of teachers within our own system," he said.

Speaking on the administrative advantages in an integrated board of education, Leo Anderson, administrative assistant on the Belleville public school board, claimed savings could be made in purchasing, supply distribution, property management, transportation and school planning.

Mr. Reid claimed school boards are "not co-ordinated at the present time. An integrated board of education would provide easier co-ordination of our school programs," he said.

However, Judge J. C. Anderson, chairman of a sub - committee of governors which surveyed several sites in the Quinte district, indicated today no official announcement was expected until late November.

The campus has been operating in temporary quarters at Centennial Secondary School since September.

One of the basing of the board of education system is the provision for an elective board. "This would more assured by the people," Mr. Reid said.

At the present time public school boards are elective while the members of the secondary school board are appointed.

Mr. Smith said he thinks the main objection to the proposed system is a "fear of change" on the part of the people. "I don't think they're completely informed," he said.

"I think school boards in the outlying areas of the county are suspicious that Belleville is trying to "take over" education," he said. "Present boards don't want to be wiped out although it would provide a better educational service."

If the proposed system was integrated it would handle 12,000 students in both public and secondary schools in Hastings county. The plan would involve seven school boards with a membership of 31 who handle a total of 43 schools.

Cutting the number of school board members from the present 31 to about half that number is apparently a major factor in the integration process.

Mr. Reid said he thinks that some of the schools in the northern parts of the county would likely be closed if the idea is approved. "The cost would be too high," he said.

An advantage of the proposed system would be an increased number of special classes for special people. "We can't teach everyone the same anymore," Mr. Reid said, "We need special classes for both the slow and the gifted learner."

Mr. Anderson said he couldn't say whether an integrated system would cost more money but should be people would receive more value for their money.

One of the teachers attending the two hour meeting showed concern over being re-located in other areas of the county if the plan was approved.

Mr. Smith said he felt this sort of thing is not likely to happen. "Why should we ask a teacher to travel 25 miles or more when he is happy in his present position."

City Council to Discuss Loyalist Campus Site

A special meeting of city council late this afternoon is expected to discuss a proposed site for location of the community - college Loyalist Campus.

Details of the agenda were unknown but Mayor Jack Ellis confirmed the meeting had been called for 4.30 p.m.

A site for the community college was chosen by its board of governors in mid-summer and sent to Queen's Park for provincial government.

Location of the site was never officially revealed although reliable sources placed it immediately west of Belleville's city limits in Sidney township.

Government approval has not yet been signified.

B. L. Thompson Dies Suddenly

TWEED — Burton L. Thompson, whose resignation two months ago from municipal politics created this village's and North America's — first all - woman council, died suddenly at his home here yesterday.

The 54-year-old building contractor had been a leading figure in community affairs much of his life.

Mr. Thompson, who headed the polls at last year's municipal election, resigned in September to become a justice of the peace and division court clerk.

Ironically, the posts fell vacant in July with the sudden death of another leading local figure — T. C. (Clarence) Graham.

Mr. Thompson had been the only male member of this year's council and his departure created appointment of the next highest candidate at the polls — a woman — and thus brought about the first all - woman council.

Mr. Thompson was born in Tweed, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson.

He leaves his wife, the former Marjorie Chaplin, a son, George, of Tweed, two sisters, Ann and Laura Thompson, both residents here, and two brothers, Harry, of Tweed and Earl of Dundas. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the W. H. Bush Funeral Home to St. James' Anglican Church.

Padre C. H. White was on hand at Trenton's Legion Hall last night to dedicate a new Canadian flag for Branch 579, Bay of Quinte Ex-service-women. On hand were Branch 579 president, Mrs. Edwina Seger, Legion District "F" Commander Gerald Simpson, and Zone "F-2" Commander Cedric Smith.

Legion Ex. Servicewomen See New Flag Dedicated

TRENTON — The Bay of Quinte Ex - Servicewomen's Branch 579, Royal Canadian Legion saw their organization's first Canadian flag dedicated last night.

Padres C. H. White and Frederick Taylor, Trenton, officiated at the unique ceremony, much like that observed when a branch of the military receives new colors.

A new Canadian Maple Leaf standard was recently donated to Branch 579 by a member, Mrs. Paul Culp of Trenton.

The scene of the dedication service was the auditorium of Trenton's Branch 110 Legion Hall, now permanent headquarters for Bay of Quinte ex-servicewomen.

Brnch 579 received its charter in 1959 in Colborne with 19 original members.

One of the charter members, Mrs. Edwina Seger, is the current president of the organization.

Two Committed to Trial

Larry Wayne Morrison and Lawrence Schlaer, both of Montreal, were committed for trial yesterday in their preliminary hearing before Magistrate R. C. Jackson. They were committed on the charge of conspiracy to commit robbery.

Schlaer has been released on $15,000 bail until the trial convenes, while Morrison is still in custody on $25,000 bail.

The afternoon's testimony was taken up with document experts, a Montreal Provincial Police officer and Samuel Mulholland who related the events of the robbery itself.

Donna Broomfield Crowned Ameliasburg Apple Princess

AMELIASBURG — A talented young high school student attending Belleville Collegiate Institute became the township's Apple Princess last night receiving the nod for the honor by a clôse margin over the second entry in the contest sponsored by the Ameliasburg Blossom Festival committee.

A third contestant was unable to be present when she sustained an injury in an unusual accident as she was about to leave her home with her parents for the judging here in the community hall.

Donna Broomfield, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Broomfield of RR1, Consecon, was the centre of attraction in the official crowning ceremony with retiring princess Loraine Adams fixing the sparkling tiara headpiece in place. Along with the honor Miss Broomfield serves during 1968 in a public relations capacity for the township's major agricultural industry. She will be called on from time to time to appear at local and out-of-the-community functions particularly the Blossom Festival late in May. As a goodwill gesture Belleville and area merchants provided the honor Miss Broomfield number of lovely gifts.

Runner-up Pamella Dalnard, 17, of R.R. 7 Belleville is a popular cheerleader at BCI. The third entry Sharon Fraser, 17, of R.R. 1 Bellevile who plans a career in modelling had her dream setback temporarily when the family dog in a playful mood jumped up causing her nose to bleed at the last minute.

A color view of a close-up of an apple blossom entered by Mrs. W. R. Corr of Trenton in the photography contest in conjunction with the Festival won her the first prize of $25.

In the color movie category J. H. Page of Trenton was awarded the $25 first prize. A slide entered by Gord Bristow of Trenton received second place recognition while color transparencies submitted by Bill Wilkins of Trenton received honorable mention.

Judges for the princess contest included Mrs. Don Boyce of Belleville, Mrs. Eben James and Rev. J. M. McLeod of Ameliasburg township. Master of ceremonies was Harold Booter with Mrs. Carl Reid providing the commentary for the princess contest.

Apple Princess

A Consecon Miss, Donna Broomfield, was the successful entry in the Blossom Festival committee's competition at Ameliasburg last night. She's Apple Princess for 1968.

Williams: Offers Came Late

The offer of two city aldermen to initiate a fund raising campaign for the proposed Belleville arena complex would have been more appreciated if the move had been made prior to the project being shelved until another year.

This was the feeling today of Alderman Donald Williams, chairman of the city parks and recreation commission, and also chairman of the council arena committee.

"Where were the offers to contribute to a fund raising campaign two months ago?" asked Ald. Williams.

The alderman said a subscription campaign for the arena would have been welcomed by the arena committee a couple of months ago.

Coming at this time, however, Alderman Williams said any arena subscription campaign could interfere with the United Appeal and other fund raising efforts.

In any event he felt that any campaign to raise funds for the arena should be cleared through the United Community Services.

The alderman reiterated previous statements in council regarding the need for an arena complex in Belleville and discussions by a youth panel this week had borne this out.

"The panel," he said, "had pointed out the lack of youth activities in the city."

Alderman Williams was also a bit critical of the Chamber of Commerce letter to city council regarding the arena complex which he felt to be "critical" of the arena.

"The Chamber," he said, "had failed to offer any constructive suggestions for the arena."

City Manager J. R. Reynolds said that any funds raised by private subscription for the arena complex would be "quite acceptable."

"If some outside group initiated the campaign, any funds which they could turn over to the city for the arena would be quite acceptable," he said.

"However," he said, "it was not the function of city council to initiate such a fund."

The city manager said that any funds raised privately for the arena would help to reduce the cost to the taxpayer.

But like Alderman Williams he felt that such a campaign at this time could affect the success of the United Appeal.

IN MEMORIAM

SMITH — In loving memory of our dear husband and father, who passed away Nov. 9th, 1964.

Take him and cut him out in little stars,
And he will make the face of heaven so fine,
That all the world will be in love with night.
— Sadly missed by parents Don and Sharon Smith.

Campaign Starts--Four Aldermen, Mayor Running Hard

Those already in the running have commenced their election campaigns, but with nomination now less than two weeks away there are still a number of city aldermen who haven't yet made up their minds.

There is a confirmed two - way fight for the mayoralty between Mayor Jack Ellis and Alderman J. Russell Scott, but so far only four councillors have come up with a definite "yes" about offering themselves for another two year term.

Three of the sitting aldermen say "I haven't made up my mind," one says he will definitely not run and still another who is out of town until next week, is a doubtful starter.

The four aldermen who say they will be in the running are Jack Allin, Douglas Boyle, Enos David and Arthur Keegan — the last named having stated he may be interested in the mayoralty race.

So far adopting the "wait and see" attitude are Aldermen Thomas Carruthers, Jack Deacon and Donald Williams.

Alderman Kenneth Soden says definitely he will not be offering himself for re-election.

The declared starter is Ald. Donald Joss, out of town for the remainder of the week and not available for comment.

City Clerk Adam Stalker has called the nomination meeting for Wednesday evening, Nov. 22. At the meeting, nominations will be accepted for mayor, city council, public utilities commission and separate school boards.

The electors will go to the polls on Dec. 4 to vote in the slate, if officials they wish to conduct the city's municipal affairs for the next two years.

The two aspirants for the mayoralty — J. R. Ellis and Dr. J. Russell Scott — made their announcements a few weeks ago but only this week got down to serious electioneering.

A week ago Ald. Keegan said he was definitely in the running either for the office of mayor or as alderman, but other members of council remained quiet about their intentions until they were polled yesterday.

Ald. Soden was definite about his intention not to offer himself for re-election.

"City council, and the parks board have been taking up much time which I cannot afford to take from my accounting practice," he said. "At the same time I have missed only two council meetings in the past four years."

However he said he was still interested in civic affairs and would possibly decide to try it again in another couple of years.

Ald. Williams and Carruthers took a definite "wait and see" attitude, indicating they would like to see what other aspirants were in the field before making up their minds.

Ald. Deacon said that after eight years in council he had about made up his mind not to run. But he left the door open indicating he may change his mind.

Despite the fact this week they voted to table the controversial arena question for consideration by the 1968 council, Ald. David and Keegan made no secret of the fact they would like to see the Community Centre idea kept alive.

Both men have advocated the idea of a public subscription to help ease the cost burden on the taxpayer.

DOUGLAS BOYLE

At Monday's council meeting Mayor Ellis ended an hour long discussion with his motion to table the arena question until next year.

His resolution was called for the arena committee to continue efforts toward obtaining more favorable government grants to reduce the cost to the taxpayer.

Ald. Scott, the other mayoralty aspirant, also wants the arena but claims council should have called tenders to determine what the building would cost.

So far only two non-aldermen have indicated their intention of running for council. They are Ian Reilly, NDP candidate in the recent provincial election and Mackenzie Smith, present chairman of the Belleville Public School Board.

The nomination meeting on Nov. 22 will commence at 7:30 p.m. and last for one hour.

Nominees will have until 9:00 o'clock the following night to qualify, but if nominated for more than one office will have to declare the office for which they will stand within one hour of the close of nominations. Otherwise the candidate must stand for the position for which he was first nominated.

And just as a reminder, aspirants for public office must certify that there are no unpaid taxes for any previous years against properties owned by them in the corporation.

Costume Ball Slated

Bobby Gimby, Canada's Centennial pied-piper and composer of the hit song CA-NA-DA, will be special guest for Belleville's Centennial Costume Ball to be held at the Armories on Friday, November 17.

Mr. Gimby was invited to come to Belleville for the final Centennial Year event by the Belleville Centennial Committee early last week. At the same time, he had already promised to appear in Hamilton on the same date. Cancellation of the Hamilton event left the date open and Mr. Gimby confirmed by telephone today that "he will be delighted to come to Belleville". On November 18, the following morning, he will be featured in Toronto's annual Santa Claus parade.

A well-known Toronto musician, Bobby Gimby has gained national prominence this year with his CA-NA-DA song, the official Centennial theme song. He becomes a familiar figure in national magazines and on television in his flowing cape playing his elongated trumpet and leading a parade of youngsters with Centennial flags.

The Centennial Ball will be the wind-up to a most successful year of Centennial events and the Committee is urging everyone to attend in costume, preferably from the 1867 period. Prizes will be awarded for costumes. The "Ball begins at 8 o'clock and music is being provided by a 14-piece band conducted by Doug Asselstine, Belleville Local 357, the American Federation of Musicians is providing the orchestra without charge as a donation to the Centennial celebration. Tickets are selling at $1 per person and the proceeds will be turned over to the Belleville Firefighters Association's Needy Children's Christmas Fund.

Earlier in the evening, the Belleville Centennial Committee will honor a list of individuals and organizations who have actively participated and assisted the Committee in the many special events held during 1967. An awards ceremony will be held at the Armories beginning at 7:30 p.m.

It's hoped that it will be the largest Centennial event held in the city during the year.

Centennial project by workers and management at Deacon Bros. Sportswear ended this morning with presentation of jackets for school crossing guards. Jackets are not only warm, but give off safety phosphorescent glow, and were tried out by Mayor Jack Ellis and Insp. Harold Reid, assisted by Jean Masters and company president Fred Deacon.

Work on Street Could Proceed

With the city of Belleville and the township of Sidney now close to signing an agreement on the matter, a move toward the extension of Harder Drive in West Belleville could soon go ahead.

The proposal is to extend Harder Drive westward into Sidney township and thus eliminate dead ends on three streets in the extreme west end of the city. The road extension would tie in with Wright Ave., Glen Road and Avondale Road.

One of the main purposes for the roadway extension is to provide a shortcut for pupils in the above area walking to the new Sir John A. Macdonald Public School and the Centennial Secondary School. The extension would also allow watermain construction to eliminate dead mains now serving the three above named streets.

City buses would also use Harder Drive extension to provide more direct service in the area.

Mayor J. R. Ellis doubted however, that the agreement will be signed in time to allow much roadwork to be done this year.

"Maybe we'll be able to take the frost down and possibly spread a little gravel to keep school children out of the mud," he said.

In any event it is hoped that the city will be able to snow plow the route this winter.

Ald. Keegan Matches Pledge Of $500 for an Arena Fund

A second city alderman has now offered to match the pledge of Alderman Enos David who yesterday said he would contribute the sum of $500 toward a fund to help make the proposed city arena complex a reality.

Alderman Arthur Keegan said he would also pledge $500 toward the arena fund and urged each member of city council to do the same.

"If this was done, the fund would have a head start of $5,000," he said.

Yesterday Alderman David committed himself to subscribe "at least $500" for the purchase of voting shares in any corporation formed to build a recreation complex in the city.

A resolution of the pledge was that at least $100,000 be raised by private and public subscription; that a determined effort be made to obtain substantial funds from senior governments, and that the city provide an adequate site.

In offering to match Mr. David's pledge, Alderman Keegan today said he believed that all service clubs and other organizations should take part in any subscription fund and forward their ideas to city council as to the proper location for the arena.

In this way the whole city would be aroused as to the need for the arena; council would be better guided and the burden on the taxpayer would be reduced.

Lt.-Col. James Kinney CO of PWO Regiment

Picton native, Lt.-Col. J. R. (Jim) Kinney last week assumed command of Princess of Wales Own Regiment at Kingston.

He succeeds Lt.-Col. James McQueen who has commanded the 200-man unit for nearly three years.

Lt.-Col. McQueen handed over the regiment to Lt.-Col. Kinney, 39, on October 31. Son of Mrs. Ruth Kinney, Picton, and the late William Kinney, the new C.O. has served five years in the regular army and seven years in the militia. He joined the P.W.O.R. three and a half years ago with the rank of major.

As commander he will have to pick up where Lt.-Col. McQueen left off to prepare his unit for the month of January when the Canadian militia will become more closely associated with the regular army and play a back-up role similar to the American National Guard.

"It's going to be challenging," said Lt.-Col. Kinney. "Our training will be more direct and more meaningful than it has ever been before in peacetime.

"The first time we've got to do is put on a terrific drive to get even qualified as non-commissioned officers and infantrymen. Our unit has to provide a 100-man service company for mobile command which is a tri-service force with the primary role of defending Canada."

Three years from now the change of command rites will be held again as Lt.-Col. Kinney enters retirement at the ripe age of 42.

Jackets Presented to Guards

The Centennial project of a major Belleville industry is guaranteed to make nearly two score citizens glow with more than satisfaction.
